The beautifully fine summer weather was lost last Saturday to the three devotees to the "personal liberty"(?) theory. Throughout the day previous they had taken on more of the "cargo" than inspectation the "ship's rudder" and puts out of whack their walking gear while the end which operates the fog horn, "(the tongue) becomes tangled and allowed too much "consolatory" steam, to blow off. So, early that beautiful Saturday morning, they became a PUBLIC NUISANCE and, as a consequence, were compelled under FORCE OF CIRCUMSTANCES to become inmates of the municipal ROOMS FOR THE INCAPABLE. In the evening when the CHIEF and the MAGISTRATE had returned from a pleasant days OUTING AT THE PICNIC COURT was opened to consider their cases. In the meantime the minds of the patients had become considerably restored to NORMAL owing to the temporary ENFORCEMENT of a DRY period in CONSIDERATION, however, of their wilful sailing with too powerful a cargo (jag of booze) and its accompanying evils, weeping they become PUBLIC NUISANCES, the magistrate imposed fines and sums in cash case. Their PERSONAL LIBERTY was then restored to them.

Iowa - Canadian Picnic

The entire Tofield district was well represented at the Iowa Canadian picnic near Bardo on last Saturday The weather man was more gracious than usual for he dished up the best day for holiday purposes enjoyed so far this season. There was plenty of shade to make it pleasant in the warm sunshine ample room ground for games, races, etc. and plenty people to enjoy the fun. At the hustings a rushing business was done and a comfortable surplus gained over expenses of the day which will be made a cash contribution to the Red Cross.

The games between Shouts and Round Hill and between Bardo and Tofield base ball teams were well and evenly contested and the players and chaff that was handed around contributed much to the entertainment of the multitude In the latter game after a spirited contest which brought the score to a tie, 5-5, a disputed run for Bardo caused a slight furore and resulted in Umpire Hoskins dashing to the rear and called for the resumption of play This, neither team was willing to do and the game ended in this unsatisfactory manner. It is hoped that the occasion will soon arise for another game which will decide the matter Winners in the sports were as follows—

Girls, 15 yrs and under, E. Henderson, Miss Anderson.

TOFIELD, ALBERTA, THURSDAY, JULY 8 1915

IT is positively painful during this period of national crisis to hear the discordant notes struck by flamboyant political partizans upon the public platform, partizanship when the subject mainly under discussion is connected with the European war and the part in it being enacted by the British Empire, with particular reference to that part being played by Canada. The words of W. J. MacLean, M.P., at Toronto the other day. The whole country, should be united in the present crisis, and of Hon. Thomas Crawford, uttered on the same occasion. This is not a time for drawing the line where politics are concerned, are directly applicable to the situation and while these utterances were given expression to by Conservatives, they deliberately echoed Liberal views. We are up against a serious state of affairs, but while we are true Canadians we are also larger, we are Britishers and a part of the Empire. But when men get up before their fellows in a time of stress like this, and when the arena is thick with evidences of political rascality, party corruption, graft scandals, etc, which have been revealed at Ottawa, in Manitoba and elsewhere, and say, "The best party for Canada, the party to keep the flying must high, is the party to which I have the honor to belong, and a whole lot of other similar clap trap, it sends a shudder of mortification through those who have some sense of political honor. Are some so steeped in shameless corruption that they see all others in the same hardened light that they see themselves?

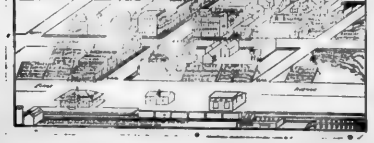
OH the consistency of some people. Our Beaver Lake East correspondent, the emanations from whose pen we all enjoy so much, last week in one breath takes G. P. Smith to task and calls him a windy partizan and with his next gasp turns his criticism upon the Standard and the Vegreville Observer, alleging an assumed condition to be a fact, so far as the Standard is concerned, (Heaven is capable of making his own defence) he severely drags to a conclusion which apparently shows himself to be the standard by which he judges others, the windy partizan type. Nevertheless, our friend's exuberance is refreshing, his statements often amusing, frequently brimming with pungent sense but sometimes most wofully one sided. It's a free country, however, and the Standard and its readers welcome free expression and discussion on popular views. Our friend errs again when he assumes the Standard to be of the "sit on the fence" type. He had better get busy and read a few back numbers.

Perhaps before dismissing the matter it might be suggested to our worthy correspondent that it is evident that there are still a few of those kind of individuals of an old school living in this age who are like what the public of to-day are complaining most of. Many newspapers of the party organ type who persist in assuming all their particular side to be free of stain unless they be proved up to the hilt to be guilty. Per contra, they can see red at almost any moment when in the frenzy rolling their eyes turn to the ranks opposite.

And so, in this particular matter at issue, because the Standard does not adopt the precise attitude which our friend apparently wishes the public to assume that he has taken, he proceeds to lambaste. Holler away, old boy. But, we're afraid you're barking up the wrong tree.



COTTON IN YARMOUTH

Canada's Largest Duck Mill Situated in Far East—A Record of Expansion

"The Canadian Textile Journal" of Montreal has an interesting account of the history and development of the big cotton company which has been situated in the Town of Yarmouth since 1882. Starting out in a small way in that year extensions were made in 1892, 1907 and again last year in 1914 the total output was 4,000 pounds per week of finished product. This has grown to-day to 75,000 pounds per week.

The human element of this enormous plant is worth considerable study. Hundreds of well paid and seemingly satisfied employes are on the staff. Of course it may also well take the trouble to talk to them individually, he will find some interesting people and he will be even in Hunyen, if they happen to put there but in the whole they are perfectly satisfied with the mill and their employers. Quite a number of the employes have been there ever since the mill opened thirty years ago, and very many of the younger ones are second generation, have spent practically all their working hours in that mill. The mill was founded on a local basis, and quite a number of those working there are shareholders in a large measure the mill is their mill, and its prosperity is their prosperity. Probably this is one of the reasons why the management has never been vexed by labor troubles, which are the bug-bear of many a mill situated less favorably.

Inter-dependence of manufacturing industries is demonstrated by a glance at the list of purchasers of this company's product. It will be found that two of their largest individual accounts are the big implement companies of Toronto and Hamilton, who use large quantities of duck in their binders. Naturally those interested in the Yarmouth mill do not regard the agitation for free agricultural implements with any degree of favor as they know it will inevitably mean concessions in the shape of reductions in duties on materials purchased by the implement firms. As the duck mill is perhaps the backbone of Yarmouth's commercial life, it will be seen that considerable opposition will arise in prosperous town to any personal to reduce the duty on implements, which involves interference with the production of the cotton mill. At the present time the big implement companies have a protection of 17½ per cent. on their binders, in which the duck is used, whereas the duty on duck is the same.

Those who are dependent directly or indirectly on the prosperity of a big industry like that in Yarmouth for their livelihood realize fully the value of industrial development to the community. No one in Yarmouth or the vicinity would favor reductions in the duties on duck which would cause a falling off in the production of the Yarmouth mill, and provide a mill in United States or England with more work. It is better to see, however, how the Government can refuse to reduce the duty on duck if they materially

PRODUCTION PER ACRE

Field Crops and Conditions in Argentine Republic

The Argentine Republic ... have no quarrel with the American implement manufacturer about the price of his binders because there are practically no manufacturers in the Argentine Republic.

All the implements the Argentine farmer uses are made in the United States or Canada, and the farmer in South America has to pay a tax on them in order to provide a national revenue, but the tax that he pays does not afford individual protection for the home product.

The fact that there are no domestic manufacturers explains why the Argentine urban population is confined to practically two cities, namely Aires and Rosario, the former of which contains more people than Canada's six largest cities.

If Argentina had cultivated the home market she would now have possessed a number of modern sized cities in which there would be some manufacturing development. With the exception of the two cities referred, the Argentine farmer has no market and exports his products in the shape of raw material in all the countries of the world, instead of having his future customers put it through some of the processes of manufacture as is done in Canada and the United States in transportation the Argentine has one ... under great difficulties.

A DISCOVERY—HAVE YOU FOUND IT OUT?

What The Liquor Men Say

Contributed by the W. C. T. U.

To the Alberta voter the Liquor men spoke
If this Liquor Act passes, WE'LL sure go dead broke
Keep this fact in your mind when you vote in July.
And think of OUR loss don't the province go dry?

Chorus
Tis a fill up OUR pockets, Oh fill them up high
Think of nobody else when you vote next July!
Large returns for small work' is our object and goal
And the people must pay for it lo-dy and now.

Oh, the temperance cranks they are making a fuss
About crime that drink fosters but whats that to us.
That men drink and go bad we'll not try to deny.
But that's not the worry we face in July.

Chorus

Keep filling our pockets, Oh fill them up high
Think what WE would lose should the people go dry
Don't think of drink's victims, the orphans and widow.
Remember OUR GAINS THATS the point to consider!

Now you voters chips in lets be sane don't slack,
If this Liquor Act passes why we'll have to work!
Work as hard for one dollar as you do, you see.
And you can't help but know how unpleasant 'twill be!

Chorus

Then fill up our pockets, oh fill them up full
Whi' over one eyes we can still pull the wool
Be as business is doomed should Alberta go dry
So think of naught else when you vote in July.

Vote "NO" On July 21st

You now pay a WAR TAX, an increment tax, a wild-land Tax. You are some millions of dollars behind in city taxes.

The province has no natural resources to fall back upon.

The government must raise its revenue by direct taxation. You must pay it

For the administration of the Liquor Act if it passes.

For the loss in revenue brought on by the cancellation of license

When the city cannot pay, then the farmer must dig up. Urban centers are now over-taxed, rural districts carry heavy enough loads.

The Liquor Act does not forbid the consumption of spiritous or malt liquors. But it forces you to spend the money outside the province

Your money will go to enrich adjoining provinces, it will go to build roads, bridges, municipal improvements in Saskatchewan and British Columbia Not one cent of the money spent on liquor as a beverage in Alberta will revert to the province.

And you must pay. The medicinal, sacramental, scientific, mechanical consumption of alcohol in Alberta can not legally keep more than three or four government vendors busy. But you will be asked to pay the salaries of scores of detectives, informers and inspectors.

Can You Afford it? Vote "NO" on July 21

"S. O. S." Call To Farmers

Executive of "United Farmers of Alberta" Appeals To All Farmers to get out and Help Swell Largest Possible Majority for the "Liquor Act"
"Liquor Act" is Prohibition Bill

To each and every Local Union of the United Farmers of Alberta in the province the following Official Circular has been issued by the President of the Association, it fully explains itself. At the request of Mr. J. B. Warner, secretary of Tofield Union, No. 622, for the publication of the circular which he has handed to the Standard, we gladly gave him our answer. It tells the public how the Farmers stand officially upon this momentous question. It is as follows;

The United Farmers of Alberta

Calgary, Alta.,

OFFICIAL CIRCULAR No. 10.
To the Officers and Members of Tofield Union No. 622.

Locals and Gentlemen:

At a full Directors' meeting on Friday, June 15th every member of the Board being present, the following resolution was passed:—

"Whereas the sentiment at our annual conventions in favor of the suppression of the liquor traffic has been so strongly expressed by the delegates thereat, and,

Whereas we feel that the misleading and untruthful articles appearing in many newspapers as advertisements should be answered and the great question placed before the electors correctly and truthfully;

Therefore be it resolved, that we the Board of Directors of the U.F.A. feel it our duty to do all within our power to further the wishes of our Association in this matter, and,

Be it further resolved, that this meeting of the Directors instruct our Central Office to prepare a special circular bearing on this matter placing before our unions the clear duty of all voters to record their own vote and use as many other votes as possible in favor on July 21st; Also, that a facsimile of the ballot be obtained and enclosed with this circular with instructions on the proper method of marking of same."

A standing vote was taken and the resolution passed with absolute unanimity. I was instructed to bring this matters before our an and before the public. I have already responded to our members to help in every way to secure the largest possible majority for the Prohibition bill on July 21st. I renew the appeal on behalf of the whole Board of Directors, representing every district in the Province. The bill may not be perfect but it is a strong measure, which, if rightly administered will absolutely prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquor in Alberta as a beverage. If it becomes law, it will immensely improve the moral condition and the material prosperity of town and country, and will make our Province a better country for building up homes and bringing up [illegible]

The whole Board of Directors earnestly urges every member to be loyal in this matter to the resolution of our convention.

The name chosen for the Prohibition Bill is not very fortunate please remember that the "Liquor Act" is the Prohibition Bill; and when you vote in favor of the "Liquor Act" you are voting for Prohibition.

This inclosed is a facsimile of the actual ballot paper, showing you exactly how to mark your vote, making an X in the square opposite the YES.

Remember, to vote "yes" is to vote "dry".

Yours fraternally,
James Speakman,
President

Bob Stirrett of Farmington was in town last week end. He states that the prospects for an abundant harvest were never better at this time of year as any previous year since he hoisted here. Wheat is heading out in many sections, oats are following suit and barley is coming along nicely. Rains have not been excessive as yet although plenty of sunshine is needed.

A Plea for the Sufferers

Today a great peaceful contest [illegible] on. Day or Wet Alberta after July 21st is in daily discussion and anxiety is a question that each and every good moral citizen should be clear upon as it means a battle for lives and many heartbroken sufferers on account of the heartless Liquor Traffic.

There is no question but that the devil himself is behind the whole whiskey traffic and all true citizens will agree, we have no more boys and girls to lose. We need men for protecting our homes. I want out to you, Mr. Voter, an earnest appeal for the many suffering and broken hearts of whom we have many in the Tofield district, on account of the Liquor Traffic. Kindly throw out of office over the dark wave and rest in the pending. You can do this by your ballot on July 21st. The responsibility rests upon your shoulders and you who will cast your ballots for the saloon are just as much guilty of the results of the Liquor Traffic as are the saloon keepers. STANDARD PRESS, Limited,
ESTABLISHED 1907

R. N. WHILLANS - - Manager and Editor

TOFIELD, ALBERTA, THURSDAY JULY 15, 1915

BEFORE the next issue of the Standard will have gone to press the electors of Alberta will have had their opportunity at the polls, by simply marking their ballots with an X before the word, "Yes," if in favor of the prohibitory "Liquor Act," or before the "No," if opposed to it, of deciding the momentous question which is before the people, whether the open licensed bar for the sale of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, and the treating system, shall continue indefinitely or become a thing of the past.

The proposed "Liquor Act" goes as far as provincial authority will permit. This should be clearly understood. The sale or purchase of intoxicating liquors within the province for use as a beverage is to be prohibited. The licensed open bar, the treating system and its accompanying evils are proposed to be done away with. All manner of argument based on technicalities to the contrary, the issue is as clearly defined as it can be under the existing provincial and federal conditions. An act which has been designated "The Liquor Act" had to be prepared for submission to the electors in accordance with the terms when legislation is to be brought about by initiative and referendum. It is useless to contend that the act is weak. It was drawn up by a competent attorney and covers every point that could be anticipated in lieu of actual knowledge gained by working out in practice. Whether or not it will require alteration in some of the minor details can only be learned after it has been in force for a time and few indeed are the public acts passed by any legislative body that do not require a certain amount of altering as time goes by. As a matter of fact it is the most strongly worded act that has been mooted anywhere in Canada, at least, and to contend that it should not be supported because it will not prohibit is not a reflection on the act so much as on the powers that be to enforce it if it becomes law.

There is no use bickering and hedging over trivialities. The question is are you in favor of this province doing all in its power to curtail the liquor traffic. If you are you will place an X before the word "yes" printed on the ballot you will be handed on July 21st.

FOR some time past the department of the attorney general has been making a general preliminary investigation into the affairs and methods of several oil companies. This investigation has brought sufficient information to the surface to justify the government in appointing a commission to make a full inquiry into public matters. As a consequence, Judge Carpenter of the District court has been appointed a commissioner under the act with power to enquire into and concerning the promotion, incorporation, management and operation of the various companies and stock exchanges in the province, including the expenses of management, investment of funds, nature of properties or claims held, the manner and cost of sale or disposal of stock and other allied questions.

Frank Ford, Esq., K. C. of Edmonton has been appointed by the government as advisory council to the commission, as appointment, which in itself, should be sufficient guarantee of the government's desire to make the enquiry thorough.

We understand it is the wish of the government that all assistance be given by the public and to that end and so that we may be able to purge this valuable industry from wrong doing and improper manipulation, we are authorized to say that the attorney general will be glad to receive any and all information which will assist him and further the objects of the commission. All such information should be sent direct to the Attorney General's department. The commission will meet at Calgary on July 13th inst and at Edmonton at a later date to be announced.

"If this Liquor Act passes, WE'LL sure go dead broke
Keep this fact in mind when you vote in July,
And think of OUR's ahead the province go dry!"

Chorus

Then fill up OUR pockets, Oh fill them up high
Think what WE could have should the province go dry
Don't think of drunk'n victims, the orphans and widder,
Remember OUR GAINS, THAT'S the point to consider!

Now you voter chaps listen 'tho loose don't shirk,
If this Liquor Act passes why we'll have to work!
Work as hard for our living as you do, you see,
And your can't help but know how unpleasant 'twill be!

While over our eyes we can still pull the wool

Mrs. Hugh McKay mother of Mrs. J. R. Steele, and her daughter Mrs. P. B. Campbell are out from the city for a short visit.

Mrs. M. McCallum, Miss Mabel McCallum Mrs. J. B. Steele and daughter Letta, were in the city this week, combining business with pleasure.

There were on many trips, mistakes in my last that I feel like following H.P.s. And with the Observer and making a good sized kick. One can account for substituting Hose for Rose Tweed but putting Election for Question is a different matter. The compositor can't be frish or he would never have put Meadows, for Isinhower.

The Saskatoon Star, as a proof of the benefits of advertising, mentions the case of a man who advertised for a boy and that your night the stork arrived with an eleven pounder. We might say that a fine twelve pound boy arrived at Albert McCallum's recently, without advertising at all. Congratulations.

H. It was kind enough "to say that we have gone so far as to have a huge crop of apples, as is he for a great job as his crop last year was destroyed by a hail storm. In a few years many farmers will no doubt have good crops of this fruit, for some rum-head varities are very hardy.

Mr. Jos. McCallum has been good enough to give a piece of ground on his estate for a baseball diamond. He also aided the boys in laying it out. It is now in good shape and soon another match with Meadows will come off on it.

Mr. Kellner, with his well-boring outfit, is at work at Jas. McCallum's. He recently bored for Mr. Mooren. In a very few days the deep wells on this side produce good water, and in many cases soft water. This is a great advantage to a settlement.

Jack Livingstone blew himself in for a voyage to the Panama Pacific at Prices. He told us all about it lately, and we enjoyed his recital extremely. Jack certainly had the time of his life. From Portland, Ore. to Prices he went and came by boat. Going down the weather was fine, but coming back the Pacific belied its name. It was the help to the captain Captain my husband is unused to seem travel and I wish you would tell him what to do should he get seasick." "My dear madam," said the captain, "it is absolutely unnecessary for me to tell your husband what to do in that case, he'll do it!" Jack says he did it and kept on doing it for about twenty four hours, but, when all was over, he felt fine. I believe that's how it usually works.

We are sorry indeed if we misjudged the Standard re its course on the prohibition fight; but, to tell the truth, we don't remember seeing a single editorial favoring the Liquor Act until the number in which our little sent appeared. The Observer plainly stated in this age that while its columns were open to both sides on certain questions the fight was not in ours and it would take no part in it. Lately, it has been called the liquor traffic. Has the "stop me

We've never met on the fence on any subject or measure. We make up our mind as to these matters and then we follow out our convictions. Mr. Secord has gone east to wind up his affairs and move his stock; outfit and family to the Tofield district where he will become one of our permanent residents.

Rural Municipality clerk, Jno. Weatherill is busy getting out the tax notices for the rural municipality of Cornhill. The rate for this year is lower than last year but all taxes must be paid in in cash. The council has adopt ed the cash method this year in order to clear up the back indebtedness caused during the past two years by working out taxes by residents.

The municipal clerk, J. W. McMullen, is busy getting out the tax notices for 1915 so ratepayers should now prepare to pay their taxes during the period of discount. The rate this year is 30 mills. This is a higher rate than last year but to offset this the assessment on the whole has been proportionately lowered so that the amount of taxes to pay is no greater than last year Ten per cent discount is allowed if the taxes are paid on or before August 31st.

The great bulk of the wheat crop in the Tofield district is in head and oats and barley are approaching headstage. In some instances barley is headed out where sown early. Hafners and A. Roberge north of town have had barley headed out for three weeks. The farmers agree that we have had sufficient rain to put them through for some time and that dry warm weather is badly needed to bring the crops along.

Owing to excessive and protracted rains the roads through the district have in many sections been made ness of mud. On such occasions as this the benefit of first rate,ing good drains before grading across sloughs is seen to good advantage. Reports have come in of water lieing over the roadway. Points such as these should be noted and when appropriations are made for road work proper drainage should be made a first consideration.

New Teachers Engaged

The new teachers engaged by the Tofield school board are Miss Cameron of Edgerton who takes Miss Cotton's place on the staff, Miss Wilson of Swift Current who takes Miss Brown's room and Miss Armstrong who takes Miss Henderson's room.

Alberta Goes Dry

Veritable Landslide of Public Opinion Against Liquor Traffic

"Alberta Goes Dry" is an expression which to-day is speeding in every direction through every civilized country on the globe. Yesterday a great fight was put up by each of the opposing factions. At every poll there was a determined effort to win put up by either party.

Locally the results of Tofield poll were the first to be learned. Drys 171—Wets 90. This seemed to be a plain indication of how the vote provincially would go. Then the figures from outside points began quickly to arrive to corroborate this view. Invariably the results showed a preponderance of votes for the Drys in every village, town and even the cities Calgary, Edmonton, Medicine Hat, Macleod, High River, all with big majorities for the Drys. Only Lethbridge stood in a class by itself, giving a majority to the Wets.

Country polls heard from swelled the majorities for the Drys. In an odd case a wet majority would come by this would be just sight of amongst the mass of majorities for the Drys. Thus it was during the entire evening as the results in the big centres. When Calgary and Edmonton showed such a preponderance of votes in favor of the Act it was conceded by everybody that the Fight was Won for the Drys.

The latest figures to hand before going to press at noon today are as follows—

Dry 37,967; Wet 27,732, or a majority of 10,235 for prohibition.

When the final results are in which will be in a day or two, it will doubtless be found that the Liquor Interests have been snowed under by a majority in excess of 2 to 1. This means that the will of the people has been expressed in unmistakable terms. It means that on the 1st of next July some 253 hotel licenses, 12 club licenses and 55 wholesale licenses will have been swept AWAY.

By constituencies 18 out of 55 went wet. In cities only one out of six went wet. In town out of 43 heard from only 3 went wet.

The preserving of eggs in the home.

By W. A. BROWN, B. S. A.

Eggs are a perishable food product, and while their production is distributed throughout the year with much greater uniformity than many other food products, yet it is a fact that new-laid eggs are usually scarce and high in price between the months of October and February, and plentiful and comparatively low in price in the spring and early summer months.

The cost of preserving eggs by artificial refrigeration is considerable and while it is not believed that any liquid preservatives will give better results than those obtained in well built and carefully managed cold storages, yet it is conceded that there are times when these conveniences, who will go to the trouble and take the necessary precautions, will find it to their advantage to preserve a reasonable quantity for home use.

METHODS OF HOME PRESERVATION RECOMMENDED

As the result of much technical investigation and years of practical test it has been found that the best results can be obtained by the use of water-glass and lime water. While the lime water method is less expensive and just as efficient, yet popular opinion seems to be constantly growing in favor of water-glass.

A Study in Soil Cultivation

An exceptionally valuable Bulletin to those interested in soil culture is No. 68. "Field Husbandry: Summary of results," issued by the Division of Field Husbandry of the Experimental Farms, and that can be had by application to the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. Reports are given of work carried on at the central and branch farms and stations. The results of experiments in rotation of crops furnish information of great value. These experiments cover a period of 11 years and the results with advice founded thereupon are set forth in the Bulletin according to years. Following are a few of the benefits given as derived from adopting a judicious system of rotation.

1. The appearance of the farm is improved.

2. Every field receiving at regular intervals its fair share of manure and cultural treatment, the entire farm is in a condition to insure a maximum yield.

3. Cost is lowered by saving of time due to all the work of a kind being confined to one field.

4. Fewer fences are required.

5. Machinery can be more economically utilized.

6. More live stock can be kept, thus increasing the quantity of available manure

7. Profits and yields are increased.

8. The farmer is not dependent upon a single crop.

The weather prophet misinformed us when he predicted a drought for the month of July.

On Friday, July 9th, a dance was given in Lindbrook school. On account of the weather only a small crowd was present. However a very good time was reported.

Mr. and Mrs. Vorga, Mr. and Mrs. McIntosh and Mr. Keith Mc Intosh of Deville and Dr. and Mrs. Skinner of Edmonton attended the dance in Lindbrook on Friday night.

Miss Bessie Wilkinson spent the week end with her sister at the home of Mr. J Woonecroft and attended the dance given on July 9.

On Friday, July 16th a dance was given at Cushing lake in Mr. Jacobs's store. Again the weather prevented a very large attendance. Among others present were Miss Gladys Woonecroft, Miss Helen Wilkinson and Mr. Leslie Rogers of Lindbrook also some of the summer visitors at the lake were guests.

Council

An amendment to the municipal bylaws regulating the firing of fireworks, bombs rockets and other fire works and prohibiting the same on streets, lanes, and public places was introduced and read a first and second time.

An amendment to the bylaw governing the running at large of dogs, defining the matter in which same is a public nuisance and prescribing the manner to deal with those was also introduced and read a first and second time.

As a result of the report put in by the F W & L Com. to council last Monday night the electric fire alarm system wires will be lowered on the poles where they are to lessen proximity to cross arms and other wires, the line put into thorough workmanship shape.

A full special report from the fire brigade oiled on the Lott fire explaining any delay in getting water on fire, if any, and the recommission of any suggestions for improving the service was requested by council, the report to be in at the next meeting.

Ray Lott Burned Out

Fire Brigade does Excellent Work. Water System Proves its Value

The water works system last Thursday night received its first try-out under the actual conditions for which it was primarily put in, viz: the fighting of fire. Fifteen minutes before midnight an alarm was sent in from the north section of town and in a trice the volunteer firemen were donning their clothes and trekking for the fire station. The night was inky black and the streets being heavy with mud made the going with chemical and hose rank a heart breaking job. The fire was at Ray Lott's on 4th St. N. No one was home at the time, Mr. Lott being down town, the boys being at the rink's. Mrs. Herb Lott's and Mrs. H. Lott being in Camrose, whither she had gone but the day before with her son.

It was Tom Herndon who lived next door to the Lott's who discovered the fire. At this time it had eaten a hole through the wall at the back of the main section. He did some valiant work in the endeavor to quench the flames but by the time the brigade arrived the building, which was of light wood, had become a seething mass of flames inside and out.

The moment that the water was turned on the crowd of citizens realized that Tofield had a good thing in the waterworks system for fire protection purposes. In ten minutes the water was again turned off, the flames being utterly extinguished. The building was however, completely ruined and all household effects and clothing, with the exception of the kitchen range, a total loss. Both building and contents were covered by insurance in the Canadian Fire Ins. Co., O. L. Pugh, local agent, amount $700.

STANDARD PRESS, Limited.

THE Standard is proud to record the fact that the Liberal cause in the Province of Alberta has been victorious in the election held on the 22nd inst. [illegible]

Tofield has always been counted conducive to the Liberal cause, and indeed it is. But Tofield did not have to exert her usual energies to put Wainwright and the rest of the province that is prepared for the Province next Wednesday.

In short it is perhaps one of the most outstanding characteristics of the Province of Alberta that its people are more interested in the welfare of the Province as a whole than in the welfare of any particular locality. In this respect the Province of Alberta is different from any other Province in the Dominion. It is not to be expected that the people of Wainwright or Tofield should be more interested in the welfare of the Province than the people of Edmonton or Calgary, but it is

One Spoonful gives Astonishing Results

Tofield residents are astonished at the QUICK results from the simple mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., known as Adler-i-na. This remedy acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel and relieves THOROUGH in one minute that it used successfully in appendicitis. ONE SPOONFUL of Adler-i-na relieves almost ANY CASE of constipation, sour stomach or gas; ONE MINUTE after you take it, the INGREDIENTS are past you. C. E. Jamieson, druggist.

Preservation of Eggs in the Home

cate of soda, and may be obtained from practically all druggists. A 10 per cent solution is generally used, that is one part of water-glass to mind with nine parts of water.

The water should first be boiled in order to destroy all vegetable or animal substance contained therein. The two substances are then thoroughly mixed, and the solution allowed to stand until it becomes quite cold before using.

LIME-WATER METHOD

Previous to the advent of artificial refrigeration, lime-water was used successfully to a large extent, those large dealers still use it to supplement cold storage, and many people use it as a home preservative. Although authorities differ somewhat as to the relative amounts of lime and water to be used, the proportions of 2 pounds of lime to five gallons of water are generally recommended. It is important, however, that the water used is free from alkali, as much lime as it is capable of holding. A quantity of fine salt in proportions of about 1 pint to the above is also frequently added. The mixture should be kept well stirred for a few hours, and then allowed to settle. The supernatant liquid is then drawn off, and poured over the eggs in order that the solution may be kept saturated and of uniform strength throughout it is customary to add a little lime from time to time, or better, to keep a cloth covered with lime just touching the surface.

CONTAINERS

Any receptacle that is impervious to, and does not corrode in, water is suitable for holding the eggs. Glazed earthenware crocks, galvanized tubs or buckets, or wooden tubs or kegs are most frequently used. In the case of wooden receptacles it is desirable to let them stand filled with water for several days, and then to scald them and cleanse them thoroughly before using. For home consumption it is best to have a number of small containers holding not more than five or six dozen each. Covers should be placed over all containers and these, when filled, should be stored in a cool, dry place in the cellar.

THE SELECTION OF EGGS FOR PRESERVATION

Best results are obtained from eggs which are put down in April and May. At this time, eggs are not only abundant and cheaper in price than later, but they are also fresher, more uniform in size and of higher quality than those available during the hot weather. An important and safe precaution is to candle all eggs. This is not a difficult or complicated process, for fortunately an egg is semi-transparent, when held before a light in a darkened room and partially rotated, of even thickness being shown. The other information with regard to the candling of eggs, see Pamphlet No. 3 entitled 'The Candling of Eggs'.

3. Promote of a more even distribution of the season's labour.

Following details of the rotations that are outlined in a summary of the characteristics common to all:

1. Grain fields are always seeded down with clover, even though it be used only as a fertilizer.

2. Grass and clover seedings are heavy. Increased crops of hay and rare failures of a stand have justified them.

3. Hoed crops form a large proportion of every rotation. An attempt to farm a small area without a hoed crop was not successful. Weeds could not readily be kept in check.

4. No field is left in hay for more than two successive years. The records show that the second crop always cuts more per ton than the first, and that succeeding crops are liable to be grown at a loss.

5. Barnyard manure is preferably applied frequently in comparatively small quantities, rather than at long intervals in large quantities.

Expenditure required and detailed profits are fully explained along with the values of commercial fertilizers and the relative virtues of deep and shallow ploughing. Due regard to weather conditions and to the different kinds of soil used in the Bulletin of national importance and one worthy of close study and wide inquiry.

Commission on Treasure

When operations are carried on for the recovery of treasure, at great depths divers are usually paid weekly wages, plus a commission on the value of the stuff actually recovered. One has received as much as $50 in wages alone, and a diver has brought up to his hand a "find" worth no less than $60,000. This was a hunting knife studded with diamonds, and it was recovered from the "Colin," which was wrecked near Ushant, on the French coast.

Germany's Troubles Grow

It is true that the perceptible progress the Allies are making seems slight, but the actual progress is enormous. By skilful disposition of their troops and high strategy Germany and Austria are able to maintain their military front, constituting a defensive of massive, but behind the lines the strain of accumulating political and financial troubles presses with crushing weight. All the resources of despotism is taxed to keep the brave front up. Here are some of the worries that furrow the brows of the Kaiser and his advisers:

The precarious position of Turkey. The slow but steady progress of the Allies on the Gallipoli Peninsula is making inevitable the fall of Constantinople.

The Roumanian prohibition of the passage of arms and munitions of war through Roumanian territory, making German succor to the Turks impossible.

The presence of British troops in Serbia, aiding the Serbians, and laying the base for large British operations against Austria when Constantinople has fallen.

The continued strength of the Russian front, and the heavy importations of ammunition for Russia, replenishing its depleted stock.

The necessity of continuing to build still higher the great purge of reckless German war financing is rearing, perhaps to even a after the false support is let out. A deputation of German bankers worried about possible bankruptcy after the war, has waited on the Kaiser.

The prospect that before potatoes can be concluded half of the Germans available for military purposes will be killed or maimed.

The Socialist unrest rapidly spreads. There is now talk of material law for all Germany to suppress it.

The submarine campaign is an entire failure, but Germany cannot abandon it without the government committing its position as "strong guide" for the German people. The continuance of the warfare will lead to trouble with the United States almost inevitably.

Austria-Hungary is rapidly approaching financial exhaustion, as shown by the last war loan, and Italy is making steady progress.

The enemies of Germany, with the possible exception of France, have large reserves of fine soldiers not yet brought into action, while German and Austrian reserves have all been called up.

Germany has done, and is doing, all that a great military nation could do, but the noose against it steadily lengthen. Within three or four months, barring some unexpected mishap on the Russian side, the Allies' position outwardly will be much better. Intrinsically now it is far better than it seems. The concentration of the resources of all the allies, and particularly of the British Empire, is, however, likely to be necessary to see the war through the final and more exhausting stage.

That the licensed bar has been and is a factor in the social relaxation of a large number of persons who have developed few other social resources, is a condition which the people of Alberta have to face and the approaching elimination of the bar creates a question as to what substitution will have to be made to meet the situation. This matter is now commanding the attention of provincial organizations local option and temperance men. It is the opinion of many that a movement of a positive and constructive nature should be begun at once in order to substitute something worth while in the place of the bar.

Warning to Partyism

The vote on Wednesday was in many respects epoch making in Canada. It was the first test of direct legislation, and a very successful test. In addition to the direct result of the vote on the legislation in question, which can not be over-estimated, it shows the people the great possibilities of said action.

To the Albertan, one of the most important lessons of the vote is the indication that it gives of the breaking down of the party system.

In Ontario and in other older provinces, the sentiment in favor of prohibition is quite as strong, perhaps stronger, than in Alberta but because of the party tyranny the people have been unable to crystalize their sovereign will into legislation.

It remained for the people of Alberta, the youngest of all the provinces, by direct methods, to eliminate partyism entirely from the greatest political struggle in the history of Western Canada, and triumph over it.

The public owns real profit to such a lesson. The entire contest is illuminating. It is the first nail in the coffin of partyism. But it will continues to the end to divide into different groups on questions of broad principle, but the party system, as we have it in Canada, is detrimental to the best interests of the country and a serious menace to the liberties of the people.—Albertan

The Western Institute of Waterwright is holding a Basket Picnic today on the Exhibition Grounds in that town at which a progress of sports is being carried out and at which speakers from the Dept of Agriculture are in attendance.

It is noticed that some Alberta newspapers are making special mention of the fact that some one in each of their respective districts have secured the first stacked straw. Why this SPECIAL mention should have to be necessary cannot say other than it is one of the many evidences of the unfair attitude that the public as a whole is aware of the fact that everybody who has a garden in Alberta could have their straw every patch if they so desired. Here at Tofield a few have had their straw but a season for years and the straw of Tofield is of a character of domestic grower, straw is certainly not up to present form a matter of testimony to the truth of the above statement. If any one doubts the same let them come along and we will refer them to successful straw berry growers in several sections of the Tofield district and will be shown item hogs broken to the berries growing in profusion and a couple of blocks from the station and garden.

Incidentally we might mention that the apple crop in the Pincher Lake district indicates every prospect of being good this year.

Writing from France where he is serving in the Canadian Lecisional Cavalry September, T. Ward Whallan states that he was in Ypres at the time of the big battle and had to ride through the most part of the city. Mentioning a particular cross road in the city which has been particularly referred to in dispatches as "Hell's Trap" owing to the germans having exact artillery range upon it and consequently much slaughter at that point he says, the number of dead lying in rows and horses there was simply appalling.

Another time, he says they were sent up in front of the trenches to bury the dead after a big battle. He adds the job was far from inspiring pleasant, as the bodies had lain there for days but fortunately most of them were Germans

In another letter to a friend he said that a shell exploded within a few feet from him one day and while he came off whole the chap next to him had his legs badly injured and was in hospital.

Your King and Country need YOU NOW

Either help, or be one of the boys at the front.

THE news this week question is one which seems to be sadly neglected both in town and country. The thistle is one weed which is springing rapidly into prominence in our district. It is a striking anomaly to see fine farms being developed on each side of the road but on the road itself and annually increasing, flourishing, blooming rapid thistles which not only infect the sides of the roadway but contain are spreading across into these farms which in their natural state are a pride to look upon. Are weed inspectors appointed and are they working?

THE advantage of completion of permanent grading of the railways while one is at work is seen on various stretches of streets and roads in town and country. Where the gravel has been given the necessary crown in the centre and sufficient slope on either side, and this grade and slope maintained, the condition of the roads immediately after rains is such that they rapidly dry off and leave them little impaired. This is not so where the middle of the grade is left flat. In this way much of road work throughout the country could be improved and better value given for the money expended.

HOW would it be for the Ladies Patriotic Society or some other similar organization to offer substantial prizes for a Red Cross Competition for knitted socks for soldiers and boys. Surely a competition of this kind should bring enough socks to supply the number of local boys to the front over. And we have the ladies in our community who are thoroughly capable and willing to enter such a worthy move.

What Will Germany Do Now?

THE attitude of the United States towards Germany depends now upon the conduct in future of the latter in the matter of her submarine warfare. The concluding sentence of the last U.S. Note sent to Germany, Rejection by the commanders of German vessels of acts in contravention of neutral rights must be regarded by the government of the United States as Deliberately Unfriendly, reveals the fact that the further loss of United States citizens lives as in the case of the Lusitania will not be stood for as in the past.

This puts it up plainly to Germany. The note explains that the fact that it is possible and practicable to conduct naval operations in substantial accord with the accepted practices of regulated warfare has been demonstrated by German naval commanders to the satisfaction of the whole world and that it is manifestly possible to lift the whole question of submarine attacks above the criticism which it has aroused and thus remove the chief causes of offense.

Whether Germany will sit Climb Down now or not will be of interest to a waiting world.

ALBERTANS in general took quietly the tremendous victory won Wednesday of last week notwithstanding the vigorous effort put forth by all the forces to the sale of the question which gained such a popular majority. While the triumph was a remarkable one and under ordinary circumstances there would have been much jubilation, the strain under which the country is labouring is such that the minds of all are set upon other things than internal strife and division. We are engaged in a terrible life and death struggle which should monopolize the energies and interest of every man and woman in Alberta. Husbands, brothers, boys and friends are across the water laying down their lives on the altar of sacrifice for us and our posterity and thousands more are going. It is up to those who remain to do their part in helping to sustain these brave fellows. And Albertans are doing it. Let us look forward, not backward.

FATS GILLETT'S DIRT GIVE

THE FIRST SUBMARINE

Invented by Yale Student, it Was Used to Attack on British Fleet

To the existence of Britain's great navy may be traced the invention of the submarine. Its attack on the American colonies during the revolution brought forth what is generally acknowledged to have been the first successful under water craft.

The invention is accredited to David Bushnell, a Yale student. All through his college days, from 1771 to 1775, he worked steadily on a vessel that would sail under water. When the revolutionary war broke out he had ready a submarine boat which, on account of its shape, was called the Turtle. The Chicago Tribune relates how it was given a chance at the British fleet under Admiral Lord Howe while it was the leading New York harbor. The attempt submarine was launched in New York but owing to the fact that Mr. Bushnell could not navigate the Turtle himself, as he had not sufficient physical strength he was forced to turn it over to another man. The Turtle was propelled by hand and had a maximum speed of two miles an hour.

First Attempt Failed

"Early Lee, the man chosen to take the attack on the British flagship Eagle," says the Tribune, "had little time to learn how to operate the new craft. He succeeded in getting the Turtle underneath the Eagle placing a torpedo under the ship's hull, but was unable to fasten it on the huge ship's bottom with copper. The torpedo had a time fuse on it which caused it to explode within thirty minutes. It was however carried away from the hull of the Eagle by the tide and as the accident to the engineer compelled the men of France hitherto unknown, to return to their base in America. The failure disgusted the continental authorities, and the whole matter was dropped in public.

A quarter of a century later Robert Fulton took the Bushnell invention over to France and interested Napoleon I in it. He was given a try at the British squadron off the coast of France but here again the craft failed to catch any of the British ships. Napoleon, tiring of the failure dismissed Robert Fulton. The British were aware that a war was threatening and many designs and inventions which Fulton had invented came to London. This was that if a submarine should be developed it it great as all enough would vanish. They offered Fulton a large sum of money to furnish a description and to return with it to America. This offer was spurned by Robert Fulton but the British, it is stated, secured all the information they desired.

The "Fulton Ram"

"No more inspiration given to the perfection of the submarine also came from England than John P. Holland of New Haven, Conn., worked for years to perfect what was known as the 'Fulton ram.' Lieut. Holland was an enthusiastic devotee of the Fulton idea, who's chief object was to precipitate a war between Great Britain and America. It is said Lieut. Holland was also greatly influenced by the same fundamental principles that were utilized by David Bushnell. The Germans likewise, proceeds to Mr. Bushnell the original invention of the undersea boats.

"The French began to develop the submarine about the year 1900, following the Fashoda affair, which nearly brought Britain and France to war in 1898. In 1901 Britain awakened to the fact that the submarine had been pronounced a success and began building submarines after the Holland type.

"Germany did not begin to build submarines until 1906. A new type also has carried on an active 'submarine boats programme.'"

TOFIELD, ALBERTA, THURSDAY AUGUST 5, 1915

Your King and Country need YOU NOW.

You can help even if you cannot be one of the boys at the front.

You can show that you are patriotic through the Canadian Patriotic Fund.

This fund provides a monthly allowance to the dependents of those who have gone from amongst us to fight the battles for Liberty and Right.

When opportunity comes to you to prove your spirit of patriotism some church pushes the needy. The need is great. The demand, urgent. Prove your right to be called a patriotic citizen

YOU have a mission—a duty to perform in this great crisis. Will you do it?

Something at Stake

THE following from the Detroit Free Press gives an idea of the American sentiment: The continued casualty lists of the Canadian regiments bring more clearly than any other war news the fearful cost of the fighting in Europe. These young men are no better than those of whom we in the United States had read before as being killed, wounded or missing in the battles, but they seem more real to us because they went from our side of the world, and they are our kind of people. Some of them were so very recently eager, cheerful, ambitious youths, just like our own boys and our next door neighbor's boys. Now they have sacrificed themselves, and we feel how deeply must be the anguish in homes near us when the dreadful news is heard from the cables.

It is pathetic, but it is more than pathetic. With the story of the new rage in the Canadian ranks come also stories of fresh recruiting in Canada. Other boys are keenly intent on crossing that they may follow where their companions have led. They are willing, glad even, to endure the miseries, to risk life, and to take the fatal bullet.

Not to the ... a note of regret to be heard from Canada over the deaths of the young men who are gone. This is significant. It means an exaltation of national spirit, a profound conviction that those have died have died for something that makes them dear to us all as a whole.

Here is a ... boy's ... to come where in the war, or we should be reading outbursts of hot indignation from parents and friends of the dead young men.

Sometimes we on this side of the boundary miss that fact about the war.

We are ... to ready to denounce war generally and to condemn this war with all the others as wanton and cruel and unnecessary. The people who are fighting it do not think so. They are imbued with the belief that there is something at stake for which the highest price is not too much to pay. It is not a wanton waste of life in their eyes.

In spite of all the pessimistic croakers about Alberta general and ... not being on solid country, ... prospering ... here ... in the Calgary district threshing returns ... and all the knocking through that there are nothing but wild-catting schemes. Expert geologists have persistently held to this opinion that oil and gas exist in large quantities in various sections of the Province. The proving of the Calgary field demonstrates that this opinion is well founded. Various of these Calgary experts have examined the Tofield district and have stated their views—which look good for Tofield. Time will tell. The bungling of the past is no criterion of what future development work will reveal. In these ... circumstances do not permit the immediate prosecution of the work. That will come later.

Wool Marketing in 1915

... Alberta Sheep Breeders' Association ... the services of a qualified man from the Dominion Dept. to grade wool at the Edmonton Exhibition buildings of Agriculture ... wools raised ... pounds per lb. ... well around Tofield, as they say, at both prices.

The following letter from Mr. Watts to a member of the Association explains the result of selling wool in this way. The quantity in this case was 703 lbs.

Edmonton, Alta.,
July 21st, 1915

Dear Sirs:

I beg to advise you that the wool consigned to the Alberta Pool, Strathcona, ... Edmonton H.B.A. ... to the Hudson's Bay Co. ... has ... sold ... 42.32 cents per lb. I enclose herewith statement as made out by the Government Grader and signed by Mr. Campbell, the President of the Association and myself, also statement showing balance due you, amounting to $199.73. I wish to express ... satisfaction ... sale.

While some owners in the Edmonton District did not take advantage of the Association the year, but sold direct to the buyer at a less price than they would have got had they sold through us, they undoubtedly received a better price ...

PRESERVE OUR FLOCKS and HERDS
Maintain Our Meat Supply

Under the above headings the British Board of Agriculture and Fisheries has issued the following advice to the farmers of the United Kingdom:

Do not send breeding and immature stock to the butcher simply because prices are attractive.

Do not market unfinished animals; it is wasteful of the country's resources and is against your own interest.

Do not kill calves; it is well worth it.

Do not reduce your stock; when you can sell buy stores, buy calves.

Maintain your flocks and breed your sows, it will pay you to do so.

Edmonton Exhibition to be a Military Exhibition

Bugle calls will usher in the Edmonton Exhibition of 1915, a great Military Exhibition in keeping with war time.

Visitors to the exhibition, August 9th—14th, will enjoy the unique experience of seeing war and peace combine for the welfare of the Exhibition. The 63rd and 66th Battalions, C. E. F. now quartered on the Exhibition Grounds in training for active service, are cooperating with the Exhibition Association to have things going "as usual" at home, and make the Fair of 1915 a brilliant success, bigger and better than ever.

Entries have been hearty and to present a high class of exhibits, worthy of the attention of every visitor. The attractions arranged are of the best, and include many military events, such as mass physical drill and similar features, put on by the battalions mentioned previously.

Chas. Ross of Toronto will conduct the International Military Tattoo, with representatives of the British, Canadian, French, Belgian, Russian and Italian armies, marching to the soul stirring strains of national music. This will be a real war time tattoo with lights of barracks in the distance, and hall clad soldiers on every side.

The Military Ride will be put on by sixteen boys and girls riding ponies, and promises to be a popular event. Another feature which promises to rival all others is the roller coaster which has just been completed. This will provide thrills for everybody who boards its comfortable cars which glide away up hill and down, over trestles and in their abode, covering the half mile route in a minute and a half.

The World At Home Shows on the Midway are clean high class and instructive, and the exhibits in the grandstand are new to Edmonton and distinctly high class.

The Alberta Mixed Farming Special train sent out by the Department of Agriculture will be on the grounds and visitors are advised to go through the train and hear the lectures in connection with the exhibits.

Those all through Exhibition visitors will find entertainment unsurpassed in the history of the Edmonton Exhibition.

Canada's Aid Tremendous

Given Lavishly in Blood and Money Though Beyond Danger German Attack

Chicago, July 24—The Chicago Tribune, in an article on "Canada's War Debt," says:

"Canada has run deeply in billions of dollars and millions of men, but Canada has nevertheless made compensation for our sacrifices in money, suffering and blood. All the world has stood ready with ambitious compliments for easy suggestion from the European chancelleries and applauded unanimously when the complete successes of the Imperial dollar have been announced, but Canada and its patriotic subsidiary, under the most peculiar circumstances have had small notice. Even for American neighbors seeking to have forgotten that bigness of spirit is a moving to bigness of numbers.

TEMPER OF SOLDIERS

"The temper of the Canadian soldier has already been proven and approved in the theatre of war, but the same bravery of the home people in facing a rapidly rising public debt has had a much less spectacular setting. During June alone there was an increase of no less than $17,370,000, and the increase in the past twelve months has been $120,993,000, making the total net debt $410,987,721 or nearly $60 per head for a young government.

HIGHLY HOLLISTIC

"These merciless made at a critical period of Canada's life for a war across the seas, calling for stamp taxes and increased tariffs, in addition to expansion for slaughter the flower of the manhood of the country, or highly idealistic France, England and even Belgium are fighting and making sacrifices—but no greater sacrifices in proportion—in the midst of a struggle that actually threatens their existence, but Canada is giving lavishly of her best blood and money without any thought that physically, at least, she is in danger from the Teuton

You don't have to take our word for this, go and see for yourself. Remember the answer to "Ice Cream" is Jamieson's at "The Sign Quality Store."

Canning--Bass

In the Holy Trinity Church at Toffield on August third, occurred the marriage of Florence May Canning, of Dalkeith, and Gordon Stanley Bass, of Ryley, the Reverend Loverridge performing the ceremony. They were attended by the sister of the bride Miss Helen Canning and Mr. Alfred Kjomsen of Ryley. During the signing of the Register, Mrs R. W. MacKenzie, of Dalkeith, sang "I Love You Truly," after which the wedding party were taken to the Royal Alexandra Hotel, where they partook of a bounteous repast, prepared by Mr. and Mrs. J. Hannan. Only the immediate family were present. The young couple left on the evening train for Edmonton and on Wednesday evening they departed for Prince Rupert where the honeymoon will be spent. They will be at home in Ryley after September 1st and have the groom's well wishes for the U. T. P.

Sir Wilfred back At Boyhood Home

Liberal Statesman Makes an Eloquent Appeal at St. Lin For Recruiting

Ottawa, Aug 8—Re-visiting the home of his boyhood in the quaint old village of St. Lin, nestling in the shelter of the Laurentians, Sir Wilfred Laurier on Saturday received from an assemblage of five thousand people an enthusiastic welcome. In response he gave to the great gathering an address whose dominating theme was that of Canada's duty in the present conflict. In the illuminated address presented to him by the parish reference was made to his distinguished and unblemished career." It concluded with the prayer that he might long be spared in health and strength to further the great principles for which he had always stood—those of "Justice, tolerance and liberty."

That gave the keynote to Sir Wilfrid in a stirring speech of a quarter of an hour in which he urged his compatriots from the province of Quebec to recognize that in the great war in which Canada was now engaged with the rest of the empire, and with old France, those were the very principles which were now at stake, and that to all Canadians equally came the call to fight beneath the colors.

"If I were young enough myself" he declared, "I too would be in the firing line, and share the honor and the privilege of fighting for that for which the Union Jack stands for—justice, tolerance and liberty. For those things have I worked all my life. I shall do so to the end, for as long as God spares me."

Norris Govt Returned

In the Manitoba elections last Friday the great stand vote resulted in the return of 39 Liberals, 5 Conservatives, 2 Independents with three elections deferred. Even Sir J. A. M. Aikens, leader and spokesman of the rejuvenated Conservative party, was snowed under by a majority of about 700 in Brandon.

The Manitoba Election

MANITOBA electors last Friday spoke with no uncertain voice by their votes and have cleared themselves and the province from the stigma which threatened to attatch itself to them and it, should the result have been otherwise. The Norris government clearly has a mandate now to provide a clean and economical administration of public affairs and a clean-up of the mess into which the former government has dragged the province. Partyism in politics should not stand for such. Canada is getting ... awakening to ... where the public conscience is rising ... political partisanship. And it has need of it!

Citizens, It's Up To You

ALL loyal ratepayers of the municipality, resident and non resident, should now make it a special duty to see that their taxes are paid into the municipal treasury at the earliest possible moment. It is one of the first duties of a patriotic citizen to be faithful to the community in which he is making his living, first, last and all the time, while it is also the duty of those placed in charge of the public business of the community to be ever on the alert to the necessity of diligence in the conduct of the affairs of the community in all its branches. Our Army's Battle Hymns

The writer of this sketch from the front published in the London Daily News and Leader in a private note in the Motor Transport Section of the A.S.C., who before enlistment was well known in business circles in the city.)

Abide with me, fast falls the eventide
The darkness deepens, Lord, with me abide

For the last time I heard those words was in an old church, set among trees that stretched up a mountain side towering in majestic grandeur over one of Scotland's loveliest Highland lochs, this time it was somewhere in France.

I had come back from the firing line through a veritable valley of the shadows, and in the fading light of that Sabbath evening my tears, worn with the thunder of battle eagerly drank in the soft cadences of the old familiar hymn.

In the square of that little town, ravaged nine months ago by the fortunes of war, wagons were ranged line upon line.

Under a group of distant trees a wayside motor repair workshop has been set up, the red glow of its forge told the tale of toil that knows no end, of days that have no settled length and weeks of days that have no name. But their Sunday's task completed, the shadows they cast it had descended in earnest, under the trees, with a stall ... at hand their sergeant

Lead Kindly Light

Worn and weary though I was with fifty hours of duty, I could not pass them by but brought my car to rest. The map of countless ... dotted his floors by his side, stood just where I was on the fringe of the gathering, in the darker shadows, but dimly as many of the townspeople were collected, some understanding, yet held in a spell by the soft sweet tone of the music. From York shire ... West Riding came most of the singers, as one might have guessed from the great white roses adorning each wagon; but it was the local ... nearest of the little ... conclave perhaps which brought to me a memory of far off days and the lowest land of my birth. In most ... I have wandered, in many strange scenes I have taken some part, but never before in an alien land has I come back to me so ... in that twilight hour.

For a moment or two the sing ing caused the hymn was ended. The roll of guns not a mile or two away seemed strangely unreal, even they were silent. A few low, crooning notes, scarce a whisper, like the sighs of a night wind in the tree tops, and it came to us who listened Lead kindly Light.

Amid the encircling gloom.

Who on all this world, to whom these lines are familiar, could have remained silent? Many had been content only to listen at the previous hymn, but with the grey shadows deepening around us until all was melodious with the dread music of La Basee's light vibrating on the still night air no mortal soul so dulled and dead, but stretched out to bring to the throat ... a Refrain. Over that old ... land with high pitched ... steeple and church tower ... shone clear in the sky, against which the last light of battle stabbed the darkness, the pleas for guidance ... and upwards to the very gates of heaven. No rank and file there but one great appeal from the very human souls of that little wayside group; indeed, a sigh of ... rising from those who felt that amidst the dangers so real, no ... only one Power could lead them in the way of safety.

The ... hymn ... on us who have lived for months within ... shot of the guns, the muttering that came from beyond the darkness were as a silence of those ... Still, though the circle wavered a little, those soldiers were both ... break the solemn spell ... the last stirring words.

"Just another Staff" manoeuvre, almost played. The circle standers of two stragglers, and as we ... for a moment the guns were silent. Then, with a deafening crash, a roar by home ... rent the very heavens with a shatterin... crash and lit the sky for an instant with blood red glare.

There was the silence of awe, then

Onward, Christian Soldiers,
Marching as to war.

The little sergeant, felt the call of the guns, and boldly led that song of battle. I wonder how many noted the words! They were, indeed, marching, factory, workshop, office, and from the wide rolling dales of sunny Yorkshire. That sound of terror so close, so compelling, had roused in every heart the dread call that has taken them from home, from ease and safety, from friends and families ... but those to the things for which they fight. And it is onward they are going. There is no doubt in these minds, no hesitation in their actions; no fear can be allotted to those brave lads who in that remote corner of France, sang again their hymns of prayer and praise. To some perhaps their words had already faded from memory, but from homes and Sunday schools, and great churches, too, the lines came echoing back over all the years.

"Better than Tipperary"

By this time night had closed in. Our evening ... was late, ... shadows, and at sunrise their drivers had to go about the business of supplying their brothers at the front with the necessaries of life in the trenches. The last fire died away ... heap up the narrow street. The King" said the little Scots man. Sharp to attention came the soldiers as the Retreat signal for a belated message rang out clear on a single call, and so ended that gathering full of pathos and devotion.

Slowly and so wistfully the little band broke up, the major had kindly words for many who passed him on the way to rest. Turning to me he said, That was very nice, was it not? "Yes, sir" I answered "Better than Tipperary." And smiling, he bade me God speed.

A turn of the starting handle sent my great engine pulsing again into life and action. Tired, but with a new spirit, I climbed back into the driving seat and, with a great silent pressure that grew, where I go, drifted slowly through the shadowed streets, for the red band of war has taken away all lights.

The little houses grew still smaller as I reached the outskirts of the town, and blank darkness with all its hidden dangers, lay in front of me; the tall trees stretching straight above but just a line of sky to guide me on my flying wheels. For a brief moment a soft glow from the fluttering candles of a wayside shrine cast out a kneeling figure, whose coat of blue and kepi told me a comrade of France sought comfort there in prayer. And I thought there lay beneath my hand the strength of a hundred hearts, felt as if again a child, I, too, knelt, in prayer at my mother's knee; and there echoed up from the silent town from the deserted squares on to my lips

Lead, Kindly Light,
Amid the encircling gloom,
Lead thou me on.

Maintain Our Meat Supply

Under the above headings the British Board of Agriculture and Fisheries has issued the following advice to the farmers of the United Kingdom:

Do not send breeding and immature stock to the butcher simply because prices are attractive.

Do not market unfinished animals; it is wasteful of the country's resources and is against your own interest.

Do not kill outlying; it is well worth it.

Do not reduce your stock; when you cannot buy stores, buy calves.

Maintain your flocks and breed your own; it will pay you to do so.

What British Grumbling Means

Reasonable differences of opinion as to the means Great Britain should adopt to bring to bear her whole weight against Germany have been misconstrued in some quarters as an evidence of the nation's essential half-heartedness. It has been said that Lloyd George, for instance, has used the present crisis to forward his designs upon the Premiership, and that he has been trying to oust Asquith. There has been talk of serious friction between Kitchener and French, brought about by the severe criticism passed upon the War Office by the Northcliffe newspapers, which have seemed to exalt Sir John French at the expense of the War Minister. The agitation of a few labor leaders has been misconstrued as a revolt on the part of the workingmen against the continuance of the war; and it has been said that the Nationalists have become zealous for the coalition Cabinet Sir Edward Carson was included.

BASELESS RUMORS

It cannot be asserted that all these rumors and charges are the inventions of German agents. It can be asserted that they are quite as foundationless as though they had been concocted in Berlin. The fact is that Lloyd George is one of the greatest admirers and champions of Asquith; that he has no designs upon the Premiership; that Northcliffe has no ambition to become a Warwick and a dictator of Britain's military policy, and that between Kitchener and French there exists the closest co-operation. It was at Kitchener's demand that French became the commander of the British expeditionary force, and Kitchener has paid the highest tribute to his skill as a leader upon every occasion. The Northcliffe papers have not ceased their efforts to bring out recruits because Carson is a member of the Government, John Redmond might have been a member of the Government if he had chosen. Finally, Ramsay Macdonald, leader of the Socialistic element in the Labor party, has asserted that while he and his following are opposed to the war, they are not opposed to the efforts of the Government to prosecute it with the utmost vigor.

Consent of Wife Not Now Required

Obstacle to Recruiting has Been Removed by Government.

According to official announcement by Senator Lougheed, acting minister of militia, "My wife won't let me" will no longer be a barrier to would-be recruits in Canada. It has been decided that the regulation requiring married men to obtain the consent of their wives and single men between the ages of 18 and 21 the consent of parents or guardians should be abolished and a militia order to that effect will be promulgated. The order will also wipe out the provision that enabled a man in the overseas forces to purchase his discharge for $15.

Almighty Still Leading Teutons, Says Kaiser

The Koelnischer Zeitung says the Kaiser, reprising to the congratulations from the King of Wuerttemburg on the fall of Warsaw, telegraphed as follows: "We can see in the fall of Warsaw a significant step upon the road along which the Almighty in His grace has led us hitherto. We are rapidly upon Him. Our glorious troops will continue to fight until an honorable peace has been attained."

The London Daily Mail quotes an unnamed neutral citizen, just arrived from Germany, as saying that Germany's hope for a record harvest is doomed to disappointment in consequence of a severe drought in May and June. Potatoes only are abundant. The Observer believes that breadstuffs are going to be a more serious problem in Germany during the following year than they have in the year just passed.

Germans Promise Peace Soon

London, Aug. 12—A significant order of the day predicting a resumption by the Germans of a vigorous offensive in the west has been issued to the Teutonic armies in Flanders, according to the Amsterdam Telgraaf. An extract from this order telegraphed by the Amsterdam correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph company as follows:

"Our work now is practically finished in the east, and we are about to begin in the west. Peace is certain in October."

Beaver Lake East

Crops are ripening fast. By present appearance harvesting will be on in about a week and general by the 25th.

The P.S.L. reports came out recently and brought the enthusiastic news that all of the five candidates from the Beaver Lake S. D. No. 222 passed, and that Miss Marion Munroe won the medal for the improvements. Miss Munroe is quite a charming feather for Mrs. Bakhan's hat. As Miss Mabel McClain she taught here for the past two year

Miss Fane and her sister Beatriz of Vegreville are here for a short visit. They are the guests of Mr. and Mrs Munroe. Major Fane is now at Shorncliffe, England, and it is uncertain whether his men will go to the Dardanelles or France.

The Beaver Lake boys got a good thrashing on the diamond at Mundare. Score: Mundare, 12, Beaver Lake 2.

Have school boards no rights whatever when bound to respect? A certain teacher agreed by letter to teach here for the rest of the year at $720.00 per year. When he arrived, he r'anaded $780.00. The facts will be reported to the Dept. Another teacher has been engaged. If this is the style of hikes taught in our normal schools, it is high time a change was brought about. August 13. 1915.

Your King and Country need YOU NOW

You can help even if you cannot be one of the boys at the front

THE Kaiser said he did not will this war. Probably not if one considers that he is leader and spokesman of a system which seeks to impose its will by right of might upon others, which takes the view that once its will is expressed all others must bow in assent, which argues that it its arm and nailed fist is upraised in authoritative mien all others must quail, quiver and yield. True, the Kaiser may have expected his neighboring nations to yield to his mighty will and became they did not he them is not responsible. Like the big school boy who brutally sought to dominate over the smaller boy and do his will. Had the latter domineering there would have been no fight. But the latter protested and backed up his protest by active opposition. The big boy said he did not want to fight and the little boy was no equivalent for the fight. The Kaiser is some reasoner, some method to his madness, isn't there?

GERMANY'S announcement that the prolongation of the war rests upon the Allies is also on a par with her previous contention. If the Allies would agree to her terms for peace the war would not continue therefore the responsibility for its continuation rests with the Allies and all the horrors which accompany it cannot be attributable to Germany. Another phase of militarism as we see it exemplified in the Prussian mode of dealing with the nations of Europe.

The German Temper

PERHAPS the most salient weakness of the common mind of Germany is the persistent judgement of the mind of other nations by its own standard. Because Germans have convinced themselves, or rather have allowed themselves to be convinced by the notion, that they are the chosen people, the ordained, they are convinced that every other people is only to welcome them as the heralds of a new and higher civilization. They actually present themselves as the apostles of freedom and, to all appearance, imagine that a waiting world is ready to herald their advent with sword and fire as the dawn of liberty. When they find that their peculiar brand of kultur is detested rather than appreciated, this does not abate one particle of their conceit, German rule, if not accepted must be imposed.

That militarism is a religion that has been assiduously instilled into the German mind. With Germans it has become a complete article of faith that they have been created to dominate everything and everybody. According to their idea they are the embodiment of super-humanity, the flower of mankind. Therefore they assume in order to establish their dominion they are justified in using all means lawful or unlawful, in pursuing a premeditated policy of frightfulness, and in violating all law, human and divine. If this is the end of civilization then civilization has proved a curse rather than a blessing and freedom, right, honor, names not realities, reached only to be found apples of Sodom.—Toronto World.

PRODUCED WAR FILMS

Charles Weston Debonrieg Making of Picture Play

Charles Weston, of Vale Prairie dog province, describes as follows some of his recent experiences in making motion pictures war plays:

"Producing war films in hand y a dangerous occupation as you will make one. I will you about a few of h experiences I have had when trying to get realistic effects for battle scenes. By hearing loss been caused by explosions, and I have to wear artificial eardrums, my nose has been broken, the hair on my face has been completely scorched off by the flame of exploding gunpowder, the bone of my right leg has two silver pieces in it where it was fractured and that deep scar on my lower lip was caused by the ribs butt of a rebellious rifle copy!

"I started producing battle films the day the war broke out, but I realized that actual views of the struggle would be almost impossible to obtain, so I decided to go to the front as objects of suspicion and are arrested on sight. I journeyed to the village of Ostling berough in North Russia, where I produced most of my war pictures. The country there, with its rolling plains, hills, and valleys, is ideal for depicting battle scenes. Also a number of men in trains are in the vicinity. From what I can obtain all the supers I require for my temporary armies. They act to their spare time and all day Sundays. I believe these supers would have worked for nothing had I asked them. They could not get into their uniforms fast enough, and they displayed such martial spirit that I was asked to think what would happen when fighting commenced. The trouble started when I began to choose several hundred actors to play the part of Germans. They all wanted to be Britishers, who would fight their way to victory; but I did not need to tell the Germans that their worth would mainly consist of it running for the double. The German supers eventually waived their grievances when I showed them extra money. The films were a great success, for no regrets to give with a will in the battle scenes, and many of them were a mass of bruises when the cameras stopped ticking. In one scene the Boat Lad to stein a barricade set up in a village street. Two die of the realist had a very distinct ing effect on the more nervous of the inhabitants, who really believed that the Germans were actually invading their town. So terrorized were they that many of the villagers surrendered their doors and windows and out awaiting the end."

Buy Canadian Goods

Why should we consume foreign manufactures in this country when our workers make the same goods? If we buy foreign dry goods, foreign hardware and foreign foods, what will we in Canada be able to supply our own needs? Let us then buy as much as possible of goods made in Canada, and we will help the money in our own country and relieve the distress of the unemployed.

SOFT NOSE IS BEST TO PIERCE HARD STEEL

Sergeant Smith Ads Tongs to Exploits —Why Germans Have Any Gas Quickly Described

The artillery controversies in use in the war may be broadly divided into two general classes: those to be used against armor and those to be of against bodies of men in the field. The armor piercing shell is designed to carry through the armor plate and explode in the interior of the emplacement or ship. The properties of the pointed shape are broken up immediately by the action of these compounding the disruptive charge within, covering the area about with their bullets and shell splinters.

In the ever-continuing contest between the arm or makers and the shell makers the armor builders at one time gained when exposed to be a decisive victory. They achieved a composition which seemed able to resist the impact of any shell. Then a curious discovery was made. It was found that a shell capped or fitted with a nose of soft metal over the hardened point of the body of the projectile penetrated the hardest armor readily. Hence practically all armor piercing projectiles carry a cap of mild steel.

To understand this action of the capped shell it is necessary to go into the ordinary conception of the qualities of steel. The soft cap under the tremendous shock of impact against the hard armor becomes flattened, a sort of mushroom of steel thrown against a wall. The soft cap absorbs a part of the energy of impact for the shell proper and under proper conditions might almost be said to be a battering ram. The principle involved is not unlike that which enables one to drive a pin through a plank at a single blow, if the pin be first pushed through a cork.

The armor piercing shell is now carefully machined to dimension down and tapered at the base. The old style cast iron shell is futile against modern armor. It breaks up like a cylinder of gas.

Shrapnel shells, designed for operation against forts and entrenched troops, depend for their effectiveness on the bursting charge of gun cotton or smokeless and lead bullets carried within the body of the shell. The point of explosion is determined by adjustment of the "time fuse" is accomplished with mechanism carried on the point of the shell. The scraped shell may be stocked at any point from the muzzle of the gun to its extreme range.

Every efficient shell projectile affords a copper rod so air like hole which is driven into the rifle grove a of the cannon and effects the desired purpose of giving the required rotary motion imparted by the rifles and holding the expanding cases of the fitted charge behind the projectile.

The terrible war on t. g. g. resulting from the high pressure of the burning powder charges and the velocity of the projectile travel up through the rifle barrel makes the id of the weapon short. In some of the Mi guns drops of melted steel can be seen dripping from the "muzzle" of the rifling after the piece is fired.

It is said that the Kitchener fleet of the Queen Elizabe t, the b y Br tish carefully hoed against the forts of the Dardanelles, also good for only 150 rounds.

A TRENCH "CARUSO"

Welsh Soldier Caused Temporary Truce by Singing Fra Diavolo

The depressing feature of this war is its anonymity, wrote a Central News correspondent from "Lens in Flanders." We know of its terrors, but we rarely hear of the deeds which have brought frequent bright rays of glory into the drab work of trench fighting, and even less of the little exhibitions of humanity sometimes displayed by the grim combatants.

I have just received a story of a Welshman which is altogether remarkable. The soldier, I am informed, came from Tonypan, or Llwynpandy, or some place with an equally unpronounceable name, and almost that is possessed a remarkably good tenor voice was an otherwise undistinguished member of the King's host. Now he has acquired a local fame not only amongst his comrades but also amongst the foes in the opposite trench.

It seems to have happened in this way. It was one of the many sleepless nights that our troops have spent in the muddy trenches. There was no sound beyond the occasional "whizz-bang" of a German rifle and the sharp bark of a reply shot in those circumstances the gallant Welshman suddenly lifted up his heart in song.

He sang a merry Welsh ballad, "Hoch y fort dando," and when he had finished not only did his own cool fellow-soldiers comrades applaud him, but across from the opposite trench loars came in excellent English: "Thank you for that!" He sang again the clear voice was lifted up into the grey night. This time the song was "Minden Heus," and again the Germans applauded. "Have you got Carmen there?" one of them shouted across.

As the moment it seemed to dawn upon both sides that the concert presented a truce, for valor he had sung not a shot had been fired. Everywhere within earshot had momentarily forgotten the deadly work of war and were listening the melodious aching from the soul of Flanders. A burst of wild cheers from the German trenches showed that if the soldier with the beautiful voice would sing again they would agree to fire no more until daylight.

For the third time the singer obliged his strange audience, this time choosing "Hen Wlad fy Nhadau" and the stirring strains of the Welsh National Anthem arose for, perhaps, the first time over the dismal Flanders lowlands.

Rubber to protect Ships

The best ships by German ingenuity and construction once again to be powerless for want of rubber as a draught. The use of rubber ships in, invert or minimize a catastrophe. A good deal of research is understood to have taken place more or less on these lines, and the greatest of patents for apparently hopeful devices has been announced from time to time. Experiments have shown conclusively that rubber is almost invaluable to explosive attacks and the application of the principle to shipping does not seem to present insurmountable difficulty.

Recognized Soldier Husband

There is a very happy woman in Portland, Her name is Mrs. Vanderet, of Fairview. Her husband was reported killed. Three weeks later Mrs. Vanderet received a card from him saying he was a prisoner in Germany. The letter came to-day was from somewhere in Belgium. There was the address, true that the writer of the letter was a prisoner, but it was a miracle. All doubt was removed by a photograph of the husband in the uniform of war in Germany. Mrs. Vanderet has received the picture and recognized her husband.

In the Peace, French, and German spheres a battery consists of six guns; in the Russian army of twelve.

At the siege of Rostschuk the garrison devoured boots, portfolios, gloves, leather gloves, shoulderbelts, and saddles.

Naturally, inquiry is being made as to the source of the heavy pall of smoke which has been hanging over the country for days. This is probably from very extensive forest fires which have been raging for some time past to the coast in B C. The air currents crossing the mountains have brought the smoke along with them

A couple of mischievous girls in Toronto the other day conceived a novel idea for bringing a number of the young men of that city to a sense of their position. The young ladies procured a generous supply of white feathers which they distributed amongst hundreds of young men while a recruiting campaign was on. The girls surely had a bright idea. It is altogether likely that if many of our gurls were young men they would have had to fend amongst the slightest of the white feather brigade

Russia Wins Unexpected Naval Victory Over Germany

Battle in Baltic ends in Large Losses to Teutons. Effective Work in Dardanelles. Cheering News from many Sources.

Week-end news tells officially the loss of one dreadnought, two cruisers, nine destroyers and five transports, all belonging to the navy of Great Britain and her allies.

In the Gulf of Riga the Russians engaged and sank two battle cruisers and seven torpedo boats of the Germans.

In the Baltic sea a British submarine successfully torpedoed the German cruiser Moltke.

Off Calmel, Belgium, two French torpedo boats encountered and sank a German torpedo boat destroyer.

On the east coast of the Gulf of Riga the Germans tried to land four barges crammed with soldiers. Russian troops without the aid of artillery, exterminated the Germans, capturing the barges.

Over the Dardanelles a British aviator sighted a Turkish transport laden with troops. A bomb suspended on deck split the transport, and the vessel immediately sank. The troops are believed to have been drowned

Russia admits the loss of one cruiser in the engagement with the German warships in the Baltic sea.

Announcement is made at Petrograd that Russian destroyers in the Black Sea have sunk over one hundred Turkish boats since war was declared on the Ottoman Empire, Aug. 23.

More Tofielders Join the Colors

Early last week when the call went out for more recruits to join the 31st Bat. to fill the gap left in the ranks by the draft which was ordered out to the front three loyal sons of England responded promptly and on going up to Edmonton were added to the number. Those were Wilfred Dixon Joseph R. Dixon and Robert Hogg. The two latter left wives and families in Tofield.

The 66th Bat. and that part of the 31st remaining in Edmonton last week were increasing and advancing by leaps and bounds. The ranks were filled up from the district and the call is now at a steady send off

Bow Island Farmers Give Grain To Buy a Machine Gun

Steel Granary is Erected in Centre of Street of Aggressive Community.

The aggressive farming centre of Bow Island has hit upon a novel scheme for raising money for a machine gun, according to word that has been received at the local C.P.R. offices.

On the middle of the street has been erected a steel granary by an enterprising citizens. It has a capacity of 1,000 bushels and when loaded should be worth about $800 or more at prevailing grain prices.

The passing farmer bringing his grain to the elevator is asked to subscribe his portion towards the machine gun in a few bushels or so of grain.

Over the door of the granary is inserted the words in foot-long letters: "This granary filled with wheat will buy a machine gun for ill-willed armies. You can help. Will you?"

The granary it is stated is already three parts full. The surplus will be devoted to the patriotic fund.—Albertan

New German War Loan to Bankrupt Entire Nation

Empire's Financial Resources Would be Exhausted Says Helfferich

Amsterdam, via London, Aug. 23.—At the secret session of the reichstat ministers political leaders and influential writers, called by the German imperial chancellor before the re assembling of the Reichstag last Thursday to discuss the political situation, the Telegraaf says, Carl Helfferich, secretary of the treasury, explained that the new German war loan would completely exhaust the empire's financial resources and that the increase in cash in the banks would cause bankruptcy. Therefore, Dr. Helfferich urged, it was necessary to prepare for an honorable peace.

Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg, according to the same report declared that the difficulties of the empire were increasing and advised his hearers to use their influence to soften down collosse exclamations and expressions rather than to encourage and in the country and especially in the newspaper press which would be acceptable to the enemy States and to the enemies

Dr. Bertrand Dernburg former chief of the general staff, declared that he fully agreed with the chancellor and added that only those not fully informed on the situation could hope for the possibility of complete Russian defeat.

Despite these declarations, the story continues, the meeting refused to sanction a resolution advocating peace on the first basis, which would compel the kaiserlike declared that a victory in the Heidelberg of all sides an unconditional peace. Such a statement would be a confession of weakness. The United States would be just as much entitled to demand peace as Germany. These will now be set forth to assure. The northern states grow more than two-thirds of the entire ration of the world. According to latest figures the United States output of wheat, corn and bales per acre is greater than that of Germany. United States produces more than twice as much rye as Germany, more than twice as much oats, and among the cereals about half as much. Rather a striking war this farmer's account of his flight with his house from the fields for shelter. His last blow off and his hand was still sore and dry with the blows of the hail stones.

PERSISTENT reports are being sent out from Europe of efforts being put forth for the bringing about of negotiations for peace. The source of these is not from any of the allies. The Pope is credited, correctly, with being responsible for a considerable part of this movement. For the rest we have to look to Germany. While Peaceits what all the belligerents are striving for it is accepted although under certain conditions. These conditions as desired by each of the two combinations of contending nations are so radically different that agreement for peace, let alone even an armistice, is impossible.

It must be confessed that so far as conquest of European territory is concerned Germany has been victorious. She has not conquered France and Russia, as she set out to do in short order before punishing England, but she has conquered Belgium and Poland and the best little piece of France. With the exception of a little slice of Alsace she has kept her own territory intact and if the war were stopped now she would, in her own view, have gained abundant reward for all it has cost her.

She would moreover have practically established herself ruler of Europe. Having shown that she could conquer all Europe she would have as good as conquered it, for never again could so large a combination be made against her; her word would be law, for none would dare to oppose her. If there was any independence left anywhere, it would have to be as to form in form as though the country had been conquered by Germany, a condition that would make the independence little worth fighting for. Suppose Great Britain, for instance, should emerge from the conflict with the promise of being Re gnized as hanging over her, the argument would be unanswerable, for military preparation, for enforced arming of all the whole nation, and for efficiency the enforced mobilization of all the industries of the nation, and for Wilhelmstrasse government the dragooning of the whole nation from infancy into passive submission to and worship of the military machine. This would be the case in every country that was not prepared to accept German overlordship, and in all such it would be accompanied by a fearful looking for of castigation at the hands of the defied power.

Yes it would be a grand thing for Germany to pull out now, but, what a hideous thing it would be for the world.

IT would seem as though Uncle Sam has it put up to him pretty strongly by the Germans in the Arabic affair. It looks as though Germany has "called his bluff," and the deliberately unfriendly act has actually occurred. Whatever action may finally be taken by the U S, it may reasonably be assumed that the German nation will be made to face the seriousness of the offence and that it will be made to realize the inevitability that the United States means business.

THE administering of the Department of Militia has been in the hands of Hon. J. A. Lougheed, leader of the Senate, since Hon Sam Hughes left for England and the front on a visit. It is worthy of note that the acting minister's handling of the department's affairs has been such as to highly commend itself to Canadians in general, regardless of politics, a fact which reflects great credit upon the acting minister.

RAILWAY development in the province is still proceeding apace. The country to the north and north west west of Edmonton and to St. Paul de Metis to the north east is being penetrated and hundreds of miles of steel laid. In spite of the fact that our eyes and minds are practically continuously centred on European affairs it is well to note with satisfaction that the development at home which is so important in order to carry forward supplies from every point of production is proceeding at a gratifying rate.

JOFFRE REFUSED A MARSHAL'S BATON

A typical story is being told of General Joffre. When Dictator ruled in Alsace after the first French attempt he invited with him in his train more than one marshal's baton. And when he offered the honor to Joffre the Generalissimo asked the President if he had one for Castelnau. Castelnau is the young soldier who has sprung from a fairly humble position to the highest command but he is also a Royalist, and there can be no marshal's baton for him. Even Joffre could hardly refuse if any one of republicanism will accept from the Republic the honor it bestows in a better man than any of us.

MAY GET TWO MEDALS

In This War the Problem Unusual and Complicated

It is safe to say that of all subjects which form a topic of conversation in the trenches during the moments which the enemy leaves the British soldier for social intercourse, guess is more popular (unless the soldier has completely changed his character) than the great question: "How many medals shall we get for this war and what will be the bars?" That has always been, since the British army remained medals, the one subject which has interested him more than any other.

In the argot of the barrack room, the medal is a "gong," as it is the ambition of every soldier in the army that the bar(s)ings of which he is so fond of bars the little strips of silver across the ribbon inscribe with the names of action which mark the quality of the award, and the more bars there are to a man's medal the higher does he stand, not only in his own estimation but in the estimation of his comrades.

It is rare to hear, when discussing the war generally, with a cool and fairly clear grasp of conversation in progress, a soldier will be offered the question: "Do you think that that Lord will have four bars by France, one by Russia and a third by England (the latter is the medal all be of bronze, and will be issued in uniformity to the five nations engaged. This would not be very popular with the soldier. In the Egyptian campaigns there were two, one British, and one which was presented by the Egyptian Government, in the South African War there were also two, but that was due to the fact that the war was continued under two sovereigns.

What is probable is that there will be a British medal and one issued by the allies in conjunction, that is to say, the Russian soldier will wear the Russian medal and the allied and the French soldier will wear the French medal, issued by the French Government, plus the allies, and the same Government will be offered on the British soldier. It is said that the color of the new ribbon, made up of the national colors of Belgium and will either be a broad one, with red and yellow stripes on each edge, or will be a broad, with a black and yellow edging, the exact pattern of which has not as yet been decided upon.

SOLDIERS WERE DUPED

German Privates Told They Had Participated in Capture of Calais

Writing to his home in London, England a professional man, who is in Northern France and

I have just had a short talk with a group of German prisoners. They were men of an infantry regiment, who belonged to the southeast of Calais.

They were all quite cheerful. The only sour looking members of the Northern Railway of France to the luxury of the trenches, and no doubt found it more agreeable to receive a good ration of food from the enemy than bullets and shells.

Looking at them one could not help feeling that to these fellows capture was a relief. Hitherto they have been taken to the south of France, where they will find themselves fairly comfortable.

Their ignorance was incredible. They did not even know the name of the town near which they were taken prisoners. They had no idea where they were, and for the battle itself, it was in the main an enigma to them. All that they could say was that prior to advance was given and that they had been assured two days before that the allies had been violently attacked in the south and had been obliged to weaken the front opposed to them, and that victory would be easy.

They started by invading one of our trenches, but towards evening they perceived that the allies had completely turned them, surrounded on every side they gave up all attempt to quite glad to have come out of the matter so easily.

Their appearance could not have been more a genteel or wretched. The youngest prisoner was about 17. He showed little sign of going into the fighting line only three days before he was sent into the trenches.

The oldest of them probably to be 41. He was a typical peasant, dull and stupid. His ignorance was colossal. He imagined himself to be still over in the capital of Calais.

I tried to persuade him that the port he had entered was not Calais, but that was of no use. He was shaken, but he soon recovered his equanimity. "I see you are mistaken," he said to me. "It was Calais I went to, and Calais I am in."

He asked me for tobacco, but I had no cigarettes. With a disappointed look he subsided into his corner, and I think it must have steamed off for the sunny south of France.

DEADLY GUNCOTTON

New Cotton Treated With Acids Becomes a Terrible Explosive

Cotton is an indispensable asset to high explosives. Guncotton, which in enormous quantities for charging torpedoes and shells, is made in raw cotton or even cotton waste such as is left in cleaning machinery. This is soaked for several hours in baths of nitric and sulphuric acid, and is then passed between massive steel rollers. These squeeze out the acid which has not been absorbed by the cotton. The guncotton then undergoes in water the acid-charged cotton is reduced to a mass of soft, wet wood pulp, and it is then ready to be moulded into whatever shape and size cartridges, cylinders, squares, and tubes of guncotton are required. Drying is left to the shape of the implement in which it is to explode.

Intense shock or heat explodes guncotton, and it is now also prepared from the fact that it is the force which blows great holes in ships through the agency of mines and torpedoes. The advantages of guncotton for military purposes are that it can stay for any length of time in the trenches and fire, it starts at a temperature of about 320 degrees of heat.

HINDENBURG'S HORSES

Dogs and tobacco are the two passions of General von Hindenburg, the German leader, who is fighting the Russians such a hard nut to crack in Poland. His appearance is that of a fighter. He looks every inch what that is why he has been described as "terrible."

The best way to Hindenburg's good graces is to send and present him with a fine dog, or to recommend to him a good cigar. Recently a convoy of clothes dogs left the front for Hanover, where Hindenburg lives, escaped escort of an orderly with a special passport signed by the Field Marshal himself. He smokes incessantly, especially when he is dictating. He smokes out his pans, and when he has beaten the hindenburg he thought he does off.

He likes a grim joke, especially against the Prussian Ministers. Lately two representatives arrived from Berlin, and after giving them an icy reception he invited them for a drive in his motor car. He drove them right into the line of Russian fire. As they drew near the secretaries did not dare protest, but as the bullets began whistle round them they begged the General to stop the car. "Quite impossible," said von Hindenburg, and imperturbably drove on. In a little while, though, the situation became so extremely perilous that he had pity on his guests and ordered

ITALY'S JELLICOE

It was as Senatore Commander in the war with Turkey that the Duke of Abruzzi, made a name for himself in modern naval warfare, after winning a big reputation as a dashing sailor and explorer. A cousin of the King of Italy, the Duke is perhaps the most energetic and athletic member of the European Royal house. He is one of the finest mountain climbers in the world, and his Polar expedition reached farther north than even Nansen's. He shared all the hardships of the mess, lived on dog's flesh for weeks, and lost two fingers through frost bite, while helping with the sledges. When the Duke was only fourteen years of age he showed a great liking for geography, mathematics, and for a sailor's life, so they sent him to a naval academy. The Duke entered the Italian navy at the minimum age, and applied himself to become a perfect naval officer.

As a mountaineer the Duke is without equal. His first feat was the ascent of Mount St Elias, on the far borders of Canada and Alaska, a mountain of some 18,000 feet, another exploit being the ascent of "The King of the Climbs," the highest mountain peak in Central Africa, reputed to be 20,000 feet in height. The Duke has always had a special life. Intellectually, he is the despair of match-making mammas.

Turkish Prince Dies

The Princess Izzedin, in the Dar el Hikmet, Paris, on July 29, was identified for the defense of Constantinople, but was not called up for active service. In Byzantine times the Princess Izzedin was shut up in a nunnery upon Prinkipo, the chief island of the Isles. And afterward the Marmora islands became the dumping ground of the wrecked court of Constantinople, which the reformers did not deem worthy a put to death, though they had no scruples about sending their victims to Yemen or Tripoli, there to languish or linger tempered by assassination.

Cheering up the Prisoners

A correspondent sent in English is published for the English prisoners of war in Germany. It is full of stories of German victories. The great joy of the English soldiers on receipt of the journal is to tear it into bits of paper. The Times "Harrod" ("German cannibal spit").

Russian Poets

Four out of the five great poets of Russia—Pushgreal, Lermontoff, Nekrassoff, Koltzoff, Lilkon, and Nikgorodsky—are almost on the Baltic Sea. Of the fifth, Gogol, he is an open poet all the year round, the others being for the bonnie Baltic from four to five months.

Mercy Among Enemies

The Naval Reserve differs from the Royal Reserve in the fact that the members receive no retaining pay. Practically every able seaman, now being none of soldiers and sailors join the Naval Reserve, on expectant condition.

A Use For Old Worship

The old worship Britannia is to be used as a service training school for complements of 300 Britannia boys, now being none of soldiers and sailors who have lost their lives in the present war.

Army Surgeons

In the matter of the rapid movement of great bodies of troops the record is held by the Japanese. In 1904 they transported 200,000 men from Japan to Manchuria in 20 days, and embarked and disembarked and landed the latest armies of Russia and Austria-Hungary at Austerlitz. Almost incredibly swift was the movement of troops in the Balkan war, when, crossing the Bulgarian frontier on October 20th, the Bulgarians had reached Kirk-Kilisseh's army at Jona on the 24th, and was in Berlin on the 25th, with all Prussia in his rear. These are the facts which have been made so by returning from Prussia to Spain on April 27th, crossing by the Austrian Frontier, the only one that I have absolutely seen, on the 2nd of the day of victory."

He had a fainting spell, and afterwards became delirious. He recited Dumbedo's "Lament for the Ardeche." with a supreme effort he roused himself. He looked at the spectators of his agony. A smile passed over his features. He murmured, "Adieu! Vive la France!" and died

The First Dirigible

Fifty or more years ago a Birmingham inventor manufactured an airship very much on the lines of the modern Zeppelin, which it was suggested could be used for bomb-dropping in the event of invasion. The idea was laughed at by the scientists of the day as being impossible, and certainly unworthy the attention of any civilized nation. But the man's invention was literally hill of by ridicule, and the machine on which several flights were made on the outskirts of Saltley, was eventually destroyed by fire as a means of effectually removing any further comment.

The Food Limit

The German Reichstag appointed a committee to consider the food question in relation to the human system. The committee's duty, with a view to determining the exact limit of what is absolutely necessary for the nourishment of each individual.

French Motives

Saving the French army are over 20,000 men employed in agriculture, most of them being small proprietors, hold the front row to six acres.

ITALIAN'S WAR PRAYER

Every Italian soldier on leaving for the front receives a card containing the following prayer

"O Lord of Hosts to which we now belong, release us from all hateful things that in this hour of wild hatred our prayers may ascend to Thee, and incense as the prayers of our children. Thou seest, O Lord, that we have not joined the strong against the weak, but desire for rule driven us to destruction. We will not plunder and burn the country of others. But Thou hast given us the lands of Italy. They were created for us, and our ancestors have made them free with their blood from the yoke of a hundred years' tyranny. Our weapons, O Lord, when the day comes for us to fight, bless our hands and give us victory, and an elder children and wives and the graves of our fathers."

A LONE FRENCH HERO

Single-handed Stood Off a Whole German Company and Won Medal

The "Bat d'Af" are the men of the African battalions into which those who do not behave well in civil life are drafted. That these men can fight is shown by an incident which took place in the vicinity of Ypres. A section of 200 men held an advanced trench which was marked by a tree and a haystack. The position became untenable, and the captain gave the order to his men to retire. A few "B'Af" who had recently joined the regiment, and had not before, and with the name of his comrades protected the retirement by redoubling shots with the Chasseur who had left their holes. A shell, however, had just sufficient effect to throw himself flat on the ground. When he rose he found that he was surrounded on all sides by the enemy, and from them facing his section.

Coolly he charged his rifle. He was then fully accustomed to the trench, and he fired at one point after another, and nervous hitting after each, and shouting commands in order to make the enemy believe that a strong detachment was in readiness to make an attack. The German hesitated, and advanced by crawling, thus giving the man in the trench an opportunity of selecting his victims.

For 35 minutes the French man kept an entire Prussian company in check, and gave his comrades time to return and re-occupy the trench which, with the aid of the French artillery, the Germans were unable to recapture. When the French troops re-entered the trench they found their valiant comrade seriously wounded in the left arm. He had to have the forearm amputated, and this will undoubtedly be a case of deadly gangrene. The "passing" as cavalry private is usually half a century ago by four Frenchmen, but it was thought that the invention was too horrible to be allowed to land open country.

HIGH EXPLOSIVE SHELLS

Against Strong Defenses Lyddite and Melinite Are Powerless

High-explosive shells are strong steel cases with a fuse, usually placed in the nose. The case contains emptied and filled lyddite—which is a preparation of picric acid or of trinitrotoluol—a metal in the shell is fairly thick. The fuse is made so that it explodes with the greatest effect upon anything near the point where it strikes, as earthworks, walls, entanglements, steel shields for guns, embrasures for guns. The Russians and Germans use these shells to protect their troops for advancing in closed trenches, a doubtless with Cossacks all around them. Against a brick or stone edge, they are quite effective, and are serviceable for breaching walls, but are unsatisfactory. They are thin at all points and contain only a small charge of material; power explosive, with a large number of bullets mixed in a large number of bullets in them. These are the shells that are in their hands and all supplied to them.

Guarding Western Forts

Around the entire circumference of Britain's coast, at about circular gabions, well ventilated and filled entirely with sand. They are called loopline gabions. These are quite distinct from the ordinary gabion, and are used to support batteries, who have been picked out for the pick and shovel of the enemy

An Adventurous Life

now serving as steward on the steamship St Louis. At the outbreak of the war he was working in the United States and returned to his respective engagement in Europe. He was in the thick of the fighting that he was captured at Termonde. He succeeded in making his escape. On board ship, and made his way to England, where he secured a position on the St. Louis.

WHEN THE TURK GOES

By and Castro Adieu will Rejoice When Palestine is Free of Ottoman Rule

Any consideration of the effects of the elimination of the Turk in Europe must be investigate it in retrospect, and should reflects of such removal of the Turk from Europe. It is not to be forgotten that Premier Asquith has declared that the fresh blood of the Ottoman empire not only in Europe but in Asia has been wounded. And Castro as he may seem he is not to be any kind the opportunity to remove the rich basin of Europe from the yoke of a hundred years' tyranny. Of Lord, when the day comes for us to fight, bless our hands and give us victory, and an elder children and wives and the graves of our fathers."

Personally I maintain the world over will be interested in this dream power. Not only Christians however, but Jews therefore will hail the disappearance of the Turkish force of government and the elimination of Islam as a temporal power. With the religious functions of Mohammedanism there will be no interference but the past century has shown the inability of the Turk to administer the affairs of government as applied to Christian entities. With the abolition of the Turk that in Palestine Christians will be relieved of the uproarious of seeing their sacred churches and shrines desecrated by associations, and the Holy Sepulchre.

To the Jewish world over the freedom of Palestine will be an event of even greater importance. The Jewish people of the Zionist movement are realizing when the Turk is taken a national power to the Jews will be a fact. Already the Jews of Britain's manufactories remember German business, and are advanced by growling, thus giving the Jews in the Turk an opportunity of selecting his victims.

For 35 minutes the French man kept an entire Prussian company in check, and gave his comrades time to return and re-occupy the trench which, with the aid of the French artillery, the Germans were unable to recapture. When the French troops re-entered the trench they found their valiant comrade seriously wounded in the left arm. The Thistle Problem

THE Standard not long ago referred in this column to the fact that an unusual crop of now thistles which are infesting many of our roads and endangering cultivated fields. Recent short trips into the district in various directions has resulted in observations of conditions which only serves to emphasize the statement. It will not be long until the extent to which this pest will have spread will be such that the farmers will have awakened to a realization of the fact that they are up against an invader which will have proved itself a dangerous enemy to the grain grower. Recently various of our contemporaries have mentioned the growing evil and uttered a timely warning. The Bulletin in the other day in discussing the problem said:—

"Having turned vast areas of Manitoba wheat fields into weed patches, the now thistle is now threatening to do likewise to the farms of Alberta. It is up to government officials municipal bodies and the public to unite in resisting this invader as they would an epidemic. Those who have experienced its ravages elsewhere pronounce it beyond comparison the most deadly enemy of cultivated crops to be found in the list of noxious weeds. It spreads like the plague, and once established is as hard to get rid of. Prevention in this case is not only easier than cure, but the only "cure" the prospective victim can afford. It is a case of keep the sow thistle off the farm or get off."

After the War

JOHN MOODY, of New York, combats the prevalent idea that there will be insatiable demand for capital in Europe after the war. He contends on the contrary that the continental Europe will find herself in an impoverished condition. There will be more production after the war because many men will be released from military service, but there will be less consumption because every nation will have lost largely in population. The result will be lower prices, reduced cost of living and their concomitant low interest charges.

If Mr. Moody is right we may confidently look forward to a great flow of British capital to this country after the war. Higher interest charges will rule because our population will greatly increase. It is quite likely, however, that all commodities will fall in value after the war, and again we will be confronted with the problem of how to keep the cities from growing in size out of proportion to the rest of the country. Up To The East to Produce the Goods

SIR Wilfrid Laurier and Sir Geo. Foster have been holding recruiting meetings down in eastern Canada during the past few weeks and it is said that while the response to the call has been marked it has been in the aggregate disappointing. The response to the call in the prairie provinces has surely been an example to the young men of the eastern part of the country. The West needs no Lauriers, no Fosters to appeal to them, to arouse within the them of patriotism. The reports of the past three weeks showing that young men from Ontario and the eastern provinces to a number in excess of 90,000 came out to the western harvest fields, men in the prime of lusty manhood, shows a condition of mind in the east of which westerners are beautifully ashamed. If anything will cause universal military training to be adopted and it certainly has its advantages, one of the main reasons for it will have been the chicken-hearted patriotism which is now showing up to the disadvantage of the flag waving (in peace times) of the manhood of Eastern Canada.

RUSSIAN PHILOSOPHY

When Trouble Comes from Steady Boys "I Should Worry"

Moscow, Thrill the magic word of Russian speech, spread with lightning speed and perfect forward; the Cossack hosts are mobilized. "Mobilized" and "Thrill" are almost synonymous. Mobilizing supplies your squadron on an expedition. "Thrill" is the Russian for "Whatever" as a rule of chiefly fatalistic content. Mobilized, the cosmopolitan adjutant, steps "Thrillers" as he passes the phrase to his colonel's mount; "can but pray to be shot fighting in front of the enemy."

And what is this peculiar word that has become the watchword of the Russian army? It means much the same as the Hebrew "Shalom" and is translated in Russian to mean "what you get." "Don't bother," and for centuries it has been the national philosophy of the Russian people. Mobilized, the cosmopolitan adjutant, steps "Thrillers" as he passes the phrase to his colonel's mount; "can but pray to be shot fighting in front of the enemy."

The most far-reaching effect of the war upon the enemies of Britain and the unanimity and enthusiasm with which the whole Empire rallied to its aid. To outsiders unable to understand the inner soul and genius of the race, internal differences were mistaken for disunity and disloyalty to the flag. Our enemies counted upon treachery to undermine the Empire, never dreaming that disloyalty is alien to British instincts. Our national unity at the hour of need came of fourth day of their first week in one downpour took place. The first year was soon in tatters. Martin, one of the loser, had trained himself for the escape by six months' hard work. Once they saw two "Kilty Hot Tamales" hasting with a dog for the sand to avoid them.

By the end of the 80th day Mr. Khan's models were gone and he was making in three feet there on Oct. 26, the 87th day the water's edge and were done. The next morning they came in sight of the ocean. By the fifth day they were out and about and were into open seas. Who dreamt the [illegible] and all manner of delays. By sailors by no means to fall into the hands of the Turks, and they got to civilization. The next day a steamer came up and picked them up. Thus ended the strange adventure of three reached Cape Town. [illegible] as a colonel while two other two retraced their steps. For a long time they married the neighborhood and had finally given up all hope of returning, when suddenly clear-cut boat came the corporal and passed them in the night. The colony had cast them a day. The next day McGlinn, rested under a fig tree in a dry watercourse and found two bushels of potatoes growing. Probably a little out of his head already, he took them up and carried them two days. He still toiled on. The second night a voice roused him from the greeting of pigs and the bleating of sheep. He turned on, expecting to find a farm, or came upon a great congregation of natives in the bush. The next afternoon, McGlinn was no longer able to keep upright and fell almost beseeching light-headed. He was still two days' journey from Swakopmund. McGlinn continues: "I pushed out a small but prominent head about near the bush and crawled up to the point where I could see more likely to be seen. There I tied my handkerchief on the only flag I could raise—on to my stick and planted it as a signal, and hoped that I lay down. Towards evening I became conscious of something moving on the beach. I gradually called that there were three figures, near. I called and waved. They stopped for a while and then came on and waved back to them. Then they stopped for some time. The natives moved on. I felt sure they were a native and I was glad to see me. I made one more effort to call and staggered towards them and they stopped again. They were my friends and when they came up I knew that they were Boers—they faces seemed quite black. Presently I caught the familiar accent and loved them as no man and then I knew that they were my friends.

"As we went on again. Saturday was the tenth day—and the fourth without food. The water was finished. I had used mine so often for rinsing—always drawing from one vessel bottle and emptying it into the other and then reversing the process—that what I had left was only for use; and one of my companions feared that I might lose control and drink it, emptied it out on the sand. They also threw away the bottle of aerosol which I still clung to.

Food at Last

"As we toiled along the beach we saw a waggon, but for some reason or other seemed unable to fly. We surrounded it and Martin, taking a shot at it with my stick, got it across the neck. We opened it in an hurry and ate it, and that gave us strength to make another effort. Then for the second time in five days—an occurrence for which there is no known precedent there—and the third time during the whole journey it rained. It was not a downpour like the other, but it sufficed. It saved us from one more effort, one more day, and we struggled on. Sunday, Monday, Tuesday was nothing but the never-ending succession of sun and sand and suffering until about mid-day we sighted something on the coastline which did not look like a sand-dune. Later on we saw the smoke of a chimney and we then knew. I was so far gone that I could not walk alone, and once more the others went on. A couple of hours later I saw three men coming to me leading a spare horse. Then I knew we had got through! Two hundred and seventy miles' eleven days, and 48 hours without food and on an ounce of aerosol and two drams of water."

FRIGHTFUL TRIP FROM GERMAN CAMP

Four Men Escaped From Their Captors and Nearly Perished in Terrible Stretch Walk in Desert

A fearful tale of suffering in sandswept desert land was related in a letter from Corporal McIlmoe, one of four soldiers who escaped from the German prison camp at Frantzenstein, German South West Africa, and made their way to Swakopmund.

The prison enclosure was of barbed wire with double entrance gates. Two men in the plot strolled to different ends of the enclosure' beats one sentinel right and got them to talk while the four slipped under the lowest wire and crept down into the bush. Once out of earshot they walked forty-eight hours without a stop for sleep in preparation for the escape they had saved up food and water bottles. First they made for the coast and then turn ed south. The party was the least of the "Kilty Hottentots," who see poisoned arrows from our mighty British instincts. Our national unity at the hour of need came of fourth day of their first week in one downpour took place. The first year was soon in tatters. Martin, one of the loser, had trained himself for the escape by six months' hard work. Once they saw two "Kilty Hottentots" hasting with a dog for the sand to avoid them.

John W. and Geo. Cockrum have received word from their sister, Miss Ada Cockrum, trained nurse, who recently volunteered from Victoria, B.C., for service at the front that she is at present located at Folkstone, Eng., where she is doing duty at a Canadian hospital. She has seen London with a lady friend who was formerly a co-ordinate of hers and is having a pleasant time. One of the patients in her ward at the hospital is A. J. Hoare of Tofield who is with the 31st. The Canadians, also says, are quite popular in the Old Country.

Fred Kellner on Monday badly injured his right hand while operating his well drilling rig at Joseph McChillum's east of the lake. By some means his hand was caught between the stagger pulley and the drive belt. The back of the hand was badly torn, especially the knuckles. Fourteen stitches had to be put in the wound. One bone was broken.

Liner Hesperian Torpedoed

Latest Victim Kaiser's Undersea Policy

Queenstown, Sept. 5—Rescue boats with passengers and members of the crew of the Allan Line steamer Hesperian arrived here today and told of the torpedoing of the liner Saturday evening by a German submarine off the south coast of Ireland.

The passengers were unanimous in declaring the Hesperian was attacked in the gathering night without warning. The only person aboard the steamer who actually saw the underwater boat was a man on watch, who got a glimpse of it in the distance and reported the fact to Captain Main

The passengers do have that the steamer was shown by the head when they saw her last, but that she was making her way slowly to Queenstown under her own steam

London, Sept. 5—The Allan Line steamer Hesperian with 350 passengers and a crew of 300 aboard, bound from Liverpool for Montreal, was attacked without warning by a German submarine off the Irish coast just as darkness was falling Saturday evening. Although the torpedo found its mark, the vessel remained afloat, and according to a statement issued by the company tonight, every soul aboard was saved. The Allan Line officials, however, decided not to give out a list of the passengers.

No submarine was seen, and probability it was too dark to observe the wake of a torpedo, but all the passengers and members of the crew who arrived at Queenstown on the rescue steamers today agree that the attack was made by a German undersea boat, basing their opinion on the force of the shock and the great volume of water thrown into the air. This dropped back on the boat drenching the passengers who were huddling at the forward companionway, feeling quite safe in the belief that they had passed the submarine danger zone.

The effect of the explosion was tremendous and of the passengers landed at Queenstown, many of them suffering from shock, twenty were injured. There were no American passengers aboard, so far as the American consul could learn, but there were a number of Persons, who were American citizens, and they were both saved

About thirty Canadian soldiers who were wounded in battle in Flanders were going home to recuperate. Most of the other passengers were Canadians, returning from a visit to England, or English people on their way to Canada to settle.

The torpedo struck the Hesperian in the forward engine room and the ship immediately began to settle by the head. Captain Main ordered the passengers and crew into the boats, but with his officers remained on the bridge, although at that time he must have

Canadian Patriotic Fund

Needs Everyone's Support

In the editorial column the Standard has for several weeks past prepared its readers for the reception of an announcement regarding what may be found by circumstance to be a bounden duty on the part of each and all who are remaining at home while others have gone from amongst us to field with the colors for our King, Empire, Dominion and our homes. We now put out all go. There are some amongst us who do not care to make the sacrifice. There are some who would make the sacrifice if we only could get away. There are others of us who cannot go. But there is something which all of us can do while others of us make the sacrifice. We can help the dependents of those who have gone and then endeavor as far as possible to reduce the cost of that sacrifice. Indeed it is a duty which should be pleasant to perform.

The Canadian Patriotic Fund is doing this. It is for the purpose of collecting, administering and disbursing of Edmonton South, were in case of need, of the wives, children and dependent relatives of officers and men, residents of Canada who, during the present war, may be on active service with the naval and military forces of the British Empire and Great Britain's Allies, and temporary assistance to the widows of men killed in action or dying on service, and to women invalided home to Canada by reason of wounds and sickness.

Much good has been done during the past year, a greater burden must be carried during the coming year. Our district did not do much for the Canadian Patriotic Fund last year and must exert itself. Every one must "do his bit." How much will your's be?

Vermilion Agricultural School Ready For Work

We would like to draw the attention of your readers to the Vermilion School of Agriculture. This is one of the three schools of Agriculture conducted by the Provincial government. The courses offered in all three schools are identical. Each of these schools is supposed to cover a specified area. For convenience the portion of the province lying south of the main line of the C. P. R. running between Calgary and Medicine Hat has been allotted to the Claresholm school; that section north of this line and extending to the C. P. R. line from Wetaskiwin, east, is worked by the Olds school, while the remainder of the Province is supposed to be served by the Vermilion School of Agriculture. The Olds and Claresholm have already received applications from more than this number of prospective students. At Vermilion we are in a position to accept a good many more applications from both boys and girls.

As above suggested we are offering two distinct courses in the school—one in Agriculture and the other in Domestic Science. In agriculture we teach, soils, crops and seeds vegetables and fruits, types, breeds, care and management of farm animals, blacksmithing and carpentry; engineering, veterinary science, dairying, poultry, farm management and a thorough elementary course in physics, chemistry, English mathematics and book-keeping. The household science course covers, cooking, sewing, home nursing and home administration, laundrying, household bookkeeping, household sanitation, dairying, poultry, horticulture and an elementary course in English, mathematics and the sciences as applied to the home.

The courses are entirely free, the only expenses being for board, lodging and books. Board and room may be obtained at from $5.00 to $6.50 per week.

Term commences Nov. 1st 1915 and will continue to March 31st, 1916.

Application for admission should be made to

Wants Compulsory Service in Canada As Health Measure

Toronto, Sept. 4—Compulsory service in Canada as a means of physical development and a promoter of health was advocated by Dr. Maurice M. Seymour, commissioner of public health for Saskatchewan, at the semi-n of the Public Health and sanitation here last week of which he is president. He strongly deprecated any Prussianism, but believed that a plan modelled after that of Switzerland would fulfil Canada's needs.

Feeding Value of Screenings

About sixty per cent of the screenings from terminal elevators is a valuable feed for live stock. The remaining forty per cent comprises the black seeds which may be removed by a fine screen with 1-14 inch perforation. Sixty per cent of 100,000 tons dockage for the year ending August 31, 1915, is sixty thousand tons of feed worth $25 per ton when bran sells at $20. This represents a feeding value of $1,500,000 less the cost of separating, grinding distribution and marketing. The transport charges of $650,000 on the screenings and sent to the Lake front during the same year is a further consideration. This problem merits the careful consideration of grain growers, threshermen, miller, stock manufacturer and at whman.—Seed Branch, Ottawa.

Six Year Old Boy Accidently Shot By His Brother

A tragic shooting accident occurred at Hastings Lake, in the Beaver Hills, on Friday afternoon which resulted in the death of a little boy of six years named Arthur White. He was playing with his brother, aged eight, who had a 22 rifle, and Arthur ran in front of the rifle as his brother was shooting at a crow. The shot entered the head of the little fellow, and the relatives at once started to bring the boy to Devils station, three miles from the scene of the accident. Just as they reached the station the lad died. He was taken to Edmonton and the funeral took place Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock from the residence of Jas Gibbons, the boy's grandfather 10524 125th street, to St. Joachim's church.

Your King and Country need YOU—NOW.

You can help even if you cannot be one of the boys at the front.

THE Allan Line steamer Hesperian, bound from Liverpool to Halifax was torpedoed last Saturday night at dark. It was a fortunate circumstance that so few lives were lost. This does not in any way ameliorate the gravity of the offence. It does, however, prove that Germany's "scrap of paper in which through her ambassador to the U. S. she stated only a few days ago that a passenger vessel would in future not be sunk without due warning to the people aboard her to get off, is just another German "scrap of paper". There will probably be another talk-fest over this affair. It only adds another interesting link to this already interesting series of pour-parlers over the German piratical methods on the high seas.

UNCLE SAM has another intricate question put up to him by the Austro Hungarian ambassador to the U. S. who claims that he can call out his countrymen who are working in the big steel mills of the country engaged in filling war orders for the allies and by thus causing strikes put the working of those mills out of commission.

o o o o o

IT would appear that the agreement by Germany with the U. S. to modify its methods of submarine warfare was but a bit of stage play designed to have its effect in the Balkan situation which is in a delicate condition. The belligerent combinations are each doing their best to bring the Balkan nations to their respective sides and were the U. S. to be actively lined up against the Austro-German-Turk alliance the Balkan situation would in all probability have quickly been brought to a focus against the Teutonic alliance.

o o o o o

IT is a source of much gratification and pleasure as well as assurance to British people the world over to learn that, notwithstanding the formidable losses occasioned in the mercantile marine by the German undersea methods of warfare, British Mercantile Tonnage is greater now than when the war began. Realizing that their calculation that their powerful fleet, even though it was numerically inferior to that of Great Britain, would nevertheless render the latter impotent since no British government would dare risk a conflict which, however successful, might leave them in the end with naval forces inferior to those of some third rate power, had miscarried, that it was their fleet, powerful though it was, which was rendered wholly impotent by virtue of being bottled up, they devised a new policy, that of submarine warfare. Their new calculation was that such a terror would be struck to the hearts of the enemy that they would succeed where their dreadnaughts and cruisers had failed. The above statement given out last week by the First Lord of the British Admiralty, Arthur J. Balfour, regarding the growth in tonnage of the mercantile marine shows how badly the enemy's latest calculation has also miscarried.

THE executive of the North Alberta branch of the fund made clear on Friday evening that what ever others may do or think of doing the people of this city and district have no thought of playing false to the men who are fighting their battle. They passed a resolution absolutely opposing any reduction in the allowances, and took the preliminary steps to-ward a campaign for bringing the contributions from the district up to the standard which will make any reduction unnecessary. In that they undoubtedly acted in thorough accord with the sentiment of the public, and may rely upon a response from the public that will accomplish the end in view.—Bulletin

VARIOUS METHODS OF TELLING TIME

Water Clocks of China Are Said to be Three Thousand Years Old

It's a simple proposition finding out what time it is generally, compared with what it was when the world was younger. Primitive men used to set up a stick and mark its shadows. When a man's shadow shortened until it seemed to be fixed it was then known that it was noon, when it began to lengthen it was just past noon.

The sun dial was for ahead of the man's shadow method, but sun dials were only available during the hours of the day when the sun was shining. In ancient times sun dials were hugely in use. The circular rows of stones found by the Druids, it is said, were used to mark the sun's path. The Greeks were perfectly acquainted with the method of making sun dials with "sothiacal signs," or gnomons, and obelisks are supposed to have been used to cast sun shadows.

The desire to mark the hours of night, as well as those of day, led to the invention of the water clock, or "clepsydra," which measured time by the amount of water which escaped from a small hole in a bowl of water.

Such clocks are said to have been in use in China 11 B.C. Two kinds of water clocks are known. In the one kind the water was allowed to escape from one bowl to another, and in the other the water was allowed to flow at a uniform rate into the bowl, like a receptacle on which was marked off the hours, which in turn were widely used in the old days.

In the first case it is easy to say what is known by the natives or Europeans as the copper jars built in masonry and set in the ground in the bar and drops down until it reaches the lowest jar, which has a hole in the bottom. As the lowest jar is filled it is replaced by another, and the height of the water and then the time of day is taken. If longer for the water in the top jar to drip into the second jar, and the third jar, and so on, by merely emptying the contents of the bottom jar into the top jar. This clock is said to be over 3,000 years old.

Rapid glasses for measuring time were made as soon as the art of blowing glass had been perfected by the people of Byzantium. An hour glass is made of glass, and consists of two bulbs united by a narrow neck. One of the bulbs is nearly filled with dry sand. Sand enough to run through the orifice in the neck, and the quantity of sand is just as much as can run through the orifice in an hour, if the instrument is to be an hour glass; in a minute, if a minute glass. Glasses are possible with the system between the extremes of hour and minute in construction or expanding the orifice, and because of the variations in the dryness of the sand. Cooks still use the hour glass in fixing the time for the proper boiling of eggs.

The sand clock was the ancient form of a time indicator where beads were moved by the action of falling weights. Instead of that of falling water. In this device the beads with the first iron clock constructed in us.

This De Vick clock, made about 1364, had a striking apparatus, but no face. Since the year 1700 no important horological improvement has been added to the watches. This means a good deal when it is realized that the last 200 years have given us more inventions than all previously known humanity.

The Food Limit

The German Reichstag appointed a committee to consider the food question in relation to the human body. The committee's chief business is the task of what is absolutely necessary for the nourishment of each individual.

SOLDIER'S WEAK EYES

Unsatisfied Training Is Open Air Made For Much Better Vision

Among the many "surprises" which the war has revealed none has been more striking than the one showing the enormous number of young men compelled to wear glasses on account of weak eyesight.

Prior to the war no men who came under the necessity of wearing glasses were accepted in the regular army. With the formation of "Pals" battalions and other specially-constituted corps, there is very little immunity from the ranks of city workers of the middle class, and hence, for the most part, to desk work or other sedentary occupations, the city problem of glasses was relaxed. As a consequence, many men who had become accustomed to wearing spectacles or eyeglasses found themselves in active army tests to prove their sight was not defective were allowed to retain and continue the use of glasses.

The interesting result is that, after undergoing a few months training, many of these men have found they could dispense altogether with any artificial aids to vision, and with it, and their vision for all general purposes is markedly improved. The happy result of shifts is attributed largely to the open-air existence of their new life, and in particular to the more extensive prospect continually present to the eye. Freedom from close pursuit of near objects under artificial light is nowhere so important factor in a proportion of cases, and it is said the improvement effected will be enduring after "Kitchener's Men" return to civil life. Anyway, for people so afflicted a valuable lesson is given on the preservation of eyesight.

A Use For Old Warship

The old warship Britannia is to be used as a service training school for complements of 900 fishermen boys, some being sons of soldiers and sailors who have lost their lives in the present war

TRAMP STEAMERS

They Are So-called Because They Are the Wanderers of the Ocean Fleets

A "tramp" steamer is a "tramp" because she wanders the world over, carrying the most advantageous cargoes she can procure and proceeding to any port, no matter how unfamiliar and remote, to which her tonnage takes her.

She is not a "tramp," explains Mariner's Magazine, because she is always about in tatters and poverty. Quite the contrary is true. There are great tramp lines tonnaged, wealthy and powerful, and the ships that fly these lines are modern in every respect, equipped with wireless, of vast tonnage, and most comfortably appointed with respect to accommodation for officers and crew.

But, as a general rule however, the captain himself holds his occupation in no such high regard. Tramp cargoes are very grudgingly doled out nowadays, it is true, but only in a modified way, after all; and their prospect for material prosperity is of the smallest. The cash return is little enough; but all the responsibility assumed, the rich cargo and lives carried through months of anxious waiting, of gales and fogs at sea, of lonely and monotonous watches, the wage isn't much greater than a commonplace bookkeeper may earn ashore.

The pay of a junior officer aboard a tramp steamer would outrage the feelings of an alert office boy; the pay of a first mate would shock a bank clerk. But once a first-class officer becomes a captain, his pay is practically doubled, for his owners possess no other ship than his the handsome reimbursement is extremely slight; but if he is in the service of one of the great freighting lines, his prospects at the best is that of the newest ship at a wage of $1,500 a year. The next move in fortune of the tramp captain is to the command of a mail steamer. Having obtained this eminence in the service of one of the most considerable trans-Atlantic lines, he is paid no less than $3,000 a year, and possibly as much as $4,000 or $5,000. It is the extremely meagre pay job.

CANADIAN ATHLETES ON ACTIVE SERVICE

Imposing Array of Sport-mustered Youth Anxious to Come to Grips With the Hun

Canada's athletes, both amateur and professional, are out in great numbers to the call for service at the front. It was to be expect d that the athletes would not be blind to taking the risks of war as many of them may consider and many do will win fame for their daring and endurance, it is well to run over the list of professional men, although the list to be complete would be much longer

Overmyer the best known have taken him. Stanley Mansfield, the Montreal A.A.A. quarter-miler, was killed in action. He was the first of the a prominent club to fall, although many of his colleagues are at the front.

"Flick" Carter, one of the most famous and popular lacrosse players of recent years died of meningitis at Salisbury without having a chance to try his great "carrying" in front of the goal.

But there are famous names strictly amateurs not yet ended. Among the lacrosse stars there are Pringle of the old Montreal team, and Gilmour of the Tecumseh. John D. Marsh of Winnipeg represents the Marathonian.

"Snort" Morton, once a student and lawyer, has been seen in action on our eastern Canada and made trips to the coast after the elusive Mumps with the Parsonage. He was one of the regulators of the first contingent and the men made a corporal. Jimmy Collins was just striking his stride as a lacrosse player when he passed up his salary and started to draw his $1.10 per day in the artillery of the second contingent. Bobby Pringle exploited the Capitals at Ottawa when Gilmour was the Stanley Cup in 1907 and looked England. He has been starred with Con Jones' Tecumsehs on the defence.

Geoffrey Taylor used to stroke the argonaut crew and drew up and down Sydney way for University of Toronto before he went to Oxford. He got to France with his Toronto chums, who included many of the Argonauts. If the Prussian Guard has any hankering for a man than "Jeff" they should be in training to beat Jess Willard.

Charley Gage of Hamilton is a member of the second contingent. Charley played rugby in that company for seven years and has been heavyweight champion of Canada. He is in the artillery along with many other polished athletes of lesser fame. Two famous veterans of the gridiron, Jack Wilkes and Ben Simpson, are also among the Ottawa sportsmen now on active service.

Just how the athletes are making good in the new game is shown by the experience of "Buster" Reid, who played nearly every position with Shaughnessy's McGill team at rugby. He joined the infantry of the second contingent as a private and in two months passed through the ranks of sergeant to be commissioned lieutenant. Another from old McGill is Eric Billings, the wonderful kicker.

The absence of these and other stars is going to play some queer freaks with athletics in the future, and all over the country for years. It is doubtful if Canadian yacht and rowing clubs will be able to compete to any extent with the American open-water sports as curling and bowling usually relegated to the old men, have been hit. A Fort Wm. an earlier W. J. Stanton, has been identified with four memberships of the Toronto Granite Curling Club, a hockey team he assisted Jack Taft the star of Canada's inter national hockey team does not now curl. Bobby Kerr, to former Olympic champion, has evidently decided for service. Meanwhile but her football captain, Gordon Lang, and Toronto her new leader, Laddie Lonsdale. Max Murray, the new captain of the Canadian rugby champions, the Argonauts, is also in the army along with several of his stars.

SIR IAN HAMILTON SILENT AND FRANK

Never Wastes a Word and Confesses That He Never Does Into Battle Without Misgivings

To his friends and subordinates Sir Ian Hamilton is a very popular general. demand that he has ever given one been referred to as the "silent soldier" in the army, on account of the number of times he has been wounded or mentioned in dispatches. While on the Indian frontier he spent only half the day at his desk arm himself during the hursting of a shell. He another occasion he very nearly lost his sight through a shell bursting in his face. One day, a fight took possession on the field and he was there to rally his men, when the conversation turned upon the casualties experienced by the general when talking troops to action, but he remarked I never recall a situation yet but that I was in a blue funk and wondering how on earth I should get through, and I don't believe that the man has ever been born who felt much different.

A further identification of his frank nessa was provided at a meeting of the Royal Army Temperance Association at Caxton Hall, when he was chairman. "When I reflect," he said, "that in my thirty-seven years' service some 5,000 quarts of alcoholic liquor have passed down the throat of him whom you have asked to be your chairman, my conscience pricks me. But it was one of the traditions of the British army that the officers did not say to their men 'Come on!' 'Come on!' I shall be happy to put myself in the position to be the first in taking the pledge. I think the moment favorable, I have behalf, I am prepared to pay the price."

Poet and author, Sir Ian has several books to his credit, and those who know him best are convinced that he would have made a great name for himself had he turned his attention to Minerva instead of to Mars

In a brigade of artillery a telephone set is supplied to enable the officer commanding the brigade to communicate with his three battery commanders.

POTSDAM'S PALACES

The Favorite Dwelling Place of the Hohenzollerns.

For centuries Potsdam has been the favorite dwelling place of the Hohenzollern dynasty. The chief palace was built by the father of Frederick the Great. Frederick the Great spent a vast deal of his time at Potsdam, as did his successors, and the Kaiser, who not seen whose an opportunity of using his military as-sets, generally he do his war councils there. Some historical reins are to be seen at the Town Palace at Potsdam. In the hall are a number of high, uncomfortably narrow benches placed there many years ago by Frederick to prevent his guards from sleeping. Outside the Palace is a famous tree known as the "Petition Tree." When the subjects of Frederick came to place a grievance before their King they would climb up the tree outside his window and wave their petitions to attract his attention.

Close to the Town Palace at Potsdam stands the Sans Souci Palace, a luxurious building composed of cream-colored stone. Terraces lead up to the entrance, and on each is a bedecked with flowers and fine statues by the Royal Indian. The interior of the Sans Souci Palace is lavishly decorated, and one world famous room which was ignored in many paintings is decorated with bears, gems, and other figures of parrots and monkeys. Frederick the Great died in this palace, and his room has been kept just as it was at his death. A marble bust of Frederick stands in the apartment, and the stone face is turned towards the window, as though the monarch in the gardens, at his statue's feet lies a stone effigy of Frederick's dog.

There is also extremely valuable statuary at Potsdam, and recently the former looted orders that the sculpture was to be protected by being securely covered with wooden boxes. Similarly no aeroplanes are allowed over the sacred precinct of Potsdam.

Carnegie Thinks Five Great Nations Could Compel Universal Peace

"Just as individual men, our citizens, now appear in courts and settle their differences in a decent fashion, arbitrating for the victories of might, so will collective men, the nations, grade up here to the same performance to the great Hague Court for settlement," said Andrew Carnegie in an interview on the war

"If a very few of the leading nations should really and solemnly agree to abolish war and establish peace their influence would suffice. If Great Britain, France, Germany, Russia and the United States were to meet and solemnly and earnestly proclaim that war thenceforth must be banished from the earth, and that they would have the power to fully enforce the decree. The whole outside world on to boot could not prevail against them.

"I do not believe there is a nation worthy of the name that would not welcome the chance to join in the thanking those who bossed it. Ash any statesman to name indeed a greatest hanging. He will answer, "Peace."

PAY-DAY AT THE FRONT

Tommy Gets His Money Once a Week Unless Actually Fighting

The splendidly organized Pay Department of the British army enables the troops in the firing line to draw their money each week as regularly as if they were in the barracks. Each company has one of its regimental pay office controlled by a chief paymaster. Under him are a number of field cashiers whose duties consist of making their way into the firing line with the troops' wages. The field cashiers are provided with a guard while traveling, generally by motor car, because the British pay is in cash. The regimental officers take charge of the French money as each soldier "Tommy" is paid, and when possible the men receive their money every Saturday. Often a regiment continues in the firing line for months without any pay at odd intervals when there is a lull in the fighting, or at night time.

Every soldier carries a pay book in which is entered the amount paid to him. The officers also keep a record on what is known as the acquittance roll, which later is forwarded to the paymaster-in-chief at the base, and eventually finds its way back to the Army Pay Department in England. "Tommy's" pay book is one of the most precious possessions. If he loses it he is not allowed to draw any pay prior to the date of reporting his loss. The pay books are largely used by soldiers when making their wills.

All documents connected with the payment of soldiers at the front are signed by the "Head Quarter" pay offices in England, and they are checked by the Army Pay Department. This is a magnificent organization employing 700 officers and 1,200 or 1s skilled in the intricate details of military accountancy. The pay department also handles the allowances made to soldiers' wives and dependents. The post bag of the department is enormous, for thousands of letters of inquiry are addressed to the officials every week, from parents members or the public.

A Dollar Talks

Warns ite Owner against Sending it Away---Pleads to be Kept at Home.

"I am a dollar! A little sqeezes perhaps, but still in circulation. I am proud of myself for being in circulation. I am no counterfeit dollar—not I. The town is only my address. I am here now, but I hope to remain permanently. When I came out of the mint I was adopted into a town like this in another province. But, after a time I was sent off to a far city, many miles away. I turned up in a mail-order house. For several years I stayed in that city. Millionaires bought cigars with me. I didn't like that, for I loathe the rich people. Finally a travelling man took me to this town and left me here. I was so glad to get back to a smaller town that I was determined to make a desperate effort to stay.

One day a citizen of this town was about to send me back to that big city. I caught him looking over a mail order catalogue. Suddenly I found my voice and said to him: "Look here, if you'll let me stay in this town I'll circulate around and do you a lot of good. You get a big bookstash with me, and the butcher will buy groceries and the grocer will buy hardware, and the hardware man will pay his doctor bill with me, and the doctor will spend me with a farmer for oats to feed his horse with, and the farmer will buy some fresh meat from the butcher, who will soon around to the dentist to get his teeth mended. In the long run, as you see, I'll be more useful to you here at home than if you sent me away forever.

The man said it was a mighty still argument. He hadn't looked at it in that light before, so he went and bought the bookstash, and I began to circulate around home again.

felt sure that his ship would go down.

The discipline was perfect, but one of the lines, the falls of which became jammed, capsized, and those in her were thrown into the water. In the darkness confusion naturally prevailed, but all were picked up, and, with other passengers and the crew, were transferred to the rescue steamer which arrived in answer to wireless calls for assistance. The Hesperian was about 160 miles to the westward of Queenstown when struck.

Amsterdam, Sept. 8—Germany will disavow the attack on the Hesperian, if English report of the circumstances are fully corroborated by her submarine commander, according to a despatch from Berlin to-day.

Germany's explanation, the despatch states, will be that if a submarine torpedoed the liner with out warning, it was because the U-boat had left its base before the new instructions were issued through the admiralty.

Queenstown, Sept. 8—Six second cabin passengers, six third cabin passengers and thirteen of the crew of the Hesperian, torpedoed 180 miles off Queenstown last Saturday evening, were landed here to-night, according to the revised official figures issued by the Allan Line. This brings the probable death list, including Miss Carberry of St. John's Newfoundland, whose body is here, up to twenty-six.

The captain of the stricken liner remained by his ship until it sank at daylight this morning. He declined to comment on the disaster for publication; hence the official statement as to whether he believes his ship was the victim of a torpedo or a mine must come from the admiralty, although the captain is quoted as having told an Allan Line official by cable that the Hesperian was torpedoed. The Hesperian sank a few miles from Queenstown after the volunteer rescue crew of 26 with Captain Main, made a brave attempt to bring the crippled steamer into port.

Most of the passengers and crew will leave Queenstown to-morrow by special train and boat for Liverpool.

Captain Main and the officers who remained aboard the steamer while efforts were being made to tow the liner into port were also taken off their vessel before the ship plunged to the bottom, 70 miles from Fastnet, not far from the scene of the attack, taking with her 3,545 bags of mail, much of it originating in neutral countries.

The flooding of the forward compartments, which caused the Hesperian to sink so much by the head as to throw the propellers out of the water, made the task of towing the liner to Queenstown impossible in the rough seas.

Advertise

If you would make the public think,
And to yourself attention link
Make constant use of printer's ink.
And advertise.

If you would prove yourself alive,
And keep abreast with those who strive,
And make your business always thrive,
Then advertise.

Yes, advertise, that all may know
That you have something good to show,
To make the streams of commerce flow,
Still advertise.

In clear and striking language tell
The special lines where you excel,
And you will find it pays right well
To advertise.

Not on a fence obscured by weed,
Where few observe and fewer heed,
(Such is a third class way indeed.
To Advertise.)

But in a paper fresh and clean,
Which in each well-kept home is seen,
And answer-read with interest keen,
There advertise.

Successful merchants often say
That nothing does more surely pay
Than what it costs them in this way
To advertise.

Here's Business Man

Sedan, Kan., is just an ordinary country town of some 1500 people.

His name is J. H. Howarth.

And now listen: Edwards spent in two thousand dollars with his local papers in advertising—every year!

Has it paid him? Well, he went to Sedan a few years ago with less little capital. He now owns a magnificent store, a nice house, and a big farm.

"We value our advertising enough to make it a part of our assets," he says. "In the live wire of any business and a penny can judge pretty well the amount of energy behind a business by the kind and amount of advertising that business is doing."

When facts like the above spring up every now and then all over the United States, publishers cannot help wondering what it is that blinds the eye of the average man to his possibilities with printer's ink.

Sixth Annual Fair Held

Fair Attendance in Spite of Bad Weather. Some Fine Exhibits

Notwithstanding the inclement weather a fair crowd turned out to attend the Sixth Annual Fair on Tuesday. The exhibits, while not as numerous as on previous fairs were of fine quality especially in the vegetable department. Some very fine specimens of painting, drawing and sewing were shown in the School department indicating much latent talent which should be developed. Much interest centred in the Lady's Work department, which, while it was far from equalling previous exhibitions bore in number of exhibits, nevertheless fairly well considering the unfavorable seasonable conditions.

Some fine birds were shown in the poultry rivers and in the stock sects in the local district has been usual in its quality and that we have some very fine farmers who take pride in raising fowls.

Mrs. Malcolm McCallum got four first prizes for fancy baking at the Vegreville fair, also three other prizes. Miss Margaret, her daught ter got second prize for cut flowers. These were the only exhibitors from Beaver Lake East. The fair was advertised as "Central Alberta's best Exhibition. We're sorry for the others if it was the best. The Vegreville folks are modest.

John Trindle, road inspector paid us a brief visit on the 3rd. He had been up by Chipman inspecting roads in that vicinity in company with J. S. McCallum, M.L.A.

The final ball game of the season came off on the Monday dinnerd but was called off when four and a half innings had been played. The score stood Mundare 2, Beaver Lake 12. Our boys were in great form.

The Duty of Americans in Canada

AMERICANS who have emigrated to Canada, those who have not already volunteered for service in the Princess Pats, are in a quandary as to what they should do if Britain determines on conscription. They "are loyal to the cause of the allies." They are "bearing their share of the taxes." But they didn't go to Canada because it was Canada, but because there were wheat lands there to be developed. They would nevertheless "fight in a second for Canada's sons she in peril," but find themselves coldly intelligent onlookers instead of fighting for "a King and Royalty." We can not believe that they will, above all, avoid hypocrisy. If they accepted homesteads from the Dominion and swore the oath of fealty to Great Britain, renouncing allegiance to America, their single duty is to be true to that oath to their last cent and to their last drop of the eagle blood. The only alternative is to come home, if this is where their heart is, resume their place and stand faithfully with us to whatever fate [illegible] sacrifice.—Transcript.

LORD KITCHENER has given the people of Great Britain and of the whole Empire some plain talk during the the past week on the duty of every individual throughout the British Empire, Britain perhaps particularly so far as his remarks were directly concerned, in the great crisis which now faces democracy. Russia, he points out, has borne the big brunt of the struggle during the past year. France is carrying practically her maximum load and it is up to Britain to assume an infinitely large share of frontal action during the second year of the war. He blamed the unprepared to people that if Britain fails in this duty that the stupendous struggle of Democracy against Autocracy may possibly be doomed to defeat. If we must win, and win we must, we must wake up and every man do his duty. The shades of Nelson are calling every able bodied man subject to the British Flag to respond to the call of Duty. If the Allies must win, and win they must, every man must do his part.

ALBERTA has done nobly. From every corner of her vast domain she has sent her sons. Yet, we are told, she must do more. Further calls for recruits, we are informed are coming. Albertans are proud in the conviction that when the call is sounded there will ben ready response. There is no dearth of those willing to go.

o o o o o

BUT it is not by bearing arms only that we can serve our King and Country and uphold the free institutions under which we live. Our duty does not stop at that. It is for those who remain at home to do what we can to uphold the arms of those who are shooting and dying for us. We have to produce the ammunition, food for the Empire and our Allies, supplies for the care of the sick and wounded and we must see that the dependents of our boys at the front are provided for. It is no small task, but we would be sadly derelict in our duty if we failed in our responsibilities. Therefore let it not be said of us that we played the shirker. Who does not do what he can in these things is false to his own interests and those of his country.

CANADA AND THE WAR

Everybody can do his duty.

Every man should do what he can.

Every woman should do what she can.

Improved production means increased production.

Canada's future depends upon our actions of today.

In serving the Empire we are serving ourselves.

Markets are not created, won and held in a day.

Now is the time to prove ourselves the citizens of the Empire.

We have the land, we have the resources, we must have the energy to use them to the greatest advantage.

As we weigh ourselves at this crisis, so will be our prosperity and credit in the years to come.

When more than half of prosperous Europe engaged in war, and hotly contested on every other country and especially those forming the British Empire, will have to make up huge deficiencies, both of foodstuffs and material.

United States Ambassador to Germany.

MAJOR HAMILTON GAULT

Identified Man For Many Years Took Serious View of Military Work

Major A. Hamilton Gault, the Montreal millionaire who equipped and raised at his own expense the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry long devoted his time to military war, and always personally. He now devotes his time to the South African campaign in the Second Canadian Mounted Rifles in Cape Colony and the Transvaal and was awarded the Queen's medal with three clasps.

When he returned to Canada he devoted his business interests and his military work as an officer of the 5th Royal Highlanders. When the Princess Patricia's Canadians were being getting ready or the front. He raised the Princess Patricia's, a regiment recruited as one of the finest ever to have the Dominion's shores, composed, for the most part, of men who had seen service in the Imperial army. Major Gault was given a commission with the regiment he raised and before leaving for the front Princess Patricia, after whom the regiment was named, herself presented the regimental colors.

The battalion, headed by their band, marched through the streets of Montreal just before they departed for England, and were given a great reception, and the men were very much admired for their fine appearance. Just before he sailed for England Major Gault said: "I am proud of the men, and rightly so, and when they go into action Canada will hear of them."

His words have come true.

"NUTS" [illegible]

An Officer's Valet Tells of Grave But Extravagant British Heroes

It is a bit difficult for the wealthy "nuts" to greatly his taste in dress in the front; but, nevertheless, he manages to do so to a certain extent, and to spend a very fair sum of money in doing so says a writer in London "Answers."

For example, there is a young officer in one of the crack cavalry regiments who was certainly one of the best dressed young men about town in the pre-war days. When he went out to the front he carried with him no less than twenty uniforms, some hundreds of the finest silk shirts of a khaki dye that was him into about £1 apiece, and hundreds of pairs of silk socks at $6.00 a pair, and boots at $25 a pair. One way and another, he took out to the front with him a wardrobe that must have cost him something like $5,000.

Whenever he got a spell out of the trenches at the rear, he would limp a very severe attack of asthma he had on, and array himself in an entirely new regard, and march back again to face death, a couple of days later, as spick-and-span as if he was going on parade at Knightsbridge barracks.

They Make Good Fighters

He was a good officer, too, and was the D.S.O. before he had been a few months at the front. There is a story told in every regular mess of one young officer in the Guards who habitually spends about $5,000 per annum on his dress. He was ordered to the front rather unexpectedly, and in a very short time, he ruined his tailor and ordered a dozen uniforms to be made in twenty-four hours—an impossible order to execute, but the tailor managed to get them done in the time, and sent the others on

The uniforms did not fit as well as the young officer desired, and he declared to a brother officer that it would be a waste of time to be billed for them. However, he had to put up with them and "dragged" somewhat under the left shoulder. Three days later he was promoted to an attack the Germans made on the trench he was in. His tunic was ripped from the shoulder to the waist by a bayonet, and as he was borne on a stretcher to the field hospital, he exclaimed, "Don't wonder that dog is up tunic about them; they have cut it out, any way!"

One well known and very popular young officer, the son of an enormously wealthy peer, was for many weeks compelled to go about in rags. The consignment of uniforms he ordered from London went astray somewhere, and never reached him. He went into action with only one, and it was nearly a fortnight before he was able to get a change.

Some to the Ranks

All the losses were not officers, of course; many may be found among the rank and file. Lord Cowdray's son, for example, who enlisted at the outbreak of the war, and was killed after he got out to the front, was a notable hunt; his uniforms were made of the best material—a mixture of cotton and silk—that must have cost him a pretty penny. He was a brave and dashing young soldier, and as popular as he was courageous.

There was another wealthy young officer who enlisted, and took out a big stock of uniforms with him. He lost about twenty of them sent to a peasant's cottage a few miles or so in the rear of the British advanced position, so that he could get a change when he went off duty. Some of his kits in the trenches discovered the whereabouts of these spare uniforms, and when they were off duty they helped for the cottage, and did a quick change.

When the hunt arrived i the cottage there was no trace of him, but he took the joke in quite good part.

Exports of War Supplies

The war in Europe is said to be costing belligerent nations an average of 50 million dollars a day. A careful examination of United States exports of war material (not including foodstuffs, but including copper, rubber goods and motor vehicles) shows that in the past few months they have averaged about two-thirds million dollars a day.

The comparison suggests that there is a large measure of exaggeration in the oft repeated statement that the United States could bring the war in a summary conclusion by refusing to furnish army supplies and munitions of war to the belligerents. The figures seem to indicate that the allies are buying in United States only a small proportion of the war supplies that their armies are using, and that they would not be seriously handicapped if shipments from the United States should cease.

AUTUMNAL HINTS TO HOUSEHOLDERS

How the Dangers of Fire may be Minimized

The season is fast approaching when cool evenings will demand the starting of fires in our homes. September and October have become known to firemen as the months when chimneys and flues cause the most trouble.

The following suggestions of a practical nature, if faithfully followed, will do much to prevent damage to property and loss of life.

STOVES—Place a metal stove-board on the floor under the stove, and extending at least twelve inches in front of the ash pit door. Protect all walls and partitions within two feet of any stove with a metal shield, leaving an air space between the shield and the wall. Never use kindling or other wood to start a fire in the stove after once night. Do not hang clothes too near the stove or fireplace.

PIPES—See that the lengths of stovepipe are well fitted together and that when chimneys and flues cease, wired and fitted perfectly into the chimney. Stovepipes passing through partitions, walls, floors, attics and roofs are a danger zone at best. Where these must pass through partitions walls or floors, they should be protected by double thimble. You should examine the stovepipes in the attic. They must come apart easily. Foolish and spiteful neighbors are likely to gather on and around them, to be set on fire when you least expect it.

CHIMNEYS—Chimneys should be built from the ground up, and never rest on wood supports. The walls of the woodwork will cause cracks in the chimney. Not should the chimney walls be used to support joists or other woodwork. Soft brick and poor mortar are often responsible for defects in the chimney. Use a good quality of brick and mortar. Chimney walls should be at least eight inches thick. Overhead ample room and see that the clay or terra cotta. Never build up the flue holes with rags or paper nor cover them with any thing not a metal stock. Chimneys must be cleaned frequently.

FURNACES — Defective stoves, ... furnaces, pipes and chimneys should be promptly repaired or replaced.

OVERHEATING — Beware of ... heating stoves boilers, furnaces and pipes.

ASHES — These should never be placed in wooden receptacles but on a cellar floor against wooden ... walls, fences, buildings or any other woodwork. Use metal receptacles only, and dump ashes out on lots at all buildings.

CARE — these matters an ... habit. Not only will you ... property ... for ordinary care. You cannot afford to be careless when the lives of your family are at stake. Protect yourself and neighbors, are at stake. Let "Care and Caution" be the watchword and in this way assist in reducing Canada's enormous fire loss.

WITH it taken for granted that the relations between the local business men of a town and the farmers of the surrounding community are on a mutually satisfactory co-operative basis, the prosperity of a town is in direct proportion to the prosperity of the farmers who surround it. Where such a happy condition is found it is usual to find that the local merchant is active in community welfare.

In many country centres of trade and commerce the lack of an existence of a spirit of co-operation between business man and farmer is responsible for a drifting away from each other, as it were. Instead of getting together for frank, open discussion of grievances, which would give both a new view point, a new basis for future relations which should bring them greater net profits, nothing is done. As a result we find here and there mail order house business assuming stupendous proportions and independent movements started in the rural sections which have for their purpose the creation of organizations for the transaction of a cash business on the co-operative basis which should legitimately belong to the local business men. Why need this be?

When conditions have arrived at a stage when the above occurs it surely is time for some rapid calculation to take place. The local business man cannot afford to be like the proverbial frog, which being too lazy to work for his living, sat back on his haunches with his mouth open waiting for a fly to fly in. Business cannot forge ahead and prosperity cannot be expected to loom up when such conditions are allowed to exist. There is no question but that the merchant is the loser, whether or not the farmer is also in the same class

What then is the solution of the problem? We say the problem cannot and will not be solved until the business men get together, and acting in unity, seek to break down the barriers of prejudice and unreason which have been allowed to grow up between them and their rural co-partners in the building up of a successful community. Business men should realize that much depends upon them and that "much means the welfare and prosperity, the future, of a town in which they are halstant. Farmers too can be brought to learn that real prosperity cannot permanently attend upon them when their local centre of trade and commerce begins a retrograde movement, for, if not going ahead there is no standing still

Votes for all the Women in Alberta

ALBERTA again leads the way in progressive legislation. It will be the first province in Canada where women will be on an equality in the franchise.

Premier Sifton this week stated that he had given instructions for the preparation of a statute "placing men and women in Alberta on a basis of absolute equality so far as provincial matters are concerned." Albertans will receive the announcement with a great deal of pleasure. They are heartily in favor of such a reform which will exert a very beneficial effect upon public affairs in the province.

It is pleasing to note that the Conservative party in the province will take a sympathetic view of the proposed legislation, judging from the statement of E. E. Mitchener of Red Deer, leader of the opposition

SOCIALIST FOR WAR

Either Militarism or Crushed, is Spoken and Stand of Frenchmen

The 4,000,000 workingmen who vote in France are not all Socialists, and only 400,000 of them are Syndicalists, writes the Paris correspondent of the New York Evening Post. But these organizations with a label have to speak the mind of workingmen in general. Remember, too, that the United Socialist party is the "French section of the Labor Internationale." All this gives unusual importance to the resolutions of their National Congress. Among the delegates were the two Socialist Ministers, Jules Guesde, who first organized French Socialists into a political party, and Marcel Sembat, who was the companion of Jaurès Gustave Herve, is the Guerre Sociale, sums up these resolutions:

"If the Kaiser's Germans have been counting on French Socialists being taken in by their sleepy eyes and beginning to bleat for immediate peace, they have only to read the declaration voted unanimously by our Socialist party. They will have their answer and—unanimously, the French Socialist party gives them to know that it is for war, to the crushing of Austro-German militarism.

Sane For Lasting Peace

"Once again the Socialist party asserts its unshakeable confidence in the cause of the Allies and of Republican France. The National Council considers there can be no durable peace unless it is based (1) On the principle of nationalities, which implies the will to put aside all policy of annexation and, at the same time, the reestablishment of the right which the oppressed populations of Europe have to dispose of themselves and return to the nation from which they have been brutally separated, (2) On the absolute respect of the political and economic independence of nations, (3) On the organization of still greater ambitions among peoples, which would allow of the limitation of armaments, democratic control of the engagements taken by each government, and the constitution of an international force as sanction.

"To obtain these results and to drive from the world the accursed dreams of a hegemony which would end in putting Europe under the heel of Imperialism, the most brutal and aggressive and the least scrupulous, the Socialist party once again declares itself ready to continue giving its unreserved and unfailing and tireless aid to the work of national defense.

Through Terror to Triumph

"It knows the losses, the bloodshed entrows brought about by war. It knows they cannot disappear from the present nor from future preocrupations until German Imperialism is vanquished. With the whole country and its Allies, it persists in the effort for the liberation of the bonds and loyal Belgium and the invaded regions of France as well as the reparation of the right for Alsace-Lorraine. The struggle imposed on the Allies by the diabolical chances of Germany must be carried out to its logical end—that there may be given to the world the grand and necessary lesson of attempted hegemony broken by the resistance of free peoples and that from this war—in order that it may be the last—must spring forth a new Europe founded on the respect of treaties and the independence of nationalities, wherein the peoples, having recovered the right of disposing of themselves, shall at last be able to cast off the crushing burden of militarism."

Son Against Father

One of the Russian prisoners who were brought to the camp at Kotchenevo, Bobruisk, is Lieutenant Baron von Gorsen-Steinhof. The young officer is the son of the former Russian representative of the old "Vienna Telegraph Correspondence Bureau." Five years previously his father had committed suicide after he had been arrested and convicted on an absolutely false charge. The present son broke out the young baron was called to the colors and he fought against the country for which his father, an

THE "RAVENING W..." IS CHIEF OF STAFF

Descendant of Man in Wrong Army the Great General Wolfe Died At Quebec

Chief of the Imperial staff of the British army is the proud title of Lieutenant Sir James Wolfe Murray, a man to whom Canadians cannot be interested because of the fact that he is a lineal descendant of Col. Murray of the Black Watch, in whose arms General James Wolfe died upon the Plains of Abraham before Quebec in 1759. Col Murray named his son James Wolfe, and the two names of England's great hero have been handed down from generation to generation. The present James Wolfe was born on March 12, 1863.

This boy in due time went to the aristocratic Glenalmond school in Perthshire. From there he went to Harrow, thence to the Royal Military Academy at Woolwich, getting a commission in the Gunners, in 1878. At the "shop" no one supposed that the young man would have a particularly brilliant career but it was recognized that he could easily far top hours as a student and was extremely long-headed. It is said of Wolfe Murray that on seeing the Pyramids for the first time he was observed to be pondering deeply over the spectacle. Everyone turned him to be really impressed by their antiquity and grandeur and he solemnly delivered himself as follows: "I'm think of these things standing here all these thousands of years. Give me a couple of batteries and I would guarantee to knock the rubbish to bits in a week."

The "Ravening Wolfe"

Why he should ever have been called the "Ravening Wolfe" is not clear. There is no record in any issue of his ever having attacked a sheep-fold on the contrary, he has always been known as a most staid and respectable member of society, who had been twice married, and brought up two sons and three daughters in the way they should go. In the bad old days when Wolfe Murray first entered the service, cubitorous considered that it was the proper thing to play hard and work not at all. But Wolfe Murray was a hermit. Play he did not greatly care about, but he worked all day, studied Russian, and passed for the Staff College. It was probably there he learned that a rifle is a more or less serviceable arm for the destruction of one's enemies. In his early youth he, like most gunners, had a fine contempt for that weapon, and on an inspecting officer questioning him about his battery's musketry proficiency replied vague and astonished. On being pressed for an answer he admitted to knowing that his men had some hand-guns, but added that "he did not know what they used them for."

His Chance Came

On leaving the Staff College he went to the Intelligence Department of the War Office, and then off to Aldershot. At last a chance came. Britain had trouble with a dusky potentate. A small British garrison was shut up in Cossant, and Sir James Wilcocks was despatched with a force to relieve it. Major Wolfe Murray was appointed to command one of his lines of communication. Distant and hard days rained him considerably; he got a decoration and a brevet. His job in Ashanti had done him so well that when the South African War came along he got a similar one in Natal, and was promoted in despatches both by Sir George White and Sir Redvers Buller. By this time he was a major-general, and went out to India as Quartermaster-General. His chances here looked on what he had done and how that it was said, as they received an ancient title, by being Master-General of the Ordnance, and this they gave to Wolfe Murray. The chief duty of the person holding this job was to give tips to those in authority over him and let them know when guns, rifles, and ammunition were reaching vulnerable points in the arsenals—in other words, to get ordnance commodities out of scrapes. Murray could do this more than well because detail and organization were on the brain of his nostrils. In gratitude for all he had saved everybody he was made a divisional general in India and also appointed aide-de-camp to Charles Douglas as Chief of the Imperial Staff.

Stock Inspection

Stock Drivers, Dealers and Shippers must produce evidence of Ownership

The new Stock Inspection Act requires that when live stock is offered for shipment to a point outside of the Province, the same must be inspected by brands, and the shipper as well as either owns the brand that is on the animals or he must have a Memorandum of Sale signed by such owner. If the animal is unbranded, the seller must state in his Memorandum how he acquired the animal that is offered for shipment.

All animals sold at a sale yard or sale or exchange stable, stock yard or abattoir must be inspected before permit thereof is made, and must also announce said sale before or at the time of shipment, unless they have been on the premises for at least thirty days.

If a farmer owns a horse or cow and sells it from his premises to Town and ships it, it does not require inspection. It is design it to prevent stock that is stolen in the country being shipped to market and sold, it does not apply to stock bought and sold in the country.

It is needed in a Town or City when a Pig and Dog is kept in any private stable, he may if he has owned it in less than thirty days sell it without inspection. But the proof of ownership must be satisfactorily before it can be taken away or payment therefor accepted

With out the dates of the DIAMOND FROM THE SKY The serial that is taking the country by storm. It will be here shortly.

Allies Capture 20,000 Germans

In First Big Push Drive Teutons Back three miles along 20 mile front. Capture Much Supplies

London, Sept. 26—The British and French armies in France and Flanders, in the first two days of what looks to be the opening of a "big push" have taken several "lines" out of the German lines between Verdun and the Belgian coast, capturing in the process two or three thousand unwounded prisoners and trenches along a total length of about twenty miles, driving their way through the Germans front for a distance of nearly three miles. A large amount of war material has also been taken, but has not been enumerated. The French record the taking of at least twenty-four field guns while the British commander puts the capture of nine guns. Many machine guns are also among the booty of the French-British.

At the same time British warships and French and Belgian batteries heavily bombarded the German positions on the coast between Zeebrugge and Nieuport.

The offensive which resulted in the French and British victories began Saturday morning. For several weeks there has been an almost incessant bombardment with big guns, which late last week increased in intensity, particularly in the sectors where the infantry attacks took place

Berlin, via London, Sept. 26, 10, 30 P. M.—A repulse of a fierce man division near Loos, northwest of Lens, with considerable casualties and the loss of materials, is admitted in the German official communication made public here today. Splendid Apple Crop

Beaver Lake Correspondent Supplements Standard's Previous Statement Alberta Farmers Should Have Their Own Orchards

BEAVER LAKE EAST

Tim Netta Fate, for whom we all have a great regard as one Mr. Hiram McComas We would wish her every possible go. Mr. McComas is a lucky man indeed.

Threshing and stacking were in full swing when the snow and rain came on the 23rd. We hope things will be all O. K. for an other rush to Monday at the farthest.

We have great pleasure in supplementing the Standard in the apple question Mr. Daly says his apples were not at all injured by the frost and the yield was quite large In our own orchard I also threw were no severe losses and our potato and grain. Thereafter from were the wild Russian rats the largest and best tree produced six bushels. The other seven bore nearly two bushels Almost all the wild crabs were spoiled by the frost. We usually pick the fruit the first week in September, but this year just it will, for various reasons and suffered for it. After this we follow the old rule. Some may think we are dragging the long bow about that tree with the six bushels. Not at all. It's a straight fact. J. S. McCallum, M. L. A. saw the tree in August and guessed at 7 bushels Albert McCallum took a snap shot of it, which, if it is O. K., will be sent to one or more farm magazines. We may state that we have 12 apple trees in our little orchard of which 25 are crabs-stock, 3 large standard apples, and 4 wild crabs. We also have 4 plum trees and one cherry.

The recent snap but the record above says them all. Now we never see the like in September again.

Mrs. J. R. Steele and Miss Minnie Bowen are leaving this evening for Edmonton, to make the business with pleasure while in the city.

"Shake Hands Like English Gentlemen: There's The Enemy"

SO said Admiral Nelson in Trafalgar Bay before the great fight to one of his Admirals and the Captain of one of the vessels of the latter's command with whom the sub Admiral was not on cordial terms. The second section of the navy leader's remark was quite significant. It was no time for internal schism arising from petty jealousies.

The great Admiral's words on the morn of that Great Day when "England Expected Every Man to Do His Duty," are applicable to day. This is true in the wider sense of our duty as citizens of one of the Grandest Empires the world ever saw. It is true also in the lesser sense of our duty as Canadians. It is again true in the sense of our duty to our own local community.

These are days when we must present a united front to opposing forces. It will not do to be divided either in our immediate local communities or in the broader spheres of Provincial or Dominion affairs. The success that we would have, we cannot attain when our own forces are divided.

What then should be expected of us? Our answer would be that in Dominion Affairs—Call it Politics, if you will,—each party should manifest the spirit of the Golden Rule, and so down the line to local communities, the practice of the Golden Rule would result in a spirit of cordiality growing where before there may have been distrust, suspicion and jealousy together with the unenviable state of concern which is attendant upon the country when in times of national stress as this, unhappy divisions rend the country and often spoil our chances of attaining that victory which should be ours.

Comments

The way to Berlin appears to be getting shorter-slightly.

It would be right that special Thanksgiving services should be held this year. If people ever should be thankful for a bountiful harvest—and they always should be—they are Canadians and this is the year.

Dr. Brett of long Alberta fame is to be our next Lieutenant-Governor. It is proper that this office should go to an established Albertan. The Doctor will fill the office with dignity and honor.

John McDonald counted out 102 potatoes from one hill in his potato patch the other day and swears that he was not seeing double either. The fact is outstanding that the Potato is King in Alberta. We have lots of 'm this year for which during the coming winter the people will be joyful. We are sure some spud country.

Another row(ing) nailed to the mast. The Alberta government was not and is not considering in any form the matter of an educational franchise. It is just another story gotten up to discredit the government among the foreign born in the province.

The movement in Europe for which we have long been waiting, and our boys at the front too, apparently has commenced. It has a meaning all its own. Evidently the enemy is finding it out to his cost. On to Berlin. Let the Drive still continue.

These be times when there be but little doing. Therefore people should retire to their homes early in the long evenings of the approaching fall and winter. To light the streets of a night would be but to encourage skylarking at night when people ought to be at home. At least that would appear to be the opinion of the town council from the quick relegation of a communication anent street lights to the oblivion of the official file. Well, there's something in that opinion too. Besides, those are days when we have to practice strict economy.

Soldiers Uncovered in Court

"Cases are constantly occurring in which soldiers and officers are reported to have refused to take off their caps in police courts and other courts of records. The army regulation is perfectly clear and covers all such cases completely," says The London Times. "Its text is as follow:

"In a civil court an officer or soldier will remove his head-dress while the judge or magistrate is present, except when the officer or soldier is on duty under arms with a party or escort, inside the court.

"In these latter circumstances the prisoner or prisoners alone are considered."

Laurier Advises Defence of British Freedom and Support of Government

Addressing a large reception meeting at Sherbrooke, Que., Sir Wilfrid Laurier said: "I affirm with all and power, that it is the duty of Canada to give to Great Britain in this war all the assistance that is in the power of Canada. My confidence in the present Government at Ottawa does not come from the colon of my boots, but on the contrary, of the war I considered it my duty to support it to its war policy. I have supported it as that policy ever since and I will support it again. The reason is that this war is a contest between German institutions and British institutions. British institutions mean freedom. German institutions mean despotism. That is why we as Canadians have such a vital interest in this war."

AMUSING NOTES FOR ARMY BUGLE CALLS

"It's the Bayonets' Turn at Last," Says the Large Call to Canada's Thousands

Most of the army's trumpet and bugle calls, to which Canadian ears are becoming accustomed, have words to them. Some of these interpretations are of great antiquity. Others, however, are quite modern, as for example, the "Cyclists' Call," which goes to the words, "Come on, you speedsters, with bikes in good repair."

"Oh, what a time these officers have! I'd like to have their dinner! Just give me theirs, and let them have mine; I bet they'll get much thinner! They know it, you bet! And don't you forget That wine and mumm is due to appear, and help to season dinner." These are the words of the Officers' Dinner Call," and they give a vivid picture of things as they are to-day.

You may know that Tommy calls "Reveille," "Revelry," and may have wondered why. It is in order to fit in with the words of the "Roose"—viz, "Come, make a move, and show a leg! Why didn't daily Now, don't you hear? Get out of bed! It's past Reveille. Get out, you sharp, for the day's begun!"

Stirring Words

Most of us have heard of "Boot and Saddle," but the words of this stirring call may be new to you. They are: "Saddle and Boot! There's no time now to think of your head and feet! This may mean a spell to make you squirm and writhe, But the last line is right! See that the sword-scabbard's tight! Some day it may mean to fight! Look alive, look alive! Saddle and boot!"

There is humor in the interpretation of the "Officers' Call" (infantry): "Officers, come when your servants call! Adjutant's shouted and bawled! Colonel, isn't scour that you cravins! Come! Come! Come!"

The "Picquet Call" gives a line to the probable origin of the expression "end-up," for it goes to the words of: "Oh, it's picquet feeds a man's soul up! For it's nothing else that matters! Meet Popular of All

A picquet, in the old way, is to prowl about the town, visiting places that have been put out of bounds, and to collect "drunks" and other delinquents. By the way, it is interesting for remember that when in command at Aldershot camp in England, General Sir H. Smith-Dorrien, abolished picquets, and put the men on their honor as regarded their behaviour out of barracks, and the experiment met with entirely gratifying results.

Welcome Sounds

If the soldier does not like to hear "Parade for Picquet," there is one call that he usually welcomes with a grin and a cheer. This is the "Cook's Parade." To the cookhouse it sounds: "This is the call we like! It just makes you feel all right. There's no call comes up to the "Cook's"; Within the lineman's cheerful wording of the same is: "Oh, there's no "Cook's" to-day! Oh, there's no p'rade to-day! It's jolly seldom that we get the chance to stay away."

In mounted corps the watering and feeding of the horses is, of course, very important duties, and the respective words of the "Watering Order" and "Feed Calls" are as follows: "Water your horses! Give 'em a drink! As you know water is to be dry in this show, just give them a good long drink!" "Feed your horses! Feed your horses! Give 'em the oats and corn! Give their oats 'em! Haven they know the feed, my boys, is well as you know you're born. Give 'em the oats and corn!"

On active service the only field calls now allowed to infantry are the "Charge" and the "Alarm." Often are the words of the former—viz, "Now Gentlemen, the front, the front! Is the line! The bullet's share has passed it by! Now for the fray we'll win the day. It's the bay'net's turn at last." The language of the "Alarm" itself is a terrific one, the words being—in: "Turn in (sounding) What's up now? Fire, police or jolly flow? Into togs, and off we go!"

The military postman is always a popular personage with the troops, and his advent is heralded by the "Post Call": "There goes the call for letters! Letters! Letters from "Home, Sweet Home!"

Tennis Champion's Spirit

How Capt. Ambrose Whiting, the town tennis champion, met his death is told in The London Mail, which publishes his last letter. While waiting with the Duke of Westminster's Air Squadron at Dunkirk, he attached himself to the Indian Corps, but before going to the front he had a word or built to carry a three-pounder gun. The following is his letter: "My dear ——. For really the first time I have a job on hand which is likely to end in gun, I and the whole outfit being blown to ——. However, it is a sporting chance, and if we succeed we will help our industry no end." Very soon after writing he was "put out of action."

There you are safe from bulls and rain.

HANS LEN THE CHANSE

Marcie Maccinese Perigbou as Inspire Prenan in Cacquer

Camille Decreus, the noted French composer and pianist, who served at the front until incapacitated by rheumatism, relates the following romantic episodes of the fighting in France: "It was at Vauquois that happened an incident that I suppose stands alone in this war, the charge of a regimental band at the head of troops. Our men had three times attacked the enemy's position, but they were repulsed. The colonel felt that a time for supreme effort had arrived and he summoned the leader of the band.

"Put your men at the head of the regiment, strike up the 'Marseillaise,' and lead them to victory," he commanded. The bandmaster obeyed. He called his musicians, and told them what was expected. Then the forty of them took their positions. One by one they reformed. The bandmaster waved his baton.

"Allons, enfants de la Patrie!' rang out, and the men took up the song. The band started out on the double-quick, as if on rapid parade. No marching carried a weapon, but they bore carrying the 'Marseillaise' against the foe. Then came the enormous rush of the regiment behind. The band marched on, their ranks thinning at every step. The leader went down. The cornetists followed him. The drummers and their instruments collapsed in the same volley. "In less than five minutes every man of the forty was lying upon the ground, killed or wounded, that is, with one exception. That was a trombone player. His whole instrument was shot away except the mouthpiece and the slide, to which his fingers were fastened. He still blew and worked the slide. It was only a memory by 'Marseillaise' he was playing, but the spirits of his dead comrades played with him, and at the head of the regiment, and with that fragment of a trombone he led the way to victory. The trench was taken. Half of the men had died on the field of honor."

A VETERAN OF MONS

Picturesque Narrative of Modern War by Real-gained Hero

Pte. Thomas James Jackson, a regular of the Fifteenth Hussars, and a former navy man, was at the Khaki League headquarters in Montreal recently because he was "gassed" in France. He was in the retreat from Mons, fought at Lille and many other places; then he was made unfit for duty and came to Canada. He had then tried to enlist in a Canadian battalion but the gas had left its mark.

"I got into this little scrap," he said, "early in the game, and it was as a cavalryman that I took part in the retreat from Mons. It was march twenty or thirty miles, then turn on the haggers and hold them for a while, fall back a bit further, go at them again, fall back some more. Apart from everything else, we were all keyed up need to the Jack Johnsons, and the smallness as we became later on, and they didn't allow you much sleep, even if you got the chance for a nap. I came through those weeks without a scratch a la marvel. Even when they got me at last with the gas I didn't know what had happened, for it got me out at once. They put me with it in the trenches outside Lille, and I woke up to find myself in a hospital in Folkestone. How I got there I do not know, and when I had to go through the agony of coming out of the gas I can assure you I didn't care.

"In the whole of the time I was in the fighting I only had two chances to actually get at the enemy face to face. We were able to use our bayonets at Neuve Chapelle and at Ypremade, and I found that all I had heard about the way in which the Germans would rec from cold steel was actually true. It is strange, for the Germans are good fighters otherwise, but it is hands up with them as soon as they see the bayonets."

WHAT IS COURAGE?

Heroes Fear and Fight—Some Never Experience Fear

The following interesting analysis of the quality of courage in connection with warfare, written by Chandler Clear, it gives prominence by the British Weekly: We are living in a day of heroes and of heroism, and we know it, but not as we shall know it by-and-by. In countless numbers our men are to the service of King and country. They belong to a nation wise enough to hate a dishonorable peace even more than it hates war. There are certain problems relating to heroism and to the first quality of the hero—which is courage—that are in many minds at this time.

What then is courage? The pen-harasser of a brave action does not prove the courage of the man who does it. A skilful rider to bounds will take a very high fence which would disarm the ordinary horseman. There are those who would rather do anything than sleep in a haunted room. If they did such a thing with a view to testing the ghost story they would really be showing bravery of a very black and rare kind. I have seen it said that on the battlefield there are men so dull and unimaginative that they do not realize their danger. I am thoroughly incredulous as to the existence of such beings. Every fighting man knows in his bones that he has a chance of dying and a chance of being wounded.

Sense of Duty Helps

But there are other kinds of courage, and it is not easy to say which is the highest. There is, for example, the courage of soldiers who know all the risks they are running, and they reckon them very nakedly, but they are staggering nor diminishing. They are, however, perfectly fearless, because each calculations of the chances of safety in comparison with the great purpose that they have made. They are determined. The bandmaster waved his baton.

"Allons, enfants de la Patrie!' rang out, and the men took up the song. The band started out on the double-quick, as if on rapid parade. No marching carried a weapon, but they bore carrying the 'Marseillaise' against the foe. Then came the enormous rush of the regiment behind. The band marched on, their ranks thinning at every step. PARIS PRESS IN WAR

When the war is over and the "research" historians begin digging into the records to settle what it was all about, the Paris newspapers will have a great psychological interest—psychological because their main interest will be, not in what they have told about the war from day to day, but in what they have not told, writes Nakeli Berlin from Paris. In other words, the "war files" will furnish proof of how little the French people knew of what was going on during the early days of the war. This does not mean that the French newspapers have not served their public well during this war. On the contrary, many of the lurid yarns that will be distributed after it is over ought to go to the newspaper editors. They should be crowned, not because they kept silent—for that they had to do; but because they had the nerve to keep their readers in good cheer and courage when things looked black. It is the French press that has kept up the nerve of the French public in this war. It is the French editors who have shouted "Never say die!" until everybody has fallen into line.

No really important Paris daily has suspended publication during the war, except the Gil Blas, whose entire staff was mobilized; but they have all suffered tremendous financial setbacks. If the old fiction that the newspapers almost always become it helps them make money, has not died and been buried, this war ought to do it. It is safe to say there is not a newspaper in Paris that has not lost tremendous sums. How some of them have managed to continue publication is a mystery. This does not mean that the Paris newspapers are not rich. On the contrary, their circulations have gone up to unprecedented figures, but as advertising has fallen off nearly to almost nothing, this has not enriched the publishers. The loss that has taken out, the newspaper owner, faced serious difficulties. All advertising revenue was cut off at once. At the same time, telephone and telegraph connection with the outside world was cut off, and there were no more trains to carry the editions into the country.

What the Paris newspaper-publishers did was to cut down the size of the papers to meet these difficulties. Within a day or two of the first mobilization order, every Paris daily became a single sheet, and some of the noon and afternoon papers came out on half a page. As eight or twelve page size of the Paris dailies, could not be sold without great loss for a cent, but a single sheet, filled with agency despatches, or with official communiqués, could very profitably be set up and printed at 1 "cent." This explains why on the first few months of the situation very well. In the hours of the first most tremendous drama ever unfolded in human annals, there was nothing to print. The press-censor had established some kind of order, not to be mentioned, and about the only thing that was published was what could be printed except what the official statements said. When the communiqués would not fill this limit, they were at once censored. The Paris papers have become of new and stabled irrelevance, except sensational crimes, and after the war broke out there were no more sensational crimes. There were no more new plays at the theatres, which were closed, and no new books, no society life. There was literally "nothing doing" except the war, and about no reporters were allowed to know.

FRENCH MISS COLORS

Colored Fighters Make Up For Vanished Red Trousers

The French pinc-plon has hardly recovered from the surprise of finding himself without his scarlet trousers when a Petrograd correspondent of Vanity up to a inch of that kind—when he finds himself clad by virtue of his present "protective coloration" a "dis able bleu"—la bleu devil). One is not surprised which would be the more correct phrase, "the enemy has got should conquer. I saw him go right the blood critic," or " the bleu devils have got the enemy." Both forms suggest a situation sufficiently disagreeable for the enemy. But, spite of the lost red trousers (bit the way, "the Lay of the Lost Red Trousers" would be far more pathetic than the Hymn of Hate), there is no lack of courage in the French fleas. Some of it is supplied by the sharpshooters and trained Moroccan and Senegal, some and sergeants, some of these latter, of men who fought under Gallieni and Joffre fifteen or twenty years back, on the road to Timbuktu, which is even farther off than Tipperary.

The official inventory of the clocks at Windsor Castle fills two large volumes, and contains entries of 220 timepieces.

It requires no fewer than 1,456 miles of great embankments to preserve the Netherlands from the inundation of the sea.

Ask for Business

ONLY one's most intimate friends go to one's home uninvited, and the extent of one's calling list is determined by the number of one's calls.

In business the same facts hold. Every merchant in Tofield knows owners of families here and in the country round about, whose custom he does not possess.

Mutual acquaintance is the first step towards getting these families as customers, and acquaintances can most surely be developed by the invitations or calls made through the medium of advertisements in the Tofield STANDARD.

Show your desire for business by asking for it. A merchant who does not ask for business is not supposed to want business very keenly.

"On The Field Of Honor"

The publishers of The Family Herald and Weekly Star, Montreal are making a strong bid for that beautiful picture, full of patriotism, entitled "On the Field of Honor." It is assured the publishers of the Family Herald have in mind using it as a premiuation plan. If that is so there is a great treat in store for readers of the Family Herald and Weekly Star this autumn. In past years the Family Herald of Montreal has been noted not only for the wonderful excellence of that journal but for many beautiful premiums it has presented to its readers. The Family Herald has a name for succeeding in anything it undertakes, and we feel sure if it is humanly possible to secure "On the Field of Honor" that the publishers will succeed in getting it. "On the Field of Honor" is attracting widespread attention in Europe

Lindbrook

Newsy Budget of District Doings

As no Lindbrook news has appeared in the columns of the "Standard" of late we are wondering what has become of our correspondent. All are anxiously awaiting him for her return to duty, but in the meantime we will do our best to make substitute, which is an easy task.

Threshing is in full swing in the district, and all report the yields with one or two exceptions, to be very good. Alex Love and Andy Ferguson of Hastings Lake are doing a good job, although we noticed a cloud of smoke issuing from the separator at one farm Possibly a darker substance than grain was being run through at that time.

Geo. Weatherill, W. Gleen and Dan Harrington are among the boys away from the district threshing.

Our school has again been opened up with Miss MacRae in charge. The attendance is good at present and it is hoped will be so through out the term.

E. M. Anderson has left for Edmonton South. He intends to renew his studies at the University for the winter months.

Word was received from Sergt. Major Swain, a few days ago who is with his Batt at Sarcee Camp, Calgary, that they expect to be in winter quarters at Edmonton about the middle of this month. He has received further promotion, now being Regt. Sergt. Major. Hearty congratulations.

Leonard Painter has completed a new residence on his farm. May he be less a surprise in store for us in any case the Lindbrookites are looking forward to the time when bashing forward to the time when they will be allowed to test the flour. No need to say how.

McCrimmon's road crew are now at work on the phone line, cutting down the hills and putting a good grade across the sloughs. About 30 men and 16 or 18 teams are at work. An excellent job as long as done.

Hon. J. R. Boyle Will Present School Prizes and Deliver Address

Tofield School to Join Debating League Under Certain Conditions to be Organized

The Pub. Prize Distribution and address to the Tofield School will be held in the Variety Theatre on the end of the present month. The Hon J. R. Boyle, K. Minister of Education for Alberta has kindly promised to distribute the prizes and to address the teachers and pupils of the school. An excellent musical and literary programme is being prepared and a very eagly enjoyable and entertaining entertainment may be anticipated.

We trust that all parents and friends will not fail to be present on this occasion, and that business more thoroughly acquainted with the good work that is being done in our schools. There will be no charge for admission.

The pupils of the Tofield High School have decided to enter this year in the competition to be held in connection with the High School Debating League, an institution organized by the Extension De-

TOFIELD, ALBERTA THURSDAY OCTOBER 7, 1915

Your King and Country need YOU—NOW.

You can help even if you cannot be one of the boys at the front

Wisdieck among the farmers have been having their grain stacked thus avoiding damaging results from precarious weather.

The smudges made by the Canadians in France put the Fear into the hearts of the Germans and they ran. To that extent it was a bloodless victory.

Things are shaping in the Balkans for quick action. Bulgaria seems to be running for a fall. What a sorry nation it will be eventually if it lines up against the allies.

Threshing is progressing well throughout the district and the province. Big yields seem to be the order of the day. To the careful farmer who takes pains with the cultivation of his soil, it yields him ample reward. There's usually some thing wrong at the head end when the crop yield comes out short of the bigger average, barring hail or other accident of course.

It would appear that the submarine problem between Germany and the U. S. is being solved by neither party. John Bull is quietly, but perseveringly, gathering them up one by one and proceeding to eliminate this menace. It may be that soon, in this wise, there will be no problem left to solve.

Tipperary made a good marching tune for the British army, but it did not have in it the elements of a permanent army song. Its retirement in favor of Onward Christian Soldiers, reported on Saturday, is significant. The war being waged by the Allies is a war against forces that are tearing down the best there is in civilization, and it is quite fitting that the hymn of the British army today should be one reminiscent of the spirit of the Crusaders.—Ex.

What Will Be Your Number?

WAR Secretary Kitchener in a recent conference with Labor Leaders in the Old Country, amongst other things said, "And I know how many men I want. I have their names and the number of their doors, and if they do not come, I will fetch them." If there are some shirkers, and it would appear that there are some who are evading their call to do their bit, who have not had it brought home to them the seriousness of the emergency which is threatening the empire and all our institutions of free government, the above statement carries with it the inference that a means will be found to bring into action those who are not acting the part of the true patriot. It would appear that the system of registration recently brought into being will have its use.

In Canada, particularly in Western Canada, there has been a noble response to the call to serve the colors. There has been no dearth of volunteers in this respect. But there is another call which comes to every man who remains and that is to do his part in the care of the dependents of those who have gone to bear arms for the country. It is the duty of the Canadian Patriotic Fund. This fund is for the wives and dependents of the privates only. The demands upon the Fund are growing greatly. You can do your part. Will you do it?

At the moment of writing number one northern Manitoba wheat is 7 cents above number 1 northern Duluth wheat, both spot cash at Liverpool, while the one in store at Fort William is quoted at 88 3-4 and the other 94 3-4 at Duluth and 97 1-4 at Minneapolis. October deliveries at Liverpool are quoted at 4 cents higher for the Canadian than the U. S. wheat. Clearly it would seem that the Manitoba dealer is getting a rake off and the Canadian producer the worst of the deal. The Grain Growers Association have this week brought to the attention of the government this and other grievances which the authorities would be well advised to consider carefully and to the farmers' advantage.

Mundare News

On this occasion we shall draw attention to some of the changes or improvement in our immediate surroundings. Many who have come to Mundare from more or less distant points must have made with a grist for the mill or for other business, may remember the open common, south of the town a cross which angled the prairie trail. This is now no more. Trees have sprung up by the road, but a very good road it is. The half section to the south and west adjoining the townsite was bought by J. D. McAllister one of our pioneer general merchants. This new property, most of it, has been cheapened to a great fenced cultivated field and now Mr. McAllister can survey his broad cultivated acres from his town residence.

When Mundare is a city, this may be the future Highlands residence subdivision.

A little further south we come to one of the farms of J. B. McCallum, M.P.P. The improvements there were also made during the recent summer season, and here our government representative keeps his herd of pure-bred short horns.

Yet a little further south as we reach the stately model farm home of Mr. Geo. Stacey with its many substantial buildings. Here we find the pure bred Herefords of the district. From a high spot we can look down on his big cultivated fields and to the north-west the church spires and several sets of Mundare. Many years ago mine have admired Mr Shaw's plantation of trees from the Indian Head experimental farm. When placed in the ground just four years ago they were not much larger than lead pencils, but now some of them almost rival the telegraphic wires in elevation. In this plantation, which is prospering well are Russian poplars, Ash, Manitoba Maples, etc.

Another plantation of evergreens including spruce, ledge pole pine jack pine, scotch pine is also flourishing vigorously. Out of some 3000 here, only perhaps a couple of dozen pests failed.

Many others would do well to take advantage of the opportunities offered by the government to beautify and improve the appearance of their surroundings and the value of their property.

Just a little to the north of town Mr. Schneider on his half section has no one season brought 138 acres, some of which heath under cultivation, besides erecting a fine residence and out buildings.

We might also speak of Russian farmers such as Messrs. Fedyn, Stapchuk, Mosiuk, Osinchuk and many others who have whole sections with large numbers of horses, cattle and hogs, but we must draw to a close but we trespass unduly on newspaper space.

We have shown however that our district is progressing rapidly and has interest visitors whether out sight seeing or for investment or other business.

THE GLORIOUS CUSTINA

Came to Rescue of Overpowered Hero of the French People

When General Pau, the accustomed French hero, was the guest of honor at Petrograd recently, he and at the right hand of the Czarina. At dessert there were served some magnificent apples which by the skill of the Imperial gardener with the assistance of the sun, have on their skins the arms of the Romanoffs. To General Pau, because of his glorious lethargy, the apple is at State banquets a forbidden fruit. It is also, in his own home, a favorite fruit. The Czarina either knew or guessed the fact. For when General Pau was handed the dish she herself took an apple, peeled it, then, handing her plate to the guest of honor, said, with a smile, "I know you want others, now that I have peeled it for you."

Germany's Wireless Canada

Germany has a series of wireless stations forming a ring entirely around the frontier. These stations are thought to have been planned particularly with the idea of increasing the efficiency and safety of operation of the Zeppelins and other military aircraft, as with the aid of these stations an airship is always enabled to keep in constant touch with a German base during as a position, but can determine its own location when the land is obscured by clouds or mist. In addition to these wireless stations, all the large aerodromes in Germany are equipped with powerful wireless, so that no aircraft, apparently, need be beyond the range of wireless communication with the military authorities when flying over any part of Germany or all the naval military and naval aircraft are equipped with wireless apparatus having a minimum range of 120 miles.

Canada and Queer Badge

Many curious badges are to be found on the coats of various regiments, the most extraordinary however, of all the crests worn by soldiers taking part in the Empire is probably that worn by one of the Canadian regiments, the 90th Winnipeg Rifles. The badge shows a little black devil with a pitchfork, and below it is a motto in Latin which means "Nanny by the nose is the field of battle." The reason for this curious badge and its motto is to commemorate the way the Winnipeg Rifles fought when suppressing the North-west rebellion. The Indians called them "The little black devils from Winnipeg," a name which became the nickname of the regiment.

partment of the University of Alberta. The school will send a team of its best pupils to compete with scholars of other High Schools of the Province in public debate on subjects chosen by the Department of Extension. The Subjects chosen for this year are "Simplified Spelling" and "Canadian Navy." The competition is decided by qualified judges well known in the School World of Alberta, and as a trophy a handsome silver cup is awarded to the successful school, but best wishes are here extended to an Institution whose aim is such a laudable object as to train our young people to intelligently express themselves and to educate them in the Art of Public Speaking.

A Cadet Corps is being formed by the Principal and the pupils of Tofield High School and will be attached to Military District No. 13. The usual preliminary requirements have been complied with and the service drills will commence forthwith.

Apart from training for the defence of the Country, a Cadet Corps has many other truly educational advantages. It teaches discipline and self-control, co-operation and consideration for others. It makes the boys sturdy and strong and so fits them for the battle of life after life. In replacing the slouching dawdling habit by an alert brisk manner, it teaches accuracy and directness instead of inaccuracy and uncertainty. It develops observation, tact and judgement. It gives a higher sense of honor, right and truth.

Membership in a Cadet Corps carries no special obligation for military service. It simply provides a training in the highest ideals of citizenship and these are applicable alike whether military or civil duty calls.

General Secretary of the Alberta Temperance and Moral Reform League, one of the Leaders in the recent campaign which ended so triumphantly for the Temperance Cause. He will spend next Sunday in Tofield and will give three addresses. In the Methodist Church in the Morning, in Lake shore School in the Afternoon and in the Presbyterian Church in the Evening, and will have something of interest to say of the present situation and future prospects.

Events About Town
Several farmers are already getting well started with their fall ploughing. Herein lies the secret of successful grain growing. Last year saw large areas ready for this year's sowing.
Harry, the 7 year old son of Mr and Mrs. Robert Boris on 5th St. N., died last Saturday night from an acute attack of enteritis lasting only a few days. Mr. Boris was in Saskatchewan working for the harvest season and was called home but arrived too late to see his boy alive. Two of his sisters came to from Wetaskiwin to attend his boy's funeral which took place on Tuesday morning.
The Harvest Festival of Holy Trinity (Anglican) Church of Tofield was held last Sunday. The morning service consisted of a choral celebration of the Eucharist to the musical setting of Woodward. There was evensong at 7 o'clock. The incumbent, Rev. W Leversedge preached at both services the spirit of Thanksgiving being the predominant theme. The Church was tastefully decorated in a manner befitting the occasion.
Chris Moos informed the Standard last Saturday night that part of Asa Erickson's wheat crop threshed out 62 bushels to the acre. Other districts around about have been boasting of as high as 51 bushels to the acre but this out distances any other reported yield in Northern Alberta so far. There was one yield reported from the Southern Alberta country at 60 bushels to the acre. Mr. Erickson is to be congratulated on the excellent showing made by him.

Is Pleased With Country
D. M. Both of Albany Prairie, Oregon, last week was the guest of M. M. Burkholder of Hardy, acting and other friends. Mr Roth has been hearing by correspondence from his Hardy friends much to the credit of this country as a rapidly developing country but could not make himself believe what he was told and decided to come and look at it himself with his own eyes. To the Standard last Saturday he said that he now believed it as he had been deceived with his own eyes. Otherwise he could not have believed of the excellent reports.

TOFIELD, ALBERTA THURSDAY OCTOBER 14, 1915

Your King and Country need YOU—NOW.

You can help even if you cannot be one of the boys at the front.

There are times when prairie fires may rage. Beware of starting a conflagration

Hemmed in on all sides but one, Germany now turns to the Balkans hoping there to win a way out to Constantinople and freedom. Here too, the Allies will be found blocking the way to autocracy

Monday was Thanksgiving Day. If all did not attend one service or another for united thanksgiving and praise to Providence there was in the hearts of all men the spirit of Thanksgiving for the abundance of good things which has blessed the country during the past year.

It is said that the United States will investigate the Armenian atrocities; or, in other words, will hold a coroner's inquest upon the Armenians, and if they are found worthy may erect a stone to their memory.

Mr. Ford says he would give every dollar he owns if it could end the war to-day. Germany would give still more if she could end it to-day.

Bulgaria may prolong the war, but she cannot change its result. She might even shorten it by providing another path which the Allies could take to Constantinople. Should she be defeated in the first big battle, she will hasten the doom of Germany.

It is said that the Bulgarian people are likely to rise in rebellion against their King for leading them into the war. They will rise about the time the German people rise, which will be after they have been knocked down and trampled over by the Allies.

Slandering Canadian Soldiers.

"In all Canadian towns and countrysides from British Columbia to Quebec the Canuck ran riot and typified him self with brutal Cossack deeds. He burned houses, plundered shops and stoned unoffending men, women and children in city streets and country roads. No one deterred him. German, Austrian and Hungarian men and women were dragged from their homes and slaughtered in the open. Native-born sons who defended foreign-born parents were slain, the daughters were brutalized by the mob."—The Fatherland, New York, Sept. 22.

Every British Shell Turned Out Saves Life of an Allied Soldier

Paris, Oct. 8.—Albert Thomas, French minister of munitions, who has returned from London, granted an interview at his headquarters in the Claridge.

"There is no need to make a story of my visit to London," he said, "My conversation with Lloyd George led to an agreement by which the two countries will exchange what we call their materials. That is to say, certain products of the soil of France will be exchanged for certain products from England.

IT IS THE NATION FIRST

"Take the case of a particular chemical used in the manufacture of explosives and dyes. In the ordinary way the surplus of material required for national defense would be allowed to French manufacturers. Now by virtue of our agreement, England will have a supply and French manufacturers will only get the remainder. It is the nation first you perceive. England will do exactly the same for us.

"Have we enough shells? you ask. Of course we have not, and we never shall have enough. The more we use the more we want.

"I shall never be satisfied until England has surpassed even our great output, and I may tell you I have not yet reached the maximum of my programme.

EVERY SHELL SAVES A LIFE

"England is making great strides in production. I noticed a very great increase since my last visit, but the British workmen should understand that every shell saves the life of one of the allied soldiers.

"Never mind about any mathematical calculations as to how many tons it takes to kill a German. The greatest music a soldier hears is the whistling out a shell on its way to the German trenches.

"You have seen what we can do when we have a fair supply of shells. They drove the enemy back in Champagne and Artois, but to drive him out of France and Belgium we want and must have many more. The way to Berlin will have to be hewed by explosives.

Presentation to Head of I. O. O. F.

A handsome cigar case, embossed with a gold maple leaf, was presented to judge J. B. A. Robertson, Gedney, Ohio, grand sire of the Odd Fellows lodge, this noon at a luncheon given at the Ft. Regis hotel by the past grand masters and the elective officers of the Manitoba lodge. The presentation was made by K. Strain, noble grand, of Minnehaha lodge No. 7, in recognition of the first visit paid to subordinate lodges by the grand sire, since his election ten days ago.

F. C. Hamilton, deputy grand master, occupied the chair, and Emerson in making great strides in production. I noticed a very great increase since my last visit, but the British workmen should understand that every shell saves the life of one of the allied soldiers.

NEITHER SPEAK'S OTHER'S LANGUAGE

"My visit to London gave me great personal satisfaction, and I shall probably return there soon, because by reason of the great British organization it is better here to go there. Unfortunately, I do not speak English and Mr. Lloyd George does not speak French, so we have to converse through an interpreter, but we were united in spirit.

THE GRACIOUS CZARINA

Home to Rescue of One-Armed Hero of the French People

When General Pau, the one-armed French hero, was the guest of honor at Petrograd recently, he sat at the right hand of the Czarina. At dessert there were served some magnificent apples, which by the skill of the imperial gardener with the assistance of the sun, bore on their skins the arms of the Romanoffs. To General Pau, because of his glorious infirmity, the apple is at State banquets a forbidden fruit. It is also, in his own home, a favorite fruit. The Czarina, either knew or guessed the fact. For when General Pau waved aside the dish she herself took an apple, peeled it, then, handing her plate to the guest of honor, said, with a smile, "I know you want refuse, now that I have peeled it for you."

Germany's Wireless Guards

Germany has a section of wireless stations forming a ring entirely around the frontier. These stations are thought to have been planned particularly with the idea of increasing the efficiency and safety of operation of the Zeppelins and other military aircraft, as with the aid of these stations an airship is not only enabled to keep in constant touch with a German base during an expedition, but can determine its own location when the land is obscured by clouds or mist. In addition to these wireless stations, all the large aerodromes in Germany are equipped with powerful wireless, so that no aircraft, apparently, need be beyond the range of wireless communication with the military authorities when flying over any part of Germany. All the newer military and naval aircraft are equipped with wireless apparatus having a minimum range of 130 miles.

Canadians' Queer Badge

Many curious badges are to be found on the caps of various regiments. The most extraordinary, however, of all the counts worn by soldiers fighting for the Empire is probably that worn by one of the Canadian regiments, the 90th Winnipeg Rifles. The "badge" is a little black devil with a pitchfork, and below it is a motto in Latin which means "Dash it by the enemy on the field of battle." The reason for this curious badge and motto is to commemorate the way the Winnipeg Rifles fought when suppressing the North west Rebellion. The Indians called them "the little black devils from Winnipeg," which has now become the nickname of the regiment.

VOLUME IX TOFIELD ALBERTA, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1915 NO. 9

Beaver Lake News

Threshing goes merrily on but there two rifts in the lute on the 13th (ominous date) when George Shaw on the Mundare road lost some wheat stacks by fire and the operator was also badly injured; also D. A. McCallum had seven stacks burned (part wheat oats). Mr. Shaw's loss will be around $350.00, Mr. McCallum's $600.00. In both cases sparks from the engine caused the fire. The outfit working at Mr. Shaws were Galicians and are a careless bunch but in the other case there was no carelessness. Like mishaps are reported from various localities in Alberta. These are the first that ever occured here.

Hugh McKay, of Edmonton, father of Mrs. J. B. Steele was out on a visit recently.

Rev. Dr. MacQueen occupied the Presbyterian "pulpit" here on the 10th. We were all delighted to greet him His last previous visit was some twenty years ago.

We forgot to state in our last that Rev. W. T. Cromb and Mrs. Cromb were visiting their old friends here awhile ago. He is genial and jocular as ever, and we were sorry he couldn't stay with us longer. Oct. 13, 1915.

Stacks Burned

W. L. Foreman had the misfortune last Wednesday night of having six stacks, containing his entire crop, destroyed by fire just as the threshing was being started. A coal from the fire box of the engine or a lighted match thrown away is supposed to have been the cause of the blaze. Fortunately for Bowiek Bros. & Lee they got the separator away in time to save it.

Warner-Richardson Nuptials

At 4.30 last Tuesday afternoon a very pretty wedding ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon T. Richardson, Tofield, when their only daughter Pearl Almira became the wife of Mr. John B Warner, of Sunnyside Farm, Tofield, son of D. Warner, Hon. President of the United Farmers of Alberta and otherwise prominent gentleman in Alberta affairs. Rev. M. E. Wiggins performed the interesting ceremony in the presence of only the immediate relatives.

The living room was artistically decorated with evergreen, cut flowers, streamers and a bank of evergreen and flowers before which the ceremony was performed. The bride entered the room to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march playedby her cousin, Miss L. Rudd, and was given in marriage by her father. She was very prettily gowned in ivory duchess satin, trimmed with real lace and seed pearls and carried a shower bouquet of white roses.

Mrs. Agnew Dodds, who acted as matron of honor, was gowned in sea green charmeuse silk and carried pink carnations. The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Donnell Warner.

During the signing of the register Miss Rudd sang very sweetly appropriate song, "I Love You Truly." Following the ceremony a dinner was served.

The bride's mother was gowned in brown charmeuse satin and real lace and the groom's mother wore pearl gray crepe de chine over Russian blue satin. Mrs. Wiggins wore blue silk with bolero of black lace. Mrs. Rudd was in reseda silk with a gold trimmings and Miss Rudd apricot satin with runner of shadow lace, beaded in pearls. The bride received many pretty and useful presents which betoken the esteem in which she is held by her many friends in Tofield and vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Warner left on the 7.50 train for Banff and Montana. The bride travelling in a very pretty suit of Ningpo brown broadcloth made in Russian Military style, the coat opening over a blouse of shell pink silk crepe. Her smart hat of black velvet, trimmed with shell pink ostrich mount and a stylish set of black Persian lamb completed the costume.

MOVING

We are moving our grist mill closer to the barn so to make it more convenient to you and to us. Therefore this is to say that there will be no grinding on Oct. 25-6-7-8. Then we will be at your service Again.

Pupils Receive Prizes and Diplomas

Tuesday night last will long be remembered by the younger generation in Tofield it being the occasion of what is hoped will be the first annual distribution of prizes for merit in the last term's work in the school. Variety theatre in which the function took place was filled to its uttermost capacity with pupils, their parents and friends.

Assembled upon the platform were the Mayor, members of the school staff, Inspector Stobbie Masters Stewart and Wiggins, and Dr. Miller of the Technical School, Edmonton. J. W. Cockron of the school board occupied the chair most acceptably.

Dr. Miller who was requested by Hon. J. R. Boyle to represent him owing to his unavoidable absence, delivered a most interesting and pleasing address upon the subject of the history of Education and the patriotic duty of the parents towards the young in the matter of the provision of the best which can be provided in the way of education and building up of the character of true citizenship. Briefly he sketched the history of education from the early days up to the present showing how it has been developed and enlarged in its scope.

Dr. Miller reminded them that up to a quite recent date this country had not provided means whereby boys and girls could be trained for any of the skilled vocations in life. Training for nurses, the fine arts, or the learned professions could not be obtained. Even manual training was costly. Now the Department was determined that these facilities should no longer be wanting, but that, as in the older countries, any ambitious boy or girl could obtain the training he or she desired, or could proceed to the University free of cost. Boys also should have every opportunity of becoming skilled mechanics if they so desired. The principal difficulty was that the parents did not work in the interests of the children. It is a fortunate thing that children are protected against the evils of unfortunate parentage. Even as it is the parents would do well to allow their children to profit to a much greater extent by the advantages of education as we have it to-day. At the present time we hear everywhere the cry of "patriotism." There are many ways of displaying one's patriotism. We owe a solemn duty to the front to fight for our country. We can also stay at home and by showing economy generously to say: port the wives and families of those who are out on active service. Put there is another and no less important way of showing patriotism and that is by bringing up the children to be useful citizens of our great Empire, by crushing all individual selfishness in this matter, but, regarding each of the children as a unit of the empire, prepare that child to take his part creditably.

After the conclusion of Dr. Miller's address suitable votes of thanks were proposed and heartily endorsed. This was followed by the programme which was rendered by the pupils. The choral work in observing of special mention being of exceptional merit and shows Prin. Popplestone as being an adept in the art of this very desirable branch of training. The parents of the pupils are indeed proud of the talent shown to be possessed by their children and appreciate most heartily the fine work which is being done in its development by Mr. Poppleston. May the good work go on. The prize list and programme follow.

Lindbrook News

As our correspondent has not yet returned to duty, we again take the liberty to contribute a few words. Maybe he is gone to the war. If such is the case we trust he will return to our midst again safe and sound.

McClimmon's road crew are still busy grading the phone line. We hope they will complete the job before winter sets in as first class work is being done. We presume that automobiles will be spending over this road in outrageous numbers next summer.

Miss McKee was a visitor at Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Lindsay's on Sunday last.

Harvesting is over and threshing is drawing near completion. Now for the social side of life.

It is said that one householder has already purchased a good supply of wax. (Hear, Hear.) That sure means a dance, so please let it be soon, as Lindbrookites are looking longingly forward to the time when they will be called upon to test that new floor.

Pte. W. L. Jones was up from Calgary last Saturday and Sunday on a short visit to his wife and family. We hear that his Battalion, the 51st, is shortly to leave for England.

Geo. and C. Weatherill and P. Swain spent a few hours in quiet enjoyment last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Woodwell.

Friends of Sergt. Major Swann are pleased to learn that his Batt. will winter in Edmonton. We hope that he will be with us especially at some of our Lindbrook hops.

J. W.comcroft and W. L. Rogers made a trip to Edmonton last week with a load of wheat each for the grist mill. They returned last Saturday with a splendid lot of grist class flour. The Hills can sure raise the very best of wheat.

It is reported that M. F. Hand is contemplating giving the young folks of the neighborhood a jolly good time at an early date. It will be a Social and Dance combined. Good for you Mike, you are one of the best.

The subjects for instruction will be.—Conversational English,for foreigners, Composition, Letter Writing, Arithmetic, Algebra, Shorthand Bookkeeping and Orthography. Other subjects may be arranged for as the demand arises. If sufficient applications are made the classes will be commenced at an early date. The classes will be under the direction of Mr. C. E. Popplestone, Principal. All residents desirous of attending the course are requested to immediately communicate with the Secretary-Treasurer, Mr. A. J. H. McCauley.

Patriotic Fund

In view of the urgent need for funds by the above Society the farmers of the Tofield District are asked to donate part of the proceeds from the sale of their grain. Every cent of the money subscribed reaches the persons for whom it is intended (viz. The wives and children of the men who are fighting our battles.)

Messrs Pincott, Morton and Heathfield have consented to act as collectors for the Society, and will gladly accept and give you a receipt for your contribution, which will also be acknowledged in the Standard.

Remember we are all interested and all we have is at stake. We can't all fight. We can all pay.

Your King and Country need YOU—NOW.

You can help even if you cannot be one of the boys at the front.

Fires, prairie and otherwise, have caused bad damage in the district during the past week. We would again emphasize the urgent necessity of taking every precaution against undue exposure.

Well, the new Lieutenant-Governor is installed into office, the investiture taking place yesterday. A wit has said Alberta ought to do just as well during a doctor's term of office as during that of an undertaker. That surely ought to be. Alberta, however, being a province of farmers, the latter should see to it that our next First Citizen shall be one of their respected profession.

FIGHT OR PAY

WHAT DID YOU DO To help the Empire's cause last year? Were you satisfied with yourself? Did you not afterwards think you could have done more? Don't you think you can do more this year?

THERE'S ANOTHER FELLOW who would go if he were sure his wife and children would be looked after in his absence. Help to send him by subscribing liberally to the Patriotic Fund when they call upon you to do so.

MASS MEETINGS of the people of the district are being arranged as follows- Bardo church, Mon day, Nov. 1; Farrington school, Tuesday, Nov. 2; Ketchamut school, Wednesday, Nov. 3; Lakeshore school, Thursday, Nov. 4; and Tofield, Variety Theatre, Friday, Nov. 5. All of these meetings will be held at 8 o'clock in the evenings.

G. T. P Observation Cars

In keeping with their policy of service to the travelling public, the Grand Trunk Pacific has recently inaugurated an Observation Car service from Edmonton to Prince Rupert. Henceforth the train departing from Edmonton at 10:35 a.m. Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturdays, will, in addition to the regular coaches lighted sleeping car equipment, carry a tourist, compartment and luncheon Parlor Observation car. The car is lighted with electricity, is equipped with buffet for serving light lunches and refreshments. In the forward part of the car there is seating capacity for twenty people, but on each side large arm-chairs comfortably upholstered in a light colored leather, harmonizing in effect with the observation windows, are placed for the rear end and rear part of one's comfortable and spacious smoking room is located. The observation room is especially cosy, being fitted with large plush revolving chairs, wicker armchairs and comfortable lounges.

A very spacious observation platform makes the car complete in every detail, here the travellers may find a seat out of doors amply protected from dust and sun by special awnings, and at any time of year watching, when one may enjoy the beauties of the changing panorama, scenery unsurpassed and industrials which, after the Rocky Park and by the towering giants of the Rocky Mountains ranges or, as they have been aptly named "Gods of the American Alps," including some of the finest of Mountain Scenery, a snug others, stanning out in bold relief against the sky line of the Selkirk Range, while near at hand are Mts. Rose guard and Resplendent, with others in the distance. All the way to Prince Rupert, the Pacific terminus, the traveller will appreciate the facilities afforded for viewing the varied scenery by the addition of the Observation Car.

Training Naval Gunners

At Whale island, near Portsmouth, the British Admiralty maintains a large school where English seamen are trained as gunners for the Navy. At this institution many ingenious devices are employed in schooling the men in quickness and accuracy in marksmanship, among which is an aeroplane moving target. Two dummy ships are held at either end of the long structural steel overhead of the supporting apparatus, which is moved on tracks and operates along a cable. These boats are fired at by large guns while they are in motion

Soldiers' Strange Drill

Long before the war the German army had been thoroughly drilled in every phase of attack and defense that might occur in actual fighting. One of these drills was that of repelling an attack in which the enemy would be compelled to wade a stream or river. For this purpose targets painted to represent human heads and provided with military caps were set floating in the water to be shot at by the defenders. That drill is now of particular interest on account of the fighting over the lowlands of the Belgian coast.

ABOUT CONSCRIPTION

Compulsory Military Service Law An Old System Explained

That a form of conscription was in almost use for United Kingdom by the United Act of 1804, which provides for all males over 5 feet 2 in. in height between the ages of 18 and 41 to be called to military service, with certain exemptions. The form of conscription is based on locality by an annual Act of Parliament, with the result that the United Kingdom and the United States are the only free Powers that do not compel military service.

In France liability for service extends from the age of twenty to forty-eight, no exemptions being allowed except for physical disability, although at one time a man with sufficient means could buy himself off or pay for a substitute. In Germany liability for military service commences at the age of seventeen and ends at the age of forty-five, but actual service begins at twenty. The term of service in the first line or active army is seven years, the remainder of the time being spent in the first and second reads of the Landwehr, and finally German soldiers pass into the Landsturm, in which they remain until they reach the age of forty-five.

Service in the Italian army or navy is also compulsory and universal, the total period being nineteen years, beginning at the age of twenty. The term of service in the ranks of the permanent army is two years for all arms. After passing through the ranks the men are placed on the "reliable list," i.e., they are transferred to the reserves, and in the event of war they have completed a total of eight years' service. From the reserve the soldier passes to the militia, the term of service in which is four years. After completing his term in the militia he is transferred to the territorial militia, in which he remains seven years, the whole his military service at the end of forty-third year. In Turkey liability for military service commences at twenty and lasts for twenty years. Certain sects, such as Jews and Christians, are exempt from conscription. Furthermore, compulsory service can be purchased for $25, while the Armenians and Arab tribes in Asia Minor are also exempted.

There is no standing army in Switzerland, that country depending for defense upon the national militia. Service in this force is compulsory and universal, with few exceptions, except for physical disability, those excused or rejected paying certain taxes in lieu of military service. Liability extends from the seventeenth to the fortieth year.

Spaniards serve for twelve years, three with the colors, three with the reserve, and six in the Landsturm, while in Portugal, where the period of service is three years with the colors and two with the reserve, a man may buy freedom from service, the price of exemption being many.

CANADA'S COOL VALOR

Wins High Praise of Gentleman on the Battlefield

The cool valor of the Canadians is described by Corporal O'Brien, 3rd Battalion, Coldstream Guards, in a letter to a friend in Montreal. "The Canadians went into the attack the other day just as if they were drilling on Salisbury Plain. I never saw anything like it, each man keeping about five paces interval, going at a walking pace with dozens of Maxims turned on them, bursting field artillery fire and the whole of the German rifle fire for about a mile in front of us.

"In fact, no better example could be shown of any regiment under the British flag, and it gives us better courage to know that we have such men to rely on."

British Bayonet Devices

The sword bayonet used by the British infantry, is about 17 inches long. The blade is grooved to a very fine point, and both edges are sharpened. The accuracy of the short Lee-Enfield rifle is not appreciably affected by fixing the bayonet, which is not directly attached to the barrels. Some military critics were of the opinion that the bayonet, owing to the development of rifle fire, would be of little or no use in modern warfare, but during the early months of the great war it has been amply demonstrated that the "cold steel" is the decisive factor in close quarters engagements are concerned. Artillery may do much to shake the morale of the enemy, but it requires the last wild rush with the bayonet to cut them out on the run.

Sons of an Army Corps

An army corps is constituted as follows: The staff, two divisions of infantry, with cavalry and artillery. One battalion of rifles, one telegraph section, one corps bridge train, one division of machine guns, one company of pioneers, six supply columns, seven supply parks, twelve ammunition columns, two field bakery columns, twelve field hospitals, and two horse depots, making a total of 4,000 officers, 36,000 men, 14,000 horses, and 2,000 vehicles. There will be spare wheels, spare poles, spare gun parts, spare saddlery and harness in enormous quantity. And all this mass of paraphernalia is required to maintain in the field only three men.

Holy War to be Easy

"An amazing instance of German arrogance is related in Gems," writes an American in the Daily Chronicle. "The departing German consul, on leaving his house, was observed to have no luggage, save two small handbags. The cabman asked if there were not other things, whereupon the gentleman replied, 'I will return for the remainder of the luggage together with my Emperor.'"

Baled Soyville Plant

CAPTAIN W. H. G. BULLARD
Director of the U.S. Navy radio service, who has established one of the wireless station at Sayville, L.I., which is owned by the Atlantic Communication Co., a German syndicate. The Washington Government learned that secret code messages were being transmitted from the station giving details as to the sailings of vessels.

Tinder-Boxes for Soldiers

There are many ways in which old and almost forgotten methods of war have been adapted to modern use in the trenches. In Belgium made a great use of bows and arrows, and bent and straight sticks are in many in stance. The soldiers in the trenches, who have the very newest weapons in their equipment are very glad to go back to the old flint and tinder boxes, because they can't use the matches, for they suffer so much from the cold and damp that they are soon rendered useless. To meet this difficulty the old flint and tinder boxes are being supplied to the soldiers and to sailors. Another good thing about the tinder box is that it does not show out in the wind as a match does, and does not show a flame to attract the enemy's attention.

A specially-planned tinder box was prepared. It is small and compact, only half an inch deep, and contains a piece of tow, or length of prepared tinder, a shaped section of flint, and a hard steel. Inside the lid of the box are printed instructions for getting a light.

SOLDIERS' UNIFORMS

How the Various Nations Clothe Their Troops—Khaki Becoming Popular

Every regiment engaged in the war has exchanged its elaborate parade uniform for a less conspicuous fighting garb, but all wearing nations do not clothe their troops in exactly the same way as the British khaki. The French infantry wear a single-breasted blue tunic with a red collar, shoulder straps, and cuff flaps. Their trousers are red, and the bottoms are generally turned into ankle-boots. In some cases, however, the red trousers have given way to a sort of khaki.

Greygreen cloth is the standard uniform for all the soldiers of the Italian army, and it is rare to see anything but greygreen being worn even in peace times. The sailors wear Italy's finest troops, the "Alpini" and "Bersaglieri" regiments, however, is of a darker shade in peace times than other regiments are distinguished by their sweet-crowned hats adorned with immense plumes.

Green is the predominating color of the Russian uniforms, which are run in a very stylish fashion. The tunic is double-breasted, and has turned-down, high black boots, and a fur topped cap complete the outfit of the Czar's foot-soldiers. In severe weather the Russians wear heavy, greyish-brown waterproof overcoats, which are lined with sheepskin and possess a hood which can be lifted so that it completely envelops the head. The Russian drabness over trousers of blue grey, and a peaked cap. Fatigue caps are substituted for socks in the Russian army.

The Cossacks rival the French in the picturesqueness of their uniform. They wear blue coats in the knee, black riding boots, and a cloth-topped, conical bashlyka cap.

The German uniform is very drab, and consists of bluish grey which so blends with the landscape that troops the garbed are very difficult to detect at a distance. In the old days of the Kaiser's troops resorted to that of the British colonies. The German cavalry are more brightly garbed than their comrades on foot, for they wear blue tunics, with grey trews in real khaki leather helmets. The Kaiser's troops are raised for their gay and brave, which they never with his man ner of metal ornaments, and they wear for business, grey trousers with scarlet stripes, and white pouch-belts.

Among Scandinavian troops wear single breasted, dark blue tunics, trousers of lighter blue, and hats of the same shade fashioned like the kepi.

A convoy in Geneva, Switzerland, appointed a committee, at the head of which was General Dufour, the general in chief of the Swiss Confederation, for the purpose of carrying out the proposals of Dunant. This led to an international conference at Geneva in October, 1863, attended by delegates from fifteen countries, and which called an international congress which met in Geneva in August, 1864. The body drew up a treaty of nine articles, which has since obtained the approval of every civilized nation of the globe. This treaty looked to the neutralization of hospitals, ambulances and surgeons in time of war, and that these might be recognized a common design was fixed upon for the flags of hospitals and convoys, and the arm badge for persons. This was a red cross upon a white ground, a design adopted at a compliment to Switzerland, which has the cross upon her flag, with colors reversed.

Precautions Quite Safe

Two French soldiers took their places in the trenches—the one middle-aged, who had long since received his baptism of fire, the other a mere recruit, whose chattering teeth and blanched face proved it was his first experience of real war.

The older soldier tried to reassure his frightened companion. "Be brave, my lad, remember you fight for France."

A shell screeched through the air close overhead, and the young man's terror increased.

More soothing words, but more effective, and the upper arms still edge. An hour passed, punctuated by many kindly encouragements, but the new soldier's fear had not left him.

The patience of the other was at last exhausted.

"Why do you shiver and tremble like that, you vain young fool?" said he. "You don't suppose the Germans are firing all these expensive shells at you, do you? You are not a cathedral or a work of art!"

Quarreling Lovers Excite

An amusing phase of the recruiting mania is Canadian sergeant, in the number of young men who come to the office but from a lovers' quarrel. You can tell them the minute they come in by their white, determined faces, and the frowsy expression with which they go through the examination. These recruiting stations ought to pay the very darkest with expectants. A girl doesn't enjoy a love quarrel. It is bad vinig.

WHY THE RED CROSS

Description of Societies by Swiss Led to Treaties and Flag

Why the Red Cross Society? What can the Red Cross do? How did the Cross? How did the flag design originate? Is the battlefield in times of war, and at disasters in times of peace, come to be chosen?

The answer to these questions will be found in the following brief history of the Red Cross. The movement had its origin in Europe. After the battle of Solferino, in 1859, Henry Dunant, a Swiss gentleman, visited the battlefield and spent several days there attending to the care of the wounded. He was much impressed by the signs of terrible suffering caused through the lack of sufficient appliances and help for the care of the wounded. In 1863 Dunant published a description of what he had seen; setting forth reasons for establishing in every country relief societies, and for the relief of the wounded in war. His article was immediately translated into several European languages, and made a deep impression.

A society in Geneva, Switzerland, appointed a committee, at the head of which was General Dufour, the general in chief of the Swiss Confederation, for the purpose of carrying out the proposals of Dunant. This led to an international conference at Geneva in October, 1863, attended by delegates from fifteen countries, and which called an international congress which met in Geneva in August, 1864. The body drew up a treaty of nine articles, which has since obtained the approval of every civilized nation of the globe. This treaty looked to the neutralization of hospitals, ambulances and surgeons in time of war, and that these might be recognized a common design was fixed upon for the flags of hospitals and convoys, and the arm badge for persons. This was a red cross upon a white ground, a design adopted at a compliment to Switzerland, which has the cross upon her flag, with colors reversed.

Miss Christy Scored in First Starring Photoplay

It is a long road to Dame Fame, but such was not the case with Miss Christy, one of the talented young leads of the American (Mutual) studios, whose performance in the role of "Helen Carstairs" in "The Quest," the first part Mutual Masterpicture screened by the American Film Manufacturing Company, is universally conceded one of the cleverest portrayals ever projected on a motion picture screen. And, incidentally, it was the means of her leaping into instantaneous fame.

Although she has been in motion picture work little more than two years, Miss Christy has won an enviable position for herself. Tall and dark, with a great mass of brown hair and pink and cream complexion, Miss Christy is frequently referred to as one of the prettiest players in screen work. She was born in Pittsburgh, Pa., and entered studio work in 1912. Before joining the American Miss Christy played with the Pathe, Biograph and Bluebird forces.

VOLUME IX TOFIELD ALBERTA, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1915 NO. 10

Germans Won't Pass Winter In Comfort

Petrograd, Oct. 23.—The Riga region where the Germans had based their latest hopes of success is proving a new source of disappointment to them. The sudden intensity of their operations on the northern end of the line has not taken the Russians unaware.

On German prisoners have been found copies or orders urging them onward and saying.

"If you wish to pass the winter comfortably, not in trenches filled with snow, but in warm huts, it is necessary for you to hold the banks of the Dvina. Behind this cover, impregnable to the Russians we should be absolutely safe."

Despite the use of a smoke screen, under cover of which the Germans rendered four attacks on the village of Plekanen, east of Olai, and eight miles from Dvina they were unable to silence the Russian batteries which showed in shells on the assaulting columns, compelling them each time they appeared to retreat.

Regarding the success gained in Argion Baranovichi, experts of the staff say the Germans will probably have to evacuate the whole region, which is very important to them as it serves to link the southern and northern fronts. Further south, by means of counter attacks near Kolki the Austro-Germans are advancing at all costs to retain the left bank of the Styr. It is probable, however, they may be bound to retreat to Kovel in the face of the stubborn pressure from the Russians.

Canada Will Give $7,500,000.00

All Provinces Asked to Unite in Aiding Soldiers' Families

Ottawa, Oct. 14.—The Duke of Connaught will head a campaign beginning Nov. 1, to raise $7,500,000 throughout the Dominion for the Canadian Patriotic Fund. During the past year $5,320,000 was subscribed. Twenty thousand families are at present receiving aid from the fund but by Christmas it is expected that this will be increased to twenty five thousand families and more money will be required. This fund supplements the regular military allowances. The average subscription during the war year ending Sept. 1 last was 70 cents per head, but this year one dollar will be necessary. A summary of contributions shows that Manitoba last year headed the subscription with $1.47 per head of population, and the others in order were: Quebec, 80 cents; British Columbia, 73 cents; Ontario, 68 cents; Alberta, 48 cents; Saskatchewan, 40 cents, and the Maritime Provinces lowest with 30 cents.

DISTRIBUTION OF FUND

Alberta has enlisted more men in ratio of population than any other province, and will require a million dollars. This would call for a per capita subscription of $2, but if Alberta raises half of that she will have done her duty.

Quebec, the Maritime Provinces and Ontario have not furnished so many soldiers according to population as have the western provinces and therefore the money required for the dependents of the soldiers is not to great per capita. For instance, it only requires 60 cents per capita from Quebec to care for the families of its soldiers, the Maritime Provinces 61 cents and Ontario 82 cents, but the Saskatchewan people would have to pay $1 for their families, British Columbia $1.37 Manitoba $1.90 and Alberta $2.

Town to Consider Rink Operation

Council met in regular session last Monday evening, all being present with the exception of the mayor, who was unavoidably absent, and Coun. Ingram.

Coun. M. E. Mahaffey was appointed as deputy mayor for the last quarter of the year.

J. W. Morton was given permission to operate a grain warehouse on Industrial spur No 1 and the Industrial Committee instructed to have agreement made with Mr. Morton relieving the town from any damages that might arise to property by the operation of the spur for his benefit.

The constable was instructed to inspect the rink and ascertain what damages had been made to the rink by the fair association and report same to the secretary who is to inform the secretary of the association.

A communication was read from the O. C. commanding Dist. No. 13 relative to making a roll of honor of all those who had enlisted from this district and this was handed over to the secretary of the local Canadian Patriotic Fund.

Messrs G. McLaughlin and J. Lee appeared before council as a deputation from the Curling Club asking the council to consider the taking over and operating the rink during the coming winter. As the result of the discussion which arose council decided that on adjournment it adjourn to Thursday night to meet as many curlers and skaters as possible so that the matter might be fully gone into.

Council decided to take over at once the property north of C. L. & G. subdivision formerly owned by A. McMullen but sold by him and which was subsequently forfeited for non payment of taxes in Oct. 1915 and collect any revenue to be derived from its use.

Applications were read for the job of Town Man of all Work as called for by council at last meeting. Applications from J. N. Lefler at $60 per month, Easton at $50, Ausman at $55, J. Ferguson at $60 and A. McMullen at $75 were read. The matter of decision was left over until the meeting on Thursday night.

Canadian Patriotic Fund Mass Meetings

Monday evening the meeting will be held in Bardo church, Tuesday evening in Farmington school, Wednesday evening in Ketchamut school, Thursday evening in Lakeshore school and Friday evening will be the big evening close in Variety Theatre, Tofield. At all of these meetings A. E. Ottewell of the Department of Extension of the University of Alberta will deliver an address accompanied by a series of interesting moving scenes on the war zone. At Bardo Mr. Ottewell expects to have one of the members of the college faculty at Camrose. At Tofield Mr. John Blum, secretary of the North Alberta Patriotic Fund, will also be one of the speakers and the O. C. commanding Dist. No. 13 have some heart searching truths to impart in true artillery fashion. Admission to all of these meetings will be absolutely free.

TOFIELD, ALBERTA, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1915

Your King and Country need YOU—NOW.

You can help even if you cannot be one of the boys at the front.

o o o o o

Your opportunity is coming quickly to prove whether you are a rear liner in patriotism or a leader. Remember your influence counts for more than you think.

o o o o o

Miss Edith Cavell willingly gave her life for her country What are we willing to do for those who are going forward to the front who have placed their lives on the altar of sacrifice for our country? This is something to think of when we are asked to do our part.

o o o o o

KING GEORGE has issued an appeal to the Empire for additional recruiting results. Men are coming forward. Everything points to the fact that the Empire is in dire need. There's no use deluding ourselves with any other idea. The struggle must be won. We feel that we will win it. But we must also get the idea into our heads that it is going to cost us something and that the cost is great.

o o o o o

Recruiting by the voluntary system is having one last trial in the Old Country before some sort of compulsory system is resorted to. Things have to go to some length in Canada before we come to this pass. It nevertheless goes almost without saying that there are many young Canadians of proper age who apparently have no good reason why they should not be doing their part in bearing arms for the country. It is facts like this that do most towards creating the opinion that universal training is a desirable thing.

o o o o o

There's one thing about it that will be something of a satisfaction. In the appeal that is being made to every man throughout the length and breadth of the country what he will have done in its support will be set down opposite to his name. In the years to come following the war and the development of the country this record will come in handy for reference.

A meeting of Cornhill R. M. Council will be held next Saturday at 1 p. m.

O Canada!

O Canada! Our home, our native land,
True patriot love thou dost in us command.
We see thee rising fair, dear land,
The True North strong and free;
And stand on guard, O Canada,
We stand on guard for thee.

Chorus

O Canada! O Canada!
O Canada! We stand on guard for thee.
O Canada! We stand on guard for thee.

O Canada! Where Pines and Maples grow,
Great prairies spread and lordly rivers flow.
Thou art the land, O Canada,
From East to Western sea,
The land of hope for all who toil,
The land of liberty.

O Canada! Beneath thy shining skies
May stalwart sons and gentle maidens rise;
And so abide, O Canada,
From East to Western sea,
Where e'er thy pines and prairies are,
The true North strong and free.

G. T. P Observation Cars

In keeping with their policy of service to the travelling public, the Grand Trunk Pacific has recently inaugurated an Observation Car service from Edmonton to Prince Rupert. Henceforth the train departing from Edmonton at 10.35 p.m. Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturdays, will, in addition to the regular electric lighted sleeping car equipment, carry a new, commodious and luxurious Parlor Observation car. The car is lighted with electricity, is equipped with buffet for serving light lunches and refreshments. In the forward part of the car there is seating capacity for twenty people, ten on each side large arm-chairs comfortably upholstered in a light colored leather, harmonizing in effect with the oth- er decorations. Between the forward and rear part of car a comfortable and spacious smoking room is located. The observation room is especially cosy, being fitted with large plush revolving chairs, wicker armchairs and comfortable lounge.

A very spacious observation platform makes the car complete in every detail; here the traveller can find a seat out of doors amply protected from dust and sun by special construction of car and rear awning, where one may enjoy the beauties of the changing panoramic scenery unsurpassed and indescribable, through Jasper Park and by the towering giants of the Rocky Mountain range or, as they have been aptly named the "North American Alps," including some of the finest of Mountain Scenery, s mong others, standing out in bold relief is the far-famed Mt. Robson, while near at hand are Mts. Resplendent and Resplendent, with others, to the distance. All the way to Prince Rupert, the Pacific terminus, the traveller will appreciate the facilities afforded for viewing the varied scenery by the addition of this Observation Car.

A FACETIOUS CORPORAL

Connor Entered into Spirit of Non-Com's Really Humorous Letter

In the following letter, written by a British army corporal in France, to his brother, the censor became so interested that he made some interpolations:

"We have been working for about a week, so we are going back to the trenches for a rest. We are quite ready to meet the Germans again; we have scrubbed our mess-tins, cleaned our buttons and polished our bayonet scabbards, cleaned our equipment, polished our boots, and all of us have our cap badges in our caps. We have been inspected by all the generals in the army, and Sir John French is bringing three more to inspect us on Monday. We give our entrenchments a big coat of whitewash as extra scrub for this. We can't prevent arms by name but we'll enough now to take a really important part in the fighting. There is going to be some bom work done next week; only yesterday one of our bomb throwers threw one of our mess cans in by means of mail. That is only practicing. Heaven only knows what will happen when he really gets to work.

"You don't know how to take a bath, do you, Jim? Quite simple. Some body goes in front and outs the bath and when the bomb throwers throw a lot of bombs into the trench and then the rest advance and take the trench. It's best to select an enemy piled trench for this pastime. It is Monday to-morrow, and we do not have to push drill, so I shall do a bit of washing. I read the other day in The Times that a man cannot wash his own shirt—that's the best one I've heard since I drop across him. It will be five days before I get home again. By the way, for your own good, practise rapid loading and firing.

"I am going on writing and I don't know whether it will go through. Our officers censor the letters." ("We'll let some people like this—Censor.")—"One way of getting our own back. They give us plenty of pencils; we write a lot of letters to find them something to do." ("Thanks! We are getting pencils—Censor.") "Our front get plenty of fun out of it. Nothing by a few Very lights to write. I'm the dictionary for my mess."

FAMOUS BATTLE FLAGS

Banners that Waved over Historic Fields Preserved in Roman Churches

A pilgrimage, to the principal churches of the Roman Catholic faith possessing interesting military memorials in the shape of flags of famous regiments, many of them dating back to the battles of Wellington's day, in St. Patrick's Cathedral may be seen flags which, could they speak, might tell many a stirring story of the feats of the "Die-Hards," the officers and men of the Middlesex Regiment, in the battles of Ferozeshah, Ondal Injeram, Badajos, Alma, Inkermann, and Sebastopol. In St. Paul's too, are the colors which the Connaught Rangers carried at Inkermann, the memorial bearing the beautiful inscription, "Brothers in Arms, Partners in Glory, and in Death they were buried in one grave."

St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin, has a great array of regimental flags, handsomely drawn of the Dublin Fusiliers, while in the renowned cathedral of St. Gilles, at Edinburgh, are to be seen flags of most of the chief Scottish regiments, many of the torn and tattered emblems dating back to many years ago when they were preserved as heirlooms by famous Scottish families.

There is a country church known as Littleton Church, in Middlesex, which is profusely decorated with military flags, many of which were placed there half a century ago by General Wood, of the Grenadiers, who had been in the Peninsular War with Wellington, and who in later life lived at Littleton Park. General Wood collected and preserved many historical regimental flags, and it was the Prince Consort himself who presented the general with many of the old colors as a recognition of his gallantry and fine work with the Grenadiers.

Surrey is proud of the bullet-pierced flags which hang in the Queen's Chapel of Holy Trinity Church at Guildford, reminiscent of the deeds of the famous Surrey Regiment. Scraps of beautiful flags belonging to the Lancashire regiments adorn the chapel known as the Kings' Own in the parish church of St. Mary, Lancaster, while in the nave of St. Nicholas Church, Newcastle, hang the banners of the "Fighting Fifth"—as everybody calls the gallant Northumberland Fusiliers —that were carried in front of the Fifth in the Peninsular to Delhi and the Austrian who commanded the forces at Przemysl before the capture by the Russians. Although the place was very shortly afterwards retaken by an Austro-Hungarian army, its fame or commander is a prisoner of war in Russia.

TWO KINDS OF PRIDE

German Officers Despise Their Men, French Officers Proud of Theirs

A Prussian lieutenant who complained because, as a prisoner, he had to travel in the same compartment with some of his own privates, "You are in Prussia now," said the French officer, "the country of equality, and you have to conform to our customs. Here we always put the officers with their men, and a French officer would be very resentful in case he be separated from him men. On the contrary he would immediately protest if he were given a better compartment for himself and demand as his right of honor of remaining among his men, any one of whom he knows would gladly risk his own life to save his officer's."

Song For the Wounded

Miss Kathleen Dunsmuir, daughter of Hon. James Dunsmuir, of Victoria, B.C., is engaged in one of the most practical movements on behalf of the wounded soldiers that have been undertaken. Upon her arrival in England, Miss Dunsmuir purchased a large motor truck which she fitted up as a mess kitchen. This was attached to the Army Service corps by the government, and she was given by Gen. Bruce Williams a special guest to meet her at Havre and book other her stores. Miss Dunsmuir's plan is to make her base at Havre and to run her motor to and fro behind the firing line, meeting the wounded as they come from the trenches.

The Latest Torpedo

Lisbon papers announce the invention by a Portuguese engineer, Carlos Carvalho, of a torpedo, for sinking submarines only, its shock not affecting other vessels. Carvalho claims that his torpedo will destroy submarines if it is fired either on the prow or the periscope. He hopes to sell his invention to the allies.

Gunmaker Also Workman

British workmen employed at the Walther shipyards at Messrs. Swan, Hunter and Wigham Richardson, helped the lead of the Midland contingents and demanded that the firm should dismiss all officials and workmen of Austrian or German extraction. The firm promptly acquiesced in the men's demand.

RUN BLAMES GERMANY

"Is Biological Not Moral Sense," Says Hun Doctor

Dr Gruber, one of Austria's political professors, has been lecturing on "War, Peace and Biology," and comes to some remarkable conclusions. The war, he avows, was inevitable. And unavoidable. It might have been postponed, but it had to come sooner or later. It is idle to debate who is to blame for the outbreak of hostilities. As a matter of fact, Germany was to blame, says the professor, because in forty-four years she has increased her population from forty to sixty-eight millions. The war was, therefore, a biological necessity.

Life is the being powerful, is the possession of superfluous power, is acting and creating at one's pleasure. This leads to competition. It is the same with nations as with individuals. Sometimes this competition is of a mutually helpful, but more frequently the prosperity of one disturbs the prosperity of others. In this way arose the desire to injure Germany, a desire increased by the divergence of character between Germany and her enemies.

The war, says the professor, has become a matter of bread, caused by varying conceptions of human development and of human freedom. In consequence Professor Gruber mentioned certain "general demands" for the future. One of these must be a strengthening of the nation by a large increase of population, to such an extent that Germany will be invincible. If the population of the Empire grows at the rate of the first few years of this century it will have reached 85,000,000 in the year 2000. The population will be enormously increased by planting out of the superfluous men and women on the land, and by the development thereby of all available land. But this increase of numbers and power, the growing delight in the development of strength, and its effect on other nations, either similarly or differently situated, makes war what Professor Gruber and General Bernhardi agree in calling a "biological necessity."

Ask for Business

ONLY one's most intimate friends go to one's home uninvited, and the extent of one's calling list is determined by the number of one's calls.

In business the same facts hold. Every merchant in Tofield knows scores of families here and in the country round about, whose custom he does not possess.

Mutual acquaintance is the first step towards getting these families as customers, and acquaintances can most surely be developed by invitations or calls made through the medium of advertisements in the Tofield STANDARD.

To The Merchants of Tofield

Show your desire for business by asking for it. A merchant who does not ask for business is not supposed to want business very keenly.

Canadian Patriotic Fund Mass Meetings

The local district mass meetings which opened at Bardo last Monday evening are being well attended and the appeal for support given a hearty response. At the meeting on Friday night in Variety Theatre there should be a crowded house. The Hon. Secretary of the North Alberta Fund will be on hand with plenty of interesting fireworks. There will be an interesting series of illustrated views of the war.

The campaign opened with the meeting in Bardo church on Monday evening at which Mr. Ottewell and Prof. Solheim of the Lutheran College in Camrose were the principal speakers. Mr. Ottewell led with the exhibition of a series of illustrated war views which were very interesting and in connection with which he gave much information. Mr. Solheim followed, first in English and then in Norwegian, in a fine address in which he laid special emphasis on the duty of those who remain at home to those who have gone to fight for us by taking upon ourselves to take care of their dependants.

Mr. Ottewell went on briefly, yet comprehensively, into the causes of the war, Britain's record, her paltry towards the weaker nations and the reasons why she is at war and why Canada is in it to the last ditch. Canada, as the most valuable of the British possessions, will be the first sacrifice to the Teutons if it should be so that the Allies should be beaten and as all landed property is vested in the Crown, this would have to be given up to the conquerors whose record in Belgium is such that we know what we might expect if the Dominion were to be ceded to Germany. Wholesale confiscation would follow and the liberties we enjoy would be things of the past. The Canadian Patriotic Fund is a Fund of which every cent subscribed goes to the purpose for which it is given. Not a cent has yet been spent on salaries, the interest earned on deposits in bank more than paying the cost of administration. To win this war men and yet more men must be sent to the front. Numbers constitute the main factor. In order to maintain efficiency on this score more volunteers must go out from amongst us at once. It is our duty therefore if we cannot go to the front, to guarantee to those who go that we will see that their dependents are properly taken care of. The present is a great crisis. At this distance we can scarcely comprehend it. The figures involved both in numbers of men required and cost of maintaining them armed and munitioned are so great that we cannot appreciate their magnitude. But, let us not forget that if Germany wins we will comprehend their magnitude all right enough for the German tax collector will be at our doors not only through our life time but the life time of our children and our children's children to demand and to receive each one's share of the cost of this treasure done war. It is therefore up to us to cheerfully do our part here and now. If we cannot go forward and fight we can pay to maintain the dependents of those who go from amongst us to do our fighting for us.

In the intervals between the speaking the Bardo choir rendered very acceptably "The Maple Leaf For Ever," "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground," and "Rule Britannia."

Following this a local organization was formed, the members of which will take upon themselves the duty of seeing that every man in the district will be canvassed. A substantial amount was guaranteed by subscription even at the meeting.

Mrs. W. C. Swift made a trip to the Capital last Saturday, returning on Tuesday morning.

BORN:--At Tofield, Alberta, on Nov. 1st 1915, to Mr. and Mrs. W. Sears, a son.

On Saturday, December 4th next the Ladies Aid of St. Andrews church will hold a Bazaar in the I. O. O. F. hall.

Stirrett Bros. of Farmington, have invested in a new Ford Car which they purchased through McLaughlin & Wood.

Arrangements are under way for a Cantata to be given about Christmas time by the young people of Tofield, under the direction of Mrs. R. W. Pincott, in support of the Canadian Patriotic Fund.

The Rev. J. W. Lobb of Gilbert Plains of Man. will preach in the Methodist Church next Sunday at 11.30 a.m. and 7.30 p.m. also at Lakeshore School at 3 p.m. A reception Service and the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper at the close of the evening service.

The young people of the town enjoyed themselves as usual on Hallowe'en playing a few pranks around town but it must be said that they exercised a considerable degree of common sense in refraining from many of the objectionable deeds of mischief which have been causing features of this occasion in past years.

Douglas Hoare, one of Tofield's boys who volunteered for duty at the front and who, with his father, enlisted in the 31st Batt., has obtained a commission as Lieutenant and has been attached to the 3rd. Tenth Canadian Battalion. Hoare will be pleased to follow the progress made by their fellow citizens who have placed their lives upon the altar of sacrifice for their King and Empire.

Bovick Bros. & Lee shipped their threshing outfit to Ormsby Lake South Alberta, yesterday to undertake threshing operations in that part of the province. Threshers are exceedingly scarce in the south Their first job consists of threshing some 800 acres of wheat and alongside of this there is a 5000 acre area of stooked grain without a thresher in it. Bovick Bros. & Lee are taking with them nine teams and men and six pitchers as they have to furnish everything. Among those going are Messrs Hi ahn, Yager, M. Mitchell, J. Marsh and F. Lee.

Addressing of Mail

In order to facilitate the handling of mail at the front and to insure prompt delivery it is requested that all mail be addressed as follows:—

(a) Regimental Number.....
(b) Rank.....
(c) Squadron, Battery or Company.....
(d) Battalion, Regiment (or other unit) Staff appointment or Department.....
(f) CANADIAN CONTINGENT.....
(g) British Expeditionary Force.
(h) Army Post Office, LONDON, England.

Unnecessary mention of higher formations, such as brigades, divisions, is strictly forbidden, and causes delay.

J. W. McMullen returned from Edmonton last Monday morning. Mrs. McMullen, who has been in the hospital for some time, is improving.

The Trunk road from Tofield through to Edmonton is now in better condition than at any other time previous in the history. With a motor one can now make good time between here and the capital.

A Hallowe'en Party was given last Friday evening in St. Andrews church by the Boys' Club the members of which were the hosts of young people of all denominations in town. A splendid time was had in games of many kinds and refreshments.

Wm. Bovick of Bovick Bros. & Lee, returned Monday morning from south Alberta where he went last week to look over the threshing field, therefore being reported snows down there. They are entertaining a proposition, there being lots of threshing to do in the south.

TOFIELD, ALBERTA THURSDAY NOVEMBER 4, 1915

Your King and Country need YOU—NOW.

o o o o o

You can help even if you cannot be one of the boys at the front.

o o o o o

In order to thoroughly beat the enemy and come out victorious the Allies, that means that we have to do our part, most provide men and materials. The wherewithal for the maintenance of the dependents of those who assume arms is part of the 'material.' That means that we must see to it that the treasury of the Canadian Patriotic Fund is kept well filled.

o o o o o

At the mass meetings being held this week throughout the district there has been a noble response to the call to support the Fund. The farmers of the Tofield district can be depended upon each one to do his little part.

o o o o o

The man who is physically able and who can arrange his affairs so that he can respond to the call to defend his King and Country is doing his duty when he accepts the call. Otherwise he is a slacker. The man who cannot go and is well able to do something, even in a small way, to assist in maintaining an enthusiastic and efficient fighting force, is doing a noble work in so doing. If he does not do it he is also a slacker. Which are you?

o o o o o

That many are not as yet doing their part may well be because the unpleasant realization of what might happen if the Allies are beaten in this war has not taken place in the minds of such. We are to prone to think, "Oh, it is unthinkable that Britain can be conquered. She is bound to win." She probably will, but not without a terrible cost. That cost is a burden which every citizen should and will willingly bear his share of the load. The responsibility of each one in the Canadian Patriotic Fund is real. Will you do your part?

Special Notice re Friday Night's Patriotic Fund Meeting

In view of the fact that the appeal on behalf of of the Patriotic Fund is being made to the adult population it should be understood that as it is expected that the seating capacity of the Variety Theatre at Friday night's meeting will be taxed to its uttermost, ADULTS FIRST will have to de the policy of the committee in charge. Children therefore should be accompanied by their parents when seeking admission on Friday night.

Town to Operate Rink

Young and older people alike will greet with pleasure the announcement that the town will this winter operate the rink and provide both skating and curling ice.

This decision was come to at the special meeting of council last Thursday night when a number of citizens interested met council and talked the pros and cons of the matter over. It is the intention of council to make an extra sheet of rurling ice on the north side of the skating rink. While this will cut down the width of the present skating it will be probably allowed every night of the week, excepting Saturdays of course, and the prices of season tickets for the young folk. Another move started to be done which will allow practically every one of them to enjoy this healthy and pleasure giving pastime will make up for the appropriating of a slice on one side taken for the second sheet of curling ice. The curling club guarantees a minimum of $200 to the town for their part of the rink.

Rural Municipality

Lack of space this week prevents us from getting a full the proceedings of Cornhill Rural Municipality council last Saturday. In the meantime the announcement that council is to meet again on Nov 16 th inst., that a bylaw was passed dividing the municipality into six electoral divisions, subject to a vote of the electors at the forth coming election, and that the Secretary Weatherill was given instructions to close his office on the 9th and go to Tofield to collect taxes, will be of interest.

FRIGHTFUL LOSSES OF CRACK REGIMENTS

Regular Army's Splendid Fighting Units Added Fresh Lustre to Glorious Names at Awful Cost

That Britain's most famous regiments, their ranks depleted in the Dardanelles and the same regiments are heaping up their glories by the same awful means will be seen from the statistics of losses week by week in the present war. A recent issue of the official list of casualties, showing officers and men lost in every corps in the British regular army, bears this out most emphatically. The Cardens and the Dix Hards, both with wonderful records, stand high in the total of men and their leaders killed, wounded and missing.

The Coldstreams have had almost from the first stood at the van. In action after action the Coldstreams lost heavily, several times they were decimated, but the men who filled the gaps always had the same spirit and kept up the record. In the first six months of the war the battalions of the Coldstream regiment had lost 1,100 men, or nearly two whole battalions. Meanwhile they had given 140 officers to the roll of honor, or many more than enough to lead two entire battalions. In this little matter of officers lost only the King's Royal Rifle Corps can approach the Coldstreamers. The riflemen lost 106 officers and 1,042 in the first half year of the war.

The Dix Hards or Middlesex Regiment got their name to the Peninsula when their colonel, finding them due for annihilation in a hot corner called to them, "Die hard, men, die hard." They did so from Mons to the Marne and back again, losing 71 officers and 1,236 men in six months and adding new laurels to their regimental crest in a score of pitched battles.

Late in starting, the London Scottish took an early lead, landing in the very first charge and have since contributed month i the men for the Territorials.

If they have not suffered so glorious loss as some of the regular regiments, the Irish regiments have a very high average. The Irish Guards set with the example of willingness in August, W. C's and leaving their bones in Flanders after the old Irish custom. The Guards have lost one battalion, which has had but half of that and the statistics show that they have been as stubborn in defence as reckless in attack. The Inniskillings, Irish Fusiliers, Irish Regiment, Irish Rifles, Munsters, Leinsters, Connaughts and Dublins have all lost heavily in the fighting in France and Belgium.

Years ago when the old regiments of the line were given county names instead of numbers it was held that identity and esprit de corps would be lost, but the long lists of the present day battle lists show that they made the East Kent Regiment one of the finds, but the men who have the ancient privileges to take liberties with the city of London have not forgotten, if the honor of roll and the recent fighting are evidences. Of all the county regiments the Worcesters have suffered the most, over fourteen hundred falling in half a year.

RELIEVING ANXIETY

French Mother Suggested Method for Reciprocal Care of Captured Sons

A Frenchwoman suggests a means whereby the women who have sacrificed all that is dearest on the altar of the country may be relieved of much anxiety. She wrote in a Paris daily:

"I had been suffering dreadfully, as I did not get a single word from my boy, who I knew was a prisoner in Germany. Then a happy thought came to me. Through a friend in Switzerland I appealed to a German mother, whose son is a prisoner here in France. This German mother visited my boy when she fond slowly recovering after a serious illness in a concentration camp, and in return I got her good news of her own son, who is safe and well here and whom only wish is that the cruel war may soon end."

Now many French mothers who have sons prisoners in Germany are negotiations to conclude a treaty of reciprocity with German mothers similarly situated, each of them taking upon herself the responsibility of looking after a prisoner as if he were her own son.

"The Mad Major"

There is a story told in the British trenches of an officer known as the Mad Major, who goes up and down the lines directing the British artillery where to fire to find the German batteries. And everywhere he goes he spreads a trail of death on the opposing lines—for the Mad Major is infallible. Many British successes are credited to his uncanny powers. The legend of the Mad Major is believed in the ranks; and it will be reasoned long after the war is over.

UNDER TWO FLAGS

Many Canucks From England Fighting in French Foreign Legion

There are many London Canucks (thanks natives of Bohemia) fighting in the Foreign Legion of France. In a letter from the hospital at Joinville, one of them, Sub-sub Trobbleigh says the Legion had been formed by Gallieni, chosen to be the first out of the trenches and to take the German lines with the bayonet between Soissons and Craonne.

He writes: "French game of all calibres were firing—the fire two hours within the engage... ... the casualty percentage... at 4 a.m. the firing ceased, and the 'charge' was sounded. We were out of the trenches like lightning. It was wonderful. We were like a storm. In some places we had the first lines of German trenches, but the worst was a communication. But there was no stopping us. After an hour and a half of terrible fighting we took three lines of German trenches, and were driving the Germans in front of us.

"By this time all the officers of our Company were wounded, so a sergeant took command, and we continued ourselves as best we could. I lost finally had to retire about 120 yards. It was then I got my leg wound; a piece of shrapnel went clean through my right shoulder. I stayed an hour later I got a second wound from shrapnel in my knee. Our company of 250 men only 60 were left quite unhurt. All the others were killed or wounded. It was a sad moment looking round for our dead comrades."

Soldiers' Strange Drill

Long before the war the Gelman army had been thoroughly drilled in every phase of attack and defense that might occur in actual fighting. One of these drills was that of repelling an attack in which the enemy would be compelled to wade a canal or river. For this purpose targets painted to represent human heads and provided with military caps were set floating in the water to be shot at by the defenders. This drill is now of particular interest on account of the fighting over the lowlands of the Belgian coast.

Messrs Stanley, Victor and Dennis Corderoy, brothers, now of Calgary have together enlisted with the 88th Battion now being recruited in the south city. All three were over six feet in height. Tofieldites will remember that the the Corderoys used to live in Tofield and the fact that the three boys have enlisted and will go to the front will be of interest. Their progress will be watched with pride in Tofield. Interest on that of the Tofield boys.

Ask for Business

ONLY one's most intimate friends go to one's home uninvited, and the extent of one's calling list is determined by the number of one's calls.

In business the same facts hold. Every merchant in Tofield knows scores of families here and in the country round about, whose custom he does not possess.

Mutual acquaintance is the first step towards getting these families as customers, and acquaintances can most surely be developed by invitations or calls made through the medium of advertisements in the Tofield STANDARD.

To The Merchants of Tofield

Show your desire for business by asking for it. A merchant who does not ask for business is not supposed to want business very keenly.

Patriotic Fund Campaign Successfully Inaugurated Last Week In Tofield District

Enthusiastic Meetings Held in Town and District

The Canadian Patriotic Fund campaign was successfully inaugurated in Tofield and district last week. Accompanied by members of the local executive Mr. A. E. Ottewell addressed meetings at Bardo, Farmington, Ketchamac and Lakeshore at all of which gatherings a loyal spirit was manifested and a heartiness of support of the Fund was expressed. Canvassers were appointed for each township who are now getting every one an opportunity to contribute.

On Friday night Dr Alexander of Alberta University and John Blue, Hon Sec of the North Alberta C. P. F. gave interesting addresses. Mr Blue who spoke last went thoroughly into the admirable intention of the Fund and uttered a strong plea for a hearty support.

Objections to the Patriotic Fund and their Answers

Is it true that a certain lady in receipt of $6000. per annum gets the Patriotic Fund?

The Lady receiving the Highest Salary from the Patriotic Fund is a Stenographer who receives $15 per week.

Is it true that the Wife of an Officer whose Husband receives a generous salary from the Government is receiving help from the Fund?

No Officer's wife has received at any time from the Fund more than a temporary allowance, and no wife without children who is in receipt of $45 from other sources receives any help from the Fund.

The Pay received from various sources by the dependents of the soldiers is too generous.

Will You take the Soldier's place and leave your wife and family dependent on your country for help?

But the amount given is for the cross of anything they ever had before.

And the work He is now doing is far more valuable to the Country than anything He ever did before.

The Government ought to levy a tax and so compel all to pay alike.

Would you rather be compelled to pay than asked to pay?

Some person receiving help from the Fund are abusing their privilege.

Please report any such case to the Secretary and an investigation will at once be made.

The first speaker of the evening was Professor Alexander, who in a remarkably fine speech said that as in both ancient and modern times the greatest empires of the world had nearly all been founded on the principle of the subjection of the many to the will of the few, instancing the Empires of Egypt, Persia, Rome and Germany as being clearly in this class. The British Empire he contended was an exception to this almost universal rule. The dominating idea in that Empire is Liberty. That distinction in ideal he claimed could be traced in all the dealings of the Empire, especially as in their dealings with dependent peoples. He pointed out that in forty years the Germans had failed to conciliate the people of Alsace. While in less than fifteen the Boers had been changed from bitter enemies into staunch friends, thus changing the theme the Speaker said that the defeat of the Allied cause meant the permanent setting back of the cause of Democracy. The failure of Germany to keep faith with England and her treatment of that gallant little nation, since the war began had retarded by the moral cause of all right thinking people. Coming to the part played in the struggle by Canada he said that great as the sacrifice of men and treasure had been, and it would be even greater before the war was ended, yet the end we hoped to attain was more than worth it all.

It was, he said, the duty of all lovers of Freedom to take some part in the struggle, and he pointed out that the Patriotic Fund provided a way in which those who were prevented from going to the front could bear their share in a manner eminently British. Some were compelled to help, but all were offered the privilege of doing so.

HOW FRENCH REVOKED WHEN ITALY STRUCK

Quiet Germans Could Not Drown the Marseillaise Along Western Transline—Socialist Deserters Ill

A German Socialist soldier wrote from the trenches on the western front to the "Vorwarts" a frank description of how the news of Italy's entry into the war revoked—"A wild cheering all night. A wonder we were not over the river." Among the hostile prisoners [illegible] Englishmen and the [illegible] chains [illegible] better [illegible] and [illegible] Suddenly [illegible] the other [illegible] Italian attack [illegible] Germany. Yes, we [illegible] what does it mean?"

"Long live Italy!" Ah! it [illegible]

"You mean Italy has declared war upon us?"

"Certainly (likewise they would not shoot).

"Deep and heavy breathing. Long had been it evening. The [illegible] had scarcely settled down [illegible] a cry of high [illegible] [illegible]—cease!"

The writer describes how [illegible] French [illegible] the [illegible] day discharging their [illegible] big [illegible] and [illegible] by [illegible] "An assault" in a few minutes the trenches were filled with men. But the fire [illegible] ceases. GIANT UNITE TO FIGHT

Site Tore God, But Waived 3,000 Miles to Enlist

While the resting, resting, ours ago, and weeping that days of recruiting are over, one Tarzanite Medical Examiner of records, there are still to be found many patriotic cases. You can compare with the tale of the man who came all the way from his trapper's cabin far north of the Peace River country. A giant of a man he was, with the lean leathery strength of the pioneer. The muscles on his chest, where they showed at the best of his shirt, were like little bunches of walnuts. He moved with the lithe, powerful swing of a bear a good deal.

What pained the recruiting officers was that he had not been accepted as by any of the dozen cities he must have come through if he had journeyed all the way from the Peace. But he had hammer toes. He was disqualified for the service of his country, and as nothing on earth could ever lead him so far a better layout of passion, this splendid giant said he had been refused in every town between Edmonton and Toronto, but that he had tramped a thousand miles in crackless Arctic cold, through blinding storms and through the deadly cold Arctic cold, and he thought he could do a dirty thirty-mile march with any man in Canada. He at once started for Halifax intending to try in England, if necessary.

The Secretary's Salute

Among the recruits in Kitchener's army are, of course, many who are ignorant of all military etiquette four of these was sitting alone in the mess-room when the colonel stalked in. The "Tommy" was seated on the edge of the table swinging his legs and smoking at a cigarette. The only move he made was a jerk of the head, while he greeted something. The colonel was not accustomed to being treated like this.

"Attention!" he roared. "What do you mean by failing to salute your commanding officer?"

The recruit was frankly surprised. He even took the cigarette out of his mouth as he answered apologetically "Sir, there's neat wrong, sir. Ah said 'Hi, Bill'"

TOFIELD, ALBERTA THURSDAY NOVEMBER 11, 1915

Your King and Country need YOU—NOW.

o o o o o

You can help even if you cannot be one of the boys at the front.

o o o o o

The dropping of the temperature and a light fall of snow reminds us that winter is approaching. It is time to think of storm windows and doors.

o o o o o

Which also brings to mind the fact that the time for the annual municipal elections is drawing nigh. Speculation is rife as to what new members of council will be elected, if any.

o o o o o

This a time when the best men, at considerable sacrifice if necessary, should give their services to the municipality. Service to one's community in this trying time is a patriotic duty, even as service in the trenches. Many who cannot go to the front can give their time to their own communities. They should not hesitate about doing their share at home.

To be a member of the council is hard work. It takes time. It is not always the most agreeable work. But it is honorable work and it is the duty of the citizen.

o o o o o

It is said that one of Canada's milling companies declared a dividend of 155 per cent after all expenses of conducting the business had been deducted. In the face of a determined opposition by the manufacturers to the abolition of the duty on wheat between Canada and the U. S. this fact will look decidedly convincing to the producers of Canada's wheat that the manufacturers are looking more to their own interests than to those of the latter. What with such natural advantages as cheaper and better wheat and the benefit of heavy freight charges necessary to bring flour long distances it would seem that the Canadian manufacturers could readily undersell the foreign competitor in the Western Canada market.

As a matter of fact the duty on many of our staple necessaries only serves to unduly enrich our infant(?) industries at the expense of our consumers, as instanced by the above 155 per cent dividend. Many such abnormal profits in our infant(?) industrial concerns might similarly be quoted.

o o o o o

Lavergne and Bourassa are discouraging enlistment in Quebec, declaring that Canada should take no part in the wars of Europe or any wars except of defence. These men belong to the wing of the government known as the Nationalists, and Patenaude and Blondin, members of the government, are leaders of this wing. It must be decidedly embarassing to the government to have these adopted members of its political family so actively and individually discouraging enlistment in Canada. It surely is time for this issue to be faced squarely and emphatically dealt with.

o o o o o

Canadians are as surely fighting a war of self defence in Europe today as are our allies of the other nations. Great Britain could not with honor to herself or even in duty to herself stand aloof from going forth to protect the weaker nations so close to her boundaries and to assist her democratic neighbors in over coming the despotic autocrat who sought to establish a rule by the sword over their respective domains. Had she done so and they been overthrown, as assuredly they would have been, she herself would have been the next to be challenged to mortal combat. In addition to defending her allies to-day she is defending herself and in this game her colonies as members of her body are each doing his part to assist in bringing about final victory. Canada, as the most valuable of her possessions, would be the first to be forfeit to an enemy should such an eventuality take place as a defeat of the British Empire. Who says Canada is not in a war of self defence?

Against the By-law

(Correspondence)

To the Editor,
Standard.

Sir:—

The Rural Council are preparing a By-Law for dividing the Municipality into districts. Possibly you may find room for a discussion of the subject.

A portion of the R. M. electing its own councillor only, deprives it of all choice of the other five; in fact, gives each ratepayer only one sixth of the power he possesses at present in the selection of the council. It imposes on each councillor so elected, the duty and responsibility of getting his share in spite of the same need on the part of the others. It puts up to each councillor the task of getting all he can, since if he does not get his full share, he cannot get re-elected.

Each district will strive to spend what is taken. This will cause more to be spent where roads are good and less where they are poor or none, than at present.

It will cause cliques and combines in the Council. If a majority take a dislike to one member there or, they will destroy his chance of re-election by cutting his share to a minimum.

No matter how bitterly disposed any division of the R. M. may be at any action of the member of Council except their own, they cannot vote to remedy it.

Since the main hope for re election lies in the amount he can get for his own district, it will tend to increased taxation.

If each district should spend what it raises, it should be entitled to raise what it needs or desires to spend.

It cannot be argued that the present method of election has resulted in not having the councillors fairly distributed.

Will Sell Forfeited Lands

Consell met in regular session on Monday evening, all members present with the exception of Coun. Ingram.

A communication from the Deputy-Minister of Municipal Affairs, calling attention to the work of the Utilities Com. was read and filed.

A letter from the Deputy-Minister re Sale of forfeited lands was read. It stated that whether or not land forfeited for nonpayment of taxes is sold before title is actually issued is a question which rests entirely in the hands of the Council of the Town. The usual approval given by the Department in regard to the disposal of land is to the effect that before land which has been forfeited for non-payment of taxes can be sold the sale, which should be by public auction, has to be advertised in a local newspaper and in the Alberta Gazette for a period of at least one month before date of sale.

The Relief committee reported progress made in preparation of the rink for curling and skating, and were authorized to purchase any material and equipment necessary for the operation of the rink, including apparatus owned by N. S. Smith.

Routine business being completed Council went into Court of Revision on the Voters' List. Only two appeals were in and these were granted. They were A. A. Story and R. Parsliffe.

Regular Army's Splendid Fighting Units Added Fresh Lustre to Glorious Names of Ancient Past

What Britain's most famous regiments are doing in the present war is the theme and text that the same regiments are keeping up their glories by the same grand manner that in the past has been the inspiration of heroic work by work in the present war. A recent issue will, showing officers and men best in every corps in the King's regular army, traces their war past magnificently. The Guardians and the Six Hards, both with Mons to their credit, stand high in the height of love and their broken ranks, the Coldstream and Scots Guards.

The Coldstream Guards have had almost from the first week of the war. In common other corps the Coldstreams have had their full share of the fighting and have covered themselves with glory. Contrasted, but the men who filled the ranks always had the same spirit and lived up to the record. In the first six months of the war the battalions of the Coldstream Guards were the 1st, 2nd, 3rd, or nearly two whole battalions. The 1st battalion has given 105 officers to the seat of hostilities, and 2nd battalion enough to lead two entire battalions. The 3rd battalion of the Coldstream has sent only the King's Royal Rifle Corps can approach the Coldstream Guards. The reference list of Coldstream and Life in the first half year of the war.

In South Wales the Swansea Regiment got their name in the Peninsular, when their colonel, finding them fleeing before the enemy, rallied and called to them, "The land, men, the land." Dillwyn Com. was one of the Hussars and both again, losing 71 officers and 1,200 men in an encounter and adding to the glory of the Inniskilling dragoons in a score of pitched battles.

Late in command of the London Scottish built on noted regiment of the war, very fine lungs and have since continued the pace for the Territorials.

If they have not suffered so grievously as some of the regiments of the line, the Irish Regiments have a very proud history. The Royal Irish Regiment, which has been forfeited for non-payment of taxes can be sold the sale, which should be by public auction, has to be advertised in a local newspaper and in the Alberta Gazette for a period of at least one month before date of sale.

The Relief committee reported progress made in preparation of the rink for curling and skating, and were authorized to purchase any material and equipment necessary for the operation of the rink, including apparatus owned by N. S. Smith.

Routine business being completed Council went into Court of Revision on the Voters' List. Only two appeals were in and these were granted. They were A. A. Story and R. Parsliffe.

ENLISTED BRIGADIER

The following appeared in a recent issue of the London Times:

Inquiries with a view to finding out the number of Irishmen in Great Britain who have joined the forces have been made by the United Irish League of Great Britain. It is stated by this organization that the great number of Irish recruits have joined English, Scottish and Welsh regiments. A notable feature of the Irish rally has been the response of the Tyneside Irish Brigade, and also strong at Newcastle-on-Tyne. The brigade is attached to the Northumberland Fusiliers.

Figures compiled by the Irish Times that to Liverpool 7,000 men have joined, while of the 1,200 men who have joined the army in St. Helens, 2,500 are Irish. One battalion of the King's Liverpool Regiment (Territorials) is extremely Irish, and was among the first to volunteer for foreign service.

In Scotland, it is stated that several branches of the United Irish League and Ancient Order of Hibernians have ceased to exist owing to the large numbers of their members who have joined the army. Glasgow city has a total of 2,575 Irish recruits, Edinburgh of 1,562, Dundee of 1,700, and Cumbridge of 1,326. The total for Scotland is given as 25,768.

In South Wales the Swansea branch of the league has 874 men in the army, while the local paper at Rhondda, a small collier centre in Glamorganshire, publishes the names of 650 Irish men who have joined the colors. From Cardiff the Irish National Volunteers have enlisted.

THE FRENCH SPIRIT BREATHES VICTORY

Opening Talk of Heroic Ring of Fatima Symbolizes Parisian Feeling in Brave Soldiers

Would scarce have done it in her days of vain
Glory; its fouler than the foulest fee'd

Because she pitied those in pity's need.

The Petition to the Governor General for clemency in the case of Mrs. Jennie Hawkes is being largely signed throughout the province. Copies of the same are in the hands of A. J. H. McCauley and the Standard and must be returned Saturday evening. The Tofield public will doubtless willingly and heartily subscribe to this memorial for justice to a wronged woman.

Must Pack Parcels Strongly

The public is urged to exercise every care in packing parcels for troops, as careful packing is absolutely essential to ensure delivery of the parcels in good order.

Parcels sent abroad require a higher standard of packing than is necessary in the Canadian Parcel Post, and this applies with even greater force to parcels for the troops. Those which are inadequately packed run great risk of damage or loss of contents

Thin cardboard boxes, such as shoe boxes, and thin wooden boxes, should not be used; nor does a single sheet of ordinary brown paper afford sufficient protection. The following forms of packing are recommended.

(I) Strong double cardboard boxes, preferably those made of corrugated cardboard, and having lids which completely enclose the sides of the boxes.

(II) Strong wooden boxes.

(III) Several folds of stout packing paper.

(IV) Additional security is afforded by an outer covering of linen, calico or canvas, which should be securely sewn up.

The address of the parcel should be written in ink on the cover preferably in two places.

The address of the sender of the parcel should also be stated in order that it may be returned if undeliverable. The contents of the parcel should be stated in writing on the cover.

In the case of parcels sent to the Mediterranean Force, they should be very strongly packed. They should be as nearly round as possible, and well padded with shavings, crumpled paper, or similar protective material. The outer covering should consist of strong linen, calico or canvas, and should be securely sewn up. The use of wooden or metal boxes with square corners is undesirable, as parcels so packed are liable to injure other parcels in transit. No perishable articles should be sent, and anything likely to become soft or sticky, such as chocolates, should be enclosed in tins. Parcels more fully wrapped in paper or packed in this cardboard boxes, such as shoe boxes, cannot be accepted.

Henry Ford Strongly Pro-Ally
Interviewed by the press, Mr. Gordon M. MacGregor, head of the Canadian Ford Motor Company, recently stated that Mr. Ford had authorised him to "Tell the people of Canada for me that I am with them heart and soul." Mr. MacGregor added that Mr Ford regaly held the strongest pro-Ally sentiments and had repeatedly expressed them in statements to his officials and friends. He frankly admits that Prussian Militarism was the worst form of militarism, that it was chiefly to blame for this war and that Germany had to be licked. Mr. Ford has expressed himself quite forcibly as opposed to war loans on principle, but notwithstanding this the Canadian Ford Motor Company, 76 per cent of the stock of which is held by Canadians, pure and simple, has pulled dead out that they will take a million dollars worth of the bonds if the Canadian Government makes the flotation of a loan. Several directors, 25 officials and 300 of the men of the company have gone to the front with the Canadian forces.
Mr. Ford admits he often does not see eye to think. He is a great practical man, who sincerely yearns to "help the other fellow." His favorite slogan. He is a dreamer of dreams one of which is peace. Ill-advised he may be, but antagonistic to Canada he is not.

NAPOLEON SHOWS HOW TO BECOME A GENERAL
Brilliant Action of Greatest Soldier—Common Sense, Magic and Methods Are the Recipe

A French colonel has been at considerable pains to sound the literature of Napoleon and select from it every observation of the greatest military genius that bears upon the art and science of war. Anybody can read what Napoleon advises. These maxims, supplying answers about his gets ideas. Why only one could read it, and then proceed to command and display the Germans. One naturally turns to those precepts that at once loomed under the head, "How to be a Great Captain." Napoleon was a great captain, and he knew undoubtedly how one ought to act in order to be one. He says in the first place that one must learn to make war. Napoleon knew that the soldier who aspires to be a leader must absorb and read around the maxims and campaigns of Alexander, Cesar, Hannibal, Gustavus Adolphus, Turenne, Eugene and Frederick the Great. He also mentions Marlborough in this connection, though, at another time he said that Marlborough was the only first rate general he would consider it to have ever existed. He insists that there is nothing vague or mysterious about the art of war. Its general principles are unchanging, and most of them have to with the human element of the enemy.

Experience no Teacher
Napoleon said it was remarkable that though he had fought sixty battles he knew no more when he finished than when he began. Caesar, who fought his first battle like the last, he said that it was a great set to battles to change the art of generalship during action. He attributed to that principle, of which he claimed to be the discoverer, the success of Caesar. "Do the simple. Manoeuvres were, in his opinion, the best. He added: "I have not learnt more common sense than I possessed when generals one after another in battles because they wish to act by imitation. The position of the one up—to perceive the truth in all the conflicting reports that you receive. It is like a fox fight. The more one talks the more ill he says generally, however, to study the map carefully."

His observations about general's were to this effect: "The first for a commander-in-chief to work is night. Let him shut himself up and reflect all day he is worn out at night. At night, when every human passion speaks, the profound brother) slept too much. Sleep the sleep of a schoolboy. I never have executed that wonderful manoeuvre which was the base I ever made. I multiplied myself by my activity. I was present in every part of the field. The secret of my quality for a go qual is fracas—the rest is the gift of heaven. To be a good general one must know mathematics. In a thousand circumstances mathematics will serve to relieve bias. Possibly even my success in my math-matical ideas. A general ought not to have too vivid an imagination; that is worse than anything. Imagine the scene that would take place if a does not necessarily follow that the sailor envy is there."

A strong Mimsy
His own great gift of generalship he reduced to the possession of one quality—a clear head. "A clear head is a gift to see through all the phases of a question at one glance, and to think that has to be born in a man. It cannot be acquired, even though all the military chronicles ever written were read over and over. Certainly enough, he labored on his own reasons to hard luck and to the failure to see that his enemies had equal ability, gifts at all. He asserted that Wellington was an ordinary man, who was merely prudent. He had an utter fear every defeat. Of Wellington, he said that all failed who, all had won. "It might have reversed Europe."

RIGHT FIGHTING IS BEST
Quickness and Silence Essential to Most Important Movements

Owing to the havoc caused by modern artillery, commanders are now carrying out a considerable number of their most important movements at night, the protective cover of darkness. The night attack is a form of warfare which is becoming increasingly popular, and night fighting has developed into quite a science. All manner of ingenious ruses are practiced to enable large bodies of troops silently to advance across country and launch an unexpected attack on the enemy.

The success of such tactics depends very largely on the silence with which they are carried out. During night operations troops are strictly forbidden to carry their rifles at the "slope," which is the usual way, across their shoulders. This is to prevent the muzzle of the rifle glistening in the moonlight above the undergrowth. The men have to carry their arms in the right hand, but never with the left, the reason being that the bayonet, if carried on the left side, and the weapon moved continually rattle against the rifle and cause a sound which could be heard for a long distance, especially if several hundred soldiers' bayonets and rifles clashed. To cut noise down to a minimum troops have to march side by side in marching formation. This is known as "Tosca" on two, should an alarm be sounded the troops can quickly conceal themselves in each side of a road, if they are marching at the side of it, and they are in open country, on either side of the road. If the enemy is in sight, troops, when ever possible, choose the direction of their attack, so that they march with the moon behind them.

CANNIBALS ARE HERE! TURKS FEARED MAORIS

Strange War Dance at Gallipoli—Highly Excellent Sons of Cannibal-ness Cannibals

THE BLACK WATCH

An officer of New Zealand Engineers writes: "I received a card from some fellow Zealanders, who happened to be in the Highland regiment, asking me to come and see them do the famous war dance of the Maoris. I expected something of a dark character from the name, but was not prepared for the performance that followed. Two lines of men, naked to the waist, and painted in the most extraordinary manner, formed up opposite each other. Then, with a series of blood-curdling yells, they began to leap and stamp and wave their arms in the most extraordinary manner. Each man had a different way of doing it, and the effect was positively terrifying. I have seen a good deal of the Highland regiments, but I have never seen anything like this before. I understand that the dance is performed by the Highlanders before every engagement, and I can quite believe that it has a most demoralizing effect upon the enemy. Certainly the Turks who were opposite us at Gallipoli must have been greatly impressed by it, for they were heard to remark that they had never seen anything like it before, and that they did not want to see it again. The Highlanders are very proud of their dance, and I am told that it is a most difficult one to perform properly. Each movement has a meaning, and the whole dance tells a story. The Highlanders have been practising it for months, and they have had the assistance of a Maori sergeant, who has taught them the correct movements. The Maoris are very pleased that the Highlanders have taken up their dance, and they say that they are the only white men who can perform it properly."

ARMENIANS EXTINCT?

Latest Turkish Atrocities Show Deliberate Plan

A letter written by a man in constantinople to Ainsworth Williams a Richmond man, Parliament Square, is a terrible picture of the Armenian tragedy. The letter, which was passed through the censor, says in part:

"The Armenians are all gone. Not one is left in Constantinople. Not one in Smyrna. Not one in Adana. Not one in Aleppo. Not one in Mersina. Not one in Konia. Not one in Brousa. Not one in Angora. Your King and Country need YOU—NOW.

You can help even if you cannot be one of the boys at the front.

Have You?

As confidently expected, the response to the appeal for support of the Canadian Patriotic Fund has met with a noble response by the Tofield public. The best expectations have been more than realized. As yet the canvas has not been completed and those who have not yet been given the opportunity to do their "bit" will soon receive it. Join the crowd

Although Tofield High School contestants in the debate with Vegreville last week did not win they have every reason to be proud of the manner in which they conducted their arguments. In their first public debate in which they ever took part they scored well and leaped for themselves a record to come of which they will justly be proud.

Correspondence

To the Editor,
Standard,
Sir:

The rate-payers of the R. M. who are publishing the Council to divide the municipality into districts which shall elect its councillor, seem to be prompted by the idea, that their councillor will have his own money or his share of the municipal taxes, to spend in his own district. In fact, it appears to be a desire to return to the smaller local improvement district. They seem to realize that they are paying taxes in cash and getting no work done on their roads in return, in short, that the costs of municipal government takes up too much of the municipal revenue.

This evil mainly arises from the fact the R. M is doing the business too largely on borrowed money. No municipality can afford to do much business on money borrowed at 8 or 9 per cent. The necessity of borrowing money arises from the fact, that the method of collecting taxes adopted in Alberta is a very cumbrous one. It takes too much time to secure the cash.

But if the ratepayers wish to return to a simpler form of municipal government, why should not the R. M be divided into several districts? Is not the Alberta Govt. created to carry out the will of the Alberta people? But the present Govt. intend to perpetrate a greater evil on the ratepayers than the formation of a municipality or even their illusory method of collecting taxes, viz: that the taxes must be paid in cash and the work done under contract. The fact is that the work required to be done cannot be cut down in a written contract.

True it is that one of the R. M. officials once said that the ratepayers up in the hills wanted the taxes of the land cut on the front with which to build their roads. Is such an idea perambulating the cerebrum of their upper storey? The laws that govern the conduct of individuals are the same laws that govern communities. The selfishness elements combine more readily and more firmly. The small thier districts of the R. M. will combine to oppress the poorest one so that with all its zeal it will wish it were out of the combination.

ENLISTED WOMEN

The following appeared in a recent issue of the London Times:

Dentists with a view to finding out the number of irishmen in Great Britain who have joined the forces have been made by the United Irish League of Great Britain. It is stated by this organization that the greater number of Irish recruits have joined English, Scottish and other Regiments. A notable feature of the Irish rally has been the raising of the Connaught Irish Brigade, of 4,000 strong, in Connemara. The brigade is attached to the Northumberland Fusiliers

Figures compiled by the same body show that in Liverpool alone 2,500 men have joined, while of the 12,000 men who have joined the army in St. Helens, 3,500 are Irish. One battalion of the King's Liverpool Regiment (Territorials) is exclusively Irish, and was raised the first to volunteer for foreign service.

In Scotland, it is stated that numerous branches of the United Irish League and Ancient Order of Hibernians have ceased to exist owing to the large numbers of their members who have joined the army. Glasgow city has a total of 8,570 Irish recruits. Edinburgh of 1,561, Dundee of 1,700, and Aberdeen of 1,325. The total for Scotland is given as 22,760.

In South Wales the Swansea branch of the league has 274 men in the army, while the local paper at Maesteg, a small collier centre in Glamorganshire, publishes the names of 655 Irish men who have joined the colors. From Cardiff 351 Irish National Volunteers have enlisted.

Ratepayers Meeting

Slimly Attended

NOMINATIONS MONDAY

The annual meeting of the ratepayers of the town was held in the council chamber last Monday night. Very few indeed of the burgesses turned up to hear the statements of the members of council as to the work of the year. The auditor's report of the ten months business stated that all the business done had been done according to Hoyle.

Next Monday morning is the time for nominations for candidates for election to the council for 1916-7. Three councillors retire this year, these being Messrs Rogers, Mahaffey and Wells.

On the school board there are four vacancies to fill. Messrs Cochran, McCauley and Smith retire while D. W. Jacobs has resigned.

The Masterpiece at the Variety Theatre next Monday and Tuesday entitled "GHOSTS" has just completed a very successful run at the Empress Theatre Calgary. This photoplay is adapted from Ibsen's drama which is claimed by many to be his greatest achievement. It is certainly something out of the ordinary and will be well worth seeing.

Bostonians Coming to Tofield Dec 10

Fan ous Girl Organization To Appear Here

Like most meritorious organizations, the Famous Bostonians impress with age To the universal benevolence of the public this organization of young ladies has been an existence for twelve years.

A few days ago arrangements were completed by Mr R. H. Douglas, Manager in Advance of the attraction and Mgr Bowker for the company of 16 feminine artistes to appear Dec 10 only

Mr Douglas was glad to act as the lawyer of the Bostonians of the individual members of the Bostonians to their host of friends here. He said "Given being with you, we have travelled more than 125,000 miles through the Yukon, Alaska and the Hawaiian Islands, Canada and the United States. While we have had our responsibilities, at the same time there has been that satisfaction that always comes with success. Our company of 16 girls is, as usual, under the general management of Mr. B. E. Long and the girls come to you under the direction and chaperonage of Mrs. B. E. Long which vouches for the efficiency of our production.

We shall present a refreshing two hours entertainment, a "Tipperary Mary" which has already made a name for itself Thanksgiving week in Edmonton, New York and the east. This piece, as results bear out, is a knock from the "Cold Roof" and is the best offering we ever had the good fortune to bring to Tofield Of course we have your old favorites Billie O'Neil, Thos Heller, Portia Hendry, Dixie White, Mazie Hill, Mable Gardner Ina Mitchell and other talented young ladies of whom we with you are justly proud.

"The Bostonians" will be here, better than ever, at the Variety Theatre on Friday Dec 10 We shall endeavor to afford you an evening of unalloyed pleasure.

A meeting of the Ladies Patriotic Society will be held on Tuesday next at 2.30 p.m. in the Council Chamber. Business of importance will be transacted.

Your King and Country need YOU—NOW.

You can help even if you cannot be one of the boys at the front.

NEXT Monday is nomination day in both Town and Rural Municipal elections. The Town nominations take place before noon while the R. M. nominations take place in the afternoon. In town there does not seem to be an undue amount of interest taken in councillmanic matters, due largely probably to the fact that the present is a time during which the utmost care has to be taken in handling the public's money to the greatest possible advantage of the public. The strictest economy must be practised.

Probably at no other time in the history of any municipality is the need greater for the best of our citizens to come forward at the request of their fellow townsmen to take a share in the management of the affairs of the municipality. Possibly at no other time should the judgement of the citizens as a whole be more carefully put to use. It is natural that men should be diffident about volunteering their services in such times as these. But men are to be found and it is strictly up to the ratepayers to exert themselves in the endeavor to fill places falling vacant to the best possible advantage of the municipality.

The above remarks apply equally as well to the rural municipality. During the past year a very conservative policy has been carried out, thanks largely to the strong personality of the reeve who over-ruled any attempts to encroach unduly upon the current revenues of the municipality. Retrenchment was absolutely necessary to gain up what was lost by over-running revenue receipts in previous years. That this has been successful to a degree is shown in the statement issued by the auditor.

War Saves Airlines

Few people realize that the King of Spain has required longer leash and other European sovereigns, with the exception of the King of Montenegro, and the Emperor of Austria. This is accounted for by the fact that King Alfonso was born a King. King Alfonso is said to be looking rather blue over the continuance of the war. He loves the theatre and misses not to go to it. Nobody outside his own household has been a thought more, he says, than Prince and money to light the theatre by electricity instead of gas, and thus enable Majesty to travel to death. To add to his troubles, Madrid is rather gas-ridden, and he is most emphatic thereon.

FRANCE'S JELLICOE

Admiral of France Pleut Popular—Love of Soldiers

In command of the formidable French fleet by Admiral Rene de La Peyrere, in succession to Admiral Boue de Lapeyrere, on July 24th last, the fifty-six year old sailor, who is the youngest officer of distinguished naval service in Admiral Lapeyrere entered the French navy nearly 40 years before the war. At the outset of his career he displayed marked ability. He took a high place in the naval examinations, and on obtaining his commission he closely studied the practical side of gun tactics, and combined his knowledge with the theory he had gained from the best naval leader of the day. His capabilities speedily obtained recognition in high quarters, and in his early twenties young Lapeyrere was appointed aide-de-camp to the then naval commander in Chief, when he obtained distinction in the battle of Foo-Chow. Since then he has successfully conducted several diplomatic expeditions in the Baltic and the Mediterranean.

It has always been the policy of Admiral Lapeyrere to accompany his fleet in the fighting line. He is held a believer in armchair commanding. This means that he many have serious risks, but the French admiral is quite ready to encounter any danger for the sake of his country. Admiral Lapeyrere is the same age as Sir John Jellicoe. His handsome appearance is not unlike the English admiral, but he carries his love of open-air exercise and practice into his coaching of his fleet. His flagship is always the quickest and most vessel of the line. The broadwork shines like a mirror, and is carefully oiled rope on the admiral's ship is no rare as a German warship outside the Kiel canal.

Conspicuous Uniforms

Experiments have been made in Europe to determine what color in a soldier's uniform is the least conspicuous to an enemy. Of ten men, two were dressed in light grey and fawns, two in dark grey, two in green, two in dark blue, and two in scarlet. All were then ordered to march off, while a group of officers remained watching them. The first to disappear in the landscape was the light grey, and next, surprising as it may seem, the scarlet. Then followed the dark grey, while the dark blue and green remained visible long after the other. And Conquered.

TAKING SUVLA HEIGHTS
One Soldier's Landing Swiftly Secured After Stubborn Fight

H Ashmead Bartlett describes the operations of the Australians and New Zealanders with a view to capturing the Kephalonian Heights running north west from the Anzac positions. Landing at 4:30 on the New Zealander landing the Maori contingent, they pressed on to the Turkish lines through the night through the various ravines that subjects were subjected to a heavy fire from the Turkish trenches and machine guns. Many soldiers fell and the Turks finally fled, leaving the Australians in possession of the high ground. Then the Australians dug themselves in and awaited the result of the operations at the other end of the line.

Australians are not ill-humored about what the British consider the fortunes to which they were subjected in the landing at Anzac Bay, supported by artillery, were surrounded on all sides by the enemy. An amusing illustration of the manner's methods is found in the landing of the other six spaces supported by the fleet by the Russian, or rather Turkish, flag. The ruse succeeded in so far as the Russians' ships were concerned, but the Turkish artillery soon got the range of the ships and shelled the fields. Many of the men in the lighters were killed before they could get ashore. Those who got ashore were subjected to a heavy fire from the Turkish trenches and machine guns. Many soldiers fell and the Turks finally fled, leaving the Australians in possession of the high ground. Then the Australians dug themselves in and awaited the result of the operations at the other end of the line.

BRITISH SCIENTISTS ARE AMONG THE BEST

Our Military Inventors prove Lord Wolseley Correct in Case—Let Brains be Mobilized

The British Empire is mobilizing its industries for the manufacture of shells. When shall we mobilize our scientists? asks a British writer. The history of this question is emphasized by the fact that Lord Wolseley, when Commander-in-Chief in the Crimean peninsula with the French army, Officers in the course of a series of evenings as they arose and asked questions for solution. Take in general conditions wire sent, given—six are usually required by a very clever physicist—using higher, lower, slower to wear down their supports. It is for the scientist to devise some more effective system for doing the work of the wire. They present also to be most perfect as far as the issues of simplicity is concerned, but they must be better and quite as possible able to withstand the drift of ice and snow other than of the wire. Some of the principal difficulties encountered were found harbingers by some existing supply of wire, and it was found that there would be a shortage of a good many substance children of solution of such as well.

The war has made and is becoming a matter of military importance that the British Empire should be at once organizing given and is being changed with the Empire's resources. Such a thing is not a matter of fact, but of the Empire's resources

TEDDY ROOSEVELT.

Hurrah for the good news! Teddy is with the Mutual, the one and only boiler of the boil mouse party, ex president of the United States of America, authority on everything that needs to have a word of authority said upon it, and last, if not least, an actor for the new Mutual Summer program.

The caliber of the program will need no eulogy when it is learned that the great actor plays only a minor part at that. He supports the ghost of Audubon, the two Thanksgiving kiddies and 72,000 birds in a really beautiful production entitled "The Spirit of Audubon," released in the regular Mutual program.

Today's universal optimism in the air. Three million square miles have been added to the British Empire since the war started.

Sign able is the British Seat in the North Sea is reported to be always in touch with the Admiralty.

A MAN OF UNTOLD WEALTH

Owner of Eastern Has Largest Private Board in the World

The largest private board in the world is probably owned by the Admir of Bokhara, the Russian vassal state in Central Asia. According to the Turkestanskaiya Kraj the Ameer has had in his stronghold a vault 115 feet long, 45 feet wide and 20 high, completely filled with gold bars and coined gold.

Some years ago the Ameer had another vault built to hold his savings, and the new storehouse is now also almost full. There is at the Bokharan court an enormous cash book, which has served for generations and in which all revenues and expenditures are supposed to be put down, but how the Ameer manages to keep track of his wealth with the "cash in hand."

Counting is the easiest thing in the world in Bokhara. The Ameer's silk robes grow so ashy! They are appointed on the understanding that they must keep themselves on what they can make out of their arduous office. Then there is a small contribution toward the upkeep of the Russian police in the protectorate and the maintenance of the Bokharan "army," which has shrunk to a mere bodyguard.

The Ameer's annual savings, it is estimated, amount to more than $6,000,000 a year.

Pink and Green One Still Missing From Her Canine Collection.

Pergetta Perry, starred in "Ethel's Sweetness," Mutual program.

Pergetta Perry is known to the world in a large host, perhaps next to the first but she is a charming and successful actress, by the fact that she recently started the innovation of having a dog to match every gown. She is already lucky fond of pets and has always had several dogs. She recently received her friends that for the future she would receive dogs instead of chocolates and wrist watches. For her next of found a pink or green dog, but has found a dozen in her menagerie.

Miss Perry plays the attractive leading role in the Gumont, "Vanity" comedy, entitled "Ethel's Sweetness," which appears on the regular Mutual program Oct. 17.

"Tipperary Mary"

The returning Bostonians will present for one night only what has been judged in Calgary and other cities as one of the best musical plays ever produced. It fell to the good fortune of no less an actor than Mr Chauncy Alcott to make this piece popular in the States and it is the pleasant privilege of these youthful stars to present "Tipperary Mary" in Canada for the first time.

The Bostonians have earned a merited reputation at the hands of the public for the past 12 years, and the place of this company is secure in the good will of the theatre goers over half the globe. This season will find only those attractions which have established themselves. It is this sort of companies only, that will venture out into the highways and byways at this time when the affairs of the world are at a high tension. No other than a well and favorably know company would actively even start "Tipperary Mary" in a rollicking ripping and musical play of Ould Ireland with the locale laid in Tipperary land. It is replete with lightsome music, fascinating dancing, excellent comedy, special scenering, new effects and without stint. The Bostonians, are as ever, everyone an artiste and every artiste a girl. This unique company will be seen at the Variety theatre on next Friday Dec 10 only. You will be well repaid if you remember this date and pay them a visit.

Grand Trunk Shown Canadian West in Very Fine Manner

The Grand Trunk System has been awarded the gold medal highest award and diploma for its exhibit at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition at San Francisco.

The announcement has reached the Railway officials from Blythe S Anderson, chief of the transportation department of the exposition, and was the result of the decision of the superior court.

The Grand Trunk System has done notable work at the big San Francisco fair in bringing to the notice of tens of thousands of visitors the scenic, agricultural and industrial resources of Canada.

Its exhibit was housed in a special pavilion erected by the company, with a moving picture hall attached, where the beauties of the Dominion were thrown upon the screen throughout each day, and the riches of the new territory opened up by the Grand Trunk Pacific lines traced.

Paul McMullen returned from a successful moose hunt at Athabasca last Sunday.

Will Hold Debate

The debate on St Andrews church next Monday evening should prove a full for. Resolved that the United States is justified in remaining neutral in the war with the present attitude of Germany. For the affirmative are Messrs W. H. Mo and M. Murray. For the negative Messrs Cecil Roger and Mr. Chas. Mc. The judges are Messrs Geo. Hodge and Archie. The public are invited to be present. The proceeds are for the benefit of the church.

Geo. Bourcier left last week for Penn Nebraska.

A number of hunters went north after moose recently. They were Dave Wilson, Sammy Watson, Hugh Steele, Johnny Ryan and Ed Hartner. How we know, I believe.

A grand basket social and entertainment will be held in connection with the school house here on Friday 10-17. We are informed that it will eclipse anything of the kind ever held here before.

The Ladies Aid of the Presbyterian Church, which was re organized some time since, have a beautiful autograph quilt up for disposal to the holder of the lucky ticket. We believe the grant of this money also goes to our funds. It is expected to bring in about $50.00.

Before the advent of the hordes of foreigners from central and eastern Europe Canada knew no such trouble repatriation as a few abolong country. Also times are changed and an order of the most brutal types have become common occurrences. It is to be hoped that after the election is over a change for the better will come.

"Santa Claus" Operetta

Not a single boy or girl man or woman should miss seeing the operetta, "Santa Claus in Love" on in the Variety Theatre Friday Dec. 17. It is replete with memories of childhood days for the grown up folks and for the little ones who have never been able to stay awake long enough to just know how old Santa stole down the chimney and fills all the stockings and in gone again before one can see him. This operetta is given by some of the Red Cross workers and ... time has been spent in its preparation for the approval of the town people. A select musical program will follow the last scene of the operetta, at which time Mrs. Pinnock will give her famous reading "Zigzag." the gypsy flower girl. ... Mrs. Pinnock received many fine press notices on this reading when she was directress and reader with the Pulsmaier Sisters Concert Co. This entertainment is given in aid of the Red Cross work and Mrs. Pinnock is working hard with the children and hopes to realize a good sum to help the soldiers. The children are busy with tickets, so get yours early and help the work along, as will be spending a very enjoyable evening. Reserved seat plan at Somers' Drug Store.

McLaughlin & Wood's Hardware Store Destroyed by Fire

First Really Severe Test of Tofield's Fire Department. Utility Demonstrates it's Value. Brigade does Good Work

Tofield experienced another fire early last Saturday morning, and again efficiency of the fire brigade has been demonstrated as well as also proving in no mistakable manner the wisdom of the policy of maintaining a reasonably efficient waterworks department.

Sharp at 2 a.m. the fire alarm was turned in. A blaze had been discovered in the central part of McLaughlin & Wood's hardware and furniture store and on the ground floor. The reflection of the blaze had been noticed by Conductor Thomas of the G. T. P. who had just pulled in with his freight train. He called out Operator Carnal at the depot who immediately ran up the street, rang in the alarm from the box at the Merchants Bank corner. Engineer Bowick was on the job and in a few seconds had given the dread signal of fire by steam whistle which wrought the firemen as well as scores of citizens tumbling out of their beds from all over town and making a hasty trek to the fire station. As these made their way to the fire hall the flames bursting through the roof of the doomed building cast a lurid glare all over town and it was at once realized that a stiff job was before the fire fighters.

In exactly thirteen minutes from the turning in of the alarm water was turned on the burning building. In this interval the firemen, who sleep in their own homes all over town, had to get up, dress, make their way to the fireball, take out the hose reels and run over a quarter of a mile, run out the hose, attach to hydrant, put on a twin coupling half way between the hydrant and the fire, string the hose out of the distance with two lines of hose, and attach the nozzles. A splendid record this was for a volunteer fire brigade.

But in those thirteen minutes the fire had spread itself to end of the doomed building, 112 feet in length, paints, oils, varnishes etc., to make wonderfully combustible fuel for a blaze and these undoubtedly furnished the basis for such a mass which burst out window glass in front and rear and made the place a veritable fiery furnace. It was readily seen that neither building nor contents could be saved. Fortunately it was a still night and the building was reared in short time. This enabled the brigade today with their two streams upon the blaze and keep the flames from spreading to the buildings adjoining. N. S. Smith's frame house was but feet to the south and Pugh's frame office twelve inches only to the north. With one stream in front of the building and the other in the rear a stiff fight was kept up until 3.22 when the fire was conquered and adjoining buildings saved. From that time until nine o'clock the firemen stayed on the job occasionally turning on the water when occasion demanded and at eleven o'clock they gladly filed back to the fireball with the apparatus, having won a splendid fight.

Nothing was saved from the burning building. Fortunately Mc Laughlin & Wood kept their safe in the back yard in this their books were kept. The fire did not reach it.

The loss was high, running into several thousands. The building belonged to Ross Bros., Edmonton, and was insured for $6,000. On the stock the insurance carried in several companies amounted to $7000 and on fixtures and tools $1500.

McLaughlin & Wood announce that they will again be in business with a new stock as soon as arrangements can be made. Already they have had more than one proposition for quarters put to them which they have under consideration. Their large trade enticed positities the immediate starting a store with a complete stock and their many friends will be glad to see them again doing business in the same line.

The fire at the rear around to N. S. Smith's stable and before his horse could be taken out the blaze had so enveloped the building that it was impossible to get the horse out. Mr. Tetley's dog stayed with his dumb mate and shared his fate.

ARDUOUS DUTIES OF ITALY'S ROYAL FAMILY

Every Member Fighting at Nurnegn—King in Reconnoitering—Queen Elena Superintends Relief Work

The war has knocked work to the wall even for the Royal family. King Victor Emmanuel, like most of the great men from the front, is making sacrifices and is constantly under fire. Prince Umberto, the Count of Turin, is in command of an army corps. The Duke of the Abruzzi is commander-in-chief of the Italian fleet and has left it for the time being to take command of a cavalry corps. There are two sons of Prince Umberto serving as staff officers, both second lieutenants. Prince Aimone, Duke of Aosta, is in command of a division. Prince Filiberto, Duke of Genoa, is a captain in the Italian navy. Prince Adalberto, Duke of Bergamo, is a major in the artillery. Prince Eugenio, Duke of Genoa, is a lieutenant in the engineers. Prince Ferdinando, Duke of Udine, is a lieutenant in the infantry. Prince Francesco Giuseppe, Duke of Aosta, is a lieutenant in the cavalry. Prince Carlo Alberto, Duke of Salerno, is a lieutenant in the cavalry. Prince Ludovico, Duke of Abruzzi, is a lieutenant in the navy. Prince Amedeo, Duke of Aosta, is a lieutenant in the navy. Prince Giovanni, Duke of Aosta, is a lieutenant in the navy. Prince Filiberto, Duke of Genoa, is a lieutenant in the navy. Prince Ferdinando, Duke of Udine, is a lieutenant in the navy. Prince Francesco Giuseppe, Duke of Aosta, is a lieutenant in the navy. Prince Carlo Alberto, Duke of Salerno, is a lieutenant in the navy. Prince Ludovico, Duke of Abruzzi, is a lieutenant in the navy. Prince Amedeo, Duke of Aosta, is a lieutenant in the navy.

Queen Marghertia Sends Gifts to Sick Soldiers

Queen Marghertia of Italy has sent to the military hospital in Rome, which is under the charge of the Army Medical Corps, a number of gifts. The hospital is entirely equipped with the latest devices for the treatment of wounds. The Duchess of Aosta is also in charge of a hospital in Rome, and another, inspected by Queen Elena, is in charge of the Princess Letitia, the wife of the Duke of Aosta who has gone to the front.

Queen Marghertia, whose full name is Marghertia Maria Teresa Giovanna, Queen Mother of Italy, is the widow of King Humbert, who was assassinated at Monza July 29, 1900. She was born April 20, 1851, and is a daughter of the late Duke of Genoa. She married her cousin, King Humbert, on April 22, 1868, and her son, Victor Emmanuel III., succeeded to the throne on the assassination of his father. Queen Marghertia is a great lover of flowers and has a beautiful garden on the grounds of the royal palace at Monza, which is considered one of the most beautiful in Italy. Her hospital is a model of perfection and is equipped with all modern appliances for surgical and medical science. Queen Marghertia has requested that the hospital which she founded in Rome be devoted to Queen Elena. Her reply to the Kaiser's telegram asking her to plead with her son and avoid a war between Italy and Germany was entirely personal and affectionate. She told the Kaiser that she could not plead against Italy's best interests, but that if Italy's rights for age the Queen Mother has been tireless in visiting hospitals and ambulances and has contributed largely toward the relief of soldiers' families and equipped at her own expense an entire hospital train.

Six Years' Sleep For King

The war has not only interrupted the King in the execution of his duties, but has also deprived him of his sleep. He has no longer nervous and his characteristic twitching of his mouth has disappeared. Although not robust in appearance, the King can stand fatigue and even lack of sleep better than his active youngest son, who before the beginning of the war used to take long mountain walks and to spend the nights in the open air. He has been for a long time a thorough sportsman, and has had numerous encounters of every kind with the wild animals of the mountains, including bears and wolves, and has killed many of them. He is a splendid shot, and has a wonderful eye for game. He is also a fine swimmer, and has crossed the Straits of Messina, which are about two miles wide, several times. He is a good rider, and has had many falls while hunting, but has never been seriously injured. He is a great lover of music, and is a composer and conductor of no mean ability. He has composed a number of marches for military bands, and has written the music for several operas. He is also a fine violinist, and has played in public on many occasions. He is a great lover of literature, and has a large collection of rare books in his library. He is also a great lover of art, and has a large collection of paintings in his palace. ARTHUR HENDERSON: LABOR'S WAR CHIEF

Appoints Won Over Former Opponent of War and Made Him Minister —Note From Russia

Arthur Henderson, secretary of the Labor party in Great Britain, became Labor's representative in the coalition Government, with the portfolio of Secretary of Education, as member of Parliament for the Barnard Castle division of Durham.

Mr Henderson was a Glasgow lad who served his apprenticeship as moulder in the great steamship works of Robert Stephenson and Company at Newcastle. What education he has was obtained at night after his day's work was done. He never had the advantage of an elementary education in schools. He went into local politics as a young man at Newcastle, was a member of the City Council, and twelve years ago served as Mayor of the little town of Darlington, near Newcastle, which proved a stepping stone that some year to the House of Commons. He never was less alcohol, and is an active worker in the Wesleyan Church.

Secret Labor's Support

Two weeks after England's declaration of war against Germany, Arthur Henderson joined with J. Ramsay MacDonald and Keir Hardie to lead the Labor Party in Parliament under Labor's own leadership. Keir Hardie soon afterwards to Mr Asquith

Some time before the Government appointed he was chairman at a meeting in London of representatives from all parts of the country called to suggest remedies for the rise in the cost of living. He said then that there was a very deep conviction among the workers of the country that the only panacea had not had from the Government the consideration to which it was entitled, and that this was in spite of the fact that the evil population had displayed patience and patriotism of an extraordinary character.

Trust All Allies

Later on Mr. Henderson addressed a meeting, upon the request of the Prime Minister, in which he told the workingmen assembled that he was in hearty accord with Lord Kitchener in warning the laboring classes that the men employed in the manufacture of munitions of war were to be compelled to do their duty if conditions became necessary. Mr. Henderson was courageous enough, nevertheless, to suggest that the workers as well as the employers should display the proper spirit.

Cement Industry Has Found Puzzle in the World in Prairie Provinces

In a recent interview, which appeared in the "Journal of Commerce," of Montreal, Mr F P Jones General Manager of the Canada Cement Company, explained the policy of his company in locating mills in the West as follows:

Build up Home Market

"We wish to stimulate cross-freights and unnecessary expenses of production. Our mills at Winnipeg, Calgary, and Medicine Hat will be among the finest in the world. We want to place the product near the consumer and, finally, and perhaps in an indirect way, we want to assist the Westerners that their best interests lie also, along with Easterners, in building up home industries for the development of Canada.

"Do not misunderstand me. Not every kind of industry can have a natural growth in the West. But we believe there is a great future for the export trade in the prairie provinces and we want to associate the people, so far as we can with the industry."

Subsidies Wrong Principle

"Are you satisfied, Mr Jones with the present degree of protection—ten cents per hundred pounds?"

"Perfectly satisfied," was the answer "This moderate duty permits us to meet foreign competition with some hope of ultimate success in good, we are at present more than holding our own increased trade is bound to follow this good rocks prosperity. The United States used but a few years ago one-half million barrels of cement on country roads now, and all the signs of trade in this line are of very great development in Canada also."

In this connection it is a noteworthy fact that the price of cement to Duluth last year was about 4 per cent. per barrel higher than to Fort William, and corresponding difference could be evidence at various points in Western Canada and United States.

WEIRD VISITORS TO CABINET MINISTERS

Oranges and Importers of Many Sorts Are Made When Servants Rigidly Keep Them Out

You have hard work indeed to get into the War Office nowadays when you wish to see anybody important there, says an English journalist. For a host of guards of one sort or another have to be satisfied, passed, and propitiated, ere you come to the man you want to see. Nor is this pruderie unbecoming, for every one has an undesirable or worse, trying to get access to new and sensational officers at the War Office indignantly about Whitehall.

"I want to see Lord K. (hoarse, that's what I want)" exclaimed a visitor to the War Office indignantly when he was stopped by a burly policeman. "No, I haven't any pass. But I've invented something which would drive all the Germans into Black Forest in a fortnight! What is my name? you ask me. Why, Smith, of course! I can't see him? And this is called a free country! Why, I paid 7½ fair on shore to the telephone [illegible] ace and saw King George and the Queen at that very [illegible] Whether the angry man went to the Palace or not the [illegible] policeman never learned. But it is certain that the chance of [illegible] Lord Kitchener without some very special appointment was about as likely as his seeing in the flesh the present Shah of Persia."

Lunatic Almost Did It

Another crank did actually get into the Home Office some few weeks ago. Though how yet remains a mystery. He must have smuggled himself in somehow amongst a number of clerks, about nine a.m. when there was quite a little [illegible] morning. Anyway a clerk found this stranger in his room and was blandly told by the visitor that he was waiting to be taken on for a job. He had an appointment, he had an appointment. Luckily the young official quickly grasped the fact that this man in his room was a lunatic, for he began to say things as to [illegible] He [illegible] the clerk did a very smart thing. Instead of raising the [illegible] a number of clerks, he quite calmly asked the man to follow him, and led by devious corridors until he found himself shown through a side door into the street. What the demented one said when he discovered the clever trick of his guide is not recorded.

Only if you have a letter on you, signed by the proper appointment maker, do you get admission to the room of a Minister at the Home or Colonial Office. "One man came a month or so back," [illegible] declared that I was preventing [illegible] from winning, if by any stretching [illegible] there, and, finally I had to dismiss another officer of [illegible] with [illegible] Peter Yard.

Some Wonderful Schemes

"Sir, [illegible] you tell me if this is Mr. Lloyd George's house, sir?" said a lady to me in Downing Street. I happened to be going myself. "Is Mr. Lloyd George" ask [illegible] at home?" asked the lady. "May I come in with you? I very much desire to see him personally about the drink question I think he ought to [illegible] I explained that it was quite impossible for me to ask her with me, that she must ring and [illegible] the proper channel. She [illegible] me she would [illegible] and [illegible] and found the door open, walked in, and [illegible] might look round, and had walked [illegible] rooms, never meeting a servant till he had come across the secretary [illegible] of course, that curious chance rarely happens once in half a century or ordinary times, yet many of us at a Cabinet meeting was in progress, or thereabouts are the precautions which are taken against unofficial intrusions

SHARP BELGIAN 'FIT'

Quitting Weapon Freely Used, Admits a German Paper

Germans are complaining that the wily people of Brussels are making the invaders the targets of their ready [illegible] The people of Brussels," writes the "Frankfurter Zeitung," "remind the Prussian very much and possess the same kind of 'slapper.' Their wit is sarcastic and naturally they make the Germans their victims. The word 'boche' [illegible] with the disagreeable ending by the people of Brussels. 'Boches, boches!' [illegible] Can [illegible] ride, little boche, you will soon have to run away,' sing the children of Brussels, and when you hear it sung in a fresh girlish voice, you can't really get angry. Born opportunists as they are, how could they suddenly drop their opposition to the? They obey all the order of the [illegible] with the most correct manner but their wit is occasionally very galling. The paper perhaps refers to the incidents of the people of Brussels solemnly saluting [illegible] Prussian wagons, provoking that the German Governor might be [illegible] when that official had ordered them to salute his carriage in the street.

Commends Work of Fire Department

Fred Ross of Ross Bros. Ltd. owners of the building in which the fire occurred, was down also on Monday morning in connection with his interest in the fire losses. He highly commended the evident good work of our fire department, saying that it was remarkable that the buildings so close to the burning block were saved.

Insurance Official Praises Brigade

Mr Jos Tarber of Edmonton adjuster for the Fire Insurance Companies, was down on Monday morning in connection with the settlement of the insurance upon the stock destroyed by fire. He had nothing but words of praise for the manner in which it was evident that by good work the fire was confined to the building in which it broke out.

Mrs. Wright Will Assist

Mrs. M. C. Wright formerly soprano and trombone soloist with the Polmatier Concert Company has been secured for the concert program to follow the operetta "Santa Claus," to be given by Variety Theatre Friday Dec 17, for aid of the Red Cross work. Reserved seats at 35 cents at Jamieson's Art. Ellis and Jos Letter are now serving with the 82nd. Bn. C. E. F., the two former enlisted last week.

Eastern Canada Excursions

The Grand Trunk Pacific desire to announce to Eastern Canadian excursionists that, effective from Edmonton December 1st on train No. 2 at 8.30 A. M., they will issue electric lighted tourist cars on Wednesdays, Saturdays and Mondays, Edmonton and Saskatoon thru to Toronto, with sleeping cars through Toronto to Winnipeg and Transcontinental Line. These electric lighted sleepers are the last word in the way of construction, a steel underframe and fourteen section, with separate smoking compartment and ladies and gents' toilets. Every berth, upper and lower, have electric lights. Passengers going to Toronto and other Eastern Canada points will find this route the shortest by several hours. When you go East travel in comfort in Grand Trunk Pacific electric lighted tourist cars and save time.

This through tourist car service will be in effect during the month of December.

Lisbuie Was Big Success

The interesting debate announced in last week's Standard to take place in St Andrew's church on Monday evening last drew a large attendance one gentleman coming in from as far away as Kingman to hear the question of the Neutrality of the U. S. discussed. In ten minute speeches the eight debaters four on each side, gave their respective contentions on the pros and cons of the question. The addresses were closely followed by the audience and heartily applauded. This affair has proven in a marked degree that we have much latent talent amongst the community which it would be well to foster and develop, much to the pleasure and profit of all concerned. This idea was followed up at the close of the debate and a resolution to continue the movement heartily endorsed. The next debate takes place in about a month's time and the question at issue will be Woman Suffrage.

Shooting Accident at Ross Creek

The 13 year old son of Mrs. Cossie of Ross Creek was the victim of a shooting accident last Sunday in the vicinity of his home. With another chap he was out shooting, he carrying a .22 rifle. At the time of the accident he was carrying a loaded weapon over his left shoulder, held with his left hand by the muzzle. At an unobserved moment he tripped and fell. Something evidently caught the trigger and the gun discharged, the bullet taking effect in the fleshy part of the forearm and coming out near the elbow. Dr. Tofield from Tofield was called who attended to the wounded member.

On the Fi e Night

The night porter at the Royal Alexandra rang the private hotel fire alarm which brought all the [illegible] tenants bounding out of their beds.

The water pressure equalled the best in any city. From 80 to 100 lbs was sustained throughout the fire.

Willing hands quickly salvaged N. S. Smith's household effects which were in great danger of being destroyed.

Once again the electric alarm system and waterworks maintenance policy of council has proven valuable.

N. S Smith takes this opportunity of publicly thanking all those who so willingly helped him at the fire.

McTavish Business College

All School That Has Made "Good" In Edmonton—10th Year's Work

Among the different schools and colleges in the province that are worthy of support, perhaps none is doing more successful work than the McTavish Business College. This school is now in its tenth year in Edmonton. During these years it has remained under the same energetic and progressive management and has grown from a small beginning until today its yearly enrollment is the largest in the province.

The school is admirably fitted for its special work. Its class rooms and offices are centrally located and elaborately furnished throughout. They occupy the third and fourth floors of the new Tuxedo building, 302 Jasper Ave., and command a magnificent view of the river valley as afforded from the rear where the main class rooms are found. The entire front of the building is occupied by typewriting rooms, the stenographers' office practice department and the college offices. In a room set aside for advanced bookkeeping is found the college bank and all necessary equipment for teaching the routine of office work.

The courses of studies are divided into two departments, Bookkeeping and Shorthand. A special feature in the splendid course for stenographers is the actual routine of the business office. This course gives real experience in handling correspondence, filing letters and making out real estate, legal and mercantile papers, exactly as they are used in the best Edmonton offices. Consequently the students are really trained stenographers when they leave school.

A new term opens Monday Jan 3rd. The principal will be glad to give full particulars to all interested students.

The "Santa Claus" Cantata put on by St. Andrews S. S. on Tuesday night drew a full house. Every one seemed to be delighted with it. The participants in the play with out exception performed their parts wonderfully well.

Wishing our Patrons A Merry Christmas and A Happy New Year.

Mrs. R. Hammond, of Edmonton, was the guest of her son M. C. Hammond last week.

Oliver Jackson of Wainwright & Jackson, Edmonton South, was a visitor to Tofield on Tuesday.

Council last Monday night ratified the action of the Finance Committee in investing the proceeds of the Banking Fund in Dominion of Canada War Loan Bonds, $300,000 of these have been allotte to the Town of Tofield.

In expectation of a treat a large audience filled the Variety last Friday night to see the operetta Santa Claus staged by local talent. Nor were they disappointed. The young people showed the results of diligent and expert training on the part of the directress, Mrs. La Seba Pincott, and the performances from the rise of the curtain was splendid. All the class of the operetta a concert program was carried out which was greatly enjoyed. The net proceeds, which amounted to $62.65, are in the hands of Rev. W. Leversedge, local sec treas of the Canadian Patriotic Fund, for transmission to the Red Cross to aid of which this function was gotten up.

A petition, largely signed by ratepayers, was presented to council last Monday night. It asked for an amendment to the existing Income Bylaw in respect to the clause relating to Transient Traders. The term as defined in the Towns Act is apparently held to be too general in its application as found by assessment of the Income Inspector to be impartially enforce the bylaw and petitioners asked that the clause be made to apply particularly to vendors of bankrupt stocks. As this was the last regular meeting of this year's council the matter could not be taken up as it was ordered laid on the table.

TOFIELD, ALBERTA THURSDAY DECEMBER 2 1915

"Peace on Earth Good Will to Men"

SURELY the message sets forth the ideal to men in all their affairs. The ideal to which through difficulty and doubt, we must press steadily forward.

Let us assure ourselves afresh that it is possible to attain the ideal. Possessed of the strength of Him whose birth we commemorate at this season, not only on His birthday, but all through the years. In the past we have tried other masters and proved their insufficiency. From henceforth let us follow the shepherds and kneel before the babe of Bethlehem.

Yours in the struggle for the ideal,

W. L. ...eridge

"Keep That Gate Closed."

SO said Prince Re...to be peered through the semi-darkness of his Audience Chamber into the faces of his imps assembled. What said the Sage "A King shall reign in Righteousness." Ah never! Take forth these vials of ignorance hatred and strife. Pour them upon the nations of the earth. We must thwart his purpose.

"He that sitteth in the Heavens shall laugh" "I have set my King upon my Holy Hill" and the gate shall not be closed, for "He shall not fail nor be discouraged till He have set judgement in the earth." "Arise, be enlightened for thy light has come and the glory of the Lord is risen upon thee."

...ssary of Christ's Nativity. Let ... the Lord to Shepherds. Bring thy gift of love ... Christ unto thy King. He hath opened for thee the gates of Joy and Gladness. He hath given to thee a "hope which is as an anchor to the soul," and an assurance that when we or our loved ones put on Immortality, whether amid the quiet of our own homes or 'neath the cannon roar and bloody strife—the gates of that Great City shall not be shut at all by day. And there shall be no night there

And they shall who do their souls no wrong
But keep at ever the faith of morn
Shall daily hear the Angel-song
"To day the Prince of Peace is born."

J. R. L.
M. E. W.-ggins

"PEACE on Earth" sounded out upon the Shepherds and humanity on the first Christmas morning in the 1915th anniversary of the birth of the Christ the music of the Christmas Hymn is almost drowned in the din of a world war, in the groans of the wounded and dying, and in the wail of the widow and orphan. We are not here ever to abandon our hope for the world nor to lose heart in the quest for peace. Behind war's worst agonies peace is waiting. The peace promised 19 centuries since will be realized. We are learning the lesson to-day, that this peace to be enjoyed must be won. It was none other than the Prince of Peace who said, "I come not to send peace but a sword." The immediate purpose of His coming was conflict, as the only road to the Peace which is His ultimate purpose. Wherever or wherever wrong, oppression, deceit threaten the rights and liberties of a man, woman or child, every loyal soldier of the King is ... himself for the battle, in the faith that truth will triumph ... the false. Our Lord sends us forth to war to Victory not to Peace. At this season our Christmas hymn should strike the notes of gratitude and praise for the valiant souls who are so nobly doing their bit to bring in that Kingdom which ... Righteousness and Peace

KING WAS COOL WHEN ZEPPELINS HOVERED

Glowing Incidents at Sandringham Narrated by Grenadier Officer—Queen's V.C's Legal Negligence

Crumo Hamilton, the English dramatist, who is an officer in the Royal Naval Artillery, and was formerly personally responsible for the safety of H. M. George V. in Sandringham Palace during the Zeppelin raids, gives many interesting details of the life of the Empire's head under war conditions.

"King George is a great little man, and he's a soldier every inch of him," he said to me recently. "I have been to court functions and the army that he first started in the days of Edward VII., and he knows more about the army than most of the generals. Then the war came and he was at Sandringham when he first heard that Belgium was invaded. He was in England to enlist, but to-day the men in the transport department are subject to 'G. R.' which is their pet name for the King.

Sad Coincidence, Verse!

With regard to his duties at Sandringham Palace, Mr. Hamilton said: "We left London with the 47 guns and two electric searchlights. The guard consisted of a Major and 100 of the Royal Naval Artillery.

"We had been there only a few days when we found a detective in the house. He was a Scotland Yard man named Hamilton, with Lord Knollys' brother of the Earl of Derby. He was detailed in position with the rest of the fighting beauty on account of his name, the guards had been billeted in the stables, and the men were scattered in the village a mile from the palace grounds. Among the strangest things in my detail I had fifteen taximeter cabs, covered motor cars, private motor cars, and motor cars, two motor lorries, autocars from Harley Davidson, a chauffeur who was the son of a Scotch professor of history at the University of Glasgow, two painters, three orchestral players, two bandsmen, and the remainder were mere chauffeurs and mechanics. Some of them were all of them had licenses to drive motor cars, and they were all of them had licenses to drive motor cars, and they were all of them had licenses to drive motor cars, and they

Service and Sacrifice

THIS week will see the passing out of the Old Year and the Bringing in of the New. The year just passing was ushered in amidst no world wide songs of joy and peace and it is passing out with the same spirit in existences. Blood red war is still stalking abroad in Old Europe, a demoniacal struggle between two forces, each of which is striving to overcome the other. One seeks the peace which comes only to the victor who, by strength of arms, desires to dominate not only own but the civilized nations of the earth. The other seeks the fathering in of that peace which is founded upon true democracy, the right of the people to say by whom they shall be ruled and how. The one is Peace without Righteousness, the other is Peace founded up on Righteousness and Good Will. While the New Year comes in and finds us sorrowing over the necessity for our taking part in this awful war with its carnage and consequent misery and mourning to so many, it finds us grimly determined to Fight this Good Fight with all our Might and Fight it to a Victorious Finish. Let us hope ere the New Year closes Peace among the Nations of the Earth, Peace based upon Honor and Righteousness, will have been shed abroad and that the terrible struggle will not have been in vain. This struggle is one in which the future of democracies is in the balance. In seeing it through to a finish each one of us has his or her duty to perform That duty to either to serve abroad or at home. Either requires sacrifice. Let us serve and sacrifice.

Sunday January 2nd, has been proclaimed a day of humble prayer and intercession to Almighty God on behalf of cause undertaken by the Empire and its Allies and those offering their lives for it, and for a speedy and favorable peace that shall be founded on understanding and not hatred, to the end that peace shall endure

NO SCOTTISH SHIRKERS

In "Caledonia, stern and wild" every Mc has joined the army that is, possibly a compliment to not to the appearance of the Scots in the country, but it is true all the same the Scotsmen have given a splendid answer to the call of country "that was yet" addressed to a nation that has driven the last of its clan out of many a Northern village according to the testimony of a local lady, who recited and spoke at a recruiting meeting in the Strand, says the Daily Chronicle.

"I know," she said, "villages in Scotland where big, well grown lads of fighting age can be dragged away from the recruiting officers after their fellow brothers had been rejected. They were not eligible, but they are young their age, and might have been accepted if their parents had not interposed. That shows the spirit of the town, and there are thousands like them in the country districts and particular towns from Land's End to John o' Groats, and yet we have in the streets of London many young fellows on ... about doing women's work."

They certainly are beauties.

Council Holds First Meeting

Committees Appointed Coun. Brace Deputy Mayor Electric Light Proposition Up

The 1916 council of the Town of Tofield held its first meeting last Monday night, the newly elected members, Geo. R. Bruce, H. W. Pincott and M. C. Hammond, being duly sworn in before taking their seats

The first business was the striking of the standing committees for the year. The Mayor and Council or Whillans were appointed to draft the committees and their report which was as follows was adopted.

FINANCE:—Richardson, Pincott, Bruce.

PUBLIC WORKS: Whillans Ingram Hammond.

FIRE, WATER & LIGHT Ingram, Whillans, Richardson.

PROPERTY, HEALTH & RELIEF.—Hammond, Pincott, Bruce

BYLAWS, LICENSES & POLICE—Pincott, Whillans, Richardson.

CIVIC ADVANCEMENT:—Bruce, Hammond, Ingram.

The sale of the well casing which the town has on hand was up for discussion owing to a letter from the company having the contract for drilling the wells for the Northern Alberta Natural Gas Development Co., Ltd., who hold the Edmonton Franchise, asking for complete description and price. This was ordered to be supplied.

C. G. Bowker, manager of the Variety Theatre, had a communication before Council requesting permission to erect an electric pole line on the east side of Main street from 1st Ave to 5th Ave for transmission of electric current for public and private use. He offered to place ten 100 cp lights, distributed along this pole line, and to sell to the town at $2.50 per light per month. The only condition requested was that should the town decide to put in a municipal electric plant it should take over the pole line at cost if within a year and if later then less a mutually satisfactory depreciation per year. Or, if a company were to obtain a franchise, that the company should take over the pole line on the same terms.

After a lengthy discussion council decided to consider Mr. Bowker's offer and authorized the drawing up of a contract and bylaw to be submitted to the voters. This is now being done and the matter will in all probability be placed before the citizens for their consideration in due course.

On Tuesday afternoon the council met W. S. Weeks, late holder of an electric franchise at Vegreville, but no proposition has as yet been received from him. He is looking for a place to locate with his Vegreville plant.

Rural Municipal Council in First Session of New Year Weatherill Secretary-treasurer Campbell Assessor

The Council of Cornhill Rural Municipality held their first regular session of the new year last Monday, the 3rd inst., all members being present. R. J. Stirrett was elected reeve, John Weatherill was appointed secretary treasurer and his salary increased to $1000 per year. T. J. Hoggard and Angus Campbell were applicants for the assessorship and the latter got the job with an honorarium of $155 for doing the work. Out of this the assessor has to pay the cost of any searches at the Land Titles Office.

The council considered at great length the problem of financing, particularly in regard to the school districts. Less than half the school taxes were paid during the year and the Municipality had to borrow from the bank to meet the demands from the school district treasurers. On the past year's business the school districts owe to the Municipality some $6000 taxes now in arrears while the Municipality interest to the school districts nearly $4000 in excess of the amount collected.

The problem facing the councillors of this municipality is one which is facing the councils of all municipalities, urban and rural, viz: how to collect the taxes. The Municipal Act provides the machinery for the collection where this is possible but in the present hard times are drastic and in most cases councillors are loth to apply drastic measures in consequent putting off of adopting coercive means to make delinquents pay up is only sinking municipalities deeper into financial trouble. Credit is based on one's ability to pay one's obligations. In order to be able to pay one's obligations one has to be able to collect what is due him. This applies equally to municipalities as to individuals and if our banks eventually refuse to extend further credit to the municipalities it is largely owing to the slack methods of finance employed by councils. Neglect to collect results in inability to pay and annals grow your credit.

Dog Owners Take Notice

L. P. meaning Town license paid, also the figures indicating the the year for which license is paid.

Any one failing to comply with requirements of above bylaw by February 1st 1916, will be liable to a fine not to exceed $10 00 and costs.

Municipal problems

THE new councils, rural and town, have now got into harness and at their first meetings have become a organized in a measure with the problems which they have to face. Mainly, these are questions of finance. These are times when strict account must be made of every dollar and every dollar be made to yo its limit in providing its equivlant in worth. Conservation of our resources, and our credit may be said to be one of our resources, must be the general policy. It is well that councils should bring to their full realization the extent of their standing liabilities at the beginning of the year's operations so that their policies may be shaped accordingly.

Elsewhere in this issue we mention the great necessity of being strictly aggressive in the matter of collection of taxes. Without the ability to collect one need not expect to maintain his credit. This applies in no small measure to municipalities. It therefore follows that all councillors should have the same eye to business in this respect to municipal affairs as they have in running their own private businesses successfully.

At the first break into this year's municipal business Tofield Council has had an electric lighting proposition placed before it. The need for a street lighting system has long been felt and this need will doubtless be a factor in the consideration of this proposition. The proposal comes from local sources and if the ability to make it a practical success is there, local enterprise should naturally have first consideration. Briefly, it is largely a matter of dollars and cents. This seems mutually satisfactory rates. One feature about the proposition is that the utility will be privately owned and that in its construction and operation the town assumes no liability. Another feature that might commend itself is it is not an exclusive franchise in a sense that should a more effective utility be organized, either municipally owned or otherwise, this utility automatically goes out of existence, the only drawback being the cost of pole line at the prearranged figures.

On their return trip all was going well as they came around the east side of Beaverlake and had not an unforeseen accident happened they would have made the trip in record time. As it was, however, while bowling along at a brisk rate in the neighborhood of Forest Boyle's cattle gate discreet, they ran into a mere draft which slewed the car sideways and into a high dirt bank, breaking the spindle of one of the front wheels. The marooned wayfarers went to Bev... Jack Elliott who took out the auto ambulance wagon and brought them in. Next day Jack and Mack went out and fixed up the damages and brought the car home.

In connection with the remark of our Beaver Lake East correspondent last week anent the black spook which he saw coasting about on the lake Mr. Wm Bison who resides across the Lake from our East side correspondent also interviewed the Standard that at various times he has watched from his place the mysterious black spook darting hither and thither about the lake over its frozen surface. Bill tried it himself, but only on a moderate scale. He prefers to avoid the dangerous curves as there is more safety in following straight runs, he says, when motoring at go lake. He tried the curve once but he says never again. When he did try it in Bob he found himself headed in the opposite way from which he wanted to go. That was enough for him.

During the recent recruiting for the Canadian Legion, the 97th Regiment Battalion C.E.F., at Edmonton as usual, kept up its which is worth noting. One night afternoon a certain gentleman, well along in years, was walking along Jasper West when he spied the recruiting office. There appeared to be no dearth of candidates for enlistment. Wistfully he glanced within and paused a moment. Patiently our hero awaited without until at last he found that for the time being no one was applying. Quickly he sprung up, threw back his shoulders, closed up his great coat and collar and strode into the office. "I want to enlist," quoth he to the recruiting officer.

"All right" returned the latter. "What's your name?" Test was given. "Here you men ser-vice!" was the next question. "Yes, about two years and a half. That's fine" came the reply. "Where and when did you se-e-e? Then our hero was indeed caught. "American Civil War" he blurted forth. You don't Old Bean, exclaimed the R. O. SCOTTISH "PASHA"

Among the fighting Turks a writer in a Weekly Scotsman says there is there may be descendants of a little Scottish drummer boy who was taken captive by the Turks at Santon, in Egypt, in 1807. No adult prisoners were taken, the army being practically wiped out and it is not known why the boy's life was spared. But he is said lived, but prospered, and ventures in after years who visited Jeddah, in Asia Minor found him possessed of large properties, owned as a Turkish Pasha, outwardly conformed to the Mohammedan faith, but inwardly a staunch adherent of his former religion. He had forgotten his native tongue, but through all his adventures he had clung to a small Bible which he had with him in Egypt. On his flyleaf he had written in a boyish hand:

Scotland is my nation;
Perth is my native place,

FRANCE ADMITS DEBT

Why Britain's Lines Extend Slowly French General Explains

An officer of the French general staff visiting London answers a query of a writer in the English press, that French officers are abandoning the trench to find with their English allies, thinking they can get more glory. "French people are grumbling "We understand perfectly," he said, "that when Marshal French preferred to establish his front to depth rather than extend it to the sea, he was quite right. He wanted only successively to reinforce the ranks of his men into the fire line that they might gradually become used to the actual fighting, which at this time has become a war veteran's game indeed. TOFIELD, ALBERTA THURSDAY JANUARY 13, 1916

Of the activities encouraged and promoted by funds provided under The Agricultural Instruction Act of the Dominion none is more worthy than the improved means which have been made possible for the development of the juvenile mind. There is but one way that the boys and girls can be rivetted to the soil and that is by strengthening their attachment for it. This can only be accomplished by the introduction of knowledge presented not altogether in utility fashion but in a manner that will emphasize the brightness, the wonder and attractiveness of the works of nature. This the boys' and girls' clubs are doing; this the school fairs are doing. This the nature study classes in the public schools are doing; this the school gardens are doing. They encourage association and sociability in the first instance, a desire for emulation in the second, a favourable disposition for the out door life in the third and an appreciation not only of the marvels, but also of the beauties, of creation in the fourth. All four divisions of the work receive substantial support in every province from the grants derived under the Agricultural Instruction Act. In Prince Edward Island, the sum devoted to these purposes in 1913-14, the first year the Act was in operation, was $6,329; in the third year, 1915-16, it is $10,000. In Nova Scotia the sum thus employed under the Act in 1913-14 was $6,700; in 1915-16 it is $10,000. In New Brunswick in the first year it was $1,500; in the third year it is $10,000. In Quebec the first year it was $3,000; in the third year it is $8,000. In Ontario it was $10,000 it is now $20,000. In Manitoba it was $2,000; it is this year $5,200. In Saskatchewan it is $2,100. In British Columbia $1,000 was so used in 1913-14, but this year for boys and girls' competitions, fairs, etc., and instruction in public schools, $17,000 is to be spent from the grants. It must be understood that while in some of the provinces the money is dispensed for the purposes set forth, in others it is used in other ways and the sums required for school fairs, school gardens, and so on, are received from provincial and municipal sources. The figures, however, are in themselves abundant indication of the far-reaching benefits conferred by the Act.

Thinks Present System of Cornhill Rural municipality Wasteful

(Correspondence)

Tofield Standard,
Mr. Editor,
Dear Sir:—

Apropos your remarks in your report of last Cornhill Municipal Council meeting re financial difficulties, collecting taxes etc. confronting 1916 council, could I trespass on your valuable space to also make a few remarks in friendly criticism of methods employed by said council. I venture to say that the present system is not working satisfactorily, that it is wasteful, that very little more work is accomplished than under the old system. What is it must be the new methods unpopular with the common ratepayer? It is because they have to pay out too much cash and the present system is extravagant and wasteful. In the council's financial audit report for 10 months ending 31st October 1915, there was:—

Paid out for labour	$5022.31
Non-trans salary, rents furniture etc.	1321 95
Councillors & Inspectors	1295
Foan with mileage to & fro 549 62
making a total of	$6738.88

Now Sir, what have the council to show for such an expenditure? With the exception of furniture $18.50 and rent of office $72.00, the balance is labour and salaries. I have travelled quite a bit on roads south of Tofield in 50-10 but fail to see where any work to speak of was done. I cannot speak of other parts but if they have fared no better I think it is time up to the council to make explanations.

We know that no private concern let alone public works can be run without expense but it is only business to see that value is received for every dollar spent.

Our genial friend Mr. Francis in a previous letter to the Standard pointed out that the present system is too number-one the district being too large to admit of being worked to advantage with a view to economy. What is the remedy? I should say — to look to the old and tried system of L. I. D. which gave every school board the job of looking after its own affairs and collecting taxes which was far more efficiently done than at present when all the borrowing and paying of interest to keep the schools running.

Let other air their grievances, call a meeting of protest, appoint committee to circulate petitions for signatures praying the powers that be to grant a poll to settle the question. Surely our Alberta Governme it will not deny the will of the people who are vitally interested.

Thanking you Mr. Editor for valuable space and apologizing for too great length of letter

Yours for reform

Kitchener's Big Aid

At an early stage of Italy's fight for possession of Tripoli—a campaign in which Egypt, as more or less a vassal of Turkey, was keenly interested—Lord Kitchener was approached by certain notable men who pressed that Egypt should send several regiments to the aid of the Turks, in accordance with the Turco-Egyptian Treaty which England was known to uphold. Kitchener and that he would have no objection, should the colony make the request but that in order to preserve unrivalled quiet it would be obliged to replace the present troops by an equal number of British regiments, at which the pro sal was fain to drop.

LOST FIVE RIFLES

German Bullet Went Down Mouth of Soldier's Gun

While here on leave Cecil Bourke, of the London Rifle Brigade, gave the following account of things in the vicinity of Ypres: "For my own part I was lucky. My coat was riddled with holes by the grazing of bullets, and I was invited for half an hour by the colonel of a traverse or our trenches to have lunch with him. Sergt. (now Second Lieut Wimble and Lance-Corporal Gilbert on occasion I was immediately on my right and on more than one occasion while I was speaking to one of our men a bullet struck him in the mouth, killing him instantly. He was shot through the head. I have had five rifles shattered by bullets, a German bullet once went right down the muzzle of one, whilst two of my rifles were captured in two.

At one time a gap was left in our line, and we were asked to go up and fill it. We did so, and nights we had some fun. After six days' rest we were again in the firing line at Ypres. The country is a network of [illegible] and [illegible] looks pace We were in the trenches for [illegible] consecutive days. Shrapnel was very severe. We had our ground, and after repeated attacks and counter attacks the [illegible] recovered from their temporary check, were driven back by the attackers. The failure of the attack is put down to the fact that we had been due, it seems, to the onslaught of British bombs, which, after six days' rest and non-firing guns, many men had to go up to the trenches with no more than a handful of ammunition per man. Canadian Patriotic Fund

SECOND APPEAL

Some-what over a year ago, as President of the Canadian Patriotic Fund, I made an appeal to the people of the Dominion on for funds to assist the families of the gallant men who were going to the front. Though anticipating a generous response, I was hardly prepared for the magnificent manner in which the call was met. Monies have poured into the treasury of the Fund until the total contributions have reached and exceeded six million dollars.

Large, however, as this sum appears, it has not greatly exceeded current demands and if peace were the latest in the immediate future, the entire surplus would be required before all the men of the Expeditionary Force could again be at home.

To-day there are 25,000 families, comprising, it is estimated, 80,000 individuals dependent upon the Patriotic Fund.

With further recruiting the demands upon the Fund will, with each succeeding month, continue to grow so that it is estimated that should the War continue during 1916 a sum amounting to some $8,000,000 will probably be required. This would, however, only be-ing 21 per head of the population of the people of Canada, and it is little indeed to ask of those who remain at home in comparison with the sacrifices in life and limb of those who are fighting in defence of the Nation.

In spite of the various calls that have been made for funds to aid our soldiers and sailors and the magnificent response that has been made in each instance, I am still fool assured that the warm heart of all Canadians will respond to one further appeal to enable the Patriotic Fund to continue its splendid work during 1916 and to care for the families of those who are fighting for their Sovereign, the Empire, and the Dominion, on the battle fields of Europe and on the High Seas

Seed Grain Germination

Need of Thorough Test

Germination tests made on oats, wheat and barley this fall at the Dominion Seed Laboratory at Calgary show that there are considerable quantities of oats and barley, particularly in Alberta and Saskatchewan which are unfit for seed. The average percentage germination for Alberta oats is 68 and none of the samples of Alberta oats received have germinated up to the standard which is 95. Moreover the average preliminary count which is made at the end of six days is as low as 32%. Good seed oats should give a preliminary count of 85% to 95% and a final (14) days count of 90 per cent to 98 per cent of vital seeds. Samples of oats received from Saskatchewan are somewhat better. The average preliminary count is 44 per cent and the average final count is 86 per cent. Many samples show evidence of frost injury, these always giving low percentages of vital seeds, both in the preliminary and final counts. Alberta barley has also given low germination percentages. The average preliminary (6 days) count is 52 per cent and the average final (14 days) count is 76 per cent. These figures are very low and indicate that considerable proportions of Alberta oats and barley and Saskatchewan oats are weak in vitality and undesirable for seed purposes.

As one of the first essentials for a good crop of any kind is good seed, it is important that only seed with strong germination energy and a high percentage of germinable seed should be used. The germinable energy of a sample is indicated by the percentage of seeds which germinate during the first four or five days of the test. The preliminary count therefore is an index of the germination energy. If, for example, the preliminary count on a sample of oats is 75 per cent the germination of the sample is very low, but if the preliminary count is 90 per cent the germination energy is strong. Two samples may vary as widely as this in the preliminary count but may contain the same percentage of vital seeds in which case the final count would be the same. If the final counts only were considered one of these samples would be thought to be as good as the other, while in reality one is good seed and the other undesirable for use as seed. The sample with a high preliminary count will withstand unfavorable weather conditions at the time of seeding very much better than the other. It will give a more even stand on the field and a crop which will be all probability ripen somewhat earlier.

Farmers should satisfy themselves before seeding time next spring that their seed grain is of the best quality. This can only be done by a germination test conducted either at home or at the Dominion Seed Laboratory in Calgary. Samples up to twenty five in number will be tested at the Seed Laboratory free of charge for any individual or company in one year. Above this number twenty-five cents per test is charged.

Samples from Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia for test should be addressed to the Dominion Seed Laboratory, Box 1084, Calgary Alberta, and postage paid by the sender. It is unnecessary to send stamps for return postage. For wheat, oats, barley and seed of similar size, about half a tea cupful should be sent for test; for seeds of smaller size such as flax, red clover, timothy, etc., half of this quantity is sufficient. If more than one sample is sent, for test they should bear some distinguishing mark or number.

Dog Owners, Beware

Dog owners within the corporation will be well advised if they be star themselves and get their licenses for the current year on or before the end of the month. An extract from the Bylaw has been published in these columns during the past two weeks. The License Inspector has neither the time nor the inclination to be chasing after him and that dog owner, soliciting for the fees. Besides, the bylaw states that the owners shall come to the Town Office and register their dogs and get their licenses. Delinquents will be surprised early in the next month by getting a summons to appear before a J. P. and not only pay the license for registration, but a fine and costs besides.

The Ninth Annual Seed Fair under the auspices of the Tofield Agricultural Society, will be held in the Town Hall on Friday Jan. 28th at 11 a.m.

Congratulations are coming to Mr. Geo. A. Georgeiu of Rose Creek for his successful showing at the Poultry Show just held in Edmonton. Mr. Georgeiu succeeded in pulling down the First Prizes in the Cock and Cockeral Classes for Buff Comb Rhode Island Reds and a Fourth Prize in the Pullet Class. As a result of the excellent points shown by his birds, Mr. Georgeiu sold two pullets for $8, two settings of eggs at $5 each and one cockerel for $3. He has an excellent strain of this breed of birds, imported from Fort Wayne, Indiana, so he first came to Canada only a year or so ago.

Reeve Stirret Replies to Mr. Cookson

Tofield Standard
Dear Sir

In regard to Mr. Cookson's letter in the Standard of Jan 13 if you will spare me a little space I would like to say a few words some things Mr. Cookson thinks that the present system of running the R. M. is not as well it may be but I would doubt whether it is. The present system is cheaper under the old Local Improvement system Things have changed a great deal in the last few years. Mr Cookson thinks that the roads he travels on did not get as much work on them as some of the others. That may be so because there are other places needed it more. He quotes the Auditor's report for the ten months ending Oct 31st 1915. He sees an item $9622 11 and labour, which he thinks is too much for labour done in 1915 which if he had looked up the previous report it might have covered labour on 1914 account. There was only about $1000 expended for labour on the roads last year

Now we will just suppose that there had $3000 spent for labour on road, as Mr. Cookson implied We have about 450 miles of road in the R. M. We will divide off 50 miles for lakes and roads that are not need which would give us $10 per mile

Now I would like to ask Mr. Cookson how much of a showing he could make on a mile of the average road in the R. M. with $10.

There are some people on talking over the Auditor's Report see how much paid for labour That think that was paid in cash, books the

The first tax sale of the Town of Tofield was held last Saturday, the 15th inst. Owing probably to the time of year at which it was held there were no buyers present. Only a few persons attended the sale. A small number of bidders were present from town and district and these used with one another for the reason, no doubt, that if the properties put up for sale on the 15th the sale is a success as could have been expected considering the present day conditions Over all the lots were sold

At an early stage of Italy's fight for possession of Tripoli a campaign in which Egypt, as more or less a vassal of Turkey, was heavily interested, Lord Kitchener was approached by certain notables sent to him to explain that Egypt should send several regiments to the aid of the Turks, in accordance with the Turco-Egyptian Treaty which England was known to detest. Kitchener said that he would have no objection should the Sultan make the request but that in order to preserve unruffled quiet he would be obliged to replace the present troops by an equal number of British regulars, in which the proposal was basely withdrawn.

CADORNA AND CAESAR FACED SAME PROBLEM

How Far Beyond Alps Must Army Go? Empire Went For For Frontiers and Failed

Augustus Caesar, having pacified Rome and turned a republic into a stable empire, found that his security was not safe until the mountains to the north of the peninsula had been brought under Roman authority. Between the crest of Lombardy and what is now Austria, the slope ahead was long there, but the natural northern boundary was the Alps. He was ever ready to descend upon the Italian provinces and ravage them with fire and sword. What was needed was a natural and impregnable barrier that would prevent the incursions of the barbarians. In three days Italy was bounded by the Alps, occupied by barbarian tribes, and white that are now France and Belgium were Roman, only the Ligurian Alps gave secure access to these provinces. The fertilized provinces of Greece, Macedonia, the towns along the Danube, Bosphorus and the Aegean backed protection from the barbarians beyond the Danube.

To Protect the Plains

The conquest of what are now Bulgaria and Servia guaranteed the safety of the provinces in the Italian peninsula, but here a strong army had to be maintained until the Empire began to crumble with western power. There remained the necessity of conquering the Alps, a 17-day march from Cadorna's present line, to the Danube. Augustus and his generals carried out this plan with a new security in the thoughts of the Italian peasants, and the Italian plains were protected from the attacks of the northern barbarians.

Germans Then

Nevertheless, this frontier was unsatisfactory, for barbarians were always still cut into the frontier on a narrow front, and it was necessary that a large army should be maintained along the frontier of Gaul. This was the situation that prompted Augustus to attempt the conquest of Germany, the plan of disorganized. For a few years he succeeded. Then came the victory of Hermann over Varus at the Teutoburger Wald in A. D. 9, which ended in the Roman frontier between the Rhine and the Danube, and broken, and the old frontier restored.

Two years later the frontier question was settled when Rome occupied the extreme angle of south-western Germany, the present Baden, Wuerttemberg and Western Bavaria. Maintaining of the frontier in a satisfactory manner, this little bordered the great Roman wall was erected, which served the purpose of a fortified line of defense against barbarians. In recent years German archaeologists have found traces of it, and still which held back the barbarians until the Roman Empire fell in ruins.

LONDON POLICE IN WAR

Red Tape Does Not Bind "Specials"

(Special Correspondence)

The London police do nothing by halves these days. One evening there came an urgent call for a strong force of special constables to be dispatched post haste to a distant destination, and the authorities in charge of the special, having collected their men, telephoned to the principal omnibus company to supply the motor-omnibuses. The company replied that all their buses were out at work. Scotland Yard pointed out that the police were in a hurry, and that when the order was given to commandeer omnibuses it was understood that the vehicles and their drivers roamed to the enthusiasm. In ten minutes the commandeered buses were speeding along with their loads of "specials" on government service.

Heroic French Girl

A pretty girl of Saint Pol, near Arras, named Berthe Albert, nineteen years old, was discovered in a French canteen in the region of the firing line. She had cut her hair short and otherwise disguised herself, and she was found only when two military authorities sent her back to her parents. She said that her brother had been killed at Carency, and that she determined to avenge his death. She had dressed herself in one of a set of forms, and had walked twenty miles, intending to take her place in the firing line.

Queen Rings Loyal to France

King Victorio IV., who reigns over one subject in the island of Sicilidare, of the Tyrrhenian sea to the Pacific Ocean, and King Constant V., who holds sway over 150 grooves of sugar cane, palms, and cocoanut trees on Barata, of the same group, sent a declaration of war against the French Government, under the protection of which, they add, they do not happen to dwell.

The Calgary Herald says that only by the exercise of a strict economy was Chairman E. J. Fream enabled to get the U. F. Bell of Bellevary got in with a lot of his before the convention sat down on receiving lengthy doses of verbiage. By-the-way, the reports do not tell of our own and only Jim Fletcher occupying the floor of the house and entertaining the convention with his unique flights of oratory. A demonstration of his theories of "How War should be controlled," would have been highly interesting to his hearers. We have got a trifle behind in our correspondence owing to various causes. There have been numerous parties and other happenings but they are now ancient history so we will let them go. One of them was a send off for Jim Watson and Jack Ryan who are now performing the goose step &c., as his majesty's recruits in Vegreville. If they reach the trenches, we don't doubt but they'll help to down the huns. We wish them good luck and a safe and joyful home coming.

TOFIELD ALBERTA THURSDAY JANUARY 27 1916

THE Book of Revelations is being opened at Ottawa, much to the discomfort of war profiteers and loafers

THE three prairie provinces will early this year make further steps in advanced legislation. In 1910 we see women the right to vote as well as to hold office Alberta and Saskatchewan having already placed Prohibition legislation on their statute books, Manitoba is following suit. The Liberal governments are certainly keeping abreast of the times

THE revelations of corruption in the handling of war contracts made during the past few days in the Federal House should surely induce the government to reconsider its statement that no inquiry would be made into the alleged mishandling of the public funds. A leading Toronto daily in discussing this matter says:—If an attempt be made to evade the issue by saying that the affair is Britain's and not ours, the effort will be a weak one. Canada undertook to transact this business for Britain; eventually the Mother Country found it necessary to send men over here and take the work out of Canada's hands. That is about as far as the British government could go in that direction. Lloyd George, no matter what he thinks, can scarcely "prosecute" or investigate the Shell Committee created by the Canadian government. He could stop doing business with it and through it And he did stop.

THE workingmen of the Old Country have vindicated themselves by their act of deciding by an overwhelming majority to aid the Allies in every way to win the war. This means that the Compulsion Bill, which has now become law, has won it's way into the hearts of the people. Truth, John Bull, while he has his own way of doing things, always rises to the occasion in a manner befitting the same

In the Edmonton Journal a correspondent, or what? When the mercury drops down close to the south pole it seems to be the proper season for a record of how cold it was in the city. It gives reporters from far off points a bad name and those for the home. We took this Saskatoon Daily Star for years, and it never failed to give such facts. It was the livest paper with a better paper than either of the Edmonton sheets, yet Saskatoon is not one-half as large as Edmonton. While talking of papers we notice that that the Vegreville Observer is going to add $1.20 per year after April 1 We expected this. Hundreds of local papers in Ontario have raised their terms. The Observer is a good paper, and we won't kick at the raise but you bet your boots if some others go up in price, without a corresponding enlargement, they'll lose subscribers a plenty.

Live Wire Wins His Leg

A French lieutenant who had his leg broken without any trace of flesh or shell splinter gave the following explanation. Wires were run 30 covered trenches. Live Electric currents were connected in them, so that anyone touching the wires received a severe shock, sometimes fatal, usually in front, behind and over the roof of the trench were live wires charged to such a high degree that anyone who tried on any of these wires high up on the ground was naturally fell back again. It was by failing that I broke my leg.

EFFECTIVE DEFENCE OF "MADE IN CANADA"

Advertising Journal Takes Issue With "Made-in-Canada," But is Successfully Answered

"Bosh."—Advertising, a journal published in Toronto for circulation among advertising men, in its May issue has an editorial condemning the "Made-in-Canada" movement.—Evidence of "the entire selfishness, and second, bosshism which underlied it is not good business. A well known periodical publisher in Toronto, who has championed the Made-in Canada" movement from the start, takes issue with the editorial in the following letter which he has addressed to the editor of the paper in question:

Where's the Sin?

"Let us consider the facts. What good business man do you know who is not selfish—at least selfish in an enlightened sense, which after all is the greater selfishness? To some it has appeared that this 'made in Canada' movement is but mere sentiment and that it is prosecuted for selfish and personal reasons. Captain Purvis have asserted vehemently that the present 'Made-in-Canada campaign is selfish, and that Canadian manufacturers are taking advantage of conditions to advance their own business. You intimate this strongly in your editorial. I say let us admit that it is selfish in the sense that each individual manufacturer in Canada is trying to keep himself in the goodness game during these trying times! Wherein is the sin in this? Is it not good business that the Canadian manufacturer should further his own interests, give his laborers employment, and make the money with which to pay them and pay himself—much of which must ultimately circle around to our stores and make good business for all of us, and all those help make better business for everybody in the community? Would we far rather have Canadian manufacturers do this than attempt to please the said Purvis by spending from on our knees praying for the success of our efforts in the field without turning a hair to make 'good on basics' with which to buy the supplies for our defenders? The Canadian man who is honorably selfish is an asset to the country. It is the multitude of honorably selfish units that makes the successful nation.

Price and Quality.

"Your second objection 'It is not good business'—Certainly it is not good business unless the quality and the price is right—but the goods are made as the people ask for. Granted this much, is it bad business to give preference to those 'Good Goods Made-in-Canada as against imported goods, which may be dumped into this country? I hold no brief for any Canadian manufacturer who may be making poor quality goods, which cannot compete with the open market, and who will take cover under any 'Made-in-Canada' cry, just as a poor politician might do, in trying to sell his inferior goods. I do firmly believe, however, attending a reasonable preference to Good Goods that are made in Canada, and overcoming as far as possible that old time innate prejudice, which seems to be an instinct in human beings everywhere against goods of home manufacture. I back this with my own time and with our firm's resources, and gladly devote considerable valuable space to this cause to our great home magazine. Frankly I take issue with you when you publish an editorial condemning wholesale the 'Made-in-Canada' movement, and stating 'the Made-in-Canada slogan has almost deteriorated into a 'bogey.' I believe that you will agree with me that there is a greater need this thing of real and very pronounced value in connection with this patriotic movement. I should welcome the privilege of proving this to you by literally (if neces) thousand letters which we have received from our we than receive commendatory press and personal voice in this movement in confirming the increase of Good Goods that are Made-in-Canada. Perhaps you may care to illustrate here how Canadian manufacturer is taking advantage of this movement in his advertising of underwear and hosiery. I enclose a couple o. specimen ads in this series, which point the way very clearly as to how Canadian manufacturers can well link up with this movement to their decided advantage."

We so much the duty and to the patronage of every Canadian to buy goods made in Canada as for a Canadian soldier to fight for his own country. Instead of going over to the enemy.

The man that has a made-in-Canada policy should have made-in-Canada goods.

Wilson warns United States War May Come

Also Refers For the First Time to the Navy and Coast Defenses

Cleveland, Jan. 30—President Wilson, speaking as he said, "solemnly," warned the nation last night that the time may come when he cannot keep the United States out of the war and maintain its honor, as he declared the country must be prepared to "defend itself and to prepare at once. "Let me tell you very solemnly that you cannot postpone this thing," he declared. For the first time during his tour the president spoke of the navy and of the coast defenses. The latter are good in quality but not in quantity. The navy, he said, ranked not second, but fourth. Now circumstances had arisen which made it absolutely necessary that this country should prepare for adequate national defense.

A regular blizzard raged last Sunday over the greater part of Central Alberta and Saskatchewan. As a result the cuts along all the railway lines were filled and despite all that could be done the lines became blocked. Sunday's train from Winnipeg did not come in until Monday at 5.30 p.m. while the Tofield-Calgary was blocked to such an extent that the south going express due to leave here at 10.30 did not go out till about 4 p.m. Owing to the fact that no many trains have been delayed coal shipments from the Tofield mines have been held up for brief intervals thus aggravating to a certain extent the shortage of fuel amongst eastern country points. Practically a train load per day leaves the Tofield mines for distribution amongst eastern centres.

STANDARD PRESS, Limited.

INCORPORATED 1909

E. E. WHILLANS, Editor and Manager

TOFIELD, ALBERTA, THURSDAY FEBRUARY 3, 1916

THE war may last on without the coal being visibly in sight. It may be raising and drilling may continue as though a supporting for a war to come. News from the front may long be kept from the time of progress back to the front point by the censor. But, down in the hearts of all the Allies is that firm rooted determination that we must stick to it until the last bitter opposition to Right is overpowered. In the hearts and minds of the Allies the ultimate end of this struggle is in sight and it is towards the goal that we are fighting our way. Are we downhearted? No.

WHILE the Standard does not wish to be understood to be offering destructive criticism, but rather criticism that is aimed at assisting in the construction of policies which are destined to be effective for the public good in the process of their execution, it is with some degree of diffidence, yet with all confidence that it essays to discuss the questions which are the subjects of this article. It will have been noted by those throughout the municipality who follow the doings of its councils from year to year that each succeeding auditor's report does not show the municipality to be getting ahead in its financial problems as speedily as might be desired. Progress no doubt was made during the year just past, but that progress may be summed up in the one statement that some $30000 of road work debt left over from 1914 was paid in 1915 and the large portion, of this was in the shape of road checks issued in 1914 by issuing receipts for 1915 taxes against same. That this is a good business principal few will admit. It should be avoided in future.

Results are what show the application of good business principle or bad. It would appear that the councils of the past may not have done as much work before them in the full realization of the responsibility on the office to which they were elected for the [illegible] with which they were confronted. All the more reason therefore, why succeeding councils should seek to avoid the pitfalls of the past and prove themselves big enough for their job.

There are many big questions to deal in handle. There are other questions the disposal of which is merely their applications, you do not [illegible] to the municipality, But, there are also [illegible] which may be called bad principle which show where a council may be earnestly seeking to conserve every possible [illegible] and which point out whether the general policy being carried out is formulated by men who are [illegible] to the demands of the occasion. For instance, if the Standard is correctly informed, previous to the strike about the municipality has never yet had a complete and correct job from its assessor, no matter who that officer may have been. Lengthy periods of time of other elapsed [illegible] between assessments and [illegible] the work of the assessor. The municipality [illegible] during [illegible] were over for the doing of this [illegible]. The Voter-List has been in error owing to the [illegible] and men [illegible] disfranchised who should have had votes. The incompleteness of the assessor's work has caused [illegible] in collection and non collection. [illegible] appointed an assessor at a salary of [illegible] and [illegible] extra money for expenses for doing what [illegible] the roll of 1915. If this is all the [illegible] 1916, it could just as well have [illegible] Dollars, the salary of a clerk in [illegible] searches, if necessary. The [illegible] get all the value of their money that [illegible] due them. Proper explanations also. Corrections of [illegible] mistakes of omission and commission come in the same category.

DEMOCRACY CAN FIGHT BEST, SAYS HALDANE

Germany Has Organization But Lacks Power Which People Exhibit When Roused

—Hears the Great Hoof

Lord Haldane, the famous philosopher and former War Minister, delivered some addresses of a new message by H. G. Wells on Democracy and War. He writes:

Mr. Wells is one whose views have several times that are borne on this page. It is true that in conducting war, democracies have often labored under much disadvantage from ignorance of military affairs. Frederick the Great said of Prussia that her people were "born soldiers." But a good deal of Frederick's military knowledge was soon forgotten by his successors. Both before and after the time of Napoleon the military leaders of Europe were drawn from a comparatively small class. Napoleon even set up a military aristocracy of his own. But it was not long before the old military families were all destroyed in the wars of the French Revolution and Napoleon. Even in the Crimean war the military leaders were largely

R. M. Regime Not Economical Nor Satisfactory

Says J. Fletcher in Interesting Letter Anent Rural Municipality Matters

(Correspondence)

Editor Tofield Standard:—

Some interest ... between Mr. J. Cookson and Mr. R. Stirrett, review of the R.M., in the Standard of recent issues, re. the working of the municipality. As Mr. Cookson in his "letter" to the Standard solicits expressions of opinion on the subject I thought I would contribute my little quota to the question "under discussion." Mr. Stirrett in his letter to the Standard says, "Mr. Cookson thinks that the present system of running the R.M. is wasteful will it may be, I very much doubt whether it could be run any cheaper under the old L. D. system. I must say that I take exception to Mr. Stirrett's statement and I am prepared to prove my case when I say the present system running the municipality is not as satisfactory and is far more expensive than the old L. D. system. I shall now do a little figuring. I find from the auditor's report for Oct. 31, 1915, that there was over $5000 paid for manual labor, which comes under the head of "Wages", and $1650 odd was paid out for intellectual efficiency, which comes under the heading of "Fees and Salaries."

You will notice that the brain-work amounts to 30% of the sum total spent in the district. I consider this somewhat high.

Under the old L. I. D. consisting of 4 townships in each district, the secretary treasurer was paid from $50 to $100 per year. Mr. Stirrett was sec.-treas. for several years and he received a remuneration of $60 and his successor took over job at $80 per year. I shall, however, place the amount as paid to this official at $100 per year, which is more than the average. On this average the sec.-treas. salary would amount to $25 per twp. or $225 for the nine townships in the present R. M. What an antithesis to the present regime in which the sec.-treas. receives more than $1000 per year. And then there is the assessor who is paid more than $150 per year. I cannot see why the land has to be assessed every year. It seems to me that when the district was once assessed that no further assessment would be required for years to come, more than what the secretary would attend to without extra remuneration.

It may be contended that the sec.-treas. of the present R. M. has a greater amount of work to perform than the sec.-treasurer of the L.I.D. because his having supplanted the treasurers of the rural schools of the district, that is to say, he has to collect the school taxes which the old system were not required to do, and

Eig. Seale Tells of Activities at the Front

Dec. 11th, 1915.

Dear Auntie:—

I am writing you a line in hopes that it will reach you before Xmas. Am out once more in muddy Flanders and believe me I am supposed to be glad.

After loading on this side I had a trip from the base to the firing line with a draft of men. On return to base again was sent out this time to the 23rd Division, from their head-quarters was sent to 152nd Brigade and finally to D Battery of 18 pounders, and here I am at present. Am not sure yet whether I am to be permanently attached here or not. I may be recalled to England and put into one of the new divisions forming now.

I arrived here at the battery here about two weeks ago. We are quartered in a house with a French family, consisting of a lady and her little daughter. Imagine these two, they are the closest in to the firing line of any civilians, mother and daughter living in a house half occupied with foreign soldiers. In the orchard are our four guns, one of them about twenty feet from their bedroom and they are banging away during the night and day. Have they live in constant danger of their lives and went here. At the time of the big scrap in September a shell came right into the kitchen and exploded knocking everybody down and killing our cook, who was standing by the fire. This Sammon but-ween forty and fifty big shells were landed in the vicinity, digging the immense holes. But the people here do not seem to mind it in the least.

The three officers live in the house. The guns are in the dug-outs. The gunners live with their guns, eating inside them and sleeping inside them. At any moment during the night or the day they

Shortly after the Standard went to press last week came the dire news that the magnificent concrete block of the parliament buildings at Ottawa had fallen a victim to the fire fiend. The House was in session at the time and fortunately nearly all got out in time. Seven people lost their lives among them being R. R. Law, M.P. Both House of Commons and the Senate Chambers are completely gutted The library was saved. The House is meeting in the Victoria Museum.

The interesting story is going the rounds of the neighborhood of the experience recently of a young couple who apparently have fallen victims to the wiles of Dan Cupid and who journeyed to the Capital not so long ago with the agreed intention of quietly embarking on the sea of matrimony They returned, but not as intended. Youth appeared to be against them. At any rate it would appear that they were advised to wait awhile. The young man in question is being chaffed unmercifully by his comrades and friends over the affair.

The apologies of the Standard are due the Ladies Hockey Team for not having a report last issue of the interesting and exciting game of hockey they had on the 28th ult. with the Hyley aspirants and in which the local team not only surprised the local people but their visitors by putting it over the latter by a good score. The game took place here and was seen by only a fair aggregation of spectators, owing to the counter attraction of the Tofield Lady Hockeyists went enthusiastically into the game and by dint of excellent team work and their opponents out from winning a goal during the first half while for themselves scored three points. In the second half the visitors scored one goal but then Tofield then relentlessly down to the one point. A return game is scheduled to take place at Hyley on Friday of this week.

Urgent Appeal From The Red Cross

Dear Sir ...

Leap Year Day, February 29th ... will occur ... throughout the ... of Alberta as a special ... it is ... to open which extra ... will be made towards increasing the funds of the Red Cross Society. This was decided at a meeting held in the Red Cross Parliament Buildings in Calgary, on W. ... day ... February 2nd, when representatives from Edmonton, Lethbridge, Medicine Hat and ... Calgary were present, at which the Honor. the Lieutenant Governor presided.

It is ... that the public will desire to ... Leap Year Day as ... special form ... year, and it is thought that this could not be better done than by using it for the Red Cross Work. The needs of the Red Cross are greater now than at any ... since the war began, and may be expected to grow, as the months pass. Notwithstanding the great generosity of the public in the past, still further efforts are necessary in the future in order that the work may be adequately sustained.

At the meeting a proposal originated by Mr. Cecil of Edmonton, was presented providing for a special sale by all merchants throughout the Province on Leap Year Day, a percentage of the gross sales to be donated to the Red Cross. This scheme has already been started in Edmonton and district and has been enthusiastically received there, the merchants believing that too often purchases of the day will ... on ...

TOFIELD, ALBERTA, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 1916

WRITING to his mother from the support trenches in France, Jimmie Rowland said an article received by Mrs. Rowland last week, "I am writing from an old cow barn with the roof shot in and one end of the wall blown in. The record I took home was shot to ——. I got a letter from —— the other day. It was too bad that he couldn't come on over but it was not his fault. If every fellow was to make a try to come over like him the war would be over already.

In another paragraph Jimmie says that he expects to be back in Canada by next fall. Evidently the impression amongst the boys at the front is that the Allies are getting into the home stretch, as a race comes to an would say, or as a fighting man would possibly term it they expect to get their final licks in during the next few months.

Canada is making the effort to largely increase her fighting forces to the 500,000 mark. Recruiting is in full swing here in Alberta as it is in the other provinces. Jimmie's remark about the chap who could not go over to the front is quite apropos. If all eligibles would make the try it would not be long until the ranks would be filled. Jimmie is doing his bit and Tofield is proud of him. And, if some Tofielders who have offered the supreme sacrifice have been found physically unfit, it should not be a reproach.

Ensuring Good Government

THE history of civic affairs on this continent proves that there must be unswerving effort on the part of taxpayers if anything like satisfactory civic government is to be secured and maintained. Even in cities where the government is deemed the most modern there must be persistent watchfulness to prevent evils from creeping in. The fact must be very clearly understood and accepted that real fit, good government is an absolute necessity if clique and graft rule is to be prevented.

It is only too lamentably apparent that the forces of evil scarcely ever sleep. Up to a very few years ago there was most dense ignorance on the part of taxpayers nearly everywhere as to the system under which they were governed. The civic machine was to them a most mystifying and complicated affair, and because of this politician aldermen had an easy task in hoodwinking the public. While very much has yet to be learned by the electorate in regard to precept and rule in government they have a vastly more intelligent idea of how their money is being expended. —Montreal Star.

...into them for the percentage given. The meeting on Wednesday night decided to enter on this scheme for such localities as desired to enter therein, with the definite understanding that it was not to be entered into in any competition where the Local Branch of the Society might object to being for that, in certain places the regulations existing under Red Cross might be interfered with. That however was left as a matter of local judgment, and the proposal itself was endorsed.

It was decided to commemorate with all the Branches of the Society and the organizations working for it throughout the Province, advising them of February 25th as a Red Cross Day and asking them to adopt some special means of bringing the claims of the Red Cross Society before their communities and the moral community within their reach. It is expected that much will be done and it is hoped that still the loyal and concerted efforts in all parts of the Province that Leap Year Day will result, for a Red Letter Day in the Red Cross Society of Alberta.

Thanking you, I remain,
Yours faithfully,
M. Packman,
Honorary Secretary-Treasurer.

TRAINING RECRUITS FOR NAVAL SERVICE

The First Stage of Journey to Constantinople is Two Months at Crystal Palace

"Book here for the Dardanelles." This is being said to-day outside the office of the Royal Naval Recruiting officers in the fortune-telling tent at the corner of the Crystal Palace. Here, in addition to the ordinary recruiting staff, there is a keen competition between the naval officers for the best recruits. Each officer is out to get as many men as he can, and the rivalry is keen. Each officer is out to get as many men as he can, and the rivalry is keen.

As happy and jolly as sandboys, there is no mistaking the hero-spirit of these lads of the Royal Naval Division. Lord Trimmer, one of the commanding officers at the Crystal Palace, relates how one young recruit came before him with the request that he should be sent to the Front as quickly as possible. "Why?" he was asked. "Well," he said, sir, you see," he replied. "My four brothers have been killed at the Front, and I want to get a bit of my own back." It is but another illustration of the spirit which actuates the men of the Royal Naval Division.

A Transformed Scene

The visitor to the Crystal Palace who thinks of the monstrosities which have taken possession of it during the most recent of the struggles of the Titans that the world has ever known, finds many a strangest spectacle for the cup has taken place in the accompaniment of roars and cheers from grinning crowds, he sees the Territorials cooking rogue and soldier fashion, paddling, washing, and baking, in all forms of days and nights. At 81 Battalion for the work ahead. Here, beside the cycle track, are bodies of Territorial Artillery drawn and shortening guns for the moment, be he duke or one, counts soon, goes through every stage of the battle.

Scattered throughout the grounds of the Palace under the trees are dozens of other bodies of men, be they Territorial in some part, of their training. You pass a company listening to a lecture, and other groups learning the proper form of attack, the mechanism of the rifle, target practice, sharp-shooting, signalling. Turn which way you will, and there on the beautiful green slopes and in the grounds holiday-makers and soldiers to the Metropolis have given way to men in khaki, and the Territorials of 1915 Brigade solemnly warning for their country and Constitution.

No men are trained under more...

than his remuneration is more for large. It had assured I believe that the municipal rate so gets and perhaps more. I submit however, that the municipality is the loser if the conversion of the school districts results in such remunerators for their work now as they did under the old system. I am informed that they receive as much.

Amid Shot and Shell

are liable to be called on to fire. We are in action every day. Sitting on trenches, knocking down houses, cutting wire or mounting in a general bombardment. This morning I was out alone with the battery to do some wire cutting. The Battery Commander was in the trenches doing watching. We fired about a hundred and sixty rounds and I assure me there is quite a little bit of responsibility attached to the job. Wire cutting demands fine laying on the part of the gunners. The shell just skims over the top of our trenches and bursts right on top of their barbed wire, cutting it up. The idea is to keep their defences knocked down and to train expert gunners for the big "push." In the evening the gunners were sent to repair the wire because they fear an attack, we then cut them up with machine gun fire.

So far have had three nights in the trenches as Field Observation Officer. It is very interesting.

You would hardly believe me if I told you that I had a regular fine mess dinner at the battalion head quarters, one of the evenings. Everything was cooked to a nicety and served in best of style. All the while we were eating outside the Boche's were flying around. The trees have had a pile of work put on them during the summer and are pretty safe to live in now. In fact the battalion head quarter's mess prefer them to billets. On the other hand in places men stand half up to their knees in icy cold water and everything is covered with a slimy greasy mud. The land around here is very flat and there is no drainage. The men work all day on the pumps but the difficulty is that the water pumped out seeps from on to another part of the trench. The place is simply alive with rats running every where. In the dug out where I slept they kept running around the floor all the night long. They will run across the communication trenches in front of one for a hundred yards or a time, just keeping about five or six feet a head.

It is nearly midnight an I had better say "bon soir" for this time.

Additional Precautions For Protection Are Being Taken at Parliament Buildings

As an additional precaution to those already taken, the Provincial government, carrying out the policy it has adopted for the protection of the parliament buildings has decided that all visitors during the session of the legislature must be identified either by members or by officials.

The following notice intimating this will be prominently displayed at the buildings beginning today:

"During the session of the Legislature it will be necessary for all visitors to be identified at the main entrance of the building. Intending visitors should, therefore, advise some member or official of their desire to visit. Annoying delays can thus be avoided."

Early in the year 1915 the Department of Education announced a competition to be conducted in connection with the Public School Leaving Examinations, whereby a Bronze Medal donated by H. H. H. The Duke of Connaught, Governor General of Canada, was to be awarded to the candidate in each Inspectoral Division who obtained the highest marks at the departmental Public School Leaving Examinations. The competition was ... but gratification at the success which attended the competition and graciously expressed his desire to donate medals for similar competition for 1916.

One Medal will be awarded to the candidate obtaining the highest marks in each of the nineteen Inspectoral Districts except in the cases of the Calgary and Edmonton Districts where the larger centres of population exist, and in each of these districts two medals will be awarded.

TOFIELD, ALBERTA THURSDAY FEBRUARY 17, 1916

THE Red Cross Society is making an appeal for funds throughout the province, the 20th of this month being set apart as a special "Red Cross Day." It is to be hoped and expected that the appeal will be responded to with the customary generosity of Alberta people, and in keeping with their circumstances. The Red Cross organization is doing a magnificent work, which though not as clearly understood as it might be is very heartily and very generally appreciated. That so worthy a cause should not meet with the response that it deserves from the people is unthinkable.—Edmonton Bulletin.

THE Rural Municipalities Convention takes place in Edmonton this week. It is to be hoped that the question of municipal financing and the various problems affecting it arising from the application of the taxing clauses of the Act and resulting in an infinite amount of arrears of taxes piling up to embarrass the municipal authorities, will be thoroughly gone into and some action begun towards relieving the situation.

o o o o o

IT is to be hoped and much to be desired that our local financial board will enter seriously into consideration of the problems which face the municipality instead of treating the matter light-heartedly as though times were just as rosy as in the palmy days of old when money was cheap and little thought taken of the morrow. When men assume the responsibilities of public office it is rightly expected of them that they should give as careful consideration to public affairs as of private business matters.

o o o o o

THE Tofield public will undoubtedly welcome the opportunity to greet en masse a trio of our invalided heroes from the front who will appear before them next Tuesday night in the interests of the Red Cross. It should be understood that these gentlemen and heroes are giving their services to the cause of the Red Cross and this fact will doubtless appeal to many to co-operate in assisting this worthy object by attending with their small cash donations. Coincidently the hearing of what these soldiers have to say about things at the front will be well worth listening to.

The Ladies Hockey team journeyed to Ryley last Friday and played a return match with the ladies hockey team of that town. Report has it that the match was a warmly contested one but that the visitors made it hot for their hosts, repeating the operation of piling up a rout score over their opponents.

The Queen's Hotel Furniture auction sale last Saturday drew a surprisingly large crowd from all points far and near. Despite brisk bidding and fast selling little more than half of any of the various lines of goods were disposed of. In consequence the sale was adjourned until next Saturday when it will be continued. There will be plenty of bargains in all sorts of furniture, silverware, dishes and all the other lines advertised.

SEED GRAIN

I will ship in during March a car of Pure Marquis seed wheat and car of American Banner oats. These will be pure and of strong vitality and the price will not be very much above the market prices of the best grades of grain.

GLORIOUS DEEDS BY CHILDREN OF MARS

Nine or Ever Age Limits Cannot Debar—Heroism Sweeps Boys Young—Thrilling Records

Youth is always at the front, writes Tighe Hopkins, in the "Daily Chronicle Yorkshire." "And what should you like the Queen to do for you?" the Princess asked the bugler boy, serving by his bed in Netley Hospital. "I should like Her Majesty to send me back to the front, miss," said the lad. This was Bugler Dann, of the 1st Royal Dublin Fusiliers, aged 14 years. The youngest of this shining band was Drummer Magner, of the 3rd Foot Guards, who he was recruited at the early age of 12 years and 9 months. Then there was a crop of wonderful drummer Magner, and a giant of 6ft. 4in. or 5in., and one he was the boy handed up the regiment. They do not all, of course, get the Victoria Cross. Tommy Keep, ten year old drummer boy, received his first medal he came, and set out through shot and shell to assist one of the wounded. Queen Victoria sent for him to her palace on Sun. and kissed him

Thrice on Fighting

Yet another boy thought nothing out of it. They smell the battle afar off, tall and believable creatures in the air respond about their ears and well does the serjeant know it. These things and all the feats of blossoming youth in the long line, fling a kind of fragrance over war. In the attack on Delhi Bugler Sutton, King's Royal Rifles, seeing an enemy bugler about to sound his instrument, sped across the ranks and smote him dead before he had time to give a note. The sign before the final assault on Delhi it was necessary to have weather our guns had blunted the walls enough. Sutton stepped out in the dark by his gun, and "sounded" back the needed word. At 13 years and 7 months Bugler Wilkinson himself was no enough before Ypres. Then in the Crimea Private Joseph Ryan, of the Connaught Rangers, was but a boy of 15 years and 9 months, of whom we afterwards heard a good deal. Queen Victoria gave him the Victoria Cross.

"Boy" Says Rank High

The boy bugler, Dr Lionel Ford, of Harrow, was but one of the 2,315 boys who received commissions during the 2,000 are serving; a number of them have risen to high rank. Of those who have received their training in the Territorial and Reserve Forces nearly 500 served during the present war. Three have won the Victoria Cross; twenty-five have been awarded the Distinguished Conduct Medal, twenty have been mentioned in despatches and fifty-four have been killed by the French Government. From this war there will arise a band of fine soldiers. They should rank with the public schools of England. Their glorious deeds are coming home to us "One by one," writes Mr. Hopkins, "as the men who have served in the ranks of the Army are returning from the front, and are being demobilized, we are hearing stories of the boys who have been with them. Many of these boys are only too finely and sacrificially devoted. The recruiting sergeant who has been making recruits has been waiting the other eye, and he has to keep one dying that the boy will go to battle in the teeth of death. He has no heroism to compare with it. It is he who fires the heart. Our hearts are with the boys."

TYRRELL'S VERY LOYAL

Austria Portrayals to Honor This Peoples—Beloved Hero

In no part of the polyglot Empire of Austria-Hungary is the loyalty of the people to the throne manifested more than in Bohemia. Its personal loyalty to the House of Hapsburg-Lorraine is proverbial, although that necessarily personal devotion to some extent has been transferred to the present Emperor Charles. A little more than a century ago Bohemia was one of the scenes in the bloody struggle between France and Austria, which ended in the defeat of the latter. Although the Austrian Court more than once made overtures to regain some of the lost territory, which shifts it on the map of Europe, Bohemia remained content with the solar almightiness and benevolence of the Hapsburgs, and was overrun by the French, and shot in Munich on the 26th, 1816. Napoleon later apologizing for his execution, which he had not expected, to the lone priest of one of his generals. The epic, the very commonest of his day still pulsates.

TRIBUTE FROM FRANCE

Socialist Organ Recognizes Wonderful Help of the Empire

The Paris Socialist paper, La Humanite, pays the following tribute to Britain: "What would have become of us without the British Army? Without the British Navy? Unquestionably the Germans beat in force, and as soldiers Huns are the equals of the best warriors. Germany is blockaded and cut off from the world. Not a ship can get from the countries which supplied her with the raw materials and munitions of all sorts. Even countries whose, too, are considerable of her reserves, who are unable to replace. Can we not say that Germany is at the end of her resources? Her very army which is being made to pay, for the money, of all the fighting material, not only in Britain, but also in the U.S.A. and in Japan, and our financial power is being ruined.

AMBITIONS OF INDIA

Want "Sore Recognition in Army After Present Loyalty

It would be folly to assert that a people like a subject race, such as great part of the population of India is, would not desire to better their position; aspirations or be content to remain in a perpetual state of helplessness, writes Sir Sriniwas Gregga. M.P. The Indian national congress was formed many years ago and in its annual meetings it has given voice to Indian views and aspirations, and has put forward definite demands for reforms in the direction of self-government. Many of these demands are, it must be said, reasonable and moderate, and could be granted without any danger to the stability of British rule in India. Indeed, it is more than probable that many of them will be granted in the near future. The right of the Indian people to have a voice in the administration of their own affairs is greatly and rightly valued, and is certainly entitled to consideration. The Indian National Congress is now officially recognized as the mouthpiece of the people, and its demands are therefore entitled to respectful consideration

TOFIELD, ALBERTA, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1916

UNDER the voluntary system it is every man's privilege to decide whether he will enlist. Therefore it is every man's duty to ask himself whether he ought to enlist.

TOFIELD and District have reason to be proud of their response to the call of duty. We started off well, however, from the fact that the Empire is calling for more men and yet more men. No doubt more will be found here who will make the sacrifice.

After hearing Private Peat last Tuesday night telling his experiences and observations in blood soaked Flanders one cannot help realizing more definitely the great need of the hour. Small wonder is it then that the boys heed the call and "fall in" with the ever increasing ranks.

It was pretty plain talk that Private Peat gave to the Tofieldites in connection with the support of the Patriotic and Red Cross Funds. He said it was little indeed Canada was doing in comparison to the ready response to the manifold demands upon the purses of those in the Old Country. There it is regarded as every person's plain duty to "do his bit" whatever it might be and at all times when called upon to do so. It is due to Tofield's credit that we have not an active Red Cross organization at work.

THE sympathetic message of another letter from Jimmie Rowland to his mother. We regret our inability to publish it this week. It has some grand messages to us home folk. In it he says "Tell all the boys around there to come. They seem to be holding back I guess they have got cold feet ..... Tell the old folk to let the boys enlist and be a little like the old Englishman I was talking to the other day. He is 56 years old and had five sons out here. They all got killed. I asked him what he enlisted for. He said 'My wife didn't want me to but they killed all my boys and the rest of the young men would have to so I came myself, so the Germans will have to get me too or quit.' This is a spirit which should strike home and affect the recruiting somewhat. The letter will be published next week.

A petition to the effect of Tofieldites Town and District, who are now serving with the colors should make ... to the end. We realize what our responsibility is in maintaining a continuous support of the Red Cross, sufficient surely to take care of a corresponding number at the front.

The Red Cross Concert

Variety Theatre was packed ... Tuesday night with an earnest and ... loyal crowd to witness the ... Private Peat, returned soldier. ... Peat is one of the ... the early days of the ... Canadian contingent ... Second and Royal ... Peat fought at ... Ypres, St. Julien and Langemarck, gave a most interesting ... showing and thrilling recitation ... of descriptions ... Mr. Peat's ... Theatre for a very small figure, $2.50.

Miss Mildred Sherlock left last Saturday for Calgary where she will attend to ...

India Offers New Donations

Gifts For War Purposes Pour in From All Parts of the Empire

London, Feb. 17 (through Reuter's Ottawa Agency). A special despatch from Delhi, states:

"Ultra fair war purposes continue to pour in from all parts of India. The Punjab aeroplane fund has reached the sum of $385,000, and the United Provinces held a special meeting, the lieutenant-governor presiding to inaugurate a similar fund.

"Five more Indian princes have presented motor ambulances, one rajah giving four motor cycle combinations. Hundreds of pounds have been presented by prominent bankers and commercial leaders. The Ranjam of Cutch has removed his offer to maintain an Indian infantry regiment at the front until the war ends.

"Nearly two hundred firms and and associations are sending machinery free of cost to the government for the manufacture of munitions. It is announced that $600,000 has been distributed to the families of the soldiers at the front and about $2,000,000 remains in the hands of the relief fund committee."

Bardo

It was fine to have a spell of spring after the severe cold we had during January. We enjoy the mild weather so much more when we really know what cold weather is.

Mrs. Ada Hills, who went on a visit to her folks in Iowa, came back shortly after the New Year. She says she was glad to get back home and we know that Karl was pleased as he did not enjoy keeping batchelors hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, Miss Inga Johnson and J. Wilson and family expect to leave for the Grande Prairie country the last of this week. So the population of Bardo decreases every year as the new country up north has ceased as many away. They say that Grande Prairie has a fussy climate its either so very warm or else it is only 60 below zero. Quite a sudden change.

The Ladies Aid of the Lutheran church meets at A. Moen's on Wednesday March 1st. The collection will be taken in this meeting will be sent to the Red Cross Society.

Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Anderson, who are at present in Lawrence, Wash., have written home about all the snow they found out there. They had about two feet of snow on the level and drifts about six feet deep. It seems that other places besides Alberta has had a winter.

The correspondent from East Barrier Lake thinks they are very lucky that they are in L. I. D. They may well think so as a good many that are tax-payers in the Cornhill R. M. would gladly have the old L. I. D. back again. When a school district in the C. R. M. can't get the taxes that are coming to them but have to borrow money to defray expenses. It's about time a change should be made back to the old L. I. D.

Logan

On February 16th while Mr. and Mrs Almer Hallberg were at the Loop Year dance in Rose Creek school, some one entered their store with a skeleton key and stole about 26 dollars in cash out the till. No trace of the robber was left. Nothing else was taken.

Last week the Halter boys took advantage of the spring weather and got considerable lot of disking done.

The dance given by Mr. and Mrs. Roberge on the 28th inst was a great success. A very large crowd gathered to spend the evening.

Govt Votes Free Wheat Down

The resolution moved by J. G. Tariff and seconded by Robt. Cruise regarding free wheat was voted down in the Ottawa House last week.

The resolution was as follows: That in the opinion of this house in order to secure to the farmers and people of Canada the advantages of the American market, for wheat products and potatoes, steps should be taken to put these articles on the free list in the Canadian tariff. The vote was on party lines and the resolution was defeated by a majority of 33, only one Conservative, W. F. McLean, editor of the Toronto World, voting with the Liberals.

Mrs. Art Mosier returned from the hospital at Edmonton this week.

Owing to abnormal protection of grain last year, a larger number of kernals to the individuals inside of the plants germinating vitality has been correspondingly lowered. Farmers will do well to pay attention to the urgings of officials of the departments of Agriculture to have their grain tested so that they will be enabled to learn the quantity of grain to sow to the acre. It is fit to sow to sow the usual quantity if the germinating percentage is low. More must be sown if an average yield is wanted.

R. Municipalities Ask for Law Amendment

"Whereas experience has shown that in all municipalities a considerable percentage of the tax-payers allow their taxes to run in arrears, with the result that municipalities are frequently unable to meet their liabilities promptly; and whereas, having regard to the situation above set out, it is desirable that every municipality should accumulate a surplus fund sufficient to meet all its liabilities as they fall due; resolved, that the Legislature be requested to amend the Municipal Act to permit of an annual tax levy in rural municipalities for the purpose of creating of a surplus fund until such fund equals the amount of all taxes in arrears at the end of the last calendar year."

"Whereas it is desirable that the reeve and council of a rural municipality should be enabled, as soon possible after the first of January, to intelligently formulate a policy of finance for the coming year, and to promptly make arrangements for an adequate working credit; and whereas, with this object in view it would be necessary that a preliminary estimate of current expenditures should be prepared at the commencement of the year in the light of a clear knowledge of the rate of taxation which would be required to provide for such expenditure, resolve that the Legislature be requested to amend the Municipal Act so as to provide that the assessment rolls as finally revised to 31st August in any year shall be used as the basis for the tax levy in the calendar year next succeeding."

More News From Jim Rowland

France, Jan 1916

Dear Mother:

Just a line to let you know that I am alright and hope you are the same.

We were in the trenches awhile last night and came out last night and only had three or four men wounded. Pretty lucky that trip as we had a pretty warm time for a couple of days.

I saw about fifteen or twenty Germans while we were in the trenches and fired about two hundred shots but don't know if I hit any, only one night when I was on sentry I saw them make a rush back of their lines to cook supper I guess. I fired five shots at it and some did scatter their feet I made them put it out I guess they were pretty mad about it as they fired about twenty shots at me and they hit all around where I had been standing but I got down in the trench and they all went over my head.

The trenches are in a bad state just now all mud and water as we are caving in with the rain and there is quite a little work to do to keep them up, also the shells damage them quite a bit. I saw big shell lands on the parapet and explodes it takes about twenty men about five hours to fix it up.

There are a lot of rats in the trenches, and when you are asleep in the dugouts they keep running all over you.

We have some time in the trenches. They issue out rations once a day. You get a piece of bacon, a piece of beef, a loaf of bread, etc.

TOFIELD, ALBERTA THURSDAY MARCH 2, 1916.

TOFIELD is our Home Town

o o o o o

IF it is to the advantage of every Tofielder to do all he can in creating the idea that Tofield is our Home Town.

o o o o o

PROGRESS is retarded as long as we are content to look back to the place of our birth and of previous residence as offering better opportunities than our present town

Therefore for this cause shall a man leave his Father and Mother and his place of birth and cleave unto his present Town and they twain shall prosper accordingly.

o o o o o

THAT a great responsibility rests upon the electorate, Democracy if you will, in the solution of social problems and the placing upon the statute books of proper legislation having for its purpose the elevation of the people to a higher plane of living, is a fact which should be realised most deeply and the impression of this fact upon the minds of the public is being made the important work of all departments of Social Service Work.

Probably no organized effort towards the improvement of conditions of public welfare throughout the nations of the world daily is of greater importance nor deserving of more active support than the work of the Social Service League

Social Service effort is not confined to any one phase of our national life. The elimination of vice is sought by the enactment of legislation which penalizes most severely those making a profit in any form out of its propagation. Slum condition in large centres of population are being eliminated by law enactments which forbid monetary considerations of living and unhealthy congestion of population. Amendments to existing laws are sought which make it a criminal offence to practice corruption in any form. The need of a broadened view in our educational system where by education in its application to every walk of life is brought to the individual, no matter how distant he or she may be from the larger centres of learning, is recognized and public opinion being created to demand a wider influence and application of the principles of education in all its phases. Provision for the cure of delinquents, blind, aged victims of white slavery, etc., is being sought as the duty of the state and in the meantime much is being done in the establishment of homes for the cure of such. Our laws in respect of such have been sadly lacking. Social Service work is a campaign of Education. Education, of the public to demand the urgent and most needed reforms. The women of our province possess now that they will shortly have the franchise extended to them, have a great opportunity for doing something for the uplift of the human race. It must be educative study of these problems and an active propaganda of education which will mobilize much missionary work among our foreign born public. Now that the women are getting the vote it means that the men who have in the past filmed out from under the weight of these problems will have to get busy and shoulder the burdens they ought to have borne centrally long ago.

o o o o o

FARMERS and business men of district and town will undoubtedly welcome the opportunity afforded them to interest themselves in the proposition of the Alberta Farmers Co-operative Elevator Company of organizing a local branch of that Company with a view of erecting an elevator and warehouse here or in the vicinity. The record of progress of the company throughout Alberta is good and farmers have enjoyed enhanced prices for not only their grain, but other produce of the farm, while merchants have also benefited by the fact that more cash has been put in circulation throughout the year.

It would be a very important move on the part of the business men of the town to see that the erection of this elevator is made at Tofield and it would be gratifying to see the majority of the farmers of the district take a keen and practical interest in the project.

"Tried trials are Bread
Although the Germans are making war bread out of all kinds of materials, they will have to go a long way before they invent an unsavory sore kind of bread. Bread, potatoes, water, and other substances are been mixed with wheat or rye in the past. Mashed potatoes, mixed with wheat or maize flour, were used by poor people in the continental years before the war broke out. Rice flour makes fine pulled bread, while the shortest bread ever forced the chief food of the Corsican mountaineers is very digestible, agreeable to taste, and keeps fresh over a fortnight.

Worked Both Ways

A Scottish minister was one day talking to one of his parishioners, who received the impression that there ought to be better paid

"I am glad to hear you say that," said the minister. "I'm pleased that you think so much of my services that as you think we should have larger pay?"

"Aye," said the old man; "then we'd get a better class o' men."

One of the Lawyers!

The Inquirest: "Tell me, is it a crime to be poor?"

The Lawyer: "Not in this province, sir. The charge for my opinion on the subject is five dollars. Pay my clerk and go out—quickly."

A Young Man of Mark

"Do you think your boy will leave footprints on the sands of time?"

"He'd have 'em anywhere. Just look at that carpet."

Diplomacies of latest German Explanation For War a Commodity Fair German American Blanked

M. K. Pattee, a member of the Tofield Institute and professor in the same, is about to leave for Edmonton where he will accept a position of larger importance. He has been a valuable acquisition to the community and regrets that Germany had penetrated and invaded the world. The Press Publicity wishes as follows

This is the thesis maintained by Germany:

"Our enemies have united in an effort to, but, kill us; we find it have broken the barrier and I have regained my liberty. I have done what we war. I have been forced to it. I do not attack; I defend myself; it shall not seek to discover which of these words are indeed in full agreement with what, was said in the German press at the beginning of the month of August 1914 and without the slightest doubt first, from it is a mere reveal and lose for the part of the diversity upon which all the true honor responsibility for such a World war.

Others already have answered this thesis in abundant proofs. Let us here diplomatic documents. Let us, in the first place, call to mind the short speech delivered by the Chancellor of Germany which has the value of a word of command, to be faithfully obeyed by Germany to her diplomatic representatives in the hostile countries. For months Germany has been preparing for the war. Behind the veil of peace, she has been working with feverish energy, she has been arming the nations surrounding her, she has been, in a word, doing all that was necessary to make sure of victory. The Chancellor himself, in the course of the sitting of August 4, 1914, declared that Germany, compelled by force of circumstances, so that war was necessary—the expression is his own—was to treat the bandages from all open. It was admitted by the fact that there were in Belgium, in France, in England, in Russia, numerous firms either of the nationality of Germans or of German origin, which, in case of war, had the intention to "undertake," in the interest of the German commerce, the work of the spy

Now, the spy will was known only to a small number in Germany before the war. Everything was thermostated, of course, in the most secret. In Paris, you cannot go to your hardware shop, or to your tailor, to your perfumer's, or to your lamp shop, to your photographer's, to your bookseller's, without finding that such and such an employee is the head. The same is the case in Germany. I can say that from personal experience, but I do know that we had many clients there.

What I am now saying of material evidence. I could bring forward as necessary to assure, to mention, to prove that the German Government, before the war, by its own agents, by its own diplomatic representatives, by its consuls, by its secret service, by its spies, was preparing the war by twenty years under Will Hohenzollern would have not surprised even the fertility of Expressions upon a time that part of the world supported twenty men to one spy. Germany is now, and it is not so again. It is merely a question of water.

Already the variety of proofs that in Mesopotamia gives promise of enormous quantity. The list includes wheat, barley, millet, beans, cotton, cotton, hemp tobacco, cucumbers, melons, watermelons, figs, dates, peaches, apples, plums, and cereals, grapes, olives, buffalo, cotton in order of importance. The list is not the private will be what we find section if Mesopotamia gets water everywhere instead of rivers

"Wooden Eyes"

Have a wooden eye put in doorway and in the street cut small holes at proper places apart for persons to look through and at different heights from the floor Half the players go behind the curtain and four of the players at a time stand behind the curtain while the others write down on slips of paper the names of the persons whom they think are looking through these holes. Then four others take their place until all have had the chance. Then the others change places with them, so that the guessers become the guessed. The holes are numbered 1, 2, 3, 4 in groups so that the answers may be written opposite the numbers

MESOPOTAMIA AND GREAT BRITAIN

Great Variety of Agricultural Wealth Throughout Varied Section Always Invited Severe Powers to Some the Far Valleys —Willcocks Planned to Surpass Egypt.

Whatever may be the fate of other of the fighting Empire Mesopotamia undoubtedly will be subject to the growing power in its position along the main routes of the protected to the Persian Gulf, playing a really important part. The great rivers have ever been boundaries of land and of peoples. It has been so in Mesopotamia. It has never had natural boundaries. The Arabian desert has been a barrier to rather but not impart forces of greedy fighters, who have periodically swept to her gates and for temporary overlordship in the country. The plains of Persia are not separated from the fat valleys by any mountain or river barrier and these points have been in breeding place of Karaindre perhaps to Some but certainly better organized than the Arabs. Never have the dwellers in the valleys succeeded in establishing lines secure in the inevitable attempt of Armenia on as to prevent the Persian from pouring down upon their other desirable valleys. Thus the armies of Egypt and Greece and Rome have always found the way and from the north-east between the desert and the mountains whenever they wished to contest with the forces of the east for the mastery of the valleys of the Euphrates. Even the British Indians will need the energetic zeal of British leaders if they are to resist their strength body and spirit beyond the period when the tonic of reclaimed land shall have been made over to the lighter toil of tropical harvests of the land.

The Seasons Reverses

The reasoning nature of this kind of trying climate and easy crops is illustrated both by the natural history of the land and by an account of the productiveness of its various agricultural and natural divisions. Every years crop about months in November from covering the Occidental seasons. In the Arabian desert, where there is no irrigation, the cereals by January many inches high, but by March they are withered by the summer drought of crops and by September vegetation is entirely burned up. August and September are less water in the rivers and March to May the flood season, so that the most water is available for irrigation during the very season when the crops can also get direct rainfall.

Ex-reading terrain in the tract between the Euphrates river and the Euphrates in its middle section exceedingly productive. The plain from Tiflis or Jaso to below Harran, whence Abraham came, to the Persian Gulf between the two great protecting seams and year round. Even in the lower part of the section is but one portion of its land and one far remote from the heart of the Mesopotamian country. From the rolling plains west of Mosul are intersected by the many streams of the Khabur system. 200 in all, which under favorable political and administrative conditions would produce a marked fertility

Willcocks Headwaters Dam

Colonel Reginld the William Willcocks threatened before the war to dam every drop of the great Tigris Rivers and to leave the city [illegible] and Bagdad to the mercy of the desert from being still a great city. Now the Bagdad region is a steppe covered with natural and weeds and mounds. The purpose of their Monster has been to make the Bagdad railway was to use the water of the Tigris to make the country a vast American Granary, but Willcocks had other plans. He had seen as the Germans found that the war in twenty years under Will Hohenzollern would have not surprised even the fertility of Egypt once upon a time that part of the world supported twenty men to one spy. Germany is now, and it is not so again. It is merely a question of water.

Already the variety of products in Mesopotamia gives promise of enormous quantity. LOURDES CURING WAR

"For the first time in the half century that Lourdes has been the miracle working capital of the world no pilgrimages came to her from any quarter of the globe," says a Paris correspondent to the Chicago News. "The innumerable processions have given place to individual pilgrims who had come to pray for the conversion to their religion of the French monk that the God wave shall pass through the dangers of war and continue the progress of Christianity. Very interesting is the reversion to ancient customs of warfare in Spain's present war with the Moors, stones were among very first used in the same way as the Romans along them and Hannibal 2,000 years before. Now, in the trench warfare, the French have discovered that knives are much more useful weapons at close quarters than bayonets, which are still further along the same path, having reintroduced the cuirass or steel breastplate, the armor endured to us all by "Marm..." and many a dashing tale of war. Feed Corn and Wheat

Wheat is not the only grain that should be fed lowa, even when hogs are on free range. It should be balanced by an equal amount of corn. Of the mixture a handful should be allowed each load per day.

Branding for crimes is still performed in some countries, and was not abolished in Great Britain until 1827. Buildings in Japan are very slight in structure because Japan is more subject to earthquakes than any other country.

WATER

Water is very slightly compressible. H2O is the chemical formula of water.

The water wheel was used by the ancients.

Water covers ⅔ per cent. of the surface of our earth.

Absolutely pure water is not to be found in nature.

Strictly speaking there is no such thing as water power.

Hard water is brisker and more agreeable to the taste than soft.

There could be no form of animal or vegetable life without water.

For general manufacturing purposes, soft water is preferable to hard.

Americans drink much more water than do the people of Great Britain.

London's water supply was for half a century in the hands of some eight companies.

Sea water may be rendered drinkable by being filtered through a bed of fresh, dry sand fifteen feet deep.

Well water and spring water if hard, generally contain in solution magnesia or carbonate of lime, or both.

If a house has no proper water supply the authorities have power to declare it as unfit for habitation.

A molecule (the smallest possible portion) of water is made up of two atoms of ... two parts hydrogen and one of oxygen.

The hardness of water is determined by making a solution of soap of such a strength that a standard volume of it will take a given quantity of barium chloride, and then be just able to froth on shaking.

To Ease Her Mind

The nurse was writing a letter for a wounded soldier.

"There's something I'd like to put in, miss," said the soldier hesitatingly.

"Well, what is it?"

"You write, nurse? Just put: The nurse in this hospital are a rather elderly persons."

"But, Jack," said the youthful nurse.

"It isn't, miss; but it'll ease my missus' mind wonderful. She's always been a bit on the jealous side."

Curing Feet of Fat

When a young old has been down, it is due to exercise. It is difficult to cure. Such fowls should be fed on a separate pen, and fed lightly. They should also be compelled to do considerable hunting among litter for their grain. Exercise is about the only treatment that might effect a cure.

Re Belgian Relief Aid Dance

Tofield, Alta.
Feb. 29, 1916.

To the Editor,
Standard

Dear Sir

I understand that there is now some dissatisfaction and regret amongst a few relative to the proceeds of the dance given in the Belgian Relief on January 28th

Firstly, I want to say that I am especially responsible for every thing in connection with that dance, as I, myself, as getting up the dance there was no patriotic enthusiasm on my part at all. It was simply a business matter and speculation. I was very par ticular to state that to several people before the dance took place. Now here are a few things for them to consider, I arrived at the hall at 7 o'clock and found that there had been given out by them some in Town as they had failed to make expenses.

Then the proceeds of the last dance held there were about $17.00.

Then during the Orchestra, Variety Hall and advertising, I am using expenditures will over $20.00

That assuming that the people would not be unselfish any more than the dance held here on January 28th, leaving a balance of a few dollars to be given to the Belgian Relief Fund. I made a few for the Hall myself, and others who would be willing to help.

This necessitates all expenses and I refer to town and that an admission fee of 50c per was simply for assisting the Belgian Relief Fund, and not here to take charge.

Then The Patriotic Orchestra generously gave their services, and whether or not we have a big individuality or unselfishly done their share, practically nothing towards patriotic purposes.

It belonging is a statement of receipts and expenditure we

Receipts including $1.75 collected over and above amount asked by refusing for extra hour) $39.25
(Orchestra 14 pieces) $20.00
One fare Edmonton Tofield return $2.10
Hotel of Hall $10.00
Standard Press $1.75
Hyde Times $1.20
Bars distributing dodgers .25
Balance sent to Mr Fisher Belgian Fund $4.95

In conclusion, Mr Editor, I would like to say that I have been in Tofield now for four years, and have never found it necessary to resort to misrepresentation in order to make a living, and thought, that I had emphasized my position plainly enough before this dance to avoid such criticism in this one.

Those parties to whom I stated the object of this dance, and the fact that the music would be charged for in the ordinary way would, I am afraid if they would plainly state this to them when they are aware of it, and had some knowledge that The Pinsett Orchestra were going to try to make a name for themselves by acting in this overflowingly patriotic manner.

Yours truly
Raymond W. Pinsett

The situation as above set forth by Mr. Pinsett was fully explained to the Standard some time prior to the dance mentioned. ED

FARMERS DISCUSS CO-OPERATIVE ELEVATOR

A number of outstanding farm men met in the Orange Hall in the Town Hall last Monday afternoon and heard C. F. Brown, vice-president of the Alberta Farmers Co-operative Elevator Co. Ltd., give a lucid and complete description of the work of that company and the benefits he has to say to all farmers in their better marketing of their grain and live stock wherever a branch of this company is located.

As a result of the talk the farmers present with one accord voiced a desire to organize and have a branch built locally. The matter of site however, was not unanimous. Shouts, which was larger represented, wants the elevator there, Kingman farmers want it there and others thought it should be established at Tofield. A committee was appointed to canvass all the farmers of the district for subscriptions to shares and getting their first and second choice of sites.

Graft everywhere almost. Is the country rotten with corruption? And the worst of it is that there seems to be no remedy for it, that will keep these robbers out of the public chest. Would a coalition government help matters? Yes, for a time, but only for a time. Would a farmers party on the job stop it? Not much! Farmers are just as corrupt as any other class. How about a labor party? Don't mention it! The rottenest government San Francisco ever had was a labor bunch. What is the cause of so much graft? Hard to say exactly. Probably the decline of old fashioned religion. Religion at the present time is largely a farce Church members are no better than those who are not. Dr. Eliot of Harvard and lots of others say the devil is simply an expression, a word. There is no such being. God, too, according to those superedu-cated critics, inside an I outside of theological seminaries is largely a figment of the imagination. Every man, so to speak, makes his own God Preachers are afraid to speak out, or don't believe in all they preach In the face of all this it is a comfort to one to find Admiral Beatty, Sir W. Robertson-Nicoll and others standing out for the old religion; but the outlook is gloomy.

What might have resulted in serious injuries occurred a short time ago in this vicinity. A young couple were homeward bound from the Devlin corner when the horses they were driving took fright and bolted. After going thus for but a short distance the rig reached into a tree, the horse tearing himself loose and throwing the occupants of the vehicle violently into the roadway. We are glad to say that they were fortunate in escaping with only a severe shaking up. Both had attended a dance on the previous evening and under the circumstances might be quite excused if they disimbered while the good steed took them homeward.

Dear Sir

"If Municipalities ask for Law Amendment"

I have read with indignation and amazement the revital and resolution under the above heading in your issue of the 2nd instant.

Let all residents within our Cornhill Municipality read that and understand what it means to them.

The only interpretation that can be put upon this astounding resolution, is that those residents and others who have paid their taxes and are in good standing, shall be compelled to pay the taxes of the delinquents.

Who were those Councill or Delegation authority to request the Legislature to legalize such a piece of barefaced robbery?

I am loth to believe OUR Councillors were in favor of the resolution, and in fairness to themselves they should have an opportunity of repudiating it. Perhaps they were dissentient.

It is hard enough now for those who pay their taxes, to meet them at the proper time, and receive no benefit, without having to pay a levy in addition "for the purpose of creating a surplus fund sufficient to meet all liabilities."

Why there is absolutely no limit to the amount of such a levy.

I ask how can there be a "surplus" when there are liabilities?

How can those who are now unable (or unwilling) to pay their taxes, pay a levy in addition, or is it meant that the delinquents are to pay their taxes and levy in common with those who pay their taxes?

It's my mind it is clear from the resolution that delinquents are NOT to be asked to pay their arrears, and that such arrears are to be met by levy upon those that pay.

It will be much to our benefit if we are all in arrears.

If this iniquitous measure should be any underhand means be "wangled" thro the Legislature, the temper of some of the tax payers is such, that the man who assisted enough to attempt to enforce that levy, will collect something totally different.

We are not now getting value for what we pay, and if the Municipality cannot be run upon the amount received, it is high time the affair was turned over to the Department of the Interior to wind up, and reinstate the old L. I. D.

The present state of affairs could not have arisen if our first councils had expended our moneys in a careful and business like manner, and put the garment to the measure of the cloth

I would remind our rate-payers that this Cornhill Municipality would never have been created if the Ballot Box from one district had been delivered within the time specified, and not with held for many days after the voting from other districts was known It was by the majority of this ballot that the measure passed

What happens I to the Back during those days, I wonder

If it were possible to have the voting over again, how diff-rent would be the result.

Ever since the creation of this Municipality no attempt has been made to collect taxes in arrears. What efficiency!

Yours truly
A. Micklebarg

Dear Sir—

Relative to "A Patriotic Fund Subscriber's" poetry in your issue of last week, I wish to say that the supposed author's name has been given to me by some friends. I went and interviewed this lady, who however denied the authorship, and stated that the composition was handed to her by someone whose name she was not prepared to divulge.

This lady at the same time assured me that my explanation was thoroughly satisfactory to her. She further assures me that the criticism arose from the conclusion that was jumped to that the PinsettOrchestra was going to play without charges. Mr. Pinsett said on the injustice of this, but I refer to my nothing about it. It is a pity Mr. Editor that the author of this poetry was not manly or womanly enough to hand this to you direct without hiding behind a lady.

A frontal attack is always costly but never the less always more manly than a stab in the back.

Annual Meeting Patriotic Fund Local Branch

The general meeting of the local executive of the Canadian Patriotic Fund was held in the town hall on Tuesday evening but was indifferently attended. In spite of this, however, full reports of the past twelve months work locally were given. The report of the secretary will be published next week.

An interesting fact to connect is with the local Can Pat. Fund is that of the $6322.57 paid in to the local treas so far $3017.77 is of date March, had been collected at town and $3304.77 in the country. Another interesting fact to know is that in the handing of this $6322.57 all the business transacted so far only the amount of $1.08 is chargeable to the Fund as administration expenses These are many other facts in connection with the report which will come out next week.

Council met in regular session on Monday evening and transacted a batch of routine work The main theme for discussion was the snow. Now that the financial statements for the year have been prepared, it is hoped that a line of credit at the bank for the current year will shortly be obtained. D Black was engaged to work at the rink for the balance of the curling and skating season and A. McMullin was allowed to resume his old position which he recently vacated temporarily to go on a month's trip up north.

Rink Still Running

During the thaw the other day it looked as though curling and skating were through with for the winter and now that even thing we there is not a way that skating thinking with regret that the curling season was over for the season. But, the weather man became gracious and a cooler spell has ensued both curling and skating to be resumed, to the immense enjoyment of the fans

A community is what the people in it make it. It will not do for all to keep back waiting for the other person to move. Let each act on his initiative, not independently of the others, but co-ordinating his effort with those of all.

ANOTHER idea worth considering is the fostering of constructive criticism, rather than destructive. Every well meant criticism is encouraged—but it is good to cultivate your neighbor. Usually he is a much better man than you think he is. So get acquainted with him.

Then again town people should get the idea out of their heads that they form a community separate from the rural districts surrounding the town. It may be separate in a exceptional sense but in the community building idea the one is as distinct as the other. The town is part of the whole—the rural district is part of the whole community.

CHARACTER IN FICTION WHICH WORLD ADMIRES

The Remarkable Genius of the Novel Detective Sherlock Holmes Has Been Studied Extensively

Everybody who is accustomed to snatch a few hours' recreation after their day's work in pursuit of literature reads fairly innocents of fiction carry a definite in their mind of their favorite character and with a majority until that character again presents itself in another story. We have in different works of fiction, some of the minds that will live forever here to say nothing of the various children of the still more type. But those are few outside a score or so that have taken their place. The reasons being, that all the "rest" is so hopelessly exaggerated as to make them border on the ridiculous. Where for instance do we meet in real life the man who kills dozens of brigands with but an occasional or the time little carelessly as regulates the millionaire proprietor. But there are books which do actually have characters as real to us as this majority makes them even more interesting.

A Real Life Character

The chief one of these to one which has stood the test of time and which for years has been the favorite of the older folks as well as the rising generation. Who has not revelled in the spirit of adventure and who has not thrilled with many attempts to read the wonderful adventures of Sherlock Holmes? The book that was translated into upwards of 12 languages for the ease of the world's public. They are the chronicles which W. J. Burns reputed to be the greatest detective in America, said were of the most possible assistance to him in his cases. Here at least is a character true to life. The original sketches was by Bell of Edinburgh University, a clever doctor and a man of remarkable personality. It is said that Dr Bell on meeting a friend was able to tell him from what part of the country he had come from merely by looking at the clay on his boots.

Deductions Extraordinary

He used to boast that his favorite hobby was the study of tobacco ash, and he was able to tell the particular brand of tobacco smoked merely by glancing at the ash. Although Dr Bell's appearance was not quite the Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's conception of Sherlock Holmes yet the various stories of detection coincide exactly. The Edinburgh professor was a man of few friends and on his death early in 1912 the public had hardly heard of him. Meanwhile until the decease of the author his wonderful powers of detection will live in the minds of millions of admirers, and his "cases" like Tennyson's book will go on for ever

COLOR-CHANGING FLOWERS

The Latest Out to Promote Growth of Plants

A remarkable way of making plants grow quickly, and especially of making the flowers bloom before their proper time, is used by many of the big London metal flower growers. The method depends upon the discovery of the Swedish scientist, who found out that plants grow very much more rapidly after a period of sleep.

Plants like human beings sleep at night. The more sleep they can get the faster they grow when they wake. This suggested to Dr Johannsen the idea of making them to sleep by obstructing them. His experiments were so successful that now lilies of the valley, daffodils and other flowers bloom to a marked degree. Nature allows them from the first appearance of the flower after the ground to the flowering in the case of lilies of the valley, for example, is less than a fortnight by this new method.

Clearly Directed

Old Johnson had been dining out with some friends. When he left to go home he found there was a very thick fog. However, he persevered, until at last he found he was lost.

Stumbling along a narrow alleyway he presently found himself descending a flight of steps. This, he felt sure, was not right, so, as he could hear footsteps approaching, he paused.

"Pardon me," he said to the dim figure which presently loomed through the fog, "but can you tell me where I am going to?"

"Certainly, sure" replied the stranger politely "if you go straight on you will walk into the river! I have just come out!"

Rhine Moth For Eggs

A MISCHIEVOUS BEETLE

A Queer Little Creature With Unpleasant Habits

There's nothing romantic about the last little red-headed beetle. When he wants to call his mate he taps a sweet heart he does not write her a letter and he doesn't compose a poem and send it to her. Just watch his little red head against the wall in a sharp kind of a way which is known by grass seems to mean, "Come here Jemima, come right along, don't keep the waiting while you brush your coat or frau up your wings I'm a busy man, I am. I've got a big contract on hand to tunnel my way right through the left arm of Mrs Brown's mantle

chair and I have very little time to day for courting And those who know a great deal about beetles say Jemima comes a-running when she hears her lord and master knocking on the wall

It is this strange habit of knocking his head against the wall when he wants to make that makes old fashioned folks call the beetle the "death watch" There is something ghostly about the way he knocks or "ticks" against the wall that is against the furniture in the dwelling. Five times he ticks—the exact time stops for a minute or two and starts with the silly head and he keeps on ticking and tossing until his mate comes and helps with the knocking, now he borrowing the legs of her chairs and the backs of the sofas

Manure Hints

Do not in ordinary farm practice apply manure liberally It is more profitable for us to sell for your yield per than if your land receives frequent light dressings than heavy dressings at longer intervals

Apply manure at the time and in the manner to give best results To be able to do this you must ascertain the results of experiments conducted for this purpose and make repeated trials on your own farm

Keep live stock on the farm, but preponderate the land become impoverished or lose away because it contains no manure or does it to better purpose than upon the old fashioned farming than to keep live stock crop system

A Turkish Dinner

No tables or chairs are used in the ordinary Turkish household When the floor is the main part of it only sit down to the meal they usually place a cloth on a bench about eighteen inches high A large tray of wood plate or silver, according to the position of the family, is set in the middle of them On this tray is placed a big bowl from which every body helps himself It is considered a great honor for the host to fish out of this compound a chicken bit and present it to a guest.

GIVE YOUR MOTHER A CHANCE TO ENJOY LIFE

Don't be Selfish in Leaving the Best One to the World at Home When You Go Out to the Shows

"All these things" I said when I found my friend, Mrs. Brown, sitting by the window in her cozy little home. "You have a good husband, a nice little home, and two children. What more do you want?"

"Yes, I have all these things," she answered, "but I want a little change. Mother looks after the children when I am out, but I feel that I am selfish in leaving the best one to the world at home when I go out to the shows."

Ryley Dramatic Club Scores Signal Success

In "The Galley Slave" Play to Bumper House. Crowd Well Pleased

The public of Tofield and district do enjoy anything in the way of a stage play which is put on by amateur or local talent. It was partly on this account, many of the players being locally well-known and it was also partly on account of the worthy cause, the Red Cross, for the benefit of which it was being put on, that a goodly crowd turned out last Friday night and filled the house until even standing room was at a premium, to see and hear the Ryley Dramatic Club present "The Galley Slave," at the Variety Theatre.

Nor was the audience disappointed in the nature and quality of the production. Bordering on the hearty the interpretation enacted was excellent, having in mind that the performers were all amateurs. Why, in the melodramic scenes even tears were rung from the eyes of some of the audience while the grimacier, O'Rourke, in his humorous milieu always relieved the tension just at the right moment.

Throughout, the presentation of the play was followed with keen interest, the trend of the story with close sympathy. The players held a grip anon their audience which was not released until the last curtain was rung down. It was thoroughly enjoyed. Our Ryley friends can come again and when they do they will be assured a full and appreciative house.

Art Balsam, until recently in charge of the express dept. at the depot, has been moved to Springwater on the Bigger-Calfry branch of the G. T. P. where he has been placed in charge of a way station. John Murray who has been handling the baggage end of the business here has been advanced to the position lately occupied by Mr. Balsam.

Amisk Creek Notes

The signs of spring are with us; prices have been seen, gophers are emerging from their hibernation in great numbers, and two blue birds were sighted winging their flight over the frozen slough.

Ben Bendickson of Ryley leaves on Sunday for Colorado Springs for the benefit of his health.

J. W. Somers is contemplating breaking about fifty acres or more on the farm he purchased in this vicinity last year.

Rodk. Berg recently purchased from Mr. Archer of town the n w ¼ of 2 50 18, known as the Stafford quarter, which he intends to improve this summer.

Paul Flooten recently completed a fine new barn, 30 X 56. The young man is the only bachelor on the line and had an impromptu dance there last Tuesday evening and declare the barn an ideal place for tripping the fight fantastic.

Alex Wagg er recently purchased the n w ¼ of 35 50 18 from Mr. Westree of Iowa.

Frank Lee has moved on to his new farm recently vacated by John Wicken who has gone to Peace River. Mr. Lee is a bachelor and the appearance of the side of a fat balloon while the right cheek of Mr. Rogers presented a rosy counterpart. However, there was no such frame as was so unkindly hinted. The causes of both troubles were badly and painfully genuine and each victim was too much taken up with his own sufferings to know that the other was pretty much in the same fix. Time passes slowly when one is in predicaments like that. Who does enjoy having an ulcerated tooth?

Local

Mr. and Mrs. John Lee a little son, called to be christened Sunday Sunday afternoon.

Miss Ira Murray returned last Sunday School class of girls last Saturday afternoon.

Cornhill Rural Municipal council met on Wednesday. Chas Holmberg of Hay Lakes, newly elected member was present and duly sworn into office.

A number of young ladies and gents motored last Saturday to an evening party. The guests to be discovered the rendezvous to be a vacant property and as a result planned a wonderful joke by way of a token of the compliment. It ended up in an enjoyable evening at the home of Mrs Wm Hopgood. One of the parts utterly enjoyable features of the occasion was a mock marriage ceremony, the participants in which were chosen by lot among the guests.

Word has been brought in to the Standard office that Fred McHeffey, blacksmith, has erected a shed factory. On investigation we find this to be true.

Local

Mrs Frank Sharpe returned last Thursday from a several months visit to relatives in Pawnee, Okla.

J McBeth is building on his farm at Amisk Creek and will store his family out shortly.

Mrs. Billington last week had both her children operated upon in Edmonton for adenoids.

Mrs. Morris Mahaffey last Saturday received word that her mother, Mrs. Whitman, had died on March 23rd inst. at Pawnee Okla.

Tofield is well represented at the Stock Show at Edmonton this week. T. R. Henderson is showing two bulls of pure breeding and Mr. McDuffie, one. Adams & Helding are showing their thoroughbred stallion "Eulgin," and Sam B. theirs in line with the grade in the Suffolk Stallion, "Sir Walter."

Owing to their facial troubles the editor of the Standard and Walter Rogers of Rogers Bros last week seemed to come to have been participants in a little affair recently all their own. The left cheek of the editor had the appearance of the side of a fat balloon while the right cheek of Mr. Rogers presented a rosy counterpart. However, there was no such frame as was so unkindly hinted. The causes of both troubles were badly and painfully genuine and each victim was too much taken up with his own sufferings to know that the other was pretty much in the same fix. The 51st Battalion, Edmonton, left last week for an unknown destination, somewhere at the front. In this battalion were several well known Tofielders. Our best wish go with them and may they safely return.

Lieut Leslie H. MacQueen, late Vet. Corps, has recently been promoted to a captaincy at the fighting front. Tofield has just reason to be proud of her sons and watches their progress with interest and satisfaction.

Every man that sees you will exhort with a smile.

The Case of Belgium

Less is heard of Belgium now than in the early period of the war but the Belgium case has not been forgotten. Great Britain, France, and Russia, the powers who took up Prussia guaranteed the independence and neutrality of Belgium have solemnly renewed and enlarged their engagements. The following is the new agreement:—

"The allied and guaranteeing powers declare that, when the moment comes the Belgian Government will be called upon to take part in the peace negotiations, and that they will not exact its address until Belgium has been restored to her political and economic independence, and liberally indemnified for the damages she has sustained. They will lend their aid to Belgium to ensure her commercial and financial recovery.

A new feature of the agreement is that Belgium will take part in the peace negotiations. This is a recognition of the standing of Belgium as an independent nation, of the valuable service which Belgium rendered at the opening of the war, and of the terrible suffering of its people at the hands of the invading army.

Belgium should always be kept in view, because it reminds us that our cause in Europe is one of law and order. We can never hope for permanent peace in Europe except through international law, backed by an effective police force. The allied armies there constitute a police whose function is to restore order and compel Germany, not only to disgorge its plunder, but to make restitution.

General Scott, U. S. A. and General Villa

As the request of the British authorities the Grand Trunk System has now placed a series of motion picture reels which are being shown to the troops in France and Belgium during their brief periods of rest behind the line. Thousands of British troops are daily watching these pictures of Canadian scenery and Canadian industries.

His moving picture reels are being projected and they show the building of the Grand Trunk Pacific, farming in the Prairie Provinces, packing the Ontario apple crop, sport in the Highlands of Ontario, muskinonge fishing at St. Anne de Bellevue, shooting the Lachine Rapids, and scenes at Niagara Falls. The pictures bring before the Empire's fighting men in a vivid manner the attractions and resources of Canada.

The Rev. F. I. Anderson, Chaplain of the Forces, British Headquarters, France, writing to the European Traffic Manager of the Grand Trunk in connection with these films, says, "I only wish you could see the faces of the crowds of men who turn up evening after evening to get an hour's enjoyment and change of thought and environment which enables them to go back to their job with refreshed mind."

THE RUSSIAN CAPITAL CITY OF GREAT BEAUTY

An Inspiring Sight is the Traveller's First View of Petrograd—Splendy and Gloomy Combine

One of the most striking and beautiful cities of the western world is the capital of the Czar's dominion. St. Petersburg as it was known until the name was changed, is situated at the head of the Gulf of Finland and the mouth of the Neva river. Owing to its watterbo connection through the Neva with all the other great cities of Russia, Petrograd has for many years been remained for upwards of 150 years the principal port for the export of raw products and the import of manufactured goods. The traveler on entering through its eastern frontier is impressed by the grandeur of the city's many fine buildings of the first magnitude, and by the miles upon miles of wide streets, the like of which in the whole world is not to be found. The most important of these streets is the Nevski Prospekt, a street considered by many travellers to be the finest in the world. Facing it on the east is the magnificent Winter Palace of the Czar, a building which contains upwards of a thousand rooms. The administrative of Petrograd and many of the handsomest new club and hotel buildings are also to be found on the Nevski Prospekt, in most instances of the most modern and magnificent architecture. Petrograd is known as the Venice of the north, and it is certainly worthy of the name.

CONTEMPT OF DANGER

Cool Exposure of Canadians and Brilishers Make Splendid Record

Conspicuous among the records of meritorious bravery and contempt of danger is that of Lance-Corporal T. H. Curtis, 16th West Riding Regiment (T.F.). On the Tur Canal he was in charge of a party of soldiers holding a sap head within a few yards of the enemy's line. The end of the sap head was blown in by a trench mortar, and he was buried. He was dug out, found to be wounded in the leg, and ordered off to the dressing station, much against his will. About 15 minutes later he was found barricad ing the end of the sap, and helped to carry off three enemy bombing parties. Private H. B. Campion, 20th Canadian Infantry Bn., was in front of Wytschaete when the enemy exploded a mine, and he was buried under the debris. On being dug out he immediately volunteered to go forward as a bomber, and assisted in bombing the enemy from the crater in which they were advancing. He also worked under heavy shell and machine gun fire, to dig out and rescue the bodies of four men who had been buried by the explosion.

The Indian troops are typical stories of the British soldier's initiative and determination. Lance-Corporal T. H. Hixon, 19th Scottish Rifles, succeeded in crossing all his men over a deep and swift river at Matapedia, at 1 pm. on August 31, 1914, and this in the face of very great opposition from the enemy. Lance-Corporal Hixon, after crossing the river himself, collected a party of five men to capture Germans. He finally met a very strong opposing party, and disposed the latter to retire, but, on charging up the party fell back on a very strong position, and was reinforced by eight or ten others, began bombing the British party with hand grenades. Hixon, with another soldier, dashed forward with fixed bayonets, and, displayed great courage and ability in leading his men until he was himself severely wounded. Lance-Corporal Clinger Corporal J. Farrell, 1st Royal Irish Fusiliers, led out a party of five men to capture Germans. He finally met a very strong opposing party, and, in spite of the fact that he was wounded in the leg, and disposed the latter to retire, but, on charging up the party fell back on a very strong position, and was reinforced by eight or ten others, began bombing the British party with hand grenades. FIGHTING FOREST FIRES

Five Dollars a Week in Cash for Patrol Price in Ontario

The forest fires in Ontario during this year nearly a fifty dollar bill. This statement is made on good authority, although figures would not be forthcoming before April 1st. The total will be considerably less than that of 1915, which was the worst record of the kind in the province.

Almost all the forest fires in Ontario are due to the carelessness of settlers and campers. Some settlers are also in the habit of setting fire to the bush in order to get rid of the rough timber which is usually cut in the winter months. The fire is then allowed to run its course, with the result that many valuable trees are destroyed. Campers are also responsible for many fires. Some camp fires are left burning when the campers move on, and the fire spreads. Sometimes fires are started by sparks from locomotives, but the Railway Act provides a penalty of $500 for any person who starts a fire in the forest reserves of the province.

Ontario, indeed, is the only province in the Dominion which has a fire ranger service. Each township in the province is divided into districts, and a ranger is employed in each district. It is his duty to patrol the district assigned to him, and to see that the settlers in the district observe the fire regulations. He is also required to report any violations of the regulations which he may observe. He is empowered to call upon any settler in his district to assist him in fighting fires, and any settler refusing to render such assistance is liable to a penalty of $100. The ranger is also empowered to summon any settler to appear before him. It is his duty to see that the settlers in his district have sufficient water supply, and that they have ladders and pails in readiness for fighting fires. He is also required to see that settlers do not burn brush or piles of slashing during the months of May, June, July and August, except between the hours of 4 o'clock in the afternoon and 7 o'clock in the morning. Settlers are also prohibited from burning brush or slashing during a high wind, and are required to notify a ranger before they start any extensive burning operations. The ranger is empowered to advise as to the safest way of doing such burning, and the settler is encouraged to start his fire against the wind, so as to have the edge of growing timber, he is informed, will not burn. The ranger is also empowered to call upon any settler to help put out fires within any one ranger district. The Ontario Government is fully aware of the danger to the province from forest fires, and is taking every precaution to prevent them. All persons should be careful to see that when they leave camp fires they are thoroughly extinguished.

The ranger service is under the control of the Ontario Forestry Association, which is composed of lumbermen and others interested in British Columbia have recently established a similar service. Permit Law recognizing it as quite as sensible as any other method adopted to prevent incendiarism in forests of other countries are that a province of the British Columbia Provincial Forestry Association has been established throughout its districts, and that the province should have such a measure can be worked out very successfully indeed.

GROWTH

After we are born, our rate of growth decreases steadily, until we are fully grown.

You can see how regularly growth decreases after birth by watching the increase in a baby's weight.

A baby usually doubles its weight in six months and quadruples it in a year.

You can grow in a series of spurts which follow a regular rhythm. Between the ages of seven and eight, for instance, you grow more than twice as much as you do between the ages of six and seven.

Most children grow more in the spring than in the autumn.

The rhythm of growth is not the same in all parts of the body. The head grows more slowly than the rest of the body, and the legs grow more quickly than the trunk.

Runaway Ends Farmer's Life

D. L. Yoder, Well-known Farmer and Respected Member of the Community Victim of Fatal Accident

---

Levi D. Yoder, one of the most respected farmers of the Tofield district, was the victim of a fatal accident three o'clock Monday afternoon when a team attached to a farm wagon became unmanageable and in running down the farm he by the house charged into the old gentleman who unnecessarily got in front of them. The team was in charge of a son, Ray, who had been harrowing on the fields and who had come up to the farm buildings for a fresh double-tree, the one he had been using having been broken. He had attached the team to the wagon to get back to the field and just climbed into the wagon when the animals one of which, had been a frequent boast for some time, made a break to run away and charged down the lane leading to the house. Just at this moment Mr. Yoder, seeing the team into the lane and while he a second or so later saw the team coming and ran to the side of the lane to the wire fence to get out of the way, the runaways headed directly onto and over him. He was carried into the house and surgical aid immediately secured. But the result by several external cuts and bruises it was found that grave internal injuries had been sustained and at four o'clock on Tuesday morning he breathed his last.

Deceased was one of the oldest farmers in the district, being over seventy years of age and the oldest member of Salem Mennonite church. He came from Parnell, Iowa, to this district in 1912 and had here resided a widow, eight sons and two daughters. Of the sons, George lives in Iowa and John in Montana while Dave, Jake, Levi, Ezra, Ray and Vernon all live in this district. The two daughters are Mrs. J. H. Bowman of Tofield, and Mrs. J. E. Swartzentruber, both of whom live in this district.

Deceased was a kindly old gentleman with a bright, cheerful and pleasing personality who endeared himself to all who knew him. The district sincerely mourns his loss and sympathizes with the family in their bereavement.

Spring time.

A post had said something about the "Young man's fancy turning to thoughts of love" about this time of year.

A Tofield lady is being quoted as saying that "It was a case of love at first sight."

From the rushes that occurred the other night one might be led to suppose that a skivaree (whatever you may spell it) was going on.

A lady resident of Tofield is reported as one day this week having received the perplexed allowance from her 'hub' in the Old Country. Money may be called 'filthy lucre,' but a little of it now and again helps one along quite a bit.

Something at the moment calls to the mind of the scribe a song recently sung in the local theatre by a member of Travalini's quartette. "If your wife wants to go to the country, let 'er go." This might be changed to read, "If your wife wants to go to Australia, let 'er go."

It's easy to tie a knot with your tongue that you can't untie with your teeth.

The odor that pervades the atmosphere some of these evenings would convince that it is about 'cleaning up' time

Guess we all have a guilty feeling when the question is asked, "Have you cleaned up your yard yet?"

That "Good Roads Day" proposition has a good flavor to it. If all the road boiler were plugged in on the same day, in a ten mile radius of town, it would be worth more than the commutation of taxes work of a year, in the main areas.

Somebody swiped the editor's tin ash bucket the other night. He is unknown, but the fellow who got away with the axe, his winter and hasn't returned it is known. Small axe, small man, small trick.

There being no further space, the scribe turns his attention to other matters.

SELECTING GOOD ROADS

Best Way of Selecting Route to be Improved

The only reasonable basis for determining which of several routes is the best to improve as a permanent highway should be improved at the present time is the relative amount of improvements should take place in the communities in order to make such improvement add the maximum amount to the convenience of the public however, it is not exactly that the engineer who plans the improvements must have a comprehensive understanding of the economic and social relationship which exists between different parts of the community under consideration and also the effect which different roads, if improved would have in changing the relationship between the various

In order to gain a comprehensive understanding of the kind it is usually necessary for the engineer to prepare maps showing the relative location of the proper relation to each other, and showing also how population and industries are distributed. The amount and character of the traffic over the various routes, and should be shown on the plan

Before the plan is made before him. It is practicable for an engineer to lay out the most economical and improved highway which would accommodate the traffic between any two communities relative wants to each and to the surrounding country. The best way to improve a road is that which will contribute toward the development of which all the interested communities are directed, but which might be readily modified to meet the objections urged as the system developed.—Can adian Engineer.

A FILTHY HABIT

Spitting Injurious to Health—It's Also Unsightly and Disgusting

---

Attached to the poles all over the business part of a city are small bins for the reception of matches. The Not Spit on the Sidewalk; it is a filthy habit.

A glance at the filthy sidewalks any day will convince anyone that the bins were needed. Men, women and children are guilty. Everyone is to blame, but the habit is a filthy one, and dangerous, as to be positively sickening to the sight. Many signs are likely well covered with the dust and accumulated dirt of the years they have been idly decorating the poles and are scarcely legible, but they are telling the passer by that if they spit on the street they are breaking a law, but no one seems to care, so the habit grows. Spitting is not confined to men alone. Again, the corridors and stairways of public buildings often so disgusting that one is ashamed to enter them, to have in the halls of entrance to a public building.

We should think he'd be it to see in the interests of public health to see that the habit of spitting was broken up. Of course, the signs are there, but they are the mere ornaments of the walls and the street. Let the authorities maintain vigilance and make an example of a few offenders against this law of spitting and the habit will disappear. A few convictions might give an cleaner look to the sidewalks and main floors in our public buildings.

"No."

"Billy Sunday, and if you will come to my meeting to-night, I'll show you the way to Heaven."

"Gaus," 'ee can't find me," replied the urchin, scornfully, "why I've didn't even know the way to the post office!"

Farmers Busy Spring Seeding

Spring Operations in Full Swing Rushing Wheat Seeding

The farmers of Tofield district seem to be getting considerable spring activity this year. Those who did a spring had started in March, and the bulk of the spring seeding operations will follow during April. As a general rule, the seeding of wheat is completed by the middle of May. Possibly this is the season for new blood which is coming into the country next year. The fact is that some of the farmers who are showing their faith in spring wheat by the value of improving it time as a good by. Although it is but ten days or so since the land has been in shape for cultivation many Tofield district farmers already have gotten well under way with their seeding operations. M Hafner, six miles north of town last Saturday had over one hundred acres sown to spring wheat and had some oats also, seeded the week before. Mr Hafner has crop this year, 225 of which will be wheat. On Monday I H Olson started in to seed 160 acres of wheat. T A. Rowen early the week got his crop in and late in the ground Everywhere throughout the district dissing and harrowing and seeding are in full swing this week.

FRANCE NEEDS GUNNERS

Recruiting Now Being Carried On Throughout Canada

Impressing the fact particularly on French Canadians of the necessity of the French Republic for a sufficient number of gunners to operate the new guns being sent to the front, the Tempo takes the opportunity of explaining the British system of which they have had a taste. "The French Government by the law of recruitment has the right to call to the colors the gunners of the last two classes (photo of these conscripts). It necessary to all behind. Should they not wish to share the opportunity by the granting of the law the engine Parliament participated in the discussion and voted and carried on by gunners and commission whenever difficult matters have been handled on French soil. On all sides, but particularly in the vallleys of the Aisne and the Somme, the tanks of the British operations in company with the French, which has deeply moved the British people, who are accorded a warm welcome for the deed. No matter where they are billeted they are made welcome in every house. Should any one not have a just ticket paid to their home town, Windsor Salmon, or Fish Creek or to Flanders, it is for their own pleasure. Should they not wish to go home, such will be their privilege. They cannot refuse. Their pay and rations are given by our side during the days of adversity in giving them all the fallen a peaceful burial ground, where they may repose in peace. Oh, we are merely fulfilling our duty. We are only humble men who count the time allowed to clean which make the gunners in difficulty, as well as in peace.

German Describes Verdun Horrors

Soldiers More Than Heroes Officer Declares in Berlin Paper

SHOWS NO CONFIDENCE

Implies Existence of Despair on Part of German Public

Amsterdam, April 8 — The Berlin Vossische Zeitung of April 1 contains a noteworthy article by a German officer named Rose, a man of Scottish descent, who before the war was editor of a Munich Newspaper.

The article is in the nature of a personal narrative of the battle of Verdun, the writer describing from the German point of view the terrific character of the struggle, and at no apparently implying the existence of despair on the part of the German public at the failure of the [illegible]

The article says in part:

"There had recently been a flashed before our eyes like a film, on which in maddening confusion were reproduced pictures composed of the heroisms of the hinterer it is warm, and in the mountains it is temperate and in some places cold. He knows that there is minerals, and that the hydrocarbons and valleys are especially adapted for raising cattle and for agriculture.

"Heroes! Yes, we were once heroes. There is many a weakling among them who in peace time ran from a biting dog, yet who like now under a shower of iron shall fire in trenches which are shot to pieces, without murmuring and leaps toward death on signal without hesitation, without fear, almost without consciousness. These men are dying for you daily, every mortal thing imaginable in the form of horror and terror. You could all the horror and terror was portrayed; all that was greatest and most glorious is strength of soul and human sacrifice.

"It is not unusual to draw an exact picture of the battles themselves, Bethincourt, Dead Man Hill, Vaux, Avocourt wood toll you nothing.

"In the laconic communiques of the general staff you find nothing of that which is worse in an immortal veil of courage, loyalty and self-sacrifice round these names and those who live through these days do not talk of them. So overpowering are the impressions that one would keep silent and forget. But those at home should hear everything. No description can possibly be graphic and thrilling enough to enable them to gain an appreciation of what is being revealed here.

These men are dying for you daily, every mortal thing imaginable in the form of horror and terror. You could all the horror and terror was portrayed; all that was greatest and most glorious is strength of soul and human sacrifice.

"It is not unusual to draw an exact picture of the battles themselves, Bethincourt, Dead Man Hill, Vaux, Avocourt wood toll you nothing.

"In the laconic communiques of the general staff you find nothing of that which is worse in an immortal veil of courage, loyalty and self-sacrifice round these names and those who live through these days do not talk of them. So overpowering are the impressions that one would keep silent and forget. But those at home should hear everything. No description can possibly be graphic and thrilling enough to enable them to gain an appreciation of what is being revealed here.

Local

John Morrow of Dariffe was a visitor to Tofield last Saturday.

Prairie fires are making themselves in evidence.

Mr. and Mrs Johnson Ferguson have moved out on to their farm at Lagan.

C. A. Harrisnan is the guest of his brother A. A. Harriman 2nd Ave. E. It is four years since he last was in Tofield, and he remarks that substantial advancement has been made by the town in the meantime despite the fact that we have at present no gas. When Mr. Harriman was here before the gas flow had just been struck, and was at the height of its flow.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jolliard and children of Edmonton, have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Daily the past week.

Disking, dragging and drilling are the order of the day in this locality and every field presents a busy appearance.

The large barn being erected by Peter Ass is being rapidly pushed forward. Mr. Jacobson of Edmonton, is the contractor and builder.

A number from this vicinity attended the funeral of Mr. Yoder on Friday. Heart-felt sympathy is expressed by all for the family on account of the sad accident, which caused the death of so highly esteemed a citizen as Mr. Yoder.

The young ladies basket ball team held their first meeting, as an organized body, on Monday afternoon. Among Miss Alma Erickson captain and Miss Mary Francis secretreasurer. Their practice grounds have been located in the pasture at the Moss place.

The box social given at the school house last Friday evening by the basket ball girls was largely attended, and there being nearly a hundred persons present. An enjoyable program and lively bidding on the flower-decked, well-filled baskets made the evening pleasant for all. The young ladies netted a sum for furnishing the most sanguine expectations of those to whom credit for getting up the affair is due.

Morris McGinity left yesterday for Camrose where he will work in a garage for the summer.

C. A. Harriman, who has been visiting his brother, A. A. Harriman, left yesterday morning for Lowa.

John Muir of Dariffe died last week after a lingering illness. He had been ailing for some time.

WHERE KITCHENER IS TREATED LIKE A BOY

The "Stern Man" Like a Child in the Hands of Two Elderly Ladies—K. of K.'s Present Well Used

In the big, rapid of Lord Kitchener, Mr. Harold Begbie draws a most winning picture of his friendship with two of his elderly relatives—two dear, distinctive old Scotch ladies who lived in London, by name the Misses Nicholson.

Before he went to Egypt for his advance on Khartoum, these dear old ladies presented Kitchener with a goldhooked "swagger cane; and when the advance was accomplished and the photographer arrived to make a picture of the general and his staff Kitchener could not fail to recognize in when the photograph appeared in the illustrated papers. He sent them news from Gordon's grave at Khartoum, and casts of the culprit from the

Like a Schoolboy

Their home was a big one, and on his return from distant service and in the rare intervals of leisure, running up the stairs two at a time, whistling so he pleased, and telling them such stories of his campaigns as no one else in London ever heard. They called him Herbert, pronouncing it "Harlbert" in the broadest Scotch, and would not on either side of him "studying his bronzed face with their small, smiling shrewd eyes, teasing him, chaffing him, adoring him, and giving him sound advice."

Later on in his friendship Herbert "Harlbert" once wished to make the little old ladies a gift so valuable and unusual that they first called upon to pause and consider before accepting it. It was a gold cup set—one of the many gold caskets presented to "K. of K." by the grateful corporations of provincial cities.

"Do we need it?" propounded the first old lady, pointedly.

"No, we certainly don't need it," reflectively acquiesced her sister

"What could we do with it?" pursued the first old lady. But the second had had an idea.

"Hum!" she suggested, contemplatively, "perhaps we could use it as a tea-caddy."

His second escape was from the blasted Victoria. THE ALL BLACKS

So much has been written about the magnificent bearing of the Australian troops that one must mention a few instances of the bravery of their comrades, the New Zealanders.

During the famous attack on Lone Pine the 2nd Battery, under Colonel Fyfee, repelled five Turkish attacks. The Turkey have acknowledged that they were done and if it had not been for this battery they would have had no victory. During this action 21 gun teams brought up ammunition over 3 yards of ground that was subjected to shrapnel and rifle fire. Machine gun and rifle fire. Production and Thrift

"CANADA from her abundance can help supply the Empire's needs, and this must be a comforting thought for those upon whom the heavy burden of directing the Empire's affairs has been laid. Soon or no gain the course before the farmers of Canada is so clear as it was last year they must produce abundantly in order to meet the demands that may be made and I believe this to be especially true in regard to live stock, the world's supply of which must be particularly affected in the future. Canada's duty is clear, and I am sure she will not fail before that fright. Another great year of production is upon us and Canadians will do their duty in the highest sense of that great word."—HON. MARTIN BURRELL, Minister of Agriculture.

"MODERN war is made by ministers, by money, by foodstuffs, as well as by men and by munitions. Whole war is war first and last. It is the imperative duty of every man in Canada to put his best foot forward. It is particularly hard when our soldiers are in the trenches, to order that the resources of the country may not only be conserved, but increased, for the great struggle that has before us. . . . Work and Save is a good motto for War-time."—SIR THOMAS WHITE, Minister of Finance.

TO CANADIAN FARMERS, DAIRYMEN, FRUIT GROWERS, GARDENERS

We must feed ourselves, feed our soldiers, and help feed the Allies. The need is greater in 1916 than it was in 1915. The difficulties are greater, the task is heavier, the need is more urgent, the call to patriotism is louder—therefore be thrifty and produce to the limit.

NOW that the "Local Roads Day" proposition has been agreed upon between Town and Rural Municipality Councils, its success depends solely upon organization, organization ORGANIZATION.

Whose are the roads, the plows, the scrapers, etc.? Shall they be properly disposed through the townships? Be in a state of preparedness.

THE slogan being adopted in many towns and cities now is "Clean Up, Clean Out and Keep Clean." It is a splendid one to follow. Already many of our citizens have been taking action. Official "Clean Up" Day, which comes on Friday of next week, should see every portion of town, private and public, cleared of unsightly rubbish. Tofield has enjoyed a good name for being a clean and well-kept town. Let us maintain the good record.

o o o o o

THE wonderful fact that has come out recently of the landing of large numbers of Russian troops in France is a satisfactory demonstration of the favorable condition of affairs in the European war. These troops would doubtless have to be transported over a journey, the distance of which would be considerably more than half the globe. The move shows complete confidence in the ability of the Russians to hold the enemy on the eastern front. It also bears out the assumption which many military students have made that the war will be won in the western theatre.

VAUGHAN-LEE

Rear-Admiral Vaughan Lee is the man who gives our naval authorities advice. As head of the Naval Air Service he has all the flying men and flying machines of the navy under his command. He is in the navy what Sir David Henderson is to the army.

When the war broke out Rear-Admiral Vaughan Lee was in command of the Royal Naval Barracks at Portsmouth. Each year he has to give his final "At Home" to the officers of the fleet. Last year it was given a good send-off on the night of July 29th, 1914, when the fleet was ordered to sea.

Born forty-eight years ago, he was present as a midshipman at the bombardment of Alexandria in 1882 and subsequently he became famous as one of the torpedo experts of the navy.

He is great on the scientific side of his work and he takes much pains over everything to which he turns his hand, and his hand has no mean magic about it.

Although a Director Rear-Admiral Charles Lionel Vaughan Lee is very much a dreamer of dreams as well as a practical man of the type of the flying men he has a responsible

Restores Any Wire Stretch

How short the Germans spies are is shown by a simple incident which took place in a street of Luxemburg. A German officer had a row with a woman and said "Good day, Jodler" to her. Instead of the usual "Heil dir, Kaiser Wilhelm" she replied "Heil dir, Kaiser Wilhelm." "Why this word Jodler?" he asked. "Because I addressed my remark to a Jodler. I could not call her Hindenburg, for he gives the Russians a fit." In Luxemburg parlance the word "Jodler" means a fool. "Madame sale" and sounds like the name of the French generalissimo.

Mrs. Hugh Mitchell last Sunday made the 1 hundredth trip coming or having a fall while out attending to her chickens. She is progressing favorably.

BEANS—THAT'S ALL

Dried white beans can be used in many ways to give a delicious and tempting meal. Baked beans can be served in a dozen different ways, all the best tempting to the reliable dish of baked beans. Baked beans can be served cold, re-heated and in the ensuing tender, which means a long, slow, thorough cooking. They must, however, never be cooked in the mushy canic. They are always improved by careful flavoring—with sauce or vegetables. Small remains of baked beans, over each of which a strip of bacon is laid, are delicious in both appearance and taste and can be used as an entree at dinner or lunch. Beans baked with a pork chop for each person, instead of the usual pork, are also delicious.

Baked With Oil

Soak one quart beans over night in warm water. Place them in double boiler and add two teaspoons salt, one-half cup molasses and a small piece pork and let them steam until nearly done. Then remove to oven pour in a little oil over them and add a pinch of pepper

Boston Baked Beans

Soak one quart beans over night, drain, cover with fresh water, heat slowly, bring to boiling point and boil until barst and drain again. Scald pint of one-half pound piece pork scrape, remove one-quarter inch skin and put in bottom of bean pot. Cut through rind of remaining pork every one-half inch, put beans in pot and bury pork in beans, leaving rind exposed. Mix one teaspoon salt and two tablespoons each molasses and sugar with one cup boiling water and add to beans; add more boiling water to cover beans. Cover bean pot and bake slowly six or eight hours. Cook half a can of tomatoes with a slice of onion 15 minutes, strain, add three tablespoons butter, mix with same amount flour, salt and pepper, add tomatoes and cook until thick. If molasses are very acid add a few grains of soda. When beans are nearly done add tomatoes.

Bean Soup

Soak overnight two cups of dried beans, then boil them until tender in same water. Put cut red peppers and put them through a sieve. Fry three slices of bacon until brown, then add the pepper pulp and one green pepper that has been minced fine and one shredded onion. Then put in the beans, adding pieces of juice, a little salt and some grated cheese. Cook together thoroughly.

MANY DISHES WHICH ARE QUICKLY SERVED

Walnut Wafers

Roll chilled pie crust very thin, sprinkle ground walnuts and a fine mixing of salt over and press down with rolling pin, then cut into small strips or diamonds and bake in hot oven.

Brown Bread

One cup of rye meal, one cup of boiled Indian meal, one-half cup of flour, one cup of molasses, one teaspoon of soda. Mix with the molasses to let it foam, little salt, milk to mix not like cake Steam 2½ hours.

Graham Gems

Mix and sift 1 cup Graham flour, 1 cup pastry flour, ¼ cup sugar, 4 level teaspoons baking powder and 1 teaspoon salt. Add 1 cup milk gradually, stirring constantly, then 1 cup well beaten and 2 tablespoons melted butter. Fill buttered gem pans two-thirds full of the mixture and bake in a hot oven 25 minutes

Cinnamon Toast

Cut stale bread in slices, remove crusts and cut each slice in thirds crosswise. Toast, spread evenly with butter and sprinkle generously with sugar mixed with cinnamon, using 3 parts sugar to 1 of cinnamon

Water Lily Salad

Cut the whites of 6 hard boiled eggs into long petals. Arrange the petals in "lines" on "rows," and fill the centres with the yolks well mixed with salad dressing

Baked Salt Codfish

Cover ½ cup flaked codfish with lukewarm water, let stand ten minutes, drain, and mix with 1½ cups canned corn. Melt 2 tablespoons butter, add 2 tablespoons flour and stir until well blended, then pour on fish.

To Salt Greens

Here is an idea from Pictorial Review about any greens desired young beets. Select tender or spinach Wash them thoroughly Have ready a large receptacle, a wooden one being best, although a large stone crock may be used successfully In the bottom of the vessel sprinkle a layer of salt, then a layer of greens, and continue until the jar is full Then put on a wooden cover and weight it When desired for use, soak the greens over night; they will be found de-

THE STETHOSCOPE

A doctor has some curious notes when he places the stethoscope against your chest to test whether you are in or not. When the lungs are healthy, a pleasant breezy sound, soft in tone, is heard as the breath is borne in and expelled. If the stethoscope conveys to his ear a gurgling or bubbling sound, the doctor knows that you are in what is known as the stage of bronchitis. In the dry stage of the same complaint the sound is a whistling, whooping one. One of the signs of pneumonia is the soft crackling note that comes through the stethoscope. It is not audible to sound that can be heard when your finger and thumb have touched a sticky substance, and you first place them together and then part them, holding them close to your ear.

Production and Thrift

"TO win the war with the desirableness which will ensure lasting peace, the Empire ... will require to put forth the full collective power in men and in money. From this view-point it is our true policy to augment our financial strength by multiplying our productive exertions and by exercising rigid economy, which reduces to the minimum all expenditure upon luxuries and non-essentials. Only in this way shall we be able to make good the loss caused by the withdrawal of so many of our workers from industrial activities, repair the wastage of the war, and find the funds for its continuance. It is the duty of every man and woman to see that the resources of the country, on the maintenance of the conflict will be borne on, and that industry and thrift, by those who remain at home, supports patriotic duties upon whose faithful fulfilment our success, and consequently our national safety, may ultimately depend."
SIR THOMAS WHITE, Minister of Finance

PRODUCE MORE, SAVE MORE.
MAKE LABOUR EFFICIENT.
SAVE MATERIALS FROM WASTE.
SPEND MONEY WISELY.

LET US PRODUCE AND SAVE—

The war is now turning on a contest of all forces and resources rank, monetary. The call to all is to produce and more. It may be necessary to work harder. The place of those who enlist must be taken by those at home, men and women, old and young. The more we produce the more we can save. Produce and save, then, and in the gardens, save more and help to win the war.

LET US NOT WASTE OUR LABOUR—

In this wartime all labour should be directly productive or should be assisting in production. Make it as effective as possible. If you are not engaged in that can be postponed, put your full effort at the war and help to produce it. Making war is the first business of all Canadians. Efficiency in labour is as important as efficiency in fighting.

LET US NOT WASTE MATERIALS—

Begin at home. The larger portion of salaries and wages is spent on the home food, fuel, light, clothing, &c. Are any of these things being wasted? $30.00 a year saved from waste in every home in Canada will more than pay the interest on a war debt of $300,000,000

LET US SPEND OUR MONEY WISELY—

Are you spending your money to the best advantage? What do you think of extravagance in war time? Tens of thousands of Canadians are daily risking their lives for us at home is not our duty to be careful and economical? Canadian deposits are an important part of the war equipment. Make them full. SNAPPY SAYINGS.

Don't judge hens by its cackle.

There's always room for one more stinger in the soup.

Happiness is probably the hardest kind of trash worth.

Permanency bonds are in reality nothing but paper-weights.

Love rules all things with the possible exception of the bond.

Matrimonial bonds are always a matter of freedom to fasten.

Why is it that little girls always spend established ways about girls?

Bigger appearances tend to faster living expenses and more marriages.

Women are full of magic—because they are always changing around.

A woman is a jump to a conclusion when at the age of one will at a bound.

Don't give your husband too much praise or he will think you are up to a change.

It's a sad picture to see people who are always talking say ladies of themselves.

A friend will always bawl at your jokes to keep you feeling bad but there is a great deal in the way he does it.

Breaking Things to a Head

What is the most amusing proposal ever written on record? A story told by Mr. Gladstone. Two ex-Mill women, a well known private secretary and her fiancé, were sitting in a friendly stone taller one evening, when the latter, evidently in the throes of a struggle, suddenly exclaimed: "Miss Jones, I am thinking of getting married." "Indeed, Mr. Brown," was the calmly sympathetic response. "I am glad to hear you are calling here to-night, for I am going out to dine, so yourself, and keeping other appointments." "Miss Jones, I have come to marry you don't you?" "I—I don't suppose the young man." "I thought so. Very well, I will." And she did. "And what makes the story still more interesting," said Miss Terton, "is that its narrative has turned out the unhappiest of successes."

TOUCH WOOD

The History of an Ancient Superstition—To Avert Calamity

The old custom or superstition of "touching wood to avert calamity is probably as old as the Druidic system. Last used to be performed in the Morley district and probably at the Old Oak in Sandhurst Park. It is said that it, since only Wapentakes, before the "Oak Stake" is derived from the old Danish custom of the men of a district, at the meeting at which they elected their leader, touch his weapons in token of fealty. The sacred tenure, or "Wapentake," took place at Hedsley after the "Wapentake," that the Saxon word means the men and their arms. The custom of touching the wooden post of the Leader's door doubtless took place at this sacred inspection

TOFIELD ALBERTA THURSDAY MAY 4, 1916

It is said now that Tofield has hitherto been the gathering place of conventions. Next week the W. C. T. U. of this Dominion district will hold their fourth annual convention here, forty delegates have signified their intention of being present. As the meetings are open to public inspection, the deliberations of the assembly will be interesting and profitable to many who will take advantage of the opportunity to attend. Tofielders will also undoubtedly endeavor to tell suggestions of throwing open their homes in the entertainment of the visitors. Our town may not be as big as some of the Alberta cities, but it has its ambitions and its advantages. We bid our visitors of next week a cordial welcome on our fair bang.

SUNDAY, Empire Day and Victoria Day, May 23 and 24, will not be allowed to pass this year, of all years, without some fitting observation appropriate to the occasion. While the latter day is a public holiday and the former one which is generally observed in our educational institutions, it would seem that a combination of these two into one, on the 24th, at a public gathering of some kind, would be such as to be well worthy of consideration. Rear-Admiral Vaughan Lee is the man who gives our naval airmen their orders. As head of the Royal Air Service he has all the flying men and flying machines of the navy under his command. He is the very chap for the 4 hundred to be in the army

When the war broke out Rear Admiral Vaughan Lee was in command of the Royal Naval Barracks Portsmouth. Then, for four months he flew his flag in H.M.S. Thunderer from which he has given a good account of himself.

Short forty-four years ago he was present at a consultation of five boon companions of Alexandria, Ireland to see what they could do to assist in one of the torpedo squadrons of the navy. HOW TO OVERCOME SHORTNESS OF BREATH

Tight Lacing and Overeating Form Chief Causes of Shortness of Breath—Hints on How to be Healthy

If you wish to overcome short windedness and heart fluttering learn to control the breath and cold chest, ular breathing. Lack of self-control is the result of nervous disorder, and this is usually the cause of heart fluttering and shortness of breath. First of all you must learn to command your breath and carry the chest up and out and abnormal development of the breath. Tight clothing, belts, collars and corsets and too much food are a few of the various causes of improper carriage, incorrect and shallow breathing and heart fluttering

Practice Nasal Breathing

Take a deep, full breath before rising in the morning, holding the chest high, then check the diaphragm so as to control it on its upward movement. A few minutes practice of this exercise each day will soon relieve you of shortness of breath. Make nasal breathing a habit, and, not matter how short of breath you may be, at the top of a hill or flight of stairs just for a few moments tightly closed until you have returned to normal breathing. Catarrh and many throat and nasal disorders would be unknown if all persons breathed through the nose at all times. No set of exercises are so important as the deep breathing ones, and too much stress cannot be laid on the benefits which may be derived from constant practice on them.

HINTS ON POSING FOR A GOOD PHOTOGRAPH

Don't Try to Look Pleasant

Don't Try to Be Brave in Mind When Visiting the Studio—

Many People [illegible] of the Brave in Mind When Visiting the Studio—Don't Try to Look Pleasant

The sitter always rises with the same [illegible] with her photograph, takes to see how she has appeared. If she wants to look very best, too. This is a very pretty idea. But to get pleasing and good results, do remember a few [illegible]

When sitting for profile the hair needs to be very carefully arranged. If the nose is rather large, pull the hair out at the back, so [illegible] to hide it, but consider [illegible] becomes the effect. The arrangement of the hair much [illegible] should wear her hair [illegible] at the back so that it does not detract from the nose line. If this latter feature is not all that it might be, it is better to choose the three-quarter face effect. The [illegible] is always most important in a woman's photograph.

If a full faced portrait is being taken, and the face is inclined to be long, do not wear the hair on top of the head—this only increases the length effect—but make the fullness at the sides of the head. A very pleasing [illegible] is to have the hair brushed well to her head when sitting or the full face [illegible]

Do not, however, make any very radical change in the dressing of your hair before the photo is taken. Don't try to be elaborate. It is a mistake to be [illegible] in other than your ordinary garments, and it is better that the clothing should not be too dark. While over-dressing is bad taste, and extreme [illegible] dress should be [illegible] that a wrong of heads of a subject is a [illegible] drawback, or a dark low a striking [illegible] is a [illegible] to be [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

TOFIELD, ALBERTA THURSDAY MAY 11 1916.

THE Times gives an interesting account by a Swede of a recent visit to Germany. When asked what was the strong st impression he had formed, he replied that what struck him most of all, outside Berlin and other large cities, was the isolation of the people. "The people generally know no thing s nd anything" This isolation was due to the censor ship which was very clever in keeping all in ignorance of everything that might give rise to inconvenient reflections. A stifling mass nagre than the German Press could not be imagined

"Berlin," he went on, "gave an indescribable impression of war weariness. It was not only the civilian population, but the soldiers also, wounded and unwounded, who had appearance of being mentally and physically fatigued. A curious change had come over the women. Instead of looking up as they did before the stronger sex, they now have an air of fearlessness and conscious self-control.

WAR'S ENLIGHTENMENT COMES

"Some day a lightenment must come to the Germans, and then the effect will be terrific," says the Spectator. Imagine the natural agony when the feeling runs like liquid fire through Germany. Then, after all, we are not conquerors, as we thought, but a conquered, or soon to be conquered people." And to this disillusionment will be added the thought: 'How a we to an-wer our enemies when they speak to us of what we did in Belgium, in Poland and Servia'

"One evening we have a tragedy of despair so poignant that its contemp tion is almost unbearable. Well did Ajax say:—

"If I must perish, I thy will obey;
But let me perish in the light of day."

NO CHANGE HERE!

"It must be r membered, on the one side, that very small changes in the pre-war frontiers of Europe would give Germany access to Turkey which was doubtless her chief object in forcing the war, so that she might figure as very moderate in her demands while in reality gaining the substance of her aims," says the Manchester Guardian.

"On the other hand it must equally be borne in mind that if she were to come out of the war with no territorial changes at all she would be the loser. She forced the war on European and did not force it without having certain definite gains as her object the most direct of which was the suppression of Servia as the barrier on her way to the south-east.

"If Servia and Belgium are alike restored if Germany comes out of the war just as she went into it, she will in the eyes of her own people be the heavy loser. She will have sacrificed much in both the million, treasure uncounted, good name and last standing as Europe for precisely nothing

"If she has, in fact, been brought to contemplate such an issue, she also have achieved no mean result." Public Opinion, London.

ACCORDING to statistics despatches Alberta has raised 2,656 men more than its quota. The British Columbia is only 2,100 short, and Manitoba and Saskatchewan are short only 7,917 Ontario has yet to raise 17,500 Quebec 105,000, and the Maritime Provinces 36,000 In order to Alberta for handing the processing! Toronto Mail and Empire.

Dr M. Mackinnon the veteran Liberal Grit leader of Edmonton, passed away on Wednesday after a long illness. The deceased gentleman was a pioneer of the province, having settled in Edmonton in the early days of the Town of Strathcona. He was a member of the Territorial Assembly for many years before the formation of the province of Alberta, and was a member of the first Alberta Legislature. He was also a member of the Dominion House for a number of years. He was a prominent member of the Masonic Order, and was buried with Masonic honors on Friday afternoon.

The Standard learns with great pleasure that there is a prospect of the early re-organization of the Tofield 208 Battalion. A public meeting will be held in the Methodist church on Monday evening next, when Lieut. Williams will be present, and it is hoped that a large number of recruits will be forthcoming. Lieut. Williams has had considerable experience, having been with the 49th Battalion for a year, and is well qualified to give information to those who may be desirous of joining the 208. Come out and hear what he has to say.

BRITAIN'S STAKE IN THE HOME OF MAHOMET

A British officer tells, part in the Mesopotamia campaign, writing to relatives, says: "At present there have been having lots of fun. Some pigeon of the serpent like times we selected about eighty for attacks, and bullets fly round the different corners of the camp We put on a certain large and fairly powerful bomb and tied a rubberband round it and if the case of "Jamie" (at least that is exactly how the name is pronounced) and they are responsible for those little excite ments. We went out two or three days ago and burned a couple of their villages, but haven't yet found whether this has had a salutary effect or not. They did rather an amusing thing one night They got into the slaughter houses, where there were about 100 sheep, in the dead of night, cut their throats, and then crept off to the hills without anybody knowing anything about it till the next morning. After that the carnage in the slaughter house was mixed, and a number of nights later, when, I suppose, they were trying the same game on again they exploded the mine, and I hugged right of them. Since then they left the slaughter house alone.

"Our latest attack was not made till we had everything absolutely ready, and when once launched there was no going back on our side. The Turks found amazingly well up to a certain point, and then all of a sudden were crumpled up, and next morning we found that they had with our cavalry and armored motor cars pursued them Their defeat was complete, and of the food supplies and munitions elaborately laid out and prepared in very little detail, but no use to them in the long run There seems to be something irresistible about our forces in Mesopotamia."

KAISER AND SHAH

Present War and Intrigue Decide Fate of Persia

One of the richest prizes of the present war is Persia, and the secret diplomatic history of Russia, Great Britain and Germany have centered about it for the last year or more. Persia, Mesopotamia, a body of its was steamed to the east and south of Persia in the fall of 1914. The garrison of Persia is escorted by Russian troops, and is supported by Germany and was, and that the Shah had made a secret treaty with Emperor William, secretly for military aid. Germany's ally Turkey, in close Teheran, naturally had designs on Persia, and so, indeed, had Russia and Britain, and so once in control there by force of arms.

While the British and Russians acted as a very interested party, and a vital part and incidentally one, of affairs, it was primarily a struggle between Russia and Germany for political influence or affairs, and that still the world and actions are dictated by his council of ministers. He owes balance of independence which Persia has maintained in recent years has been due only to the jealousy of the great powers. The country which was the seat of one of the greatest empires of the ancient world is likely, after the war, to pass under the suzerainty of one or another of the great nations of the east. The fate of Persia will be decided on the battlefields of Europe.

Production and Thrift

CANADA'S CALL FOR SERVICE AT HOME

Produce More and Save More — The Empire need's food. If you are not in the fighting line you may be in the producing line. Labor is limited all the more reason to do more than ever before. Grow food for the men who are fighting for you. The Allies need all the food that you can produce. Every little helps. You are responsible for your own work. If you cannot produce as much as you would like, produce all you can. Work with the right spirit. Put fighting energy into your effort and produce more when it counts. The more you produce the more you can save. Producing and saving are war-service.

Make Your Labour Efficient — In war-time do not waste time and energy on unimportant and unprofitable work. Economize labour. Put off unproductive work till after the war, and if possible, help in producing something needed now. Let us not waste labor. Canada needs to sell. If possible help to feed the Allies. Make your backyard a productive garden. Cultivate it with a will. Make your labour count for as much as possible.

Do Not Waste Materials — There should be no waste in war time. Canada could pay the annual interest on her war expenditure out of what we waste on our farms in our factories, in our homes. Every pound of food saved from waste is as good as a pound of increased production. The way for a nation to save is for every individual to save. France is setting to-day because of thrift in time of peace. The men and women of Great Britain are not only "doing" but are learning to "do without."

Spend Your Money Wisely — Practise economy in the home by eliminating luxuries. Wasting our dollars here weakens our strength at the Front. Your savings will help Canada to finance the war. Save your money for the next Dominion War issue. There can be no better investment.

USE SHELLS AGAIN

Hunters Can Reload One Hand-ed in Half Hour

Are you paying enough put-e-but your cartridges? The economical demand for ammunition is resulting from the scrapping of everything that will possibly be made into a shell. Almost all the brass cartridges used by the sportsmen of Canada are now being collected and the cartridge factories are working overtime to meet the demand. Even the paper shells are being collected and reloaded.

The public is being asked to turn in all the empty shells they can find, and the cartridge factories are willing to pay for them. The manufacturers say that the brass in the shells is of a superior grade and can be used over and over again. Even the paper shells are valuable, as the powder and shot can be removed and the shells refilled.

It is said that the supply of brass and paper shells after the first demand has been met will be very large and factories may be established there to do nothing else but reload shells.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

What to do and What to Avoid in Regarding Heart Action

Do not get angry. Any strong emotion adds to the labor of the heart and is a heart overworked. Any one subject to nervousness should endeavor to control himself and not permit anger to get the possession of himself.

Every bodily action makes the heart's action quicker. Walking is labor. An active heart beats a little more than a man riding in a motor car. Any man who has lived to four minutes' walk an hour has added to his heart that would lift a ton and an eighth one foot.

Violent physical exertion of any kind quickens the heart beats. Strong emotions has the same effect. Intense anger may increase the heart's labor from 150 pounds per minute to 225 pounds. Under such a strain the heart of an athlete has been known to literally break, causing almost immediate death.

Severe heart strain is practically impossible in the young healthy and athletic individual, but quite likely in all middle-aged persons who have had symptoms of extra work and false action, called ague, to do it. The doctor argued, therefore, that the cause of it may be too careful to economize in the youth laid upon that organ.

Answering to him, he who retires to bed at ten instead of twelve saves to his heart 876,000 foot pounds a year of lifting force; one-half hour daily less gains his labors in the same period by 182,500 foot pounds. If our Sunday's were spent in bed the yearly relief to the heart's work would amount to nearly 1,300,000 foot pounds.

FLOWER AS FOOD

The food value of flowers is a matter just beginning to interest the scientific world. Violets are said to contain considerable nourishment. Even beyond the limits of a refreshing drink and to relieve human fatigue, violets are to the flowers of the second importance in the matter of nourishment. Violets have in the neighborhood of 3,000 calories to the pound, which is considerably more than the nutritive value of potatoes, which contain 1,000 calories to the pound.

The violet's sweet perfume is a powerful stimulant to the nerves, and is especially beneficial to those who are suffering from nervous prostration. The medicinal value of violets is recognized by those who have eaten them. A number of cooks have discovered that a handful of rose petals imparts a flavor of unparalleled delicacy to desserts of many kinds.

For those who do not care for candy the candy colored nasturtium offers delights to the palate. It may be used as a filling for sandwiches, mixed with mayonnaise, with other materials in salads, as delicious pungency appeals to the taste and as a delightful aid to digestion.

A favorite Chinese dish consists of fried nasturtium leaves. When prepared by experts, and used in both appetizing and tempting. The prize bloom among flowers, however, is the pansy. It may be used in the same way and to some tastes are even more pleasing.

Dear Doctor

Don't keep two or three different kinds of herbs. Choose one variety and brand for cooking. Don't try to raise the things on whole wheat, regardless of corn or commercial chick feeds. If weed at all, those feeds should be well cooked for ordinarily chicks cannot consume enough grit to grind dry grain.

Don't try, by mixing it with their food, to force ducks to eat more grit than they want.

An Ancient Disease

Generally regarded as a modern disease, appendicitis was known in Egypt 4,000 years ago and accurately described to old missing records.

IN COLD AND GLOOM LIES WORLD'S WORST CITY

Is a Far Off Land, There Lives a City Which the Very Name Strikes Terror—Murders Daily

To hear the title of "the world's wickedest city," is sadly an honor that is claimed by at least four nameless cities in this old world of ours. Each of them has its own claim to that title. Many people who have never travelled extensively and who rely on books for their knowledge of the great cities, have come to look on their mode that Paris is a place where Agnes-like folk, and the pre-dominating Why? The main reason is because a thousand of Pound authors" come out there, and some people dancing at midnight. And because everybody drinks wine and ladies smoke cigarettes in the cafe. Why then need the honor of one of Paris not a single one of the magnificent buildings be worse than the worst places in other places for the same things. Certainly not. Any of the four cities can right it very hard to say of which it is the worst as they do over there things might be the same French will say that London is the premier place for evil. As the night fell city in the world, the City of London is responsible in its shelves of this of course and it is the very large city a certain part of it to be the worst. Then the Yankee will say who by the way are the cost of the world in wickedness and they will point to Chicago or New York. They can with some reason for these two States are the worst in America. The Argentine people will say that Buenos Aires is the most wicked town in the world and Rome will say all named for leading position.

The Worst of Them All

Now we come to the city which had for about ninety and the lords all over the world of the people of this continent have never heard of by name is Ibrahim Situated in Eastern Siberia, on the Angara river, 3,722 miles from Petrograd. It is far and away the most wicked city in Siberia. It is a city of beautiful cathedrals, up-to-date schools and magnificent mansions. Theatres abound in them dance. It is the seat of the Imperial Court Governor of the Siberian Empire. Its residents are the wealthiest and most cultured people in the world. Its population is estimated to be never more than 300,000.

Its Mayor a Murderer

Ibrahim is a city that is governed by bribery and corruption for many years. Its mayor is a murderer. He has murdered more than a hundred men in cold blood with his own hand. Every year the majority of the inhabitants are murdered in their homes. Every month or many years more or less. Every week many citizens to be robbed at the point of the revolver. Every day many are murdered. Every night in the week and every hour of the day and night. Ibrahim is the most wicked city in the world. At the beginning of the present year it had a population of over 300,000 people, and in 1913 it had a population of 300,000 people. It is the most wicked city in the world. At the beginning of the present year it had a population of over 300,000 people, and in 1913 it had a population of 300,000 people. It is the most wicked city in the world. STAGGING OF THE ROAD; EVEN HUNS SENTENCED

The truth is at last out concerning the farcical declaration of the Kaiser's own Holy War. The declaration of Jihad on a contemptible was nothing more nor less than a comedy, written by a newspaper correspondent. The Turks have no religious convictions nor any special mind for anything but loot.

LAST ... Arbor Day. So far as Tofield is con... ...ld just as well have been any other day, ...becoming mind the purpose for which Arbor Day, as an institution was created.

The word Arbor means "tree." Arbor Day therefore means "Tree Day." A city or town without trees is a sorry spectacle on the eye and a weary land to the traveller.

A city or town without trees is like a human being without clothes. It is time Tofield had her fig leaf, yes, and lots of them.

Tofield citizens might do a lot worse than make some united effort to beautify the town. Trees assist greatly in this regard. Arbor Day may be past but the opportunity is not gone.

In case of doubt plant a tree. In case of greater doubt plant two, three or four trees.

This community need a horticultural society. An active horticultural society could do much to make Tofield a town respectable to behold. It could do even better. An active and successful propaganda would make Tofield to "bloom and blossom like the rose."

IN his new book Fear God and Take Your Own Part, ex-President Roosevelt pays this tribute to Canada: "Canada has faced the time that tries men's souls, and with gallant devotion she has risen level to the time's need. Mighty days have come to her, and she has been equal to the mighty days. Greatness comes only through labor and courage, through self-... willingness to face sorrow and death. Heroic men and women and the blood of men, if only thereby it is possible to serve a lofty ideal. Canada has won that honorable place among the nations of the past and the present, which can only come to the people whose sons are willing and able to dare and do and die at need."—Halifax Chronicle.

ONE ... I believe that the war has produced ... ...other sword nor gun, nor has he held ... ...within his hand the portfolio of any Minister of State. Yet he ... ...might be the envy of any military commander, if he had judgment the ideal of any government. We speak of ... Morrier. Out of the wreckage of the ... he stands forth—a counsellor of prudence ... ...of courtesy without compromise, and of the ... to essential submission or fear.—Outlook, New York.

AFTER all, it has been Germany who has remodelled Europe by sheer force of contrast. Until the full measure of her inquiry was made known to the kindlier peoples of the Western world did not understand the danger that threatened them, they could not visualize the horrors that lurked in cold truth behind the scarcely credited lessons of a Bernhardi or Treitschke. Once again, in the world's history, it has been oppression that has given birth to liberty. Germany, and no other has made plain the depths of savagery that German policy required if her leaders were to attain their object.—London Telegraph.

SIGNS from the seat of war indicate that Germany is becoming more and more desirous of peace. It has long been accepted as understood that the kaiser would like to have peace, but the terms, as proposed by him, were not such as to commend them...selves to the World. The World does not want war at any time. The entente allies are not fighting their own battles only. They cannot willingly accept such peace terms as will allow a repetition of the conditions which led to this period of world wide horror. Government of peoples by autocratic force must pass. Godlessness must cease. History demonstrates the indisputable fact that lack of Christianity in nations leads to national disaster. The war is bringing home to the nations' best thinkers this terrible truth.

Production and Thrift

CANADA'S CALL FOR SERVICE AT HOME

Produce More and Save More — The Empire needs food. If you are not in the fighting line you may be in the producing line. Labour is limited all the more reason to do more than ever before. Grow food for the men who are fighting for you. The Allies need all the food that you can produce. Every little helps. You are responsible for your own work. If you cannot produce as much as you would like, produce all you can. Work with the right spirit. Put fighting energy into your effort and produce more when it counts. The more you produce the more you can save. Producing and saving are war-service.

Make Your Labour Efficient — In war-time do not waste time and energy on unimportant and unprofitable work. Economize labour. Put off unproductive work till after the war, and, if possible, help in producing something needed now. Let us not waste labour. Canada needs it all. If possible help to feed the Allies. Make your backyard a productive garden. Cultivate it with a will. Make your labour count for as much as possible.

Do Not Waste Materials — There should be no waste in war-time. Canada could pay the annual interest on her war expenditure out of what we waste on our farms, in our factories, in our homes. Every pound of food saved from waste is as good as a pound of increased production. The way for a nation to save is for every individual to save. Prince is strong to-day because of thrift in time of peace. The men and women of Great Britain are not only "doing" but are learning to "do without."

Spend Your Money Wisely — Practise economy in the home by eliminating luxuries. Wasting our dollars here weakens our strength at the Front. Your savings will help Canada to finance the war. Save your money for the next Dominion War issue. There can be no better investment.

A Pinch-Penny Plan That Proved a Penny-Wise Plan of Putting

The fact that the Turks put their last in the balance with the Germans was due chiefly to two main causes. First of all, the Turks having their military instruction from German officers, and some of the Turkish officers, as for instance the late Minister, Enver Pasha, having been in the pay of Germany for a good many years, the Germans had a very considerable influence with the Turkish Government. Secondly, the Turks, as a result of the Balkan wars, were in a state of financial exhaustion, and were ready to accept German gold. The Turks, by the way, have been very much disappointed over the fact that Germany, instead of helping them in the war, has gone further east in the Germans capital in Northern Africa, in Egypt, in the Caucasus, Persia and India, to make world wide propaganda for the cause of Islam.

Munitions Can Reload Once Hundred Times

Are you paying a high price for your cartridges? The shortage is need for more ammunition resulting from the European conflict resulted in raising the cost of materials and labor in the production of arms and ammunition considerably and the result is increased cost to the individual shooter. If he uses only new factory loaded cartridges. This brings up the question: Is there any practical way to reduce the high cost of shooting and the practical answer is found in the experiences of many thousands of shooters who are reloading their own factory cartridges for rifles, pistol and shotguns.

The modern metallic cartridge is a remarkably well-made article—made apparently without regard for expense. The material used is of the highest grade; the workmanship is remarkably uniform and accurate—and the shell is so strong, and so perfectly designed for the hammers in which it is used, that it is just as perfect and serviceable after the first, second or charge of the cartridge as when new. Many shooters use the same shell for from 10 to 50 times in the shotgun—and by utilizing the empty shell in this way you are saving the cost of its one cheapest items in the production of the cartridge.

Having found that it is a very simple matter to use a primer and powder—and then powder charge, place a wad on top of the shell and crimp the end into the fillet. You have given your cartridge the investment of a paper tube, with a bottom—because the primers, powders and bullets has gotten from 6 to 10 times the use out of it that it originally had. And it is really interesting with the simplest tools you should be able to reload bullets nearly as fast as the primer and powder—and with a minimum of expensive reloading cost you can reduce the cost of your shooting 100 per cent—perhaps by hand in about half an hour.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

What to do and What to Avoid in Regulating Heart Action

Do not get scared. Any strong emotions adds to the labor of the heart, and a heart overworked soon shortened life. So reasons Dr. J. Frankland Goodall in a recent paper on the prevention of heart strain.

Fresh bottom birth instil in the older death the human heart is unsafe, and many people die from its weakness, don't they? Human men work equivalent to raising a 3-pound weight through one foot. To form an idea of this work one has only to take such a weight in his hand and lift it one foot the distance as many times in a min ute as the heart beats.

Arguing that quickness the heart's action increases its labor Aristotle of some here shows that a man riding at a gallop on a 12 per cent. grade for 1,000 feet in four minutes adds an amount of labor to his heart that would lift a ton and an eighth one foot.

Violent physical exertion of any kind quickens the heart beats. Strong emotion has the same effect. Intense anger may increase the heart's labor than 150 pounds per minute to 225 pounds. Under such a strain the heart of an animal has been known to literally break, meeting almost instant death.

Acute heart strain is practically impossible in the young, healthy and well nourished adult, but quite likely in old sickers. Once it occurs the heart is incapable of sixty work and fails when called upon to do it. The doctor argues, therefore, that one cannot be too careful to accommodate to the work load upon their organs.

According to him, the man who rests on bed at ten instead of twelve saves the heart 876,000 foot-pounds a year. Lying down one-half hour daily loss to labors by the same period by 182,000 foot pounds. If our Sunday's were spent in bed the yearly relief to our hearts would amount to nearly 1,000,000 foot pounds

The food value of flowers is a matter just beginning to interest the scientific world. Violets are said to contain considerable nourishment. They formed the basis of a refreshing drink, and in various forms figured on many of the dishes of the ancient Persians. The modern rose-leaf preserve was in use in ancient Rome.

The rose leaves contain some made of rose-water, and delicate dishes are made from the petals of the flower. Rose-water is also used in a handful of rose petals impregnated with a few drops of rose-water, and a dozen of many of the dishes of Persia.

For those who do not care for candy the gaily colored nasturtium offers delightful variety in salads. It must be used sparingly, however, as the leaves of the nasturtium are somewhat strong in taste. The nasturtium is also used in the form of pickles, and in this way appeals to a wide variety of people.

A favorite Italian dish consists of fried squash blossoms. When prepared in this way they are said to be very delicious. The following is the recipe: Take some of the blossoms from the squash vine and dip them in batter. Fry in deep fat and serve hot. Squash blossoms are even more pleasing when fried.

Don't Don'ts

Don't keep two or three different kinds of chicks. Choose one variety and breed for quality. Don't try to raise chicks in a damp, poorly ventilated place. Don't overcrowd them. Don't feed sour milk to young chicks. Don't feed it all. Don't feed grain in troughs that will remain for ordinarily chicks do not consume enough grit to grind dry grain.

Don't try by mixing it with their feed, to fat chicks to eat more grit than they want.

An Ancient Disease

Generally regarded as a modern disease, appendicitis was known in Egypt 3,000 years ago and successfully treated in all existing records.

In a Fur Off Land There Lives a City Which the Very Name Shows Tyranny—Murders Daily

To beat the title of "the world's ugliest city," be hardly an impossible one, put in this vast universe there is one that certainly has a claim to that title. Many people who have never travelled extensively seek only on books for their knowledge of the great cities, seem to have fixed in their minds that Paris is a place where Apaches rule, and Vice the dominant. Why? The main reason seems to be because a "Book of a Thousand Nights and a Night" and several other people dabbled in the Eastern mysteries, found their way into the Western world, with wonderful spirit. Clergymen who have never been out of England, Ireland or Scotland, and Londoners who have never been out of the city on the river, Londoners who have never been out of the city on the river, Londoners who have never been out of the city on the river,

TOFIELD ALBERTA THURSDAY, MAY 25, 1916.

In all phases of private and public life, in not only this country but in most every known country, there has become to be a growing indifference in the individual to the things which pertain to that which ennobles character and is uplifting to the spiritual well-being. Even the church is permeated with this cold-as carelessness and indifference to true religion. Thus it is that in the past religious awakenings have taken place amongst the nations, great movements which have reclaimed peoples and governments from material and spiritual decay have been brought about.

Many of the greatest minds and best thinkers of the English speaking nations, as well as of other nationalities, have given utterance to their belief that such an awakening is due the world at the present time. It is clear to the most casual observer that a radical housecleaning in political life, top to bottom, is much to be desired. The rottenness of matters political would not exist were it not for the canker which had previously affected private conscience, for the public is responsible for whom it puts into public life by the ballot.

Now, it is said that "charity begins at home." It may likewise be said that when one starts reformation of any nature whatever the start should be made upon self. If all the people, individually, would seek a life of higher plane the result would be at once apparent not only in private but in public life.

To the Tofield public has come an opportunity of hearing a talented speaker, Harold H. Gilbart, on the questions and problems which are confronting the world nowadays. Plain, unvarnished facts, unflinchingly put, by a gifted man, and the need of a general return to the practical religion which is the real foundation of civilization, are all laid before his hearers in a manner and with a force which is bound to have a splendid effect on the community. None who hear him are sorry for having done so. Every Tofielder, town or country, should embrace the opportunity to hear this fearless but not sensational speaker during the short time he will be in Tofield.

FRENCH SHELL SUPPLY

Active Encouraging Attitude, Reserves of Munitions Being Amply

The following order of General Joffre, commander-in-chief of the French army is reported in Berlin to have been found in the possession of a French officer. Similar to the commanders of the different army groups. The enemy has made local attacks on different points of our front lately and all of them have been successful. This condition can not continue without depressing the spirits of our army. I will not permit the period of waiting to lead to stagnation.

"Our troops must make every effort to repulse the German attacks, or to forestall them by attacking first. The efforts of the enemy can be rendered useless without sacrificing our infantry if the commanders make full use of the artillery, which is heavy and bold, and our trench mortars. There is no necessity of saving ammunition, as we now have plenty of shells of all sizes. The Germans must in all circumstances be prevented from fortifying territory captured by them. Wherever they advance their new lines must be taken under command, and be seized. It is well that he has added encouraging to his already great reputation. The Aisne, Ypres and Neuve Chapelle all showed Sir Douglas to be "a leader of great ability and power," in Sir John French's words

NOBLES NOT GENTLEMEN

From Our Own Paris Correspondent

A Paris correspondent writes us from there. I have just been permitted to visit Pontoise, where German officers are as prisoners of war. The inmates are treated with the utmost consideration, within the limits of the fortress, and they are allowed to walk freely. Even the officers, although many belonged to aristocratic families in Germany, mingled the inhabitants of the place. So a French colonel of a regiment was placed in command of the citadel and it took him exactly a week to establish perfect discipline.

There are about 1,500 Germans on the island. The officers who had to be placed under discipline number about three hundred the flower of the German nobility and every one of them wears half a dozen decorations, among which is invariably the Iron Cross. Not one of them deigns to speak to any of his fellow prisoners of less noble rank. Most of their time they spend in outdoor games dressed in sporting costumes of the most startling colors and designs. The French officer who is guarding the island has been known to find "trouble."

For the return of these men the German Government willingly sent sacrifice an entire German division of about 20,000 men. Every one is closely guarded for many suspicions letters have been found among their correspondence

Many have discovered in apparently harmless books sent them from home and on two occasions subaltern have been seized hanging around the island but have been immediately driven away by French destroyers that are constantly on the lookout.

IDYLLIC MONTENEGRO

Easy Prices Life a Sign of Ki ngdom's Simplicity

While the population of Cettinje, the capital of Montenegro, took the declaration of war by the German emperor calmly, the Black mountaineers of the north were thrown into a state of excitement. Most of the men have been really bored up for the last few years, and the arrival of a real fighting at will and to visit their friends in town whenever they felt like it. Most of them spent their days and nights playing cards in the cafes, only after sunset they had to return to their quarters. That one of them should abuse these privileges and make his escape was almost unknown.

With the exception of three exceptions conscripts are mountaineers who kept up the residents after this ancient tribal custom had been made a crime by the Turks. Among the worst faults of the tribes with which the courts of civilized countries have to deal are practically unknown in Montenegro. The only serious offences besides the murder are those of national robberies and abductions of young girls.

RETURNED TO PRISON

Short Necessity Grave Two Rendered Back to Austria

The Lancaburn troops guarding a prison camp in Bohemia had a surprise when three Russian soldiers who escaped a month previously returned voluntarily. After their escape the fugitives wandered through Bohemia into Galicia. Keeping away from the public highways they avoided the numerous German and Austrian patrols and reached the nearest borough of Jaroslau. There they got into touch with the Russian forces, but found they were farther away than when they left the prison camp. They had neither food, provisions and were compelled to spend the latter nights in the open air. They reached the camp from which they had escaped on a half starved condition after a weary tramp through the snow-covered forests and were glad to have another again.

TOFIELD, ALBERTA THURSDAY, JUNE 22 1916

ALBERTA farmers can congratulate themselves that agricultural conditions and crop prospects are better here than in most other of the provinces.

A trip through Canada to Quebec City and back makes one a lover of Alberta all the more

One is impressed with the conviction that in the west-ern provinces in the future will be found the greatest force to be reckoned with by the governments of the coming years. The potentialities of the West are great. As yet those are but in their infancy

The industrial cities of the east are humming with activity, but it is easy to see where the wealth is produced.

Everywhere in the east is a profound interest in the west. This is chiefly centered upon crop prospects. There is also a feeling of admiration and congratulation over the splendid manner in which the west responded to the call "To Arms."

Politically, it would seem in Ontario, judging from many interviews, that Liberalism, as personified in Federal leaders in that province, has received a strong body blow over the recent bi-lingual question in the House of Commons.

On the other hand, no political leader is the subject of more unpopular comment than Sir Sam Hughes over his latest bluff in regard to the late lamented Lord Kitchener, Secretary of War, to the Ypres salient. In this regard Premier Borden comes in for a liberal share of adverse criticism as he is held responsible.

Recruiting in Ontario is not any too brisk. Judging from industrial conditions as observed there and of the liberal wages being paid in all classes of industry (skilled labor is scarce) conditions are similar to that said to exist in the Old Country where labor has been so well paid that selfish interest in the individual for the present personal needs drowned out the still small voice of true patriotism and recruiting officers strove in vain for additions to the ranks.

Miss Katherine Secord, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Secord of Lakeshore underwent a serious op eration for appendicitis and peri tonitis last week and is happily progressing favorably under skilled medical and nursing attention.

Mrs. W. H. Rowland a few days ago received word from the War Office by wire that her son, Jimmie, had been seriously wounded in the head at the front in Flanders and he was to have hospital. Additional information is to follow. Tofielders thave been following Jimmie's letter writings often, some of which appeared in abbreviated form in these columns and they sympathize deeply with his parents in their anxiety, earnestly hoping for his complete recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Emery, Miss Emery, Miss Martin, and Messrs. C. F. Talbot, and Paul McMullen and Walker formed a motoring party to Edmonton last Saturday evening in the last mentioned gentleman's motor car. They made the trip to the Capital in the record time of one hour and forty minutes. Returning on Sunday evening they made the journey at an average of more than 30 miles per hour. Some of the party are alleged to have suffered from a speech of sea-sickness so much like looping the loop or riding the roller coaster was the speedy glide over the hills which intervene between this burg and the capital city.

Died As True Britons Can and Do

Sang "God Save the King" as Ship and Men Go Down

The Standard was in receipt a few days ago of a letter from Lieut. C. D. Carr who was at the time of writing his letter in England. The letter told of the death of his brother, Capt. Cay of H. M. S. Invincible, who in that vessel went down in the naval fight off Jutland. Lieut Cay enclosed a British newspaper which contained a reference to the life and death of Capt. Cay. It was in part as follows:—

Another officer lost was Captain A. L. Cay, the Flag-Captain of Admiral Hood's flag-ship, the "Invincible." Captain Cay was the third son of Captain R. H. Cay, R.N., of Eaton Road, Derby. Captain Cay was 47 years of age, and leaves four children, who lost their mother some time ago. The greatest sympathy is felt with Captain and Mrs. Cay in the loss of their gallant son, who met his end when taking his ship into action in a manner that Admiral Beatty said "would have warmed the heart" of any one to see. Captain A. L. Cay entered the Navy in 1882 as a cadet. He took four firsts in his examination to Lieutenant in 1891, and attained the rank of captain in 1907. Previous to taking command of the "Invincible," and thus serving with his friend, Admiral Hood, he was in command of the "Achilles." He was at Dover with his vessel in July, 1914, directly before the out-break of war. The following account has been published of the end of the "Invincible," which shows that, great as is the loss of the vessel, she took more than a full toll of the German Navy before she went down:—"The 'Invincible' was the first of our big ships to go. Her end was glorious. She was engaged by two of the bigger ships of the enemy's fleet, and at one time it was believed that the great super-Dreadnought, the 'Hindenburg' had a cut at her. One of the German ships was accounted for by the 'Invincible,' and she also helped to send to the bottom two other smaller ships before her own turn came. Very soon afterwards she was seen to be in difficulties. Flames were issuing from all parts, and it was so hot that the gun crews had to be withdrawn in rapid succession until only one was left. From the nature of the trouble it was impossible to do any thing for the 'Invincible,' and the ships nearest to her had to stand off more and more. The men could be seen on deck steadily waiting the end at though on church parade. There was not time to launch boats. Her flag still flew proudly, and as the flames crept closer to that band of heroes they lined up and gave it a last salute. All was nearly over. There was a terrific explosion. Men went sky-high the ship listed heavily, and disappeared partly below the water. A few men still remained visible on the end of the ship standing out of the water They had no chance of getting away Above the noise of battle there came across the waters the strains of 'God Save the King,' which these heroes broke into on their death song. To this end the accompaniment of a terrific explosion the ship went under."

Captain R. B. Cay, R. N., J. P., of Dover, has received the following telegram:—"The King and Queen deeply regret the loss you and the Navy have sustained in the death of your son in the service of his country. Their Majesties truly sympathize with you in your sorrow"

Tofield Beaver Club Boys In Camp Life

Have Jolly Good Time Near to Nature's Heart

Having been asked to write a letter to the Camp of the Beavers I can only say it was an unparalleled success. Perfect weather, an ideal situation and a desire on the part of the boys to make the most of their holiday were all contributing factors. From the point of view of the Director the boys were fine, perhaps the most deserving of mention was Capt. H. A. M. who in his zeal for the manner well being declared himself willing to immolate himself on occasion.

Henry Wodsworth Longfellow was on the first evening in camp the recipient of very marked attention as he recited a little amount of his own composition. Indeed the various means of camp were so impressed that they failed to notice the approach of a party of locals natives, who managed to enter camp in some minor damage before they were discovered.

Scout Leatherstocking is attempting to reach Helge with a message had the misfortune to be captured and had perforce to submit to a very thorough search. He however managed to successfully conceal the important dispatch and but for a further accident would doubtless have delivered it. As it is, its hiding place and subsequent loss are shrouded in mystery.

Mention should be made of the cooks who showed considerable culinary aptitude. Fruit, rice ste boiled served A'La Mode. Quartermasters, Fergie, Carter and Swift were each in his turn weighed down by the cares of it's office and surprised as to enormous quantities of supplies necessary for the satisfaction of the cravings of the Hungry Beavers.

Of course we had games, all of them designed to test and develop the initiative and resourcefulness of the boys and their appreciation of this fact was shown by the energy and sincerity with which they pursued them. "Kut" especially being voted fine. Some of the boys swam and some could not, but the fact did not deter them from trying to do so, some of the latter made exciting trips as from the creek clinging to a rope, others were chiefly noticeable for the time they spent shivering on the brink. The Serbian Relief Fund like the best dive of the Camp was made by a non swimmer (Capt Webb.) Blondin in trying to walk the rope or was it really a tree, lost for a moment his balance and was immersed in the raging torrent.

The meal hour dispersed themselves after their work. The question being generally recommended as an antidote to the Shooters. The prize shots in Camp were:—Longfellow and Leatherstocking. Whilst at Cooks, Bob Fergie Fane and Capt Webb swelled. Capt H. A. M. as was fitting proved the most useful and willing of the Beavers. Several canoes were observed from time to time and doubtless we shall have a general record of the Camp to be proud of.

The Council fires were a great success and here the boys learnt to appreciate some their leaders and to discuss calmly any difficulties that arose during the day.

May I thank in the name of the boys all the friends who helped in various ways to make the Camp possible and assure them of our very real gratitude For my own part I found the boys splendid and I can only hope that we may again share the joys of Camp Life

BRITISH TRENCHES

Many of Them Have Boarded or Brick Floors

Enormous improvements have been made in the British trenches. Most of them have boarded floors, others have brick floors. They have a system of trench pumps to get rid of water and pipes which run for a mile and a half back from the front of the trench supply drinking water to the men. The dugouts are comparatively comfortable. The men have rough beds to lie on, and many contain tables. Many of them also have small heaters with fires.

One of the most valued preventa which the men receive are boots of gumboots, which they are allowed to have in their dugouts. The past few men have been receiving from the long leather boots. Whenever a battalion is coming to the trench to relieve one in the supporting lines these boots waiting They remove their own boots, get an extra pair of thick stockings, and put on the rubber boots. When coming away after a turn in the trenches they have these boots at the same station, and receive their own boots and socks, which have been dried for them.

Serbian Relief

A Needy Cause

The following letter from the London Committee in control of Serbian Relief Work explains the need for Serbian Relief Funds now being raised in Canada

"We are co-operating with the French Government in mainten ing large colonies for Serbian Refugees in Corsica and Southern France and we have also undertaken to relieve the distress existing food and clothing; there is also plenty to do in connection with the Serbian prisoners in Germany.

"In addition a hospital unit has been dispatched to Corfu for the use of the Serbian army.

"The Saturday there arrived in this country 120 Serbian children who are now housed at Oxford The Serbian Relief Fund has undertaken to educate and maintain these children, so you can readily understand that funds are still urgently needed to enable us to successfully carry on these many important undertakings."

How much money can you save to feed and clothe the Serbian prisoners, provide medical necessities for the Serbian army, or educate the Serbian children who have been sent to England? Mail it today to Mr. J. S. Dennis, President Serbian Relief Committee, Calgary, or Rev. E. Cox Clarke, Secretary 309 18th Avenue West, Calgary.

WHERE WOMEN FAIL

Business Find Necessary Work Too Hard For Women

Years ago the streets of the German capital were cleaned by men of military age. Their places were taken by boys, and now women are being introduced as fast as possible given up to military age and exercise arms. It is a common sight on any street to see coal being carted into coal factories by women instead of men. The underground railway companies in Berlin installed women in ticket offices, and they have introduced them as guards. When it was found that their duties frequently [illegible] caught in doors, the companies did not go back to men, but ordered the women [illegible] conductors and there are now [illegible] women [illegible]

Even [illegible] carried out to men [illegible] performing heavy duties, dropped a little when they found that the steam railroads, in addition to installing women at the stations for minor duties, had put them in as train [illegible] as well. Their [illegible] report. Yet the Prussian railways to-day have a large number of women [illegible] now in the employ.

It is now officially admitted that the women do not adequately substitute for men, and [illegible] women [illegible] tors, for instance are said to be almost [illegible] as the men [illegible] predecessors, and only about half as [illegible] who [illegible] work as men [illegible] are able to stand the strain. Therefore [illegible] has been [illegible] the [illegible] train women's [illegible] of the [illegible] and [illegible] of the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Mixed Farming Special.

THE Mixed Farming Special last Tuesday drew large crowds from points near and distant throughout the local district. General admiration was expressed with the exhibition, demonstrations and lectures. While the men took keen interest in the lectures on stock the ladies took great interest in the demonstrations in the Women's Institute car on the putting up of fruit and vegetables and kindred subjects. The exhibition of sample structures of farm buildings including barns, poultry and swine houses, dairy dept., wild game, weeds, agriculture, household science and departments of the train were all very attractive and practical. One could not even casually pass through the train without being most favorably impressed and endued with a revival of ambition to make more out of present opportunities

Do Your Bit.

ALL readers of newspapers cannot help but realize the tremendously serious situation today is becoming more acute. To those who have not yet volunteered their services to King and Country is daily coming the question from one source or another, "Why don't you enlist? Too many have possibly looked at the situation from a far away standpoint. The present situation is serious and many, all honor to them, are realizing that the time has now come for them to make their sacrifice, are coming forward and declaring their willingness to go to the front. The struggle is now nearing its height. While the Allies generals commanding are carrying out a policy of aggression against the enemy which operate towards the conservation of life as far as possible there will undoubtedly be greater numbers of casualties than ever. The recruiting officers are calling louder than ever before for recruits to fill the ranks of the supporting forces. Canadians, surely you are not going to take back water. Surely you are not going to swallow your words, uttered not so long ago when you shouted exclamations about "loyalty to the flag," when during general elections one of the issues was Free trade with the United States. All honor to our adopted citizens from the U. S. who are largely forming the American Legion which is four battalion. Canadians are as much entitled to the term "American" as anybody and should suffer no inconveniences about joining this unit. This is one of Alberta's best chances for us having the opportunity to do their bit. To the single, to the married, to the widowed, to the benedict, to the employed labor for a period, might be said that the sacrifice, while it does not compare with that of thousands who have given up their all, loved ones and business, it will be suitably honored. Every man's duty now is to ascertain by application to a medical practitioner and undergoing the examination, whether he is medically fit or not. What will you say when the boys come home in answer to the question, "What did you do to do your bit?" Let your answer be in deeds, not words.

Lowe Regulating Laundry Works

Laundry varies very greatly in Europe. Most of us are familiar with those used in Canada consisting of certain small letters or figures stitched in red thread. Not all continentals, however, are considerate. In some parts of France linen is detached by having the whole name and address of the laundry stamped upon it, and an additional geometrical design to indicate the owner.

In Bavaria every piece has a number stamped on in large characters as in other parts of Germany a small number is also attached by means of a hot waterproof ink-wave in Bulgaria each household has a large number of stamps engraved with designs, and in Russia the linen mark varies with the threads worked in across shape.

In one or two countries the police personally issue instructions for its care, and in the case of Greece the police are furnished annually to the laundry proprietors with new marks and new designs to be used. By this system criminals and revolutionary agitators are often traced.

RUSSIANS WHO ESCAPED

Were Were Prisoners of Nuns Who Punished Prance

A French officer-correspondent interviews the other night as I was writing a telegram in the Hotel La Cog Hardi with several other correspondents, our guide, Count de Cadaz, came up to me and said that he wanted to speak to three new prisoners and with a motion of his hand he invited three men to sit down at our table. They did so in a timid fashion merely as if they were afraid of sitting in the chairs. All three were peasants of the second party of Russia who had not been mobilized until some time in German war prisoners camp after a battle near the Masurian lakes.

TOFIELD, ALBERTA, THURSDAY, JULY 27, 1916

THE "Back to the Water" movement, which took place last 1st of July, seems to be working all right. Not one in forty-nine persons was seen in Tofield during the month.

EVER since the war started the price on about every item used in connection with the manufacture of newspapers has been going up. Coverings, book papers, news print, colored papers, lagtoid, carbon paper, wire, electrotype metal, type, rollers, inks, machine parts and repairs, labor, and even the rags used for washing up the presses have all advanced in price from 20 to 1000 per cent.

EVERY Canadian soldier in the Old Country and in France-Belgium is an active immigration agent for Dear Old Canada and Don't forget it. Canada will reap great benefits from this active propaganda which is now going on across the Atlantic. When the boys return after the war they will bring thousands of the other fellows with them.

THE Tofield platoon is off to a good start. There is no doubt but that the necessary number will be found to bring it up to strength. Tofield's boys have been doing good work at the front. Some of them have been wounded and others have made the supreme sacrifice. There are others at home who hitherto have not been in a position to sign on but they are now coming forward. There are also others who would like to go but who cannot come up to the required standard of physical fitness. It is with regret that these see their pals go when they have to remain. Those who are successful in being taken on have the sincere best wishes of those who remain go with them. Their noble action will spur all who remain to greater effort in the patriotic movements which are being carried on to care for the dependents and to relieve the sufferings of the boys at the front who are wounded on the field of action. Recruits, too, are needed in the Red Cross work. Soon will be the appeal for the Patriotic Fund for the year. Reader, do your bit, whatever form it may take.

"MEDDLESOME MILLIE"

Splendid Work and Activities of Practical Peeress

About twelve miles from Dunkirk, amid bleak and picturesque surroundings, may be seen a tiny town where outdoors are ruled of their wounds. Here we have been told again of it as "a little bit of paradise" and their heartfelt gratitude has come to Millicent. In hose of mother bed, who first conceived the idea of this open-air hospital which was really the third but three established. Since the very beginning of the war she worked assiduously among the wounded organizing on six minor risk organize, for the two home in its most practical of all provisions. Six it was who, years ago, started the Primrose Cripples' guild to teach physically handicapped boys and girls to earn a living. It was she again, who was instrumental in getting the invalid ment to go into the question of land poisoning in the Dolomites and who did all in her power to encourage the home industries of the Scottish crofters by holding sales in her dear mansion, Londesborough Lodge, Hyde Park, Hotel, St. James' Street and opening a shop near Lord Street open only for the sale of the work sent by these humble crafters from their cottages in the far north.

"I like here said," the Duchess once said, "that my heart is stripped up in home open thrown and my brain changed with carpets and cripples, and that I am becoming an impossible member of society," but her time is very quiths the society women who indulge in charitable schemes to preserve the monotony of their existence. She is genuinely and sincerely interested in the poor, the helpless, and their welfare.

Cologne, where Darnstein Castle is situated, owes to her Grace's efforts the development of the school and the library there. Technical education has in her a keen supporter and as a proof of her democratic leanings she sent her two sons to the Board School at Cologne for a time. She has studied labor questions and sociology profession and being a total abstainer herself, is a force on the side of temperance exercising a potent influence on working women and their husbands.

But there are not all her interests. She loves animals and admires nothing so much as a well-bred horse. Her greatest pleasure is to be out in anything which tends to better their conditions and having a passion for them she has encouraged the Highland Mods, mounted meetings which resemble the Welsh Eisteddfod. Indeed, she has so many interests and is so ready to help in any scheme which appeals to her practical sympathy that she has been dubbed "Meddlesome Millie" but there was not one poor soul whom she has shunned and helped who did not bless her and wish her happiness when she left her work at the front to pay a flying visit to England to marry Major Percy Desmond Fitzgerald, D.S.O., of the 11th Hussars.

GERMANS HOARD FOOD

Lumber Claim Very Unpopular With Half Starved Populace

Time and again the governments has assured the German people that the supply of potatoes on hand is more than sufficient. But the best remains that is practically all the citizens of Berlin household is the poorest part of the population almost none are to be had for love and money. Recently the authorities finally stretched a point and let on a consignment of second hand potatoes in a competitive distribution in September, 1914, when he became a captain he was given the command of the 2nd Battalion of the Royal Irish Fusiliers. His regiment was severe fighting at Loos and after the series of battles there he found himself in command of the 9th Brigade. In 1917 his command was appointed he was given the command of the 3rd Army Corps, and he will find he was in due course promoted by promotion to major-general.

KIMBELL BOYS ESTATE

Valuable Wild Mode Fortunes Settled by Negligence

Jos Kimbell, the violinist, has bought an immense estate in Hampshire. The purchase price is 1,200,000 crowns (£240,000). The property is situated at Sarsend Heath, in the Kingsley. Besides a magnificent feudal castle the property includes that area of land, chiefly forests it is said that the Kimbell boys are the owners of the great Hohenhohe family. Besides the castle there are several villages, have usually been able to procure this indifference in the Imperial wars in which they kings have constantly been engaged, so we see, even in the most unprotected Empires, the nobles and the most proud-only warlike, the great Frederick set forth precisely the same ideal of war

COUNT OKUMA

Premier of Japan, who, in a new interview given exclusive prominence to the views of Japan's loyalty to the allies and to the cause of Great Britain.

MAJOR AT NINETEEN

English Footballer, Four Soldier, Son of Famous Man

Although barely nineteen years of age, Henry Chilcomb, of Hawkingston, Lincolnshire, has been promoted to be a major in the British army. He has risen by sheer merit from a private in a Lincolnshire battalion. Frederick Chilcomb is a silver town official in Hawkingston. When the war opened he was at Shirleyway School, where he had a greater reputation as a footballer than as a scholar. Although he was regarded as too young for a commission, his school's first master, Mr. Shirley Hawkins, his superiors reported that he was "a born leader of men and an unflinching soldier," but he soon as the war broke out he was in the thick of it.

He was reduced on his first two days' leave, but he soon settled down the authorities finally stretched a point and he was appointed to a second lieutenancy in a competitive examination in September, 1914, when he became a captain he was given the command of the 2nd Battalion of the Royal Irish Fusiliers. His regiment saw severe fighting at Loos and after the series of battles there he found himself in command of the 9th Brigade. In 1917 his command was appointed he was given the command of the 3rd Army Corps, and he will find he was in due course promoted by promotion to major-general.

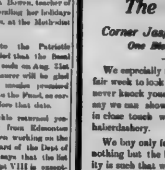
OLD FASHIONED WAR

Even Frederick the Great More Humane Than Some

Frederick the Great, who combined supreme military gifts with freedom from cruelty in policy, and was at the same time a great reformer-lawgiver, declared that the ordinary citizen ought never to be aware that his country is at war. Nothing could more clearly the military ideal however imperfect it may sometimes have been attained of the old European world. Attorneys, shrewd and no gentlemen or no barrister, certainly occurred to the Prussian mind as the proper officers of the civilized community, they were considered necessary by the dynastic quarrels of monarchs and were carried out by a professional class with artificial traditions and a more or less scrupulous regard to ancient military etiquette.

There are many stories of the sufferings of the soldiery in old times, in the midst of abundance, on account of military respect for certain property. The legend, if legend it is, of the French officer who patiently requested the English officer opposite him to "draw their sheep and goats" to the other part of the battle field, that they might not be in the way of the cannon balls, is not more than a reasonable example of the extreme care which the old armies took to avoid unnecessary injury to the civilian population. Even when they were considered necessary by the strategic requirements of the moment they were carried out by a professional class with artificial traditions and a more or less scrupulous regard to ancient military etiquette.

GILLETT'S LYE EATS DIRT



JAPAN SAVED RUSSIA

Wonderful Japanese Munitions to Enemy Thrived and Spelled Victory

At one and not more prosperous time than before in her history! That, in a nutshell, is the verdict, as judged by the statements put out by the Japanese Government itself. It is to Japan, more than any other factor, that should be the credit for Russia's colossal drive through the Carpathians through Asiatic Turkey. After the Russian hordes had been thrown back, broken and in disorder, by Mackensen's in Poland, the self-realized that unless something could be done the Czar, as a factor in the struggle, was about done for. The court True there were yet sum of thousands of Russians who had never even smelled smoke big struggle, fellows who to withstand untold hardships, and of unexpended resources. But they had nothing to fight with. That was the way the Dissolution. Every wizard though he is, was able to see many and these resting has it from Lodz to Warsaw, time by Warsaw, then Brest-Litovsk and other of the great Russian fortresses.

Japan was appealed to, and quick to see the advantage not only to her allies but to herself, immediately got busy with the result that the volume of munitions sent out of Japan became greater than that of the United States. Russian agents streamed of shells, guns, shoes, uniforms and what not has poured into Russia and still are pouring. Japan contributed the United States in smuggling with the dry industry, which when the war was practically monopolized by Germany. The government has loaned at its support to manufacturers of synthetic dyes and medicines with the result that a $4,000,000 corporation was organized and its stock given subscribed approximately ten times. And Japan took care that the international parties are strictly Japanese subjects. What she has done in the dye situation is merely an example of what she is doing in other industries. The cement market of the Far East is now practically controlled by Japan, where before the war Germany was supreme. Japanese paper mills are scarcely able to take care of the orders.

GERMAN TOUCHED HIM

Narrow Escape of Verbalrotman in Flanders Night Fighting

Thrilling escapes of members of the War Verbalrot Regiment, now in German trench during a night attack by Canadian and London writer as follows: One soldier was just behind him the trench when he saw a German officer who had been lurking in a sentry a some distance, suddenly saw the German on the other side of the rounding a traverse. But there is a limit to gymnastic agility and he could not complete the manoeuver without giving himself away. Stillness was more important than courage, so he stayed as he was in the middle of his advance, bending over the sight of a pot with face bending to his own breech and his foot dangling near the top of the sentry's. The German actually brushed his boots as he passed and half turned round to see what he had touched. But he noticed nothing and passed on.

A little later, at the moment of the enforced withdrawal, one young Yorkshireman, who clearly enjoyed his experience and remembered every detail of it afterwards, had been caught in some spiral wire underlying the ruins in a shallow ditch just in front of the German line. He first thought was "Anyway, I won't lose my jack-knife." So he got down to the task of hacking and slowly disentangled himself. By this time all the rest of his group had vanished, and he was left there alone with his bombs alone against the trench, most precariously isolated but effectively covering the return with an occasional bomb. Then he too made off, with a very rapid time in the direction, until eventually he found a friend also wandering, and together they did very rapid time back to their own trench.

Haying is being rushed in pretty generally over the district, altho' farmers are finding the quantity of wild hay available is grow ing less and less each year. So much land is being farmed every year that it will not be many seasons before hay to be cut on public land will be a thing of the past.

Twine and Labor Shortage

Farmers who took the advice graciously extended and have already purchased their twine for the forthcoming harvest are in bush. Tallenders are going to be out of it. TOFIELD, ALBERTA, THURSDAY, AUG. 10, 1916.

TAKING everything into consideration about the war and enlistment and conditions in the past as compared with the present, the man who enlists now in the average instances has probably more sand within him than some of those who volunteered their services during the earliest stages of the war. That is we now have an even more serious outlook that that which was before the public, generally speaking, in the earlier period. We now know that it is a serious proposition.

Therefore, all praise and honor to our brave boys who are joining the Tofield platoon that may good fortune follow them in their glorious path to Berlin. We know that there's stuff in them out of which the best soldiers are made and we know that they will give a good account of themselves.

We also know several other things. We know that there are more eligibles around who have not yet come forward and put their names on the honor roll. We know that they are spotted, that is, that they are marked in the minds of those who have attested and those who cannot enlist owing to some physical disability. Oh, there will be some doings when the boys come back. Then, the slacker will have to scurry to cover to escape the scorn of the boys who have gone and done their bit. There are reasons, good reasons, why many cannot go. These will be weighed in the balance and not beloumd wanting. There will also be the others who will, too, be weighed in the balance and will be found sadly wanting. What will their lot be? "Daddy, or Grand-daddy, what did you do in the Great War?" will be asked of many a man, and what will be have for an answer? "Were you not physically fit? Then, why did you not go? What will the answer be?

o o o o o

WE must remember, in studying the news which comes from the front, that we are but at the opening stages of a long and serious effort, and that we can only expect the results to be gradually unfolded before our eyes. It is a wholly natural impatience that desires to be fed with brilliant exploit; but it is wiser to look forward to a slow and steady movement, not only designed to relieve the pressure on Verdun, but to carry out a systematic and deliberate assault on the whole German position in this quarter. One of our objects, no doubt, is to test the strength of the enemy's reserves. Every gain that is made has to be consolidated. We do not desire to repeat the mistakes which frustrated earlier attempts at Neuve Chapelle and Loos. What has been accomplished so far is all to the good, and with that we are more than content.

o o o o o

SIR Charles Hibbert Tupper, whose name discloses his political descent, has signed an appeal to the British Columbia men at the front to help oust the Bowser Government for having looted British Columbia as the Germans have looted Belgium. He says "You have long known the record of the present Government. Their tenure of office has been marked by extravagance, incompetency and wholesale corruption. A chance is now afforded to save British Columbia as you are rescuing unhappy Belgium. It is not a fight for parties, but of the people against official wrongdoing."

o o o o o

GERMAN authorities insisted that a bust of the Kaiser should be displayed in a Belgian art exhibition. The Belgium people prefer the portraits of Wilhelm that Raemakers has drawn.

o o o o o

DOWN near the Suez canal the British opened their bag of tricks, took one out and played with the Turks, with the result that a great army was routed, more than three thousand taken prisoner, and the remnant driven out into the desert to starve and die of thirst.

BAIN'S CHARACTER

Sir Douglas Haig is one of the youngest generals in the British army and looks young in any emergency he thinks quickly and always on the right lines, and, however much things may be going wrong, he has never been known to lose his temper. He is, indeed, as complete a master of himself as he is of his men.

To those who have him well General Haig's chief quality is an indomitable will power. He never shirks responsibility, never puts off a decision that may be done now. He is a man who try to smooth over difficulties and trouble. Another side of his character is the extraordinary affection he inspires in all those around him. He is one of the most charming gentlemen and a soldier with pots symbolizes all that who talks with him. He seems to a man but only respects him as a good commander but loves him as the very human side of his nature.

SOLDIERS' QUEER WILLS

Tommy When Dying Remembers His Relatives and Does His Best

Never before have so many men of property been fighting in the ranks of the British army as in this present war, and one of the probable results will be that there will be collected on all parts of strange objects may be died at Soldiers' Homes. The soldier is supposed to make his will before going into active service, and the majority of those forming the new army are likely to have some to, but here and there will be found some who will not do so. Many a man will be in a position to leave his home and many a stranger will have been established in property. It will hardly be settled on an odd bit of paper, the back of a letter or elsewhere, but when found on a mortally wounded man. Dying bequests have been written on the old pipe-stopped bolt, on a cheque, in the kit-bag of a pocket book and on one occasion by means of a Martini bullet a testamentary will was properly scrawled on a cavalry man's boot.

It has been said that a soldier dying in the field has a testamentary power to bequeath his property by the simple expedient of dipping his finger-tips into his own blood and writing on a piece of paper "I want my money to have all." A Guernsman died at Belmont, in the South African War, managed to inscribe a short will on his helmet, a bullet being the pen, another private in the same war made his will on an old piece of brown paper, owning to shell.

Sometimes matters engaged some skilled hands in Switzerland to assist in the factories in England. The trade union leaders protested and the makers of labor was promptly cut off.

Re Harvest Help

The Dept. of Agriculture has arranged with the railway companies to grant a rate of one cent per mile with a maximum of $1.50 for harvest help to all points within the province upon presentation of certificates signed by Mr. Charles H. Hotchkiss, Chief Publicity Commissioner, or, valid during the month of August.

These certificates may be obtained from J. A. Weir at Lethbridge, H. J. Donnelly, Crown Building, 1st Street East, Calgary, and at my office here.

Farmers requiring farm help should apply direct to the above and to Mr. L. L. Hartman at Sarcee Camp, where the Department has opened an office to assist in obtaining soldiers for farm help.

Yours very truly,

Charles H. Hotchkiss,
Chief Publicity Commissioner.

Mrs. Johnson of Edmonton, is visiting Mrs Paul Flanden.

The Ryley branch of the W. C. T. U. had a pleasant meeting on Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. I. H. Olson.

The damage done by hail in the country lying immediately south and west of the Amisk Creek district was a sorry sight to your scribe who took a spin thro' that region on Sunday. The freaky nature of the hail fiend was shown in noble fields where whole strips were battered down; while here and there small patches of full headed wheat or oats was spared. Those suffering from the loss done to the two mile strip extending from Kingman to Viking have the sympathy of all.

In the immediate neighborhood of Amisk Creek the crops never looked more promising. Wheat is beginning to turn and oats high and heavy. Many are predicting harvesting will commence inside of three weeks, given favorable weather conditions meanwhile.

A jolly party of young people consisting of about 20 of the town's teams was entertained by Mr. John Blackburn on Saturday evening at the home. A "feast" evening had been planned for the guests entertainment which occasioned considerable merriment. Numerous prizes were given the winners of the various games, those winning prizes being: Mrs. Lloyd Watt, Miss McNaught, Miss Olson, Mrs. Ingmar Olson; Messrs. Henry Bahon, Harry Haroldson and Jim Jacobsen. Hardtack sandwiches served late in the evening, after which "Magic music" served to keep things lively for several hours. The happy young guests showered good wishes and many happy returns upon their young host.

H. Mackinnon, the optician of Edmonton, will be again in Tofield at the Alexandra Hotel on Tuesday August 15th. If your eyes are giving you trouble you be sure to consult him. advt.

DREYFUS DISCUSSES FRANCE AND LIBERTY

Statement on Anti-semitism Places Blame in Germany, Not Russia—Famous Exile Re-appears

All the Jews of the world, and, indeed, all men who are interested in the cause of humanity, says Victor Basch, Professor at the University of Paris, should make every effort to secure emancipation and the rights of citizenship for the Russian and Polish Jews. The very problems of Russian Jews, asserts Professor Basch, who has visited the war with the greatest enthusiasm. It is for this reason, he points out, that there is a certain aspect to the present war in France today there is no room, no room of anti-semitism left. Whatever prejudices may have been in the past, Professor Basch points out that today in France there is nothing but admiration for the Jews who have been known as bravely and dying for their country.

Testimony of Dreyfus

A personal letter from Colonel Alfred Dreyfus, the famous prisoner of the Ile de Diable, to Professor Basch makes these sentiments: "France is the country which first proclaimed publicly for all men and to all the peoples of the same phase with other citizens of the whole world, and she has proved it by the same indignation and devotion which she has shown in the struggle against the common enemy of all civilization crime of which I was the victim. Immediately, I received Russia a lightning separation which was the triumph of truth and right. The victory of France in the present war means the victory of right and humanity and of the liberation of all the oppressed peoples. The martyrdom of Belgium, the crushing of the Serbs and the extermination of the Armenians are but a foretaste of what a Germanized world would be. Alfred Dreyfus."

Rumor May Show Way

Professor Basch shows that the Russian Jews should find in the present war a favorable opportunity to achieve emancipation. The entire Russian party in Russia, he said, was vividly proclaiming that the first step toward the regeneration of their country must be the emancipation of the Jews. The Russian Parliament which is at present in session has their approval and that the Russian Jews have no racial or religious prejudice to anti-semitism, he declared was born in Germany, and came from Germany to Russia. Consequently he thinks a bill of complete Jewish emancipation, social as well as legal, is possible in Russia, more possible even than in Germany, and more possible to-day than ever before.

JOFFRE WITH HIS MEN

Famous Pictures and Kindly Generals Described by Former Premier

George [illegible] has written a book, "Joffre and His Men," which will be issued in the autumn. Mr. Lloyd George was present at a meeting with General Joffre in one of the front lines.

The commander-in-chief was walking along the trench at the head of a party of detailing men, the huge moustache and iron-gray hair of the great soldier [illegible] when he exchanged greetings with officers and men.

"Good day, General."

"Good day, lads."

Then the column took a different turn, and he and his staff [illegible] observation post, a mere hole which blinded eyes could be looked through. Mounted officers and a band accompanied him to his new [illegible] with the words. There is no end to him but what there is or not afraid of anything on earth. I have not an other man like him."

Joffre smiled, and his heart was in his head, blue eyes as his mouth the pretty baby's hand and presented him with a fine [illegible] tips. The poor boy was so confused that he did not know where to put it and finally stuck it between his teeth, while his hand rested on and about the head of the general [illegible] mean more. As a matter of fact, there are Martinmas sweetpeace young Parisian boys who would go into the jaws of hell if ordered. Young and old soldiers contend one another in bravery.

A little further on we see a Parisian, a man of forty-six, brown and sturdy like a mountaineer. He has just come in from a map and his board in full of mud. He does not deny he has been lured of them, but it is a blessed weakness to such. Whatmen you ask? Why, he is a poet. He pays a visit to the front to write a wonderful modern a series of said all pals with the [illegible] and [illegible] talk to the soldiers. HARD LUCK OF YORKS

Very Dramatic Accidents Mar Good Night Attac.

The special correspondent of the Daily Mail in France tells of a raid set on foot by a battalion of the West Yorkshires. Only an accident prevented its full success, and that accident was so dramatic an event as imagination could suggest. Two parties set out in the evening and reached the enemy's trench only after a long bout of wire-cutting. In one group an officer and a sergeant among others entered the trench and met a sentry smoking a cigarette some fifteen yards away.

The sentry never had nothing. The sergeant stepped within a yard or two and snapped the revolver at point blank range. To his disgust it misfired, perhaps only a flash in the pan, and the sergeant did the only thing possible—he lunged at the sentry's throat. Even so his attack was but complete enough to arrest an agonized scream which was heard clearly as far as our trenches. Indeed, this fracas had [illegible] about ramped every one. Directly [illegible] the others in the [illegible] trench. Municipal Public Library TOFIELD has for some time past enjoyed the privilege of having a section of the University Extension Library placed here for the use of the public. The privilege is still being enjoyed. The scheme was adopted after various other schemes to organize a literary club or similar body had failed. The library scheme as finally worked out has been a success. The time is opportune now for the adoption of a scheme to organize a permanent library. What is better than the co-operative idea. There are many town citizens who have in their possession various books which they have no further use for other than the adornment of their shelves and which could very readily be dispensed with particularly if a scheme be evolved where by all could receive an equal or even greater measure than they give. There is no doubt but that several score of books would in this way be donated to the Tofield Public Library. If at an early date an official Board were elected and an association permanently organized the adoption of such a scheme as the above would quickly result in a substantial library being collected. The public individually and at large would be the beneficary. Who will set the ball rolling?

Russell Turner and Chris Richards enlisted last Monday with the Army Medical Corps.

Misses Vance and Miller of Edmonton were guests of Mrs. S. A. Hall last week.

Messrs Luddiland and Wilkins of Edmonton motorcycled down from Edmonton last Sunday and spent the day at the lakeside home of S. A. Hall.

Dr. J. G. Hotchabaugh of Oregon and his son Justin are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Harriman the Radabaugh is a brother of Mrs Harriman.

E. Gowman of Rapulpa, Okla. with his wife and family of 4 boys and daughter, were guests over the week end of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Saunders. Mr. Gowman was greatly pleased with impressions gained in Alberta, at Tofield in particular.

A Tofield district farmer recently sold almost the whole of the crop that a consignment was there for him. Tuesday morning he drove in with his hay rack on bare wagon for his goods. The latter turned out to be an Estey vibrator. So much did the goods delight incidentally, the catalogue houses are, as ever, not after the trade. They advertise for it. Many contracts have been made and should do well to follow their example.

A change is impending in the office and dispatch departments of the G. T. P. service between Edmonton and Watrous. The dispatch has a office here is being moved to Biggar and that at Wainwright to Edmonton. The Edmonton staff will then operate the Edmonton Biggar and Tofield Calgar, section while that at Biggar will operate the main and branch lines in Saskatchewan. From Tofield will be taken Chief Despatcher Simmons and his two assistants, and two operators placed here to their stead. From Wainwright the change will accomodate the bulk most of some forty men, many of them with families, to Edmonton.

The general shift is caused by the getting down to a permanent basis of operation of the system by the company.

T. H. Murray and Geo. Woods of Iron Creek were in town last Monday morning. Both report that they suffered about 25% damage to their crops by hail lately. Harvesting will commence in that district in about three weeks.

Pte. Victor H. Robinson, a Tofielder, who enlisted with the 53rd and was drafted into another regiment at the front has been missing since the 3rd of June. He was in the big fight during which Private Rowland was wounded in the head.

About fifteen men of the Tofield platoon of the 211th Batt'n, Australian Legion, left on Monday morning for Camp Sarnia, Calgary to undergo a month's training with the battalion before returning to Tofield where the active campaign of recruiting will be taken up to bring the platoon up to strength. Four recruits were taken on in Vegreville last week and two in Edmonton. These and all the new ones will mobilize at Tofield after threshing and will winter here in charge of an officer of the battalion.

Englishmen pronounce 'khaki' properly, many Canadians do not, for they, unfortunately, say "a" instead which is not represented in the letters forming the word. The fact that they make this error does not warrant the assertion that the pronunciation "Kahrky" is "common ed by some" in Canada. You ought as well say that the pronunciation "mirum" for "mirum" is "common by some." Many clearly in pronouncing "khaki" in the same way that he would pronounce "monkey" namely "kah-kee." Some Canadians, erroneously supposing that "kah kee" in the King Solomon's way of saying "kahe like, misdivers an "e" sound into the pronunciation. Toronto Star

The vital question however is not whether it is pronounced "kahkee" or "kah," but how it would look on you.

Britain Prepared

Those who have seen it, declare "Britain Prepared" to be the most wonderful presentation of the realities they had ever seen. ENTOR-SOLDIERS RUN FRANCE'S PUBLICITY

Resulted From the Front by Message Story Interpreted Word of Mouth—and Films Well Received

In the summer of 1915 the French Government has created a sort of Publicity Office, a department which was built to contain very modern ideas. Each day now marks a departure. Of the Maison de la Presse. There is a floor for everything an ever-died visitor can want. There is a photomaker floor, a military floor, a propaganda floor, a photograph floor, a cinematograph floor and, at the top, the museum. The diplomatic floor is, of course, a branch of the Quai d'Orsay. The attaches still feel a little homesick for their venerable quarters, but the great use of centralizing all work connected with the press is clear to everyone.

Picture Record of the War

The military floor is inhabited by representatives of the War Office, some elderly officers on active service, others on civilians now mobilized. The Service Geographique de l'Armee is the official photographer of the army, and in the basement are thousands of remarkable pictures. Some are too realistic to be shown to the public, and only privileged visitors can see them, but in the main the useful selection is that nearly all the pictures can be bought by the public at five cents apiece. There could be a better propaganda than photographs, for thousands of connections and sentiments are established between the soldiers left them. Some photographs on glass can be had for four cents each, and a lantern is installed to show them on.

The floor above belongs to the motion pictures have been taken at the front by official cinematographers. "I barely had the life of the last operator I took in the front on my own knee," said the captain who was showing me over. He shall burst within ten yards of us while he was turning his handle. The films once taken are the property of the War Office and strict supervision ensures that none shall be used without authority. Some cannot be shown yet. The others are exhibited once or twice a week in the cinema room, and cinematographs from neutral countries (they are invited to use the pictures and make their choice. The military floor is the most interesting of all, for there is where only to a few privileged visitors a film called Nos Poilus" is shown. The films were taken by the cinematographers of the French Government, with journalists. The men in various uniforms were in peacetime editors or journalists of the national dailies of the Matin, the Temps, the Debats, L'Opinion, and so on, and the whole production of the war is seen from their point of view. A short time ago there was dissatisfaction in what was considered unfair efforts to start a failure of the Press, it decided that journalists should work for the front, and recalled them. It was the link between the press and the front. To-day we have a complete staff of men who are both soldiers and journalists. They are the link, also, between the press and the front. The Maison de la Presse is issuing various enterprises—from the same staff of journalists—efforts to make the world's centre. There they are the permanent representatives of the Paris Maison de la Presse for the rest of the world.

UNPLEASANT MEMORIES

French Soldier Tells of Most Sickening Sensation of War

A correspondent writes from Paris as follows: During a talk I had with a very young volunteer, who, after having recovered from several bad wounds received at the front, was spending a few days in Paris on leave, I asked him what was the most unpleasant memory. Without a moment's hesitation he replied: "The most unpleasant sensation I have in the one in which you are just crawling on your belly to attack the enemy. Your feeling then resembles the one which comes to you when you are about to dive from a very high place into water which you know is cold and shallow. An effort are to surmount, like a person who hesitates breaking against a granite jetty. There are many strange broken up entirely. TOFIELD, ALBERTA, THURSDAY, AUG. 24, 1916.

Sir Sam Would be Commander-in-Chief

A London despatch of the 18th inst., which states that Gen Sam Hughes has paid a visit to the Canadians at the front, credits Sir Sam with the statement that it would be the realization of his own ambition if he himself commanded the entire and complete force of the half million C. E. F. This coincides with a statement given the Standard last June by an Ontario gentleman while the editor was on his holiday visit down east when the eastern man said that the game of the Minister of Militia from the first was the organization of the Canadian army of 500,000 and then the assuming of the command at the front of the entire contingent. It was to be Sir Sam Hughes, first, last and all the time, with MY army of 500,000! A curious ruffle on the surface of the waters comes in the report that a number of Ontario leading Conservatives are to form a deputation to Sir Robert Borden with the demand that Sam Hughes name be stricken from the list of Canadian Cabinet Ministers, backed up with this ultimatum that if this is not done a campaign will be waged against the present administration.

Mail Order Liquor Advertisements

THE Alberta Press for some time has been in receipt of advertising dispositions from liquor firms outside the province which would yield a profitable revenue to the to the papers accepting the same. The Standard repeatedly has been in receipt of various of these, the latest of them arriving a few days ago from a Saskatoon house. But, believing that in the result of the recent passing of the liquor Act was tantamount to an expression by the people of a desire for prohibition, it does not believe it to be in the public interest to advertise the methods by which liquors may be secured for private use. We believe that the vast majority of Alberta's citizens desire that the Act be observed in the spirit as well as in the letter.

Incidentally, we might might mention the fact that, as elsewhere throughout the province, the passing of prohibition in force has resulted in a practically complete banishment of instances of drunkenness from the community and the general application of money to uses which are infinitely more to the comfort and well being of many individuals and the members of their families.

o o o o o

The Mail Order House

RIGHT here is also a good time to discuss another phase of trade. This time the subject is the mail order house. Express and post office daily business in Tofield shows the mail order business to be flourishing. Incidentally, again, the Standard is just in receipt of an order for a few inches less than a quarter page advertisement for a well known Winnipeg mail order house. The Standard is in full sympathy with the Buy at home idea and it therefore cannot but thoroughly disapprove, both directly or indirectly, to the building up further of the mail order business in its local community. At the same time it also cannot shed any crocodile tears over the condition of affairs which men, who pose as business men, are passively allowing to be created to their detriment and private cost. Our town, simply through lack of initiative and business enterprise, Country town business men may seek to delude themselves with the idea that the big mail order houses are going to suffer a decline of their business but a few conditions which may be observed daily, the increasing amount of cash that is being sent out of the community to the mail order houses, the loads of goods that are being delivered by rural mail route carriers to Tofield alone, the general post office and express company, belie any truth or foundation for such delusion. The Standard would gladly boost a Buy-at-home campaign, but such campaign would have to be shared in by Tofield's business men, and until such co-operative campaign shall be initiated and pushed, AND GOOD SERVICE GIVES THE COST, OVER, the mail order business will continue to flourish in Tofield and district.

REGULATIONS FOR BADGES

The regulations governing badges are somewhat extensive. Badges of such form as the governor-in-council may recommend" shall be issued to the following classes:

(a) Men honorably discharged from the expeditionary forces.

(b) Men who have offered themselves for active service in the present war and have been rejected.

(c) Men who desire or who have desired to enlist and who have been refused upon the ground that their services are of more value to the state in the employment in which they are engaged than if they should enlist for active service.

The badges so issued may be worn by any military officer duly authorized thereto by the governor-in-council and every badge shall be numbered and accompanied by a card bearing the same number and signed by the military officer issuing it. This card shall contain particulars as to the person to whom it is issued and his present address. The card must be kept at all times on the person of the man who wears the badge and it may be shown on request to any military officer or constable. Otherwise the commission will be reported to headquarters. Failure to do so must be reported at once to the officer by whom it was issued.

PENALTIES PROVIDED

The wearing of such badge by any one other than to whom it is issued or imitation thereof or the selling of such imitations is strictly prohibited. Any one guilty of this offence shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding $100 or imprisonment not exceeding thirty days.

In no case will a badge be issued to persons who have been rejected on account of temporary disability or who are obviously unfit for service, and have not served with the expeditionary forces; for example to men who are totally blind, crippled, paralytic etc.

The system will go into effect almost immediately.

A writer in the London World says "I understand that France is employed to raise and training a large colonial army for use on the western front up to the present no fewer than 450,000 native troops have been raised by our ally for service in the various battlefields. The majority came from north Africa, and many have since been brought in France, and a considerable force, which has been increased to the thousand, is now massed for service in Flanders. Many thousand more were obtained from Madagascar, while even Indo-China has contributed between forty and fifty thousand men. Most of those have been organized for relief work in the line of communication, but they have also been used for industrial purposes, notably in connection with the Suez Canal and Salonika generally."

The Secret of the Submarine

This wonderful moving picture has been booked for the Variety Theatre at considerable expense. It has never yet been shown to the public and is a new film just being released. The management of the Variety had several serial pictures offered to it for selection to follow "The Girl and the Game," which has just been completed, but the "The Secret of the Submarines," in the most costly, we have selected it feeling that at this time of the war, and with the present interest shown in submarines, it would be the MOST APPRECIATED of all the serials offered for selection.

We have read the story of "The Secret of the Submarines," and we have no hesitation in saying that you will find it interesting, exciting and educational. Start right at the first chapter and follow it to the end which comes at the fifteenth chapter.

The present management is endeavoring to bring "the best stuff" to Tofield, and though the cost is greater, and if you find the attendance will be larger, we are glad to say that the people have been coming and the crowds have been growing larger week by week, and for your appreciation we have to THANK YOU.

(Correspondence)

The Standard is in receipt of the following "verbatim copy" of a letter received by Mrs. Sickels, Pres. of the local Red Cross Auxiliary, with reference to the subject of raffles, with a request from her to publish. The matter speaks for itself.

Edmonton, August 29th, 1916.

Dear Madam:

In reply to yours of 26th inst., I have to call your attention to section 226 of the Criminal Code, which reads as follows:

"Everyone is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to two years imprisonment and to a fine not exceeding $200, who makes, prints, advertises, etc., any scheme or plan for giving, selling, or in any way disposing of any property by lots, cards, tickets or any mode of chance whatsoever; Or conducts or manages any scheme for the purpose of determining, or who, the money for this was raised by no sale and entertainments.

About the Library

(Correspondence)

Editor Tofield Standard:-

I notice in your issue of the Standard of August 17, your editorial wherein you advocate the establishing a public library at Tofield. After reading your editorial with much satisfaction, I must say I am in hearty accord with your views as expressed by you and I think if all the enterprising men of Tofield of liberty taste, like yourself for instance, would come together and talk the matter over there would be little difficulty in devising ways and means to form the nucleus of a library. Tofield ought to have a public library. It would be no small amount of loss fit, profit and enjoyment to the citizens. Every town and every village in this brand Dominion should have its public library. A public library is a valuable asset to any community. Kingman, a small catch-the-train as it-runs station on the Tofield-Calgary line, has its library of about 300 volumes. The

I am sure, with the assistance of the farmers who are organizing a field day for Sept. 6th (Labor day) to be held at Wilson Bros farm 4 miles north of town. It will be along the lines of an agricultural fair in a small way.

What about that Municipal Library?

THE Standard is gratified with the manner in which the scheme mooted by it for the formation of a local Public Library has been met. Several have personally come forward with the voluntary statement that they would be willing to co-operate. Other readers, write along the same line. It only remains for some of our public spirited citizens to get together to get the scheme going. Who is there who has not a book or two to spare? We could fill a Municipal Library's new book shelves in a remarkably short time. Then all would get the combined benefit of the whole of each one taking his or her individual part in the organization.

BARON von Steengel, writing recently to the Dutch Pacifist League, gives perhaps the best explanation yet offered as to why the war occurred and why it must go to a Paul decision. He said: "The only excuse for the war up to the present time has shown that we Germans have been chosen by Providence from among all the other people to march at the head of all civilized nations and lead them under our protection toward assured peace. For we not only have the power and force necessary for this mission, but we also possess all the spiritual gifts to the highest degree, in all creation it is we who constitute the crown of civilization. It is therefore superfluous to continue to discuss pacificist plans of whatever nature. The nations, and especially the neutral nations have only one means of bringing a profitable existence. It is to submit to our guardians, which is superior from every "point of view." What the League did is not recorded, but if it was composed of descendants of the men who cut the likes this probably cured their aberration.

BRITAIN IN CHINA

How Butchery in China Is Conducted

Unlicensed Story of Kaiser's Ideals in Practice

Prof W P M Kennedy, Dept of History, University of Toronto, writes: We are liable to consider German methods in the present war something exceptional. The following quotation from The New York Herald's special correspondent (February 19, 1901), may help to throw light on the situation. "It is to the Germans that we have award the laurels of our race in the campaign. There was something peculiarly cold blooded about their pre-eminence. They arrived in the country sought to have been nothing down, to avenge the murder of their Minister, and to carry out the mandate of the Kaiser. After [illegible] into Pekin, leaving their [illegible] stained with the blood of hundreds of innocent people who had just ventured to return to their homes, the Germans established a reign of military terror. In their exercise of the [illegible] every day there were executions. One day sixty-eight people were shot. They did not hesitate to resort to inhuman methods for the purpose of extorting evidence from witnesses. The treatment of their prisoners as I can personally testify from what I saw was most brutal." It is interesting to note that a few weeks after the date of this issue of The New York Herald, the Kaiser spoke (on April 27, 1901) of German policy, and said "The German fatherland is no run in Mesia."

"Germany Versus Civilization"

OVER the imprint of the Houghton-Mifflin Company of Boston, and under this title, has just appeared one of the most effective denunciations of the "atrocious war" waged by German despotism against modern democracy. The author, William Roscoe Thayer, has long been closely identified with Harvard University, and is an historical writer of established repute. From first to last his monograph deals not with the military events, but with the fundamental issues at stake, and the evolution of Germany which made her ready for such an attempt at world domination. With him such conclusion of the whole matter is this

"Those of us who believe in civilization know that liberty, the soul of democracy, is the condition without which permanent spiritual good can neither spring up or thrive. In its deathless presence the Imperial lusts of the Hohenzollerns, like the Empires of those who were greater than they, are seen in their true natures; material, mundane, mortal."

On the minds of those who have retained their essential humanity the effect of such an exposition is inevitably obsessive and depressive. The Prussianization of Germany is here traced as a process which tends to deepen the gloom hanging over the future of a State that might have been a glorious factor in the uplift of humanity and in the progress of civilization. So far from having been drawn in too strong colors, the sketch by Mr. Thayer might have been made still more sombre by taking into view the existence of the Holy Roman Empire for practically a thousand years before Prussia experienced her modern revival, prior to the battle of Waterloo. From that time on it became an issue between Hohenzollern and Hapsburg which should dominate the German area in Europe. Bismark and Sadowa settled the matter in favor of Prussia, and thus doomed both both States to a common moral destruction. Their coalition in this unprecedented diabolical suicide will always be the greatest of all historical ironies.

Mr. Thayer has no lingering doubts as to how the gigantic struggle is going to end, any more than he has questionings as to Prussia's motives or as to the dissolution of her kultur, which shuts out alike justice, freedom, pity, and chivalry. "Under whatever name kultur operates, it tends downwards. It debases and brutalizes the moralist who is likely to end in a madhouse or on the gallows; the nation, despotic King, or hierarchy which substitutes its own selfish interests for humanity shuts itself out from humanity, becomes inhuman, revives, and worships standards of the Beast, and heads straight for perdition.

The part played by his own country in this awful contest for supremacy between Prussian kultur and human civilization arouses in Mr. Thayer a feeling of contemptuous indignation that finds expression in a torrent of burning invective. He turns to shreds all pleas for neutrality in the face of such alternatives as Germany has presented to America in the absolutely unprovoked and unmitigatedly brutal treatment of Belgium, and understatingly alleges that if Germany's course had not been checked in Belgium and stopped in France she would have tried to overthrow Great Britain and overrun America. The Thresher's Lien Act

Owners or operators of Threshing Outfits should Carefully Attend to the Regulations

Now that the threshing season is approaching every owner or operator of a threshing outfit should read "The Threshers' Lien Act" carefully.

In the first place it provides that every thresher, whether he does custom work or thresher his own crop only, must, each year before commencing operations register at his machine with the Minister of Agriculture, at a cost of $1.00, and procure a certificate of registration, which shall be kept posted in a conspicuous place upon the machine or separator during the whole of the threshing season. From the wording of the Act it would appear that if the certificate happens to be removed or accidentally lost the owner would have to send and get another certificate. For failure to register his machine the offender loses his right to a lien for his account, and is liable to a penalty not exceeding $25.00 and costs.

But some one may ask why a thresher should pay $1.00 to register his machine. That question is easily answered. The Noxious Weeds Act provides that every thresher shall thoroughly clean his machine both inside and out, and all his wagon racks, after threshing upon any premises, and shall clean the grain thrashed by him so that it shall not contain more than 10c noxious weed seeds, other than wild oats, in 1000 seeds of grain, and shall display on his machine a card containing the name of the Act referred to. For non-compliance with the provisions of the Noxious Weeds Act the thresher is liable to a fine of not less than $5.00 nor more than $50.00 and costs. Everyone will admit that it is in the interests of the country to keep weeds from spreading, and in order to send out the cards and enforce the Act it is necessary for the Department to know who the threshers are. In addition to this, threshers who comply with The Threshers' Lien Act are equally protected in having their bills paid. They come ahead of the man who supplied the thresher with coal or gasoline, ahead of the merchant who has fed the farmer for six months or more, ahead of the tax gatherer, and the farmers hired man even. Without lawyers fees, without court costs, without the use of a warrant or a bailiff, the threshing account is absolutely safe; and it costs him to secure this protection each year, and in addition to get a copy of the Noxious Weeds card and a certificate of registration, the paltry sum of $1.00, which is given to cover paying the costs incurred in the administration of the Act. However, it is very desirable in the interests of the country that reports of crop returns should be as accurate as possible. Now, if every thresher in the Province registers his machine, the Department of Agriculture can write him and get valuable information, statistics and returns that they cannot procure in any other way. In this connection it may be noted that any thresher who fails to send the Department any information required of him is liable to the same penalty as for non-registration of his machine.

If a thresher desires to retain a lien on the grain for his threshing account he has to comply strictly with the conditions set out in the Act.

(1) He must have his machine registered.

(2) He must satisfy any claim for wages for the threshing he is owning for;

(3) He must give notice of the during or forthwith after the threshing and separate the and the outlying portions of the district were well represented. The exhibits in all departments were numerous, of a high standard of quality and testified not only to the abundant fertility of the soil of the district but to the enterprise of its hardy tillers of the soil the skilled art of its housewives in the kitchen and in the bonder and to the pervasing future of its young people who contributed samples of their industry and skill in the various departments of school and other work.

In the stock departments many excellent specimens of good breeding were in evidence, showing that in this respect the farmers are keen to improve their herds. The exhibits of grain, vegetables, fruits, bread, cake, flowers' needle work and school work in Society Hall were main attractions for the big crowd. These indeed testified to the industry and skill and enterprise in the homes of the surrounding. Yet the least of these attractions was the department of curios and antiques. Here the visitor was prone to dwell at some considerable length. Bought to the Fair by their owners for exhibition purposes only they showed a community interest which was to say the least, exhilirating. Amongst these were

(4) Upon such notice being given he may retain a sufficient quantity of the grain threshed to pay the total cost of threshing done that season, with cost of haulage, at 4 cents per hundred lbs. for six miles or less and 5 cent per hundred pounds for each additional mile, provided that the total charges for haulage shall not exceed 20 cents per hundred pounds. There is no provision in the Act for the charging of interest, nor for the seizing more than the quantity of grain which approximately pay the total amount for threshing and haulage;

(5) He must separate the grain claimed for from that belonging to the owners and shall not store it in his machine both inside and out, and all his wagon racks after threshing upon any premises, and shall clean the grain threshed by him so that it shall not contain more than 10c noxious weed seeds, other than wild oats, in 1000 seeds of grain, and shall display on his machine a card containing the name of the Act referred to. For non-compliance with the provisions of the Noxious Weeds Act the thresher is liable to a fine of not less than $5.00 nor more than $50.00 and costs. Everyone will admit that it is in the interests of the country to keep weeds from spreading, and in order to send out the cards and enforce the Act it is necessary for the Department to know who the threshers are. In addition to this, threshers who comply with The Threshers' Lien Act are equally protected in having their bills paid. They come ahead of the man who supplied the thresher with coal or gasoline, ahead of the merchant who has fed the farmer for six months or more, ahead of the tax gatherer, and the farmers hired man even. Without lawyers fees, without court costs, without the use of a warrant or a bailiff, the threshing account is absolutely safe; and it costs him to secure this protection each year, and in addition to get a copy of the Noxious Weeds card and a certificate of registration, the paltry sum of $1.00, which is given to cover paying the costs incurred in the administration of the Act. However, it is very desirable in the interests of the country that reports of crop returns should be as accurate as possible. Now, if every thresher in the Province registers his machine, the Department of Agriculture can write him and get valuable information, statistics and returns that they cannot procure in any other way. In this connection it may be noted that any thresher who fails to send the Department any information required of him is liable to the same penalty as for non-registration of his machine.

If a thresher desires to retain a lien on the grain for his threshing account he has to comply strictly with the conditions set out in the Act.

(1) He must have his machine registered.

Ryley had a very successful Fair last Tuesday. Good weather graced the occasion and a generous crowd turned out to enjoy the holiday. KAISER VS. DEATH: RACE FOR SUPREMACY

Why William Wanted War at Once—Belgium Alone Spoiled His Dream
by Armstrong Bertaix

Frank L. Parsons writes in John Bull, as follows: A legend is current in England on the other side, where the Kaiser is regarded as the declaration of war against Russia and France, he said to his War Council, "I think you'll be sorry for this gentlemen," as though in tender reproach for a gentleman who had at last only successfully overcome his gentle inclination to be lapped in a rapturous embrace. Of the conviction that the Kaiser was a friend of peace.

Nothing of the kind occurred. It was the Kaiser himself who was down, by weight, injury and days, right bullying the scruples of the majority of the Imperial Council during those fateful two days in July, 1914. It was the Kaiser who, above all, was for war and war at once. It was the Kaiser who literally jumped at the chance presented by the Russian protest against the infamous Austrian ultimatum to Serbia. He came hurrying back from his Scandinavian holiday determined on war. Regardless of the protest of his own civil and military planners regardless of the pacific language of his own ambassador in Petrograd he deliberately lapsed the time, and jumped in with a declaration of war against Russia on August 1st, and against France on the 3rd, supposing their differences. Five days later, when Belgium, who had never interfered with him, pointed out, reminded that her grievance was sufficiently grave for her to embark on war at the Kaiser's dictation.

Overruled Wise Men

I have said that the majority of the Imperial Council entertained "serious misgivings" about the war. Bethmann-Hollweg, the peace party in Germany in the Council, and Jagow, who, in the words of Lloyd George, "begged on

The Case machine started at I. H. Olson's early in the week and will move from there to E. A. Moon's. McBeth's outfit expect to start at the lake front this week, as that long season will soon confront the ox on every side.

Altho our farmers were, for the greater part, not finished harvesting last week when Ryley Fair was held so successfully, yet there was a fair sprinkling of farmers from horseshoeia present. Without one dissenting voice, all are agreed that Ryley covered herself with glory in her debut as a Fair maker.

Of special note was the flower exhibit which, considering the early August frost, was a thing of beauty. The curio exhibit, mentioned in the Standard in a previous issue, proved a decided interest to a large crowd all day. The baby show was also of great interest despite the fact that the judges were three young bachelor school masters who obviously knew no more about the matter in hand than the surviving unsung babies themselves. A number of prizes were captured by these ushitsing from this neighborhood and Amisk Creek school did itself proud in the small exhibit sent in. Miss Mary Francis, teacher, is to be congratulated upon her young pupils who took prizes on fat lambs.

For the past few years. The Edmonton City Dairy have flooded their patrons with circulars, letters and phamphlets urging upon them the necessity of producing and shipping a better quality of cream in order that a better night be manufactured of such keeping quality that it could be put into storage and when taken out would successfully compete with the New Zealand and Australian butter in the British Columbian Markets, in the West, and with Eastern Townships' Butter in the East.

For the past two seasons the Company has followed the "Parmeset on Grade System," as advocated by the Dairy Commissioner of Alberta thus paying the patrons who shipped a Superior Quality Cream an extra price for his extra efforts put forth to produce it. And in return the Company has been able to realize better returns for the finer quality of butter produced as the Government has worked out a very successful system of Off-al Butter Grading in accordance with the grades of cream mentioned which has been a great factor in establishing a reputation for Alberta Butter in outside markets.

The patrons have been quick to realize the advantage of this system and hundreds of them have given close attention to cleanse and better cows, stables, separators, and milking utensils. Many have provided themselves with proper cooling apparatus and practically all are cooling their cream immediately it is separated to a temperature of between forty and fifty degrees thereby preventing the growth of injurious bacteria. The majority of patrons no longer guess at the temperature - they have purchased a thermometer and are using it.

The Edmonton City Dairy have also realized the importance of "Keeping on the Job." Men have been to study the individual requirements of the different markets, and when the butter is to be sent to a certain market, it is manufactured to meet the requirements of that particular market in every respect.

Men have been sent to many of the largest butter plants in both canada and the United States, to study their methods, system and apparatus and no expense has been spared by this company to adopt or install any such system or apparatus that would tend to better the quality or advance the Dairy Industry in Alberta.

The past season eight observing plants have been operated at different points outside of Edmonton. All of these have been fitted with Pasteurizing apparatus and the results have been very satisfactory, as in proven by the orders placed on the butter by the Government.

All shortages are saved by the Government Official and the butter is sold to the outside markets according to their Official Scores. Very little Australian and New Zealand butter has entered British Columbia this year. Alberta butter has given satisfaction and the sales will not enter as long as Alberta keeps up the Quality. The Dairy Industry is increasing rapidly, however, and the next market should be Across the Water. The Edmonton City Dairy is already studying the conditions of these markets, ofcarrying its ones, and equipping its various plants to meet these requirements. Knowing that the outcome wedge must be Quality, this Company is untiring in its efforts to put this matter squarely before its patrons.

Encouraged by the prompt, intelligent response they have received from their patrons the past few years, they have no question but what there will be a steady advance in quality of cream produced and that "Alberta Butter" will obtain a reputation which create a ready demand for it in any market of the World to which it may be directed.

Tofield Welcomes Returned Soldier

Private Joe Lefler Back From Firing Line

The first of Tofield's fighting heroes to return invalided from the front arrived last Saturday night in the person of Private Joe Lefler who enlisted last year with the 51st and went overseas with that Batt'n Private Lefler bears the marks of active warfare and as yet only convalescent after suffering injuries from which it may be some time yet until he shall have fully recovered.

A goodly crowd had assembled at the depot last Saturday evening to meet the Calgary train and to welcome home the returning soldier and thus offer him the tribute of a public at home to his appreciation and value the service and sacrifice of our boys who have offered their lives, if need be, for home. Country and King. A guard of honor was furnished by the Tofield cadets who saw Pte. Lefler from train to waiting car. Then cheers from a hundred throats rent the air telling the tale in no unmistakable terms that Tofield and district welcomed home the returned convalescent.

Pte. Lefler was overcome with the spontaneous and hearty welcome which he had received and bowed his thanks. Later, after visitation with family and relatives and time was allowed to talk with his many friends and acquaintances about town, he said that he was "some hot hit." Tofield welcomes him home and are proud that he has done his part

It needs no careful reader of the daily news from Europe to learn that the morale of the German nation is severely affected. Napoleon said that in war moral power is to the physical power as three to one. The allies now have the advantage of both moral and physical power, and Germany knows that she knows it.

It is no easier as bad war as it is but good war finishes. In the present war democracy is going to be a good finisher. The end in which it is going to be a good finish. The finish of Hohenzollernism. Good progress is being made.

o o o o o

There is a remarkable absence of comment amongst Conservative newspapers over Hon. Rodolphe Rogers' recent break in connection with the Bull Commission in Manitoba. Liberal papers on the other hand are discussing the affair quite freely and putting the Minister in no favourable light. Indeed, the Rogers break-away seems to have put himself into a very unfavorable position. Brandon says the Conservative party in Manitoba in particular and throughout the Dominion in general has not added any lustre to its laurels through the cabinet minister's foolish tirade against the judiciary.

NAVALISM IS DIFFERENT FROM HUN MILITARISM

Urging Alliance With Britain, United States Writer Draws Distinctions —Sea Power Defensive

Dr George L. Beer of New York City, the leading political economist, argues for an agreement between Great Britain and the United States. He says There is no likelihood of friction provided we do not abandon the cautionary path of using the Monroe Doctrine and Pan-Americanism by means of short-sighted special and exclusive privileges that would shut the door to British commerce. If we frankly agree to a self-denying ordinance to this effect and at the same time assume responsibility as apparently we are to do for preservation of order and justice in the dark-hued parts of tropical and South America England's extensive economic interests in these regions rival only by reason of enterprise would be independent. Under such an agreement Monroe Doctrine would acquire a new sanction and we in Britain would gain a full support.

Postage Rate Is Offer

"But aside both from the general obligation of every state to live by justice and order always in the world and also from the demands of national interest there is one additional potent consideration if we take a defensive alliance. It would be a result of any effort made by Germany to defeat by the barbarous method of reaction the Anglo-American power to a level which would be a horrible danger to the world. Germany's only chance of success against the United States and Britain is to use every means to prevent the two nations from acting together. Apparently if they do not co-operate in protective measures neither will be the instrument in the future. The advantages of an alliance to that end are obvious. Germany would be the strongest military power. Except to a very much degree none of the insidious dangers of militarism are to be feared from a strong navy. Even in the most jingo of navies comparatively few men are required. The British navy absorbs only enlarged as it was already before the war due to the German peril, in fact only 150 000 men. Hence a gigantic influence would be felt by so slightly. Moreover a fleet is essentially a defensive weapon. No power can prevent an opponent from being victorious and in this frequently the decisive factor is in addition but on an offensive war its is mostly the judgment of the army. Naturalists and Marxians' are misleading—and incidentally barbarous—terms if they have been intended since the war to direct attention from something radically different—German militarism.

For Wen's Benefit

It is almost an axiom that the military and naval forces of any nation should be commensurate not only with its policies but also with the diplomacy and foreign relations of that nation.

Unified states. It is evident that the United States should not have a navy from whatever purpose it is to be used for a greater than it now is. But a navy is not necessary for defensive purposes and owing to assets in a navy of a nature that and the U. S. would have a navy

TOFIELD, ALBERTA THURSDAY, OCT. 5, 1916.

While we have been reading in daily papers for the past six months that Greece is about to enter the War, even at events in that part of Europe lead one to think that there is something in it after all, notwithstanding the fact that the plunge has not yet been taken.

o o o o o o

Similarly, some newspapers in this province, and they do not appear to be of the Liberal party stripe last week circulated the story that the Sifton government is about to go to people. There has been no official announcement to that effect yet. Presumably, if the story is only kept up long enough, the inevitable will due sdies happen

o o o o o o

Still no move has been made towards the organization of a public library for Tofield. A feasible plan has been suggested and been favourably criticized by various public spirited citizens. When will the proposition take form?

o o o o o o

It is inconceivable to think that the relations between Great Britain and the overseas Dominions can after the war continue on the same basis as that which existed prior to this great struggle of the nations. For years our statesmen have held this subject before the leaders of our Empire for earnest consideration. The matter cannot now longer be postponed. It is therefore gratifying for Canadians to hear similar expressions of opinion from across the water. In speaking on this burning question recently Bonar Law said

"Now, these great Dominions are, in fact, independent states. We could not have compelled a single one of them to send a man or contribute a penny, but they have sent them best, not so much to help us as to help the empire of which they are a part.

"These conditions can never occur again. It requires great good will and good sense on the part of both the dominions and the authorities at home to establish arrangement to be worked by which one set of men should contribute their lives and treasure and should have no voice as to the way in which those lives and that treasure should be expended. (Hear, hear.)

"That cannot continue. The demand be a change. (Cheers.) The War has done most. I believe, than many generations in other circumstances could have done in making the empire. The people of this country are prepared to accept any system of closer union which the dominions may desire to see adopted."

"THE RELIEF WORK FOR THE BELGIAN VICTIMS OF THE WAR" is the title of a booklet which the Press Committee in charge of the Belgian relief work in Canada has issued for distribution. Consul for Belgium at Ottawa, is relating for some weeks past the paper PRO BELGICA printed in two languages.

This paper does not the painful condition of the Belgian people, worthy of admiration and deep sympathy. What Canada is doing for its relief. It is very interesting to observe the manner in which the Belgian Committee set for the relief of Belgium and track pedaler as of the assembly departments are employed. The subscribers of PRO BELGICA are not only acquainted with all that happens in Belgium, they also contribute to the exact walking of this unfortunate country for all receipts of the paper are paid into the receiving office of the RELIEF WORK. The amount of the sales ruption is but one shilling, which can be sent to the Management of the paper, 1010 St. Luke, Montreal

Give your subscription for PRO BELGICA. It is a mere trifle, but it is for the relief of the destitute Belgium.

A very pleasant surprise was sprung on Mr. W. L. Fourman last Friday night when a number of his friends gathered at his home while he and his daughter were enjoying the P. I. nister Station concert. The friends had come to celebrate the approaching birthday anniversary of Mr. Fourman, and to make the evening a success.

A delightful lunch was served, the music was excellent, and every one is hoping for the recurrence of the evening with Mr. Fourman many happy returns of the day, it being the occasion of his birthday, and thanking Mrs. Fourman for her cooperation in making the evening a jolly good time for all.

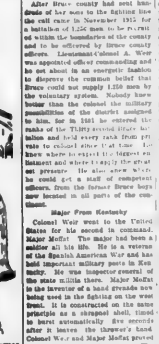
UNIVERSITY'S HEROES

Lieut. the Hon William Alastair Dunbar Parnell, of Arts '11, and Science '13, of McGill, who served with the Grenadier Guards in France, has been awarded the Military Cross for distinguished conduct in making a raid on the trenches of the enemy. Lieut Parnell came to McGill from Rugby in the fall of 1911, and entered the ranks of Arts '17, at the commencement of the session of 1914-15 he became a member of the class of Science '18. On the death in action of his brother, Sir Henry Hamilton Parnell, he left to be returned to England and took out a commission in his brother's regiment. He was born in 1894, and is the son of the late fourth Baron Congleton, major-general in the army, who served in the Crimea after the fall of Sebastopol, and during the campaign against the Sikhs. Lieut. Parnell was the fourth McGill man to be awarded the Military Cross, the other three recipients being Capt. Hanson Lightstone of Med. '19, Capt. D. M Mackinnon, of Science '07, and Lieut Evan B. Hugh-Jones, of Science '15.



This steel helmet, worn by German sharpshooters on sniping duty, is formed of metal bent so that it will deflect bullets. It is cut away on the right side to allow sighting the rifle.

WON BRIDE IN FRANCE

Canadian D.C.M. Laureate to Lay Now Language

The publication "Canada" narrates the following interesting love story: Learning to lisp his first few French words gained by the knighting line and admonished by the threatening finger of a darkeyed demoiselle of Lille, and later expounding more than the language of her country, was the experience of a young Canadian lad, Private Peter William Hoogston, D.C.M. He first met his teacher at Lens, where she was a refugee, and he married her at St. Helens, Lancashire. The bride was Miss Jeanne Ellen Terrez, of Bailleul, France, from which town she and her parents were driven by the invading Huns, on account of here hardly been killed by a Hun bomb, and she now being held a prisoner in Germany. The bridegroom came over from Canada with the 1st Battalion of the 5th Regiment Born at St. Helens, he was taken while very young to Canada, and being remarkably inclined, it was to St. Helens that he returned to be married. Pte. Hoogston was on short leave and on his return to the front left his bride in St. Helens, where she set herself instinctively to learn English.

McGuigan of Montreal

Mr C J McGuigg, of Montreal, had good reason to be proud of his three sons, who went overseas with the first of the units of the Fifth Royal Highlanders organized—the 13th Battalion, the fighting unit, the history of which will never die in the mind of Montreal and the Empire. One son, Major D. R. McCuaig, was the Chief Signal Service Order for bravery. He is, unfortunately, a prisoner of war in Germany at Hanover, and was seriously wounded before surrender. Another son has been wounded. He left as a lieutenant and adjutant of the 13th Battalion, and became Major G. Eric McCuaig, second in command of his regiment. The other son, Captain Chapman N. McCuaig, left a lieutenant and won promotion on the battlefield.

BRUCE GAVE FIRST COUNTY BATTALION

Scots From Detroit and Germers Thronged Col. Weir's Units—Where and How Valentinium Succeeded

The secretary of the Walkerton Old Boys' association estimates that in every block in Detroit, there is at least one native of Bruce county, Ontario. The chances are about even that any bowling green man by the name of McGregor or McTavish or McPherson you meet in the Michigan city, came from Ripley, Kincardine or Walkerton. Some of them have not remained in Detroit. They came back to fill the ranks of Bruce's overseas battalion, and that is one of the reasons the 160th received its full establishment the most quickly of all the county battalions. The Scotch haven't a monopoly on the 100th, for stamage to say, a big percentage of the regiment's strength is composed from the German Canadians of Hanover, Mildmay or Wiarton. But it is not too much to say that the Scots became the backbone of the battalion.

Keep His County

After Bruce county had sent hundreds of her sons to the fighting line the call came in November 1915 for a battalion of 1,256 men to be raised within the boundaries of the county and to be officered by Bruce county officers. Lieutenant-Colonel A. Weir was appointed officer commanding and he set about in an energetic fashion to disprove the common belief that Bruce could not supply 1,256 men by the voluntary system. Nobody here besides than the raising the military possibilities of the district assigned to him, for in 1915 he entered the ranks of the Thirty second Highlanders and held every rank from private to colonel after that time. He knew where to expect the greatest enlistment and where to apply the great pressure. He also knew where he could get a staff of commissioned officers, from the former Bruce boys now located in all parts of the continent.

Major From Kentucky

Colonel Weir went to the United States for his second in command. Major Moffat. The major had been a soldier all his life. He is a veteran of the Spanish American War and has held important military posts in Kentucky. He was inspector general of the state militia there. Major Moffat is the inventor of a hand grenade now being used in the fighting on the west front. It is constructed on the same principle as a shrapnel shell, timed to burst automatically five seconds after it leaves the thrower's hand. Colonel Weir and Major Moffat proved an excellent recruiting team. The 160th was organized long after most of the county battalions in Ontario had been filled up, and soon odd score mobilized at Walkerton, in addition to a base company of 150 men to which newly-enlisted men are constantly being attached.

TRAINING THE SOLDIERS

Gen Vaughan of Tigers Helped Keep Comrades Fit

J. E. S. Vaughan, commonly known as "Sim," one of the most widely known and best trainers in Canada, enlisted for active service as duty with the 36th Sportsmen's Battalion. "Sim" was connected with the Tiger Football Club for fourteen years as trainer, and when the new Tiger was born was organized he decided that he would continue to be a Tiger in the new rule of soldiering. He is an all-round athlete of fame, and many years ago was continually before the eyes of the public as a baseball player, umpire and trainer of athletes, boxers and wrestlers. He took a prominent part in semi-pro. boxing bouts and gained considerable notoriety. He also played with the Dominions and Orients in the senior lacrosse league for four years as a pitcher. Sim Vaughan is probably better known as a trainer than an athlete. He trained the world renowned sprinter, Bobby Kerr. He joined the 36th Sportsmen's Battalion as adjutant, Harry Pamo, Andy Wilson, the long-distance runner, and Gordon Glennie. He also trained Charles Conkin, the world's greatest oarsman at his weight, Pan Wee Oaler, 115-pound amateur champion, and Bobby Wilson, who won the international light-weight championship. As a baseball trainer "Sim" worked in connection with Pape's international team in 1906 and Knotty Low's team in 1912-13.

Carlow at 5.15 P.M.

The precautions against air raids necessitated the alteration at Chester of a centuries-old custom. Since the distant days of the Norman Conquest the curfew at Chester has been rung, without, it is believed, a break, from 8.56 p.m. to 9 p.m. each night. For the dark months, however, it runs at 8.15 p.m. and then, as the days lengthened, the time was advanced until the traditional hour was reached.

STEEL CORSELETS FOR BRITAIN'S OFFICERS

If Captain Shaughnessy Had Only Worn Novel Armor—Privates Get Helmets

Frederick Palmer writes from British Headquarters in France: "Here's one for breastplates," said an officer while I was discussing the subject with him. "I had a close call in the shoulder. Blood all over my tunic. Thought I was done for. Then I found the bullet had only penetrated my shoulder strap. Had it been a few inches lower it would have gone through my heart. I think it is only by the merest luck that any officer has been killed since the war began. If I had worn a steel corselet I should have been all right. Why don't they issue them?"

The idea of corselets for officers is not new. Many of the knights who fought at Agincourt wore them. Some of the Cromwellian troopers had them. Napoleon's cuirassiers had them. Even the Austrian cuirassiers had them in the Great War. Why not now?

Armor Adapts Itself to the Movements of the Body

Armor adapts itself to the movements of the body. It weighs only a few pounds and, fitting snugly as a vest, it is not cumbrous. If the son of Lord Shaughnessy, president of the Canadian Pacific, who was killed, had been wearing one, his life would have been saved. Since then Canadian commanders have strongly urged as their efforts to buy corselets.

Bullets Penetrate

Of course the corselet is surer than no protection against bullets unless they are spent. But the chance of preservation that they afford is what the thin steel, moreover, and making a large wound. BIG STATION BUFFETS

Paroness Work Hard to Give Treating Soldiers Comfort

The idea of providing free buffets originated with Lady Lonsdale. On early days of the war it will help the British Soldiers' Association at Victoria station, a committee was formed, and the buffets were opened. The committee meets once a week, and will go on as long as there is any one to be looked after. Lady Lonsdale is the chairman, and Lady Rose Baillie is the treasurer. The committee has been increased from time to time, as the work has grown, and now includes a number of prominent ladies. The buffets are open from 7 a.m. to 11 p.m. daily, and are worked by voluntary workers. Each worker is supposed to give two hours' duty, but many stay longer. Lady Lonsdale is the first on the scene every morning. At 6 o'clock she is there, and Lady Rose Baillie is not far behind. Lady Lonsdale's maid and Lady Rose's maid also help. The service is carried on in two shifts, from 7 a.m. to 3 p.m., and from 3 p.m. to 11 p.m. Each shift has a head worker, who is responsible for the proper working of the buffet during her shift. The buffets are supported entirely by money given.

WHO said "Alberta weather"

Just now a little more sunshine would perhaps be more in line with our immediate needs.

He is lucky who has his grain threshed and in the bins. Nevertheless, this has happened before, and the same old Alberta Sun will be out again and in an incredibly short time will have entirely remedied matters.

The Free Hospitals Movement is gaining ground all over the province. Since a definite campaign was initiated about four months ago public interest and enthusiasm has shown a marked growth. At the request of the people in the various communities who wish to learn more about it meetings have been arranged to be held at Red Deer, Wetaskiwin, Edmonton, Tofield, Bardo, Dellbume, Youngstown, Morrin, Munson and other places. The idea has been endorsed by the Trades and Labor councils of every city in the province, by Ministerial Associations, Presbytery of Calgary, Methodist Assembly of Olds, by the executives of the United Farmers of Alberta, the United Farm Women, the Rural Municipalities and Local Improvement District association, by the W. C. T. U. convention at Red Deer, by the Local Council of Women of Olds, and in a modified form by the Medical Association of Alberta. The public of Tofield and district will have an opportunity of hearing this movement thoroughly discussed at the Variety Theatre on Friday afternoon of next week when Mrs. W. M. Davidson of Calgary a member of the Free Hospitals League, give an interesting talk on this subject, an important one to every farmer and farmer's wife throughout the length and breadth of this province.

UNDESIRABLE things as tax sales are they are necessary evils. If property owners who knowingly, they cannot do otherwise, allow their taxes to fall into arrears and no one can say that they are an unappreciable burden, unless one has speculated not wisely but too well, they can not help but expect that the municipality must take steps to enforce payment. Any municipality will only flounder deeper in the slough of financial depression, the longer it puts off realizing on its dead stock, the properties forfeited for non-payment of taxes.

DR. KARL PETERS, who helped to build Germany's lost vanishing African colony, was an enthusiastic admirer of the Kaiser's until the latter brought excellent thief of any other country in the value it placed upon truth and fair play. "That one can deprive a man of his honor in a newspaper," he says, "and then even deny him the right to answer the charges made against him, as is done in Germany, could not, I think, occur in England at all." In his sketch of "England and the English," the doctor reminds Germany that all national greatness must be founded on fair-play, and that a "world-wide policy is only possible to a nation whose policies are ruled by the law of live and let live." In the light of present events it is comforting to have the record of this great German explorer that this little matter of Fair Play "Great Britain is the shining example of the whole world."

THE U-boat raid around Nantucket, according to the Wilson administration, was in accordance with international law, but, it intimates, if U. S. trade is paralyzed by such law, fail, raids it will take action. Contrast this position with that of Norway which has issued notice that belligerent submarines must not traverse the territorial waters of that country unless injured, and the U-boats must run on the surface, in daylight, and with their national flags flying.

What is the difference? Norway is closer to Germany than the U. S. and evidently has a clearer view of the fate that awaits neutrals if the pirates attain mastery of the seas by the use of neutral ports and waters.

TRAINING AVIATORS TO HUNT ZEPPELINS

Teacher of Famous Brandon Chats of Experiences—Athletics Are Best Pupils Says Hendon Expert

J. L. Hall, head of the Hall Aviation School, Hendon, England, writes Lieutenant Freedom of the Royal Flying Corps, who has been so heartily entertained Waterford in the daring exploit of flying headed by an arch by my school. He came from New Zealand and passed the course in the usual way, paying his fees, and setting about the work of earning his "ticket" in a quiet, careful manner. I believe he made to us from the wording his advertisement in a trade paper.

The distinction to talk about him, all struck me as being one of the most modest pupils in Lieutenant Freedom. Apart from this, he compiling letter the same applied to all who acquire my instruction. Lieutenant Freedom was the first who he wanted to fly, and he was one of the quickest service pupils I regard [illegible] and therefore, as a matter of course, for the flying test, which he came through with caution, and caution is not carried to excess, with flying marks and twenty-eight. It would be foolish to [illegible] on more on this point, however, and I merely mention it as having been better than the average [illegible] experience. Other instructors [illegible] would differ from me on this question of age.

Make Boat Fleet 7

Another point that has struck me is that the man with a steam or a yacht in his blood is him makes the best flier. Cecil Hilliard never forgets the [illegible] abandon, that alertness of mind, which just makes the difference between a good and a very good airman. Another point is that the man who has had an outdoor life will also [illegible] more aptitude in the air than the man whose previous occupation has been [illegible]. The "indoor" man is apt to exaggerate difficulties and dangers.

Trygve Gran, the Norwegian, who flew from Scotland to Norway, and then crossed a record so far unbeat in the Baltic, was one of my pupils. Grand Hilliard, who was one of my pupils, and I [illegible] one passing man who is doing things in the "ticket" line at present. He was a rather funny afternoon, and he has my best of luck when he appeared to be making straight for the City of London.

Thought Him Dead

We waited a long time for some of his return, and at last, one morning, her hearing [illegible] that I could quite ten pounds' worth of [illegible] about the aeroplane and [illegible] in the hope of giving him a cue as to [illegible] should return. He was still absent and after. Some time later, having given him up as completely lost as dead, we were astonished to see him sashing across the aerodrome in a [illegible] manner.

"Where on earth the name of goodness have you been?" I cried.

"Been?" he said. "Why doing my 'dogging' ('climbing' up in the air) Couldn't you see?" I was taking rather wide circles. I came down between the hangars and the [illegible] for a time. I left the "pram" [illegible] and [illegible] how often I've [illegible] it in to "spot" an aeroplane, either by sight or sound, and then [illegible] you are on the other [illegible] for it.

KITCHENER VS. "BOBS"

Must was "K" get used. The following incident occurred in South Africa. Lord Kitchener, then [illegible] important work to be carried out, said that he must [illegible] and that he [illegible] Lord Roberts [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Freight Wreck on G. T. P. Near Camrose

Brakeman H. P. Monaghan is mostly killed, the fireman slightly mulled, and the engine and six cars piled up in the ditch, are the results of a bad wreck caused jointly by spread rails, just south of the high level bridge over the Battle river, eleven miles south of Camrose, on the Grand Trunk Sunday afternoon.

The train was a special freight made up at Mirror, and was south bound for Tofield. The cause of the wreck, a 12 foot rail was reached about 4 o'clock. Without warning the engine left the rails, plowing up the right of way for some distance, and landed on its side against the bank. Six cars followed the engine and were telescoped into one mass of splinters and twisted steel.

Brakeman Monaghan was riding in the cab at the time and as the engine tipped was thrown forward, the huge boiler running him underneath the wreckage. He was killed instantly, but it was not until 12 o'clock, that his body was extricated. He only recently entered the employ of the Grand Trunk, and it is stated that this was his first trip over the line. He came from the United States only a short time ago, and little is known of his past life. Engineer McLean stayed with his engine and escaped with out injury. His fireman was not so fortunate, for he received a few minor bruises and was scalded about the shoulders. The train was in charge of Conductor Chas. Sweet.

Another hardware store for Tofield is looming up. Josh & Wood have purchased the balance of Overton's old stock and are putting in a complete new line of hardware.

Elgin Seale Writes of Flanders Inferno

We are having a few days rest, but expect to be in the midst of it again soon. It is a real rest this time and were about due to the front though. It has been raining for three or four days and we had up a couple of feet of new mud and dirt. The dug-outs were all cut out of the white chalk soil. Excellent, was wet and cold with the exception of the first night. It rains and rains and rains and then it rains some more and then it rains again. Then it rains and drips up quickly, but we all feel like fighting cocks now and anxious to get back to the front again.

Nobody can possibly describe the modern battlefields. Whole villages and woods are completely wiped off the face of the earth. Acres and acres of ground without a sign of a blade of grass, roads unusable and in some places almost in wet weather get through the shell holes. Everywhere there is the litter of rifles, packs, bombs, half-mangled corpses. While battlefields have been found buried in the shell craters. If there is such a thing as hell, on earth, it must be in one of these intense bombardments that the Germans have to stand up against.

Things have arrived at such a state now that it is practically open warfare. We have the initiative. We have blasted a hole through his elaborate fortifications. He has got to fight us now in any sort of shelter he can get into. He must fight us here or go back and lose his whole line in France. It seems a case of exhaustion. Kill, kill, kill, knock out his batteries till finally he won't have men to stand up against us or guns to fire.

Cable Car at Niagara Falls

Advice has been received at the Winnipeg office of the Grand Trunk Pacific Ry. of the successful working of the "Spanish Aerial" which has recently been installed at Niagara Falls.

This is a car suspended on a cable span 1800 feet long and 150 feet above the waters of the Niagara River. Occupants of the car are able to obtain new and uninterrupted views of Niagara Falls until a more quiet conditions. The Company which operates the car has for some time had under operation a railway of the same design at San Sebastian, Spain, and the success it has been unsomefully true for the past nine years is their verdict of any kind. Before this cars all used troops at Niagara Falls a severe and searching test was made of the cables by the Ontario Department of Public Works with very satisfactory results. The car will be run during the year, a maximum speed provided for 30 miles per hour, each trip taking about six minutes.

Passenger Department of the Grand Trunk Pacific Ry. is now in receipt of a number of inquiries which will undoubtedly result in Niagara Falls, as tourists make their arrangements for their holiday trips. Many persons have visited the Falls once or twice but the Grand Trunk System representative points out that the majority of visitors have not interested in the Falls as an evening's entertainment to make an extended visit, and he holds that a visit to Niagara Falls should be one of the privileges to the Falls.

The Canadian Army Service Corps require a number of motor engineers for service Overseas. Motor lorries, Tractors, Steam Rollers, Fordsons, Motor Cycles, Wireless. Those who are interested can get more information from any other branch of the Service. Fare will be refunded to successful applicants. Apply personally to the Ticket Agent. Intending recruits may apply personally or by letter to the Recruiting Officer, 17, A. M. C. Overseas 100 1st W. Calgary.

TOFIELD ALBERTA THURSDAY OCT 26 1916

WHILE do-nothes from throughout the province tell us of more or less political activity in various constituencies, both in federal and provincial arenas, the scandal in the Liberal convention in Vegreville riding [illegible] Oct. 9 C. N. E. Boyle & Holden has announced himself as in the field and Mr. Staunton is reckoned to be a strong rival in that portion of the field. The Standard is not informed as yet that J. S. McCallum, M. L. A., has given the present announced intention of coming up for renomination, but is rather presumed that he will be so. Then in the extreme southeast of the G. T. P. portion are announced as the personnel H. L. Fahey of Ryley and J. McAdam of Holden. At a meeting of Holden supporters of M. Viets held in Ryley last Tuesday for the purpose, ostensibly, of selecting a G. T. P. man, some 35 or more Holden and Mirror electors came up to boost their candidate. It is understood that there were but a paltry few at the Ryley election in attendance and only one week from Tofield. No definite conclusion has arrived at owing to the scarcity of representation from the voting precincts on the west half of the G. T. P. in the riding. The Standard is informed that such a meeting is called for a week from Saturday at Ryley.

There clearly appears to be a dead on the part of several aspiring parties to gain the coveted position of representative for the riding, assuming of course, that the successful party candidate will be [illegible] in politics. Now, amongst several such who so in the West have to contend with is the baneful one of hostility in communities. It is only natural to assume that there are communities all over the province which are disappointed in not getting all the improvements from the government that they desire. Indeed, this may be accepted as a fact. In a young and growing province this is inevitable. A certain degree of patience must be had, at the same time we have representatives who fail in their duty in not getting around as frequently as they might and familiarize themselves with the needs of every portion of their constituency and get acquainted with their constituents generally. But this, it also must be remembered, that our representatives are mostly all dependent upon their own efforts to make a living and have their own personal affairs to attend to.

Then, the electors of the province are up against the fact that some of our legislators have not been men of sufficient calibre to fully understand some legislation which has been put through. Too much of our legislation is put through hurriedly. This should be checked. Our representatives should not be men who are interested in matters affecting their respective ridings but should be men who have strong ideas of general policy. The insularity spoken of previously in this article is reflected only too strongly in the records of some of our legislators. One named blame the government for being somewhat machine like when each of the private members is out only for all he can grab for his constituency, undoubtedly for his own particular residential locality.

These are some of the conditions which have prevailed in the past. Perhaps it would be too much to hope that they will be suddenly remedied. But effort should be made in that direction. It is all right for the G. T. P. section of the riding to have the representative, if they can get him. But when the selection of a candidate is made, in all justice to the masses of the electors the aspirants should at once present their qualifications and state their views. It is the MAN we are after, not the automaton.

Amisk Creek

Mr Peter Aagstad, of Bolles, South Dakota, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Olson last week. Mr. Aagstad and the Olsons were formerly neighbors in Dakota and had a pleasant visit together retrieving old times last week.

Miss Ida Aasmo leaves next Monday for Vermilion, where she will take the course in Domestic Science. Miss Lucille Gray from Tofield district, Miss B. Moen of Bardo, and Miss Jessie Goodall, of Ryley district, will also go to Vermilion at the same time, all intent upon becoming expert cooks.

Miss Klan Baakol and a party of friends, motored from Edmonton & were the guests of Mr. and Mrs Ingmar Olson on Sunday.

Mrs. J. Hill entertained the Ryley Aid society of the Lutheran church, as well as a number of Amisk Creek friends last Thursday afternoon. A delicious lunch was served and the afternoon was pleasantly passed with fancy work and music.

The Aid society of the Amisk Creek Norwegian church was entertained by Mrs. P. Flaaten on Wednesday afternoon of this week.

Threshing is still the most exciting occupation around here. There have been more threshing machines at work in this vicinity than in any previous year, to our knowledge. Last week saw the completion of threshing on the farms of A. Erickson, I. H. Olson, M. Aasmo, H. Flaaten, B. P. Bloedhorn, A. Patterson, B. Berg and W. Stevenson. Oats turned out a magnificent crop, while wheat and barley fell short of former yields, owing to the August frost.

Mr. Clarence Gilbertson, of Grand Forks North Dakota, is visiting A. Erickson and family.

Pte. Frank Morrisey, 202 Batt'n called on Amisk Creek friends last Tuesday.

At the Variety

Mr. Cooper of Camrose, who is now operating the Variety Theatre, would like to call the attention of the people of Tofield to the new programme now running in the Theatre. "The Secret of the Submarine" will be continued, in response to numerous requests. A 3 reel feature will be shown with it each week. Saturday programs will consist of a five reel feature & two other reels.

The increase in price is made necessary on account of these films costing much more than regular single reel subjects, but these subjects will be well worth the money paid to see them, and with the Pipe Organ, Tofield people are getting better value than Camrose people do where the prices are 20c and 25c on Saturday.

Mr Cooper has several special pictures booked which will probably be shown here. "Eternal City" "An Alien" and "The Spoilers" will probably be shown here if patrons will turn out in sufficient numbers.

On Nov 12 the anniversary of the Methodist church will be celebrated. Rev. J. H. Johnston B. D. pastor of Wesley church will preach at both morning and evening services.

The regular meeting of the Red Cross Auxiliary will be held on Tuesday Nov 7 in the Lodge rooms. The Society has arranged for a janitor as the rooms will be warm. A full attendance of members and friends is urged as business of great importance is to be transacted. All communications to work are to be made to Mrs. Swift who at the last meeting was appointed Superintendent of Parcels.

DOES ADVERTISING PAY?
(Canadian Jeweler)

Bradstreet have compiled statistics that 81 per cent of the failures are among non-advertisers. The merchant who does not believe in printer's ink has never advertised right. The failure to produce results is not chargeable against advertising, but against the manner in which it is done. Advertising is the modern creative force, positive and potent—a force that has produced two blades of grass where but one has grown before. It is the flowering of industrial seeds. It is encouraging and fosters competition. the promise of right dealing. the advertising and mail order problem. Its basic principle is frankness.

STANDARD PRESS, Limited.
ESTABLISHED 1907

R. S. WILLIAMS, Editor and Manager

TOFIELD, ALBERTA, THURSDAY, NOV. 2, 1916

YOUR representatives should not be men who are interested in matters affecting their respective ridings ONLY, but should be men who have strong ideas of general policy.

Through an inadvertence last week the above appeared in a Standard editorial without the word ONLY and this omission so distorted entirely the meaning of the sentence. It would have been apparent to any careful reader that the word was no doubt accidentally omitted but it was well to point out the error of which the Standard was unintentionally guilty.

o o o o o

SEVERAL of the would-be candidates for the Liberal nomination in this constituency have been callers at the Standard office and in each and every case we have taken the stand that to the best of our knowledge the race has been run in a process set forth for the assumption that an election is about to be called. Last week editor McVittie of Holden made a trip to the Capital to learn for himself whether there was any likelihood of an early election and what he did learn, so he informs us, is that the Standard's view of the matter is substantially correct. There is no reason for all this undignified scramble for public office

o o o o o

FOLLOWING up the tenor of the Standard's remarks last week on matters political it would be in order to say that those taking a leading part in fomenting public interest in political affairs, having in mind the fact that in the natural course of things the Alberta government will go to the people, should not forget that the women have an equal voice with the men in the choice of a candidate and in the election of a worthy representative. In all this stampede which has been taking place down the line we do not hear of the women being considered at all. Why this disconsolate and neglect?

BY-THE-WAY, since we have been talking about possible nominees for the candidacy of the Liberal party in this constituency and the name of the present member, J. S. McCallum, of Manyberries, had been referred to, the Standard has seen Mr McCallum and has this to say. While there is no particular reason at this stage for any political excitement over an alleged pending election, Mr McCallum is taking no activity in the matter other than to say that he is in the hands of the electors, as their candidate if they see fit to place him in nomination. He is ready to serve their interests

CANADIAN INITIATIVE WORSTS HUN MACHINE

Cleverness of Westerners in Emitting Night Attack is Described by College President's Son

A detailed description of a night engineering undertaken by Western Canadians on behalf of the German lines was given in a letter by Sergeant Walker Cranmer of the given date [illegible] Canadians just a few days before the writer was reported "killed in action." Sergeant Cranmer was a son of Principal Cranmer of Wesley College Winnipeg and was well known in athletic circles in Winnipeg [illegible] and Winnipeg [illegible] before [illegible] battalion left the province. [illegible] was placed off a Hide [illegible] sergeant of bombthrowers. [illegible] was anxious to learn a lot about our friends. [illegible] decided to [illegible] this [illegible] part in the [illegible] scheme. [illegible] two point [illegible] trenches at the most [illegible] try to get [illegible] dress and [illegible] up what information they could.

"Our party consisted of about — men. This indicates the number necessary actually. The wire was cut by a couple of sappers and then the party crawled a foot the [illegible] parapet under cover of darkness. The plan was that two parties, each consisting of [illegible] men and a bomber, were to enter the trenches side by side and work up and down in opposite directions. These were to be followed by two support parties, whose duty was to take charge of prisoners. The remainder of the party consisted of stretcher bearers, etc., who were to remain outside the parapet at the point of entry. This was the plan as arranged. It was of course changed considerably by circumstances.

Returned, Waited, Then—

"I was in charge of the bombers working with the first party going to the right. Our party did not go into the trench with the battalion, but stayed out in reserve billets and reheared our stunt. On the night selected for the attempt we all went into the trenches. The wire cutting took longer than anticipated and we all had to come to the end of our tether before we had finished. At last we were ready to go. We crawled across the [illegible] to the barbed wire in the [illegible] and the barbed wire in the [illegible] was low. [illegible] fact that he was later asked it to send to him in crawling silently over the wire in whose ends he got entangled.

Excitement and Success

"In some [illegible] several of us were right under their parapet we waited for the party whom we could hear talking up and down inside to come along. As soon as he came abreast of us the first bomber man jumped in to engage him. As he jumped in the semi-darkness he ran his bayonet through him. The cry the German uttered made further silence needless and it was gained. Hardly had we entered the trench when a machine gun opened up right among us apparently. It appeared that we had crawled right over a machine gun emplacement and the gunner on being roused opened fire through his loop hole. He hit only one man, however and he was only very slightly wounded. The machine gun was silenced by a couple of bombs thrown into the emplacement.

"By this time startled and half-awakened Fritzies were crawling out of dugouts on all sides and the fun waxed fast and furious. We had the advantage of surprise and the [illegible] put up almost no fight. In almost less time than it takes to tell it three prisoners and been bundled over the parapet, a section of trench had been cleared with bombs and bayonet and we were out of the trench again, making for our own covered by our artillery which had opened up. So accurate was this covering fire that we did not lose a man coming back. The whole affair, in which only three men slightly wounded. We got three prisoners, one of whom was a junior officer with the iron cross. We left about 10 Germans hors de combat. The other battalion affair was also a success, although they got no prisoners and suffered a few more casualties."

Frightened Home Heard

One of the queer results of the war and the English bombs is that the [illegible] German housewives not only

NO ALUM

Fly to warm up all kinds of foodstuffs and other [illegible] but also many things which will never become scarce. "To save for the worst" has become a cause with them. They even store away enormous quantities of salt, although there is not the slightest possibility that this article will ever be lacking. Some of the women have bought more salt than they can use in years and the money spent in these unnecessary purchases is wanted.

FRANCO-CANADIAN EPIC

A letter was received by Mr Justice Greenshields of Montreal from Clyde Scott, one of his nephews at the front in which the writer sets down the dying words of Maurice Cirier, [illegible] second lieutenant of the 20th Algiers Infantry born at Lyon August 20th, 1893 and [illegible] by a shell at the battle [illegible] Champagne, and died in the arms of Scott. [illegible] translation:

"I see the most beautiful moment of my life. I regret nothing and I am happy as a King. I am happy to die that my country may be delivered. Say to my friends that I go to victory, a smile on my lips and joyous that I [illegible] all the martyrs of all time. We are building a France eternal. France must [illegible] France [illegible] conquer."

"Get ready your ear apparel, prepare to receive the prayer of the [illegible] arms of the great war. It will not be long now. We may fall

FIGHTING CAMPBELLS

Canadian Officer and Three Sons Serve Empire

The paper "Canada" says Captain Frederick Taylor Campbell when the war broke out was the representative of the Canadian Government Emigration Department in Birmingham from after the war broke out he went from Birmingham to an Indian regiment stationed in the Dardanelles campaign. Where he was severely wounded and reported dead. After his return to England he was appointed to a dignitary in the 6th Royal Warwicks, who was stationed at Clevedon. Capt. Campbell has three sons in the forces. His eldest son, Pte. Frederick Campbell, who became lance-corporal in the Canadian battalion serving in France, enlisted in Canada and came over with the first contingent.

Lieut. John Erwin Campbell, now of the 6th Royal Warwicks, had just arrived in England from Canada on a holiday when the war broke out. He enlisted at once in the R. G. Horse, which was affiliated to a Belgian Lancer Regiment in the heavy fighting in the first German advance he was wounded in Belgium in November, 1914, and sent to England, where upon his recovery he was gazetted to his father's regiment. Lieut. Wallace Henry Campbell of the 6th Royal Warwicks went to Canada when the war broke out and came over with a Canadian battalion in the first contingent, subsequently also obtaining a commission in his father's regiment

The Standard is informed that it is the intention amongst the Sunday Schools of the town to have a United Christmas entertainment. This is as it should be and a spirit which we have always been in favor of. It is certain that the people will welcome the change.

Looks Like Win for Wilson

At midnight last night the presidential election returns were incomplete, but showed Wilson in the lead in 23 states and Hughes in 17, with the electoral college vote standing Wilson 282, Hughes 230.

In 6 doubtful states with Wilson leading the electoral vote is 47, and in 2 doubtful states with Hughes leading the vote is 12. It looks as though Wilson will win out by a safe majority.

Party leaders for each candidate are optimistic and each claim a victory.

At a meeting of delegates from Ryley and Holden held in Ryley last Saturday, it is understood, H. L. Fobes of Bellingham, farmer, was selected as candidate for nomination as Standard bearer for the Liberal party in this riding at the coming election to be held later.

Mr. Vaughn of Flat Lake had the misfortune the other day while working around a threshing machine locally to have his hand badly mashed in the machinery. He has set out to drive home, over 150 miles.

Holy Trinity church (Anglican) was tastefully decorated with a plentitude of sheaves of grains and grasses, etc. for the occasion last Sunday at the annual Harvest Festival Services. The work was done under the capable charge of the Ladies Aid, assisted by Private Glover. The special service which was held in the evening was largely attended and the occasion taken advantage of by Rev. W. Lawrenge, rector, to emphasize, in his sermon, the great sacrifice need for each and every individual in our fair Dominion during his or her full and maximum share in assisting in the bearing of the burdens placed upon us through stress of a righteous struggle.

Free Municipal Hospitals

Able Discussion of this Scheme by Calgary Lady

Mrs. Davidson of Calgary attended a very successful meeting held in Tofield on Monday evening last, and spoke on behalf of the Red Cross Ladies League of Alberta. The object of the meeting was to secure the signatures of the wives of the farmers residing in the district, many farmers were not able to be present at the meeting, but a goodly number were in attendance, and showed by their presence that they were interested in the subject under discussion. Mrs. Davidson spoke for about an hour and a half on the subject of Free Municipal Hospitals, and the great need of skilled medical and surgical attention for those sick and injured, women and children, especially in the outlying districts. She explained the system of free municipal hospitals established in the province of Saskatchewan, and showed how the system could be established throughout the province. The question of the present hospital system in Alberta was discussed, and the agency to meet the needs of the people, and on the other hand, the
